Reference is made to memorandum of Mr. J. B. Adams to Mr. P. L. Mack dated August 19, 1975, memorandum of Mr. R. J. McCarthy to Mr. W. V. Cleveland dated August 21, 1975, and letter of Senator Frank Church to Attorney General Edward H. Levi dated September 29, 1975. 37

The following answers are to the specific questions set out in referenced letter from Senator Frank Church to Attorney General Edward H. Levi. All entries conducted in connection with investigations handled by the Special Investigative Division from January, 1960, to July, 1975, have been for the purpose of installing electronic devices for the interception of oral communications. Surreptitious entries from 1960 to 1965 were in connection with criminal intelligence investigations of major organized crime figures. This practice was discontinued in 1965. From 1969 to July, 1975, all surreptitious entries have been under authority of court order and in accordance with Title III of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968. W

REC-57

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

Reference is made to your memorandum of December 2, 1975, concerning documents received by this Bureau from former Associate Deputy Attorney General James A. Wilderotter, and files pertaining to certain surreptitious entries conducted by the FBI in connection with installation of electronic surveillances.

The matter concerning materials received from Mr. Wilderotter is being coordinated with the office of the Deputy Attorney General.

With respect to files requested in Items 2 through 19 of your December 2 letter, we are taking the necessary steps to obtain the material requested, and we anticipate having these documents available for your review at an early date.

On December 2, a representative of the Intelligence Division spoke with Mr. William Gardner of your Division regarding Departmental review of two files concerning surreptitious entry. It was agreed that representatives of your office would initially confine their reviews to files located at FBI Headquarters. If satisfactory, files to be reviewed in your request of December 2 will be handled in the same fashion. If required, arrangements may be made to review files and documents requested by you which are located in our field offices. We believe these arrangements will expedite your review and will avoid, at the outset, transmittal of voluminous materials from our field offices, some of which may be irrelevant to your inquiry.

NOTE:

Inspector James C. Farrington of the Legal Counsel Division (LCD) has advised that Departmental review of the Wilderotter material is being coordinated by LCD with the office of the Deputy Attorney General.

Materials and Documents Received from James A. Wilderotter, former Associate Deputy Attorney General,
Department of Justice

By memorandum dated December 2, 1975, from
J. Stanley Pottinger, Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, captioned "Surreptitious Entries", a request was made to forward to Mr. Pottinger the documents and materials received from Mr. Wilderotter. Also, by memorandum dated December 4, 1975, from Mr. Pottinger, captioned "Martin Luther King, Jr.", another request was made to make these documents available in connection with their review of the Martin Luther King, Jr. matter.
This is to advise you that we are prepared to deliver these materials to your office immediately for the dissemination to the Civil Rights Division, and will do so by close of business, December 8, 1975. 117146-X62
A separate response will be made replying to the remainder of the requests outstanding in both of the above-referenced communications. 66-8126-3802

The purpose of this communication is to advise you of the results of the review made by representatives of the Inspection Division of surreptitious entries conducted by our New York Office in 1972 and 1973.

As a matter of background, the Department was previously advised that information had been uncovered indicating that some surreptitious entries had been conducted by Bureau personnel of our New York Office in 1972 and 1973. Departmental representatives personally reviewed the material maintained in our New York Office relative to this matter. Following this review, with approval of the Department, representatives of the Bureau's Inspection Division proceeded to New York for a similar review. As requested by the Department, no pertinent interviews were conducted in connection with the Inspection Division's inquiry.

As the Department is aware, there is maintained in the New York Office a four-drawer file cabinet physically located in the Personnel Files Unit. The top drawer contains twenty-seven volumes covering surreptitious entries by New York from 1954 to the last recorded entry, April 16, 1973. SAC Folder 25 contained nine memoranda disclosing nine surreptitious entries, seven in 1972 and two in 1973. Departmental representatives, while in New York, obtained Xerox copies of these memoranda.

For your information, in addition to the above nine, a review of pertinent files disclosed seven additional entries and two other possible entries. Of the additional seven, three took place in 1972 and four in 1973, with the last recorded date being April 18, 1973. The two other possible entries occurred in the latter part of 1972.

NOTE: Based on memo H. N. Bassett to Mr. Callahan captioned "Surreptitious Entries" dated 5/11/76, wherein it was recommended, and approved by the Director, that the Department be advised of the pertinent results of Inspection Division's inquiry regarding captioned matter.

In the second drawer of the above-referred-to file cabinet additional material pertaining to surreptitious entries was also located and specific reference is made to SAC Folder (C). It is the Bureau's understanding that Xerox copies of the top six serials of this folder were made available to Departmental representatives while in New York. In essence, this folder deals almost exclusively with obtaining keys from various sources, with the possible intended purpose of utilizing them for surreptitious entries. During the Inspection Division's review of this particular material it was ascertained that sometime in the latter part of 1973 an inventory was made of the Tel-Kee cabinet.

On 5/25/76 at the request of Assistant Attorney General Pottinger a meeting took place between Mr. Pottinger, Mr. Kelley, Bill Gardner, Chief of the Criminal Section of the Civil Rights Division, and me. The purpose of the meeting was to determine how to proceed with the investigation of surreptitious entries which occurred within the statute of limitations. Mr. Pottinger advised there were 15 or 20 such incidents which have been discovered to date as a result of FBI and Departmental review. This number represents the number of entries and does not represent the number of separate targets, these being fewer in number.

Prior to submitting any recommendation to the Attorney General, Mr. Pottinger wished to propose to Mr. Kelley the following procedure. He feels that the basic investigation should be conducted by FBI Agents who would work closely with attorneys of the Civil Rights Division who would direct the lines of inquiry and on occasion participate in investigative interviews.

Mr. Pottinger felt that in order to facilitate the prompt completion of these inquiries and avoid the possibility of premature leaks, normal reporting channels should be avoided and the results of investigative activity should be furnished to the Civil Rights Division and to Mr. Kelley and me.

Mr. Kelley suggested Mr. Pottinger contact Mr. Dowd of the Department who is supervising the U. S. Recording investigation for his views as to how the Ash group is functioning. Mr. Kelley pointed out that coordination of the investigative activity was desirable and a responsible Bureau official should be placed in charge of the FBI Agents conducting the investigation. That group could in turn report to me and I could keep Mr. Kelley informed as he did not think it would be necessary for him to see personally all of the FD-302s and other results of investigative activity. Mr. Pottinger indicated he would give consideration to that.

Memorandum for Mr. Callahan
Re: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES INVOLVING
DOMESTIC TARGETS

Other alternatives were discussed such as having the Secret Service or some other agency provide the investigative agents or have Departmental attorneys conduct the entire investigation; however, it was tentatively agreed that it would be best to have the FBI Agents conduct the investigation.

Mr. Pottinger raised several potential problem areas. One was the fact that once active inquiries begin there was the potential of news leaks and these should be avoided if at all possible. Mr. Pottinger was very pleased that thus far the news media are unaware that there are surreptitious entries which have been determined to have taken place within the statute of limitations. It was agreed that since the matter was a pending investigative matter no announcement of this fact should be made and inquiries should be responded to by the Department as long as possible by merely stating that the matter was under investigation.

A discussion was had as to whether the Church Committee should be advised that surreptitious entries took place within the statute of limitations or whether it would be more appropriate to notify the new Senate Oversight Committee and the Eastland Committee of this fact. Mr. Pottinger indicated that he wanted to give further thought to this matter before reaching a conclusion.

It was agreed that current case law indicated that the proper manner of proceeding would be to advise the affected agents of their rights as well as of the fact that their choosing to exercise their rights would not be used against them administratively. Those Agents choosing to exercise their rights against self incrimination could then be advised, after a determination is made by the Departmental attorneys involved, that they are being granted use immunity or transactional immunity and, therefore, must answer questions posed by the investigator. His failure to answer questions after having been granted immunity would subject him to a charge of insubordination which could result in his dismissal.

Memorandum for Mr. Callahan
Re: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES INVOLVING
DOMESTIC TARGETS

The question of legal representation was discussed and it was Mr. Pottinger's feeling that those Agents desiring legal representation should be provided private-counsel at Government expense. This matter would have to be resolved with the Civil Division, however, before a final determination could be made. A more troublesome area was discussed which is the situation where an indictment might be returned at which time a conflict of interest might require the Government to cease providing counsel or funds for private counsel. This answer would likewise have to be resolved should such a situation develop.

Mr. Pottinger suggested that a memorandum be sent to all offices cautioning that appropriate files and records should be maintained to insure no hindrance to the inquiry. Such a communication will be submitted for approval.

Mr. Pottinger advised that the purpose of the inquiry would also be to determine if there are any other cases of surreptitious entries taking place in the domestic field within the past five years unrelated to approved electronic surveillances, and he was advised that we had canvassed all SACs, Section Chiefs and above in this regard. Mr. Kelley advised Mr. Pottinger that he was most interested in getting this matter resolved once and for all and had been in the process of issuing instructions to have each Agent on the rolls asked as to whether he has any personal knowledge of such matters. Mr. Pottinger advised that he would prepare a proposed question in this regard and then would get together with us to review our proposed questionnaire to determine exactly the type of inquiry to be made of each Agent.

Mr. Pottinger felt that approximately ten Agents would be needed to complete these investigations. He suggested that he be furnished the names of 15 or 20 possible candidates from which group he would select the ten to be utilized. He requested that the Agents selected not ever have had service in New York, Washington Field, or Domestic Intelligence Division, nor should they ever have been engaged in surreptitious entries in the domestic field at any time other than in connection with approved electronic surveillances. He indicated that at the time of selection by him he would secure an affidavit from them to this fact. Mr. Pottinger also requested assurance that the Agents involved in the investigations would suffer no adverse effect on their career, and in this connection suggested that it would be desirable to have individuals selected who are

Re: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES INVOLVING

INVESTIGATION OF
SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

On Friday, May 28, 1976, William J. Gardner, of your division, requested that we submit to you our views concerning the procedures to be followed in conducting investigations of surreptitious entries which occurred within the statute of limitations. This memorandum will confirm our conference on May 25, 1976, in which I advised that in conducting an investigation of this nature it would be necessary for us to advise those employees who would appear to be suspects of their constitutional rights by furnishing them the Miranda warnings and requesting of them a waiver of their rights. Further, we would advise such employees that there would be no administrative penalty applicable to them if they exercise their constitutional rights in declining to answer questions where to do so would result in self-incrimination. In the event an employee exercised the privilege against self-incrimination and it appeared to the Department to be desirable to grant immunity from prosecution, the Department would determine the nature and scope of the immunity to be granted.

Thereafter, upon notification in writing of the immunity granted, employees would be required to respond to appropriate inquiries within the bounds of the immunity granted or face appropriate administrative action.

FBI Team to Bypass Kelley

By John M. Gashly
 Washington Post Staff Writer

FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley has agreed to allow his agents, investigating allegations of burglaries by Martin Luther King Jr. and other SCLC executives and report their findings directly to the Justice Department.

Kelley also admitted yesterday that he was wrong when he said last year that FBI burglaries against suspected domestic subversives had been terminated in 1960. The bureau, he said, had uncovered information about burglaries committed by FBI agents in 1972 and 1973, and these burglaries are the subject of the current investigation.

His statement came after the Associated Press reported that a special team of 12 FBI agents, assigned to the probe, had been instructed not to give their investigative reports to Kelley or other bureau officials.

The AP report quoted Assistant Attorney General J. Stanley Pottinger, whose Civil Rights Division is in charge of the inquiry, to issue a statement saying reports that "Kelley has been sealed off from all aspects of this investigation are wrong."

Mr. Kelley had taken the unusual step of detailing a group of FBI agents to assist the Civil Rights Division in this investigation, and they report only to my investigative staff and to me, not through FBI channels," Pottinger continued.

"Nevertheless," he added, "Mr. Kelley and I have felt free to consult each other personally as we have found it necessary and appropriate. . . . Whatever information is shared with him remains in his personal knowledge and possession only and is not disseminated to other persons in the FBI or elsewhere."

Pottinger did not elaborate further. However, it was learned that the arrangement between the FBI and the Justice Department, which has policy control over the bureau, was set up partially to ensure the appearance of impartiality in the probe.

Kelley, it was learned, is not under any suspicion of complicity in wrongdoing by the bureau. Nor is there any feeling at the Justice Department that he would not conduct a thorough investigation of the burglaries had he remained in charge.

But, it was felt by Justice officials that because the investigation might involve former or present high-ranking FBI officials, the probe should be controlled from outside the FBI. Kelley is understood to have agreed and to have assisted in setting up the procedure under which the FBI investigators report directly to Pottinger and his staff.

The investigation, which came to light last week, centers on allegations that FBI agents carried out burglaries at the homes or offices of suspected domestic subversives during the past five years. It is not known how many break-ins took place or how many agents were involved, but the probe so far has centered on the New York field office.

In his statement yesterday, Kelley recalled that he had said, during a July, 1975, press conference, that the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover had terminated all burglaries by bureau personnel relating to the domestic security field in 1966.

In making that statement, Kelley said he had relied on a memorandum written by Hoover in 1966 "and upon the recollections of current headquarters personnel."

"On March 17, 1976," he continued, "FBI headquarters learned as a result of inquiries in connection with a pending lawsuit that folders in our New York office contained information concerning entries subsequent to 1966 and the Department of Justice was notified the same day by us."

The resulting investigation was turned over to Pottinger's division because it involves possible criminal charges that FBI men violated the civil rights of citizens through the burglaries. "It was through this means," Kelley continued, "that I learned of the existence of a limited number of surreptitious entries conducted in 1972 and 1973 . . . The FBI under my direction is cooperating with the Department of Justice in a full and complete investigation to determine all the facts of this matter."

During 1972 and 1973, the FBI was headed by four men: Hoover, who died in May, 1972; L. Patrick Gray, who was acting director until April, 1973; William D. Ruckelshaus, who succeeded Gray as acting director until July, 1973, and Kelley, who was sworn in as director on July 9, 1973.

FBI sources said last night that all of the burglaries alluded to in Kelley's statement took place before he became director.

The Justice Department has blocked FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley from receiving investigative reports from knowledgeable sources.

A department official in charge of the investigation has hand-picked an of 12 FBI agents to do much of the legwork in the case, this source said. Others familiar with the developments said yesterday.

The agents' reports may have been sent to Kelley and one of his top assistants, James Adams, early in the investigation, the source said. But they were changed or are sent from department officials and agents no longer are allowed to report their views to Kelley or Adams, the source said.

It is UNSURE whether the FBI director will be kept off from reports of the agents even in investigations of the alleged FBI wrongdoing. It is not yet determined if department officials took such action. But the probe is being conducted in even greater secrecy than usual, and few department officials have been told of the details.

The investigation centers on allegations that FBI agents earned out-garages at the homes of officers of Americans during the last five years.

It is known how many burglaries have been involved.

Sources said the investigation involves possible criminal charges that agents violated the civil rights of blacks in the burglaries.

THE DEPARTMENT probe is led by the over-all direction of Asst. Dir. Gen. J. Stanley Pottinger, head of the civil rights division.

"I've seen Stan shake his head in dismay at what they've found," a department official remarked.

A development related to the probe, Asst. FBI Director Andrew DeLoach has hired a well-known Washington attorney, Edward Bennett Rums, to represent him, sources said.

DeLoach was assigned to for "black and security matters" for several years before Kelley appointed him as assistant director for the consumer affairs division in 1971. He is now in charge of the records division.

One source familiar with the case said Kelley is concerned that the burglary investigation raises doubts about his credibility and control of the bureau.

KELLEY HAS insisted for the past year that FBI burglaries against domestic targets ended in 1968, long before he took office in 1973.

But the department now is investigating burglaries conducted since 1971. Published reports have indicated that some of the burglaries took place after Kelley took office.

If the burglaries were conducted without Kelley's knowledge — and there's no publicly available evidence to the contrary — that raises questions about the strength of the director's leadership.

The FBI refuses comment.

One target of the post-1971 burglaries was the American Friends Service Committee, a religious group that had been previously indicted for showing that agents earned out-garages at the homes of the party from 1967 through 1970.

A SOURCE OF THE FBI, chief of the civil rights division, said the investigation directly concerns the civil rights division's work.

Source said that Kelley himself signed the 12 agents doing the legwork on the case, and the agents report directly to him.

The agents "were carefully selected so as not to have any conflicts of interest," one source said. The agents have never worked in the intelligence field and have never been assigned to the FBI field offices involved in the investigation, the source added.

The New York field office is a prime focus of the investigation but others are involved, sources have said.

Enclosed is one copy each of Director, FBI, teletype dated June 15, 1976, directed to all Special Agents in Charge; of Director, FBI, teletype dated June 17, 1976, directed to the Special Agents in Charge of the Albany and New York Offices; and of Director, FBI, airtel dated June 21, 1976, directed to the Special Agent in Charge of our New York City Office, it being noted the first two are captioned as above and the latter is captioned "Document Classification Matter."

These communications are being sent to the Civil Rights Division at the specific request of Department Attorney William Gardner. Copies are enclosed for the other Assistant Attorneys General as they have an interest in this matter as it relates to the protection of classified information in accordance with Executive Order 11652, National Security Council directives and Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 17 (28 CFR 17).

On June 17, 1976, Special Agent [REDACTED] the FBI Document Classification Officer (who serves as this Bureau's Security Officer in accordance with 28 CFR 17), referred to the Department Review Committee (DRC) this Bureau's concern that classified information, including that involving intelligence sources and methods, could be jeopardized as a result of this inquiry. It was indicated to the DRC that counsel retained by Special Agents who are subjects of the investigation could request and receive from the Attorney General access to receive information classified up to "Top Secret." Thus the Bureau and the Department are confronted with the possibility many requests may be made to the Attorney General by counsel to Special Agents who are subjects of this investigation for clearance for access to national security information to enable them to adequately advise their clients. Once this information is disseminated outside the Executive Branch of Government, it would be extremely difficult to control or preclude its further dissemination. It was also suggested to the DRC, as this matter could have far-reaching ramifications as relates to the intelligence community, consideration be given to its referral to the Interagency Classification Review Committee.

Instructions set forth in the enclosed teletype dated June 17, 1976, were agreed to on June 17, 1976, by Deputy Assistant Attorney General Leon Ulman, Office of Legal Counsel, who serves as Chairman of the DRC, and by Deputy Assistant Attorney General Robert Kauch of the Criminal Division who is a member of the DRC. A copy of this communication is being sent to the Director, Security and Administrative Programs Staff, Office of Management and Finance, of the Department, it being noted he serves as the Security Officer for the Department and also is a member of the DRC.

DOCUMENT CLASSIFICATION MATTER

If not already done, documents recently located in your office relating to administrative matters in connection with surreptitious entries should be promptly reviewed and classified as warranted to protect national security information in accordance with Executive Order 11652. Specifically insure all material which could disclose intelligence sources and methods (Exemption Category # 2) or which discloses a specific foreign relations matter (Exemption Category # 3), requiring continuing protection, is appropriately classified.

You are reminded, that in accordance with Federal regulations, access to this material that has been classified should be on a strict need-to-know basis. Reproduction of classified documents should be kept to a minimum. Insure appropriate classification markings are also placed on all copies that have been made of classified documents. In the event any of the classifiable documents have been provided to FBIHQ, other field offices, or to other agencies including the Department, proper notification should be made to insure these copies are appropriately classified.

16. I agree to advise of receipt of classified information to the following:
 17. (a) FBI, U.S. District Attorney General, Civil Rights Division,
 18. requesting FBI to take steps necessary for dissemination of information
 19. to direct classified information with other counsel.

During the 1957-1960 period, from 1957 through 1960, to this date regarding clearances as are administered by the State Dept. to confer with counsel. It is also noted in referring to discussion of classified information since we have not practiced lawyers from conferring with their counsel. The office of the Deputy Attorney General is coordinating this matter requested name check of Bureau files concerning John Attorney who are known to have been retained by the State Dept. of these name checks have been forwarded to the office of the Deputy Attorney General. A memorandum to the Clerk, dated 10/10/60, points out that under the role of the State Dept. in obtaining of security clearances an individual's access to classified information are the responsibility of the State Dept. and it was found for the Attorney General's office. The problems which arise in connection with this procedure. The Attorney General is being advised that no background check is being conducted until instructions are received. The State Dept. has been requested to question posed has been requested.

OF INSTANT INVESTIGATION. THIS ARTICLE WAS EXTREMELY DETAILED AND ACCURATE AND OBVIOUSLY REPRESENTS AN UNAUTHORIZED DISCLOSURE OF INFORMATION FROM A GOVERNMENT EMPLOYED SOURCE. THIS DISCLOSURE IS THE MEDIA NEWS MEDIA THE FIRST INSTANCE OF UNAUTHORIZED PUBLICITY OF CAPTIONED MATTER. THIS PUBLICITY DOES NOT BENEFIT THE PURSUITS OF THE INVESTIGATION. THE PROBABILITY OF FURTHER DISCLOSURES IS APPARENT. THE POSSIBILITY OF THE NAMES OF SPECIFIC SUBJECTS BEING REVEALED IS A DISTINCT POSSIBILITY. IN SUCH A DISCLOSURE SITUATION, EACH INDIVIDUAL COULD BE EXPOSED TO CIVIL SUITS BY INTERESTED PLAINTIFFS, AS WELL AS ONE THAT PROCEEDING AT LOCAL GOVERNMENT LEVEL.

IN VIEW OF THE ABOVE, THE FOLLOWING ACTIONS BY FBIHQ ARE WARRANTED AND BEING REQUESTED:

- (1) AN IMMEDIATE INVESTIGATION PROBING THE UNAUTHORIZED

DISCLOSURE OF CONFIDENTIAL GOVERNMENT INFORMATION. IT IS POINTED OUT THAT THE UNAUTHORIZED DISCLOSURE THAT THIS INVESTIGATION IS BEING CONDUCTED COULD BE A VIOLATION OF FEDERAL REGULATIONS AND STATUTES. FURTHERMORE, IF CLASSIFIED INFORMATION HAS BEEN LEAKED, THE GRAVITY OF THE VIOLATION IS INCREASED. UNQUESTIONABLY, THERE IS AT LEAST A SUFFICIENT BASIS FOR INSTITUTING THIS INVESTIGATION IMMEDIATELY.

(C) IMMEDIATE DETERMINATION BY FBIHQ AS TO WHICH INDIVIDUALS WITHIN THE FBI AND USDO HAVE BEEN AFFORDED THE OPPORTUNITY TO REVIEW THOSE BASIS DOCUMENTS CONTAINED IN PERSONAL SAC FOLDER 25 MAINTAINED IN THE NEW YORK DIVISION OF FBI; COPIES OF THESE DOCUMENTS INCLUDED IN THIS FOLDER WERE RECENTLY FURNISHED TO DEPARTMENTAL ATTORNEYS. IN ADDITION, AN IMMEDIATE DETERMINATION AS TO THE IDENTITIES OF ANY SPECIFIC INDIVIDUALS WHO ARE IN POSSESSION OF COPIES OF THESE DOCUMENTS SHOULD BE MADE AND CONTINUALLY UPDATED. STRICT CONTROL OF THESE POTENTIALLY DISCRIMINATING DOCUMENTS IS DEEMED SINCE THE UNAUTHORIZED DISCLOSURE AND TRANSFER OF THESE DOCUMENTS WOULD IRREVOCABLY PREJUDICE AND DAMAGE THE INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS OF THE AFOREMENTIONED SUBJECTS OF CAPTIONED

ADDITIONALLY, DEPARTMENTAL ATTORNEYS WILLIAM L. IN ADDITION TO BEING FURNISHED COPIES OF CERTAIN DOCUMENTS, THESE ATTORNEYS MADE EXTENSIVE NOTES DURING THEIR REVIEW OF RELATED DOCUMENTS IN ORGANIZATIONAL AND INDIVIDUAL CASE FILES. THESE NOTES TAKEN FROM REVIEW OF LHM, AIRTELS, MEMORANDA, REPORTS AND ANY OTHER DOCUMENTS OR SERIALS WHICH CONSTITUTE CLASSIFIED MATERIAL, SHOULD IN THEMSELVES BE CLASSIFIED. THEREFORE, REQUEST SHOULD BE DIRECTED TO THE DEPARTMENT TO APPROPRIATELY CLASSIFY THOSE NOTES TAKEN BY ABOVE DEPARTMENTAL ATTORNEYS.

SUCH A DETERMINATION ALSO APPEARS IN ORDER IN VIEW OF THE REQUESTS MADE IN BUREAU AIRTEL TO NEW YORK, DATED JUNE 21, 1976, CAPTIONED "DOCUMENT CLASSIFICATION MATTER," BUREAU FILE 62-118055, WHICH CONCERNED ITSELF WITH CLASSIFYING DOCUMENTS PERTAINING TO SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES.

Special Agents of our New York Office who have been notified by the Department of Justice that they are considered to be potential subjects in this investigation have expressed concern about the apparent disclosures of the investigation to representatives of the new media. They cite a "New York Post" article which appeared in the final edition June 22, 1976, on page 20 co-authored by Robert L. Jackson and Ronald J. Ostrow which they felt was extremely detailed and accurate. They pointed out this was the first instance of widespread publicity in this matter and believed such publicity did not benefit the subjects of the investigation. They are concerned about further disclosures and the possibility that the names of specific subjects will be divulged which could expose them to civil suits by independent plaintiffs as well as criminal proceedings on a local level. These Agents asked for an immediate investigation probing the disclosures of information relating to this matter and they feel that the unauthorized disclosure concerning the investigation being conducted could be a violation of Federal regulations and statutes.

No investigation has been conducted by the FBI concerning these disclosures but I did want you to be aware of the concern of the Agents involved in this investigation. It is requested that you advise whether or not such an investigation should be undertaken.

Our New York Office also observed that Departmental attorneys William L. Gardner and Steven Horn reviewed a number of FBI files and documents in possession of the New York Office during the period April 26 - April 30, 1976, in connection with this investigation. In addition to being furnished copies of certain documents, the attorneys made extensive notes from a review of the files provided to them. A determination is presently being made regarding the national security classification, if any, of the documents furnished and you will be advised of the results of this determination. The New York Office is also concerned about notes containing classified information taken from classified documents during the above-mentioned reviews and asked that such notes constituting classified material be appropriately classified. It is, therefore, requested that any notes requiring classification be handled accordingly.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
JUNE 30, 1976

Summary of the Entry

Within the past several days news stories have indicated that surreptitious entries were conducted by the FBI within the past five years and that I have previously stated and testified before the Congress that surreptitious entries in domestic security investigations terminated in 1966. Obviously, such news stories imply directly or indirectly that I (1) knew otherwise, and/or (2) that my advisers in the FBI knew about these entries and failed to advise me of them.

I would like to state at this time that when I spoke initially at a July, 1975, press conference and stated that there were no entries in the domestic security area after 1966, I knew of none. I have certainly never authorized any, and frankly, I was never told of any. I was speaking with the best knowledge that was furnished me at the time. My press conference statement relied upon a July, 1966, memorandum wherein Mr. Hoover instructed that no further surreptitious entries were to be engaged in by Bureau personnel. In addition, I relied upon the recollections of current Headquarters personnel who were queried about this matter prior to this conference.

Subsequent to my press conference and as a result of our reviews in responding to Congressional and Departmental inquiries relating to surreptitious entries, additional entries were detected and furnished to the Department and the Senate Select Committee in September, 1975. We reported that at least 238 surreptitious entries had been conducted against at least 14 domestic subversive targets during the period 1942 to April, 1968, and there were additional entries which we were then unable to document.

On March 17, 1976, FBI Headquarters learned as a result of inquiries in connection with a pending lawsuit that folders in our New York Office contained information concerning entries subsequent to 1966 and the Department of Justice was notified the same date by us. It was through this means that I learned of the existence of a limited number of surreptitious entries conducted in 1972 and 1973 after a thorough review was subsequently made of these folders.

The FBI, under my direction, is cooperating with the Department of Justice in a full and complete investigation to determine all the facts of this matter.

In reference to comments in Mr. Pottinger's memorandum regarding communications initiated at FBI headquarters, these were made in accordance with CFR as relate to Executive Order 11652 and were issued after the Department Review Committee which has responsibility for administering the regulations concurred in the need to protect classified information. The instructions relating to the protection of classified information were sent to the field in support of the CFR and, unless advised specifically by you, we will continue to insure that such classified national security information in custody of this Bureau is afforded protection as required by the Executive Order and CFR.

Enclosed for your information is a copy of the FBI Employment Agreement (FD-391), which form is executed by all employees of the FBI. The provisions of this agreement are applicable both during the period of employment and following termination of employment with the FBI.

This agreement states in part, "I understand the need for this secrecy agreement; therefore, as consideration for employment I agree that I will never divulge, publish, or reveal either by word or conduct, or by other means disclose to any unauthorized recipient without official written authorization by the Director of the FBI or his delegate, any information from the investigatory files of the FBI or any information relating to material contained in the files, or disclose any information or produce any material acquired as a part of the performance of my official duties or because of my official status."

I have been made aware that some Special Agents of the FBI have been contacted by the Civil Rights Division and advised that they are considered potential subjects of this investigation; however, I do not know if these individuals represent all of the present or former FBI employees who are considered to be potential subjects. In order that I may initiate appropriate action to release present and former employees from the provisions of the employment agreement so that consultation with private counsel can be facilitated, it would be most helpful if I could be advised of the identities of those present and former employees who have been informed by the Civil Rights Division that they are potential subjects of this investigation. Additionally, it would be of assistance if I could also be advised following notification by the Civil Rights Division of any future subjects.

It is my intention to have our Legal Counsel Division telephonically notify the individuals involved that they have been released from their employment agreement for the purpose of discussing this matter with their counsel subject to the resolution of the question regarding discussions of National Security Classified Information with their attorneys. In addition, those individuals who are current employees will be instructed to review FBI Headquarters teletype to all offices dated June 15, 1976, captioned Civil Rights Division, Criminal Investigation of Surreptitious Entries, a copy of which is enclosed, which encourages subjects of the investigation to cooperate but sets forth information concerning their constitutional rights against self-incrimination.

NOTE: On 7-6-76 William Gardner of the Civil Rights Division requested to have a copy of the FBI Employment Agreement as well as information as to what we intended to advise the potential subjects of this investigation prior to rendering a decision as to whether or not the Civil Rights Division would advise FBI of the identities of subjects of this investigation.

EMPLOYMENT AGREEMENT

As consideration for employment in the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), United States Department of Justice, and as a condition for continued employment, I hereby declare that I intend to be governed by and I will comply with the following provisions:

(1) That I am hereby advised and I understand that Federal law such as Title 18, United States Code, Sections 793, 794, and 798; Order of the President of the United States (Executive Order 11652); and regulations issued by the Attorney General of the United States (28 Code of Federal Regulations, Sections 16.21 through 16.26) prohibit loss, misuse, or unauthorized disclosure or production of national security information, other classified information and other nonclassified information in the files of the FBI;

(2) I understand that unauthorized disclosure of information in the files of the FBI or information I may acquire as an employee of the FBI could result in impairment of national security, place human life in jeopardy, or result in the denial of due process to a person or persons who are subjects of an FBI investigation, or prevent the FBI from effectively discharging its responsibilities. I understand the need for this secrecy agreement; therefore, as consideration for employment I agree that I will never divulge, publish, or reveal either by word or conduct, or by other means disclose to any unauthorized recipient without official written authorization by the Director of the FBI or his delegate, any information from the investigatory files of the FBI or any information relating to material contained in the files, or disclose any information or produce any material acquired as a part of the performance of my official duties or because of my official status. The burden is on me to determine, prior to disclosure, whether information may be disclosed and in this regard I agree to request approval of the Director of the FBI in each such instance by presenting the full text of my proposed disclosure in writing to the Director of the FBI at least thirty (30) days prior to disclosure. I understand that this agreement is not intended to apply to information which has been placed in the public domain or to prevent me from writing or speaking about the FBI but it is intended to prevent disclosure of information where disclosure would be contrary to law, regulation or public policy. I agree the Director of the FBI is in a better position than I to make that determination;

(3) I agree that all information acquired by me in connection with my official duties with the FBI and all official material to which I have access remains the property of the United States of America, and I will surrender upon demand by the Director of the FBI or his delegate, or upon separation from the FBI, any material relating to such information or property in my possession;

(4) That I understand unauthorized disclosure may be a violation of Federal law and prosecuted as a criminal offense and in addition to this agreement may be enforced by means of an injunction or other civil remedy.

I accept the above provisions as conditions for my employment and continued employment in the FBI. I agree to comply with these provisions both during my employment in the FBI and following termination of such employment.

1-Mr. Walsh

(Att [REDACTED])

DATE: 7/7/76

TO : Mr. Walsh

FROM : R. E. Long
Investigation Coordinator

SUBJECT: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY INVESTIGATION

PURPOSE:

To request four additional stenographers and one additional clerk for the Surreptitious Entry Investigation.

DETAILS:

The number of Special Agent personnel assigned to the Surreptitious Entry Investigation has been increased from 13 to 23. This increase in Agent personnel requires an increase in stenographic and clerical personnel. In order to handle the large volume of expedite reports which are requested by the Department of Justice, it is felt that four additional stenographers and one additional clerk are needed. This will bring our stenographic complement to eight and our clerical complement to four.

RECOMMENDATION:

That four additional stenographers and one clerk be selected for assignment to this detail and to report for work at 9:00 a.m., on July 12, 1976, to Room 6240.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. JENKINS

Re: To be discussed at Associate Director's Conference this date

I mentioned my distress to you last week.

I mention it again and with force because of a comment reportedly made by Ed Miller over the weekend. It appears he feels that I possibly was informed of the burglaries given wide coverage in the last few days. Admittedly the account indicates the notice was oblique and that I may not have recognized its relevancy. In other words, I chose to ignore its implications or I was unable to distinguish its inferences for an unknown reason. Ed Miller has not explained what he meant, and I therefore, must believe he was correctly quoted and can only speculate what he meant.

Lest there be any question in anyone's mind about my position in this matter, I want to set out certain things.

Until March, 1976, I had never been informed of these domestic surreptitious entries which took place in recent years, have not authorized a single such act, and know of no inferential, obscure, of otherwise "back door" reference to the existence of such or, on the other hand, unsolicited and solicited comments from knowledgeable Bureau authorities to the effect there was none were made on numerous occasions.

It appears my denial of burglaries of recent vintage were made with the knowledge by some FBI employees that I spoke in error. No one stepped forward to advise me of my error. I am inclined to believe there may be an effort to shift the responsibility for these allegations in some manner despite my total absence of any notification. I have never shunned responsibility properly vested in me. I will, however, where there is a purpose of evading culpability or a desire to share it by unfair innuendoes. Such an effort is totally unfair and I will vigorously resist it. I sincerely hope my fears are ill-founded.

Some reports are current that I have not acted decisively in a time of disquiet. Pending investigations have to date seemed to me to be an adequate base from which to determine needed action, be it corrective, disciplinary, or prosecutive. This is as it should be and, under normal circumstances, would be allowed to take its proper course.

I sincerely believe normalcy has been supplanted by factors which indicate the necessity to move now if credibility is to be maintained and divisiveness stifled. By no means do I feel the movement I detect is one universally supported. Unfortunately, some adjustments may inadvertently affect a wider range of my associates than I might want.

The action I contemplate at this point is as follows:

1. I want anyone who has any information of matters under question to come forward and let me know of them. This does not include anyone already named by the Department as a possible subject of their investigation, nor am I insisting anyone waive his constitutional rights.
2. I want to be informed at once of any reports currently circulating that I supposedly was informed of these actions and I want to be informed of the source.
3. I want you to discuss the problem I have presented and give me your appraisal of what you think should be done. This I want by July 12, 1976. I am considering some myself.

As I have said on several occasions, the position which I wish to maintain if we are to maintain credibility is one of complete absence of any duplicity or evasiveness and it now appears that this has been made difficult by factors beyond my command. I therefore think that we must move and move swiftly. This action may include an effort to join the news media in explanations or whatever may be determined as our best course. We cannot sit around and wait for the cleaver to fall. We must do something now.

Very truly yours,

Clarence M. Kelley
Director

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

Reference is made to your memorandum of April 20, 1976, captioned: "Socialist Workers Party et al. v. Attorney General, et al. (S.D.N.Y.) 73 CIV 2149," in which you ask whether any public or executive session statements, memoranda, surreptitious entries, were made by Department personnel (including Bureau personnel) which may need to be retracted and/or clarified.

We have reviewed public and executive session statements made by Bureau personnel concerning surreptitious entries and have concluded that, on the basis of information available to FBI Headquarters (FBIHQ) at the time of such remarks, those statements were accurate and do not require retraction. Further, we believe that in view of recent statements by the Bureau to the press, in connection with surreptitious entries, there is no need to clarify past statements in this regard.

As you know, our inquiries in response to Departmental and Senate and House Select Committees' requests have, from time to time, shown newly discovered information relating to entries performed by Bureau personnel. We have promptly advised the Department on the occasion of each discovery.

We have made an effort to be as accurate as possible in our statements concerning surreptitious entries. Unfortunately, procedures followed with respect to recording information relating to entries were such that it has been most difficult to identify the activity in our files. Further, documents pertaining to surreptitious entries were not maintained in normal record channels, thereby hampering our efforts to respond accurately to questions posed to us.

Inquiry was made of the Finance and Personnel Division regarding where copies of FD-255 (form for recommending commendations and incentive awards, etc.) are filed at Headquarters. They advised that copies of FD-255 are filed in the administrative file of the field office at FBI Headquarters in the majority of the cases. If the case involved is a sensitive security matter, it is filed in the Intelligence Division case file.

Do you file FD-255 in the case file in all cases or are they filed in a separate file? If so, you are requested to furnish any list, file, card index system or other records you maintain, formally or otherwise, on matters dealing with incentive awards and commendations for field and headquarters personnel.

We appreciate your furnishing this information as expeditiously as possible.

PURPOSE:

To advise of receipt of information indicating the Department is expanding the scope of its investigation into surreptitious entries.

SYNOPSIS:

Authority obtained to notify present and former Agents who are subjects of above inquiry they are released from their employment agreement in order to discuss this with their counsel. Attorney representing a former Special Agent advised he was informed by Department that they intend to go back to 1940 and look into all possible violations of civil rights by Bureau Agents.

RECOMMENDATION:

That this matter be discussed with Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, to clearly establish the extent of their inquiry into this matter.

Re: CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

DETAILS:

ALL
(b)(6)
(7/10)

Legal Counsel to Mr. Adams memo of 7/15/76, captioned as above, obtained authority to telephonically notify present and former Agents who are subjects of Civil Rights Division surreptitious entries investigation they are released from their employment agreement so they could discuss this matter with their counsel. This telephonic notice was to be followed by letter from the Director. Legal Counsel Division has been handling this matter and on 7/26/76, former SA [REDACTED] Vernon, Connecticut, was contacted and advised he was released from his employment agreement for the purpose of discussing the matter of surreptitious entries with his attorney.

At 4:30 p. m. , Legal Counsel Division was contacted by [REDACTED] attorney, a [REDACTED] of Hartford, Connecticut, who advised he represented former Agent [REDACTED] and that he had been informed of our call notifying [REDACTED] he was released from his employment agreement. [REDACTED] pointed out that our telephonic notice mentioned surreptitious entries. He stated that he had been informed by William Gardner of the Civil Rights Division that Gardner intended to go back as far as 1940 and intended to learn of any and all possible violations of citizens' civil rights by FBI Agents. [REDACTED] advised he was concerned regarding the inquiry and desired to know if the FBI was aware of the extent of this inquiry since we had only mentioned surreptitious entries to his client. [REDACTED] was advised that we were under the impression this inquiry was limited to surreptitious entries and then only those of recent years. He was informed this would be brought to the attention of the Director and he was thanked for bringing this to our attention.

(b)(5) [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] At any rate it is believed this matter should be promptly discussed with the Civil Rights Division to clearly establish the scope of this investigation.

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY INVESTIGATION

1 - Each Assistant Director
1 - Mr. Farrington

Pursuant to instructions received from Assistant Attorney General J. Stanley Pottinger, Civil Rights Division, no one in your office should communicate or discuss with any Agent who is the subject of captioned inquiry any matter concerning this investigation unless a written communication to these Agents has been approved beforehand by Mr. Pottinger. Of course, an Agent who is the subject of this inquiry and freely chooses to initiate a conversation with a colleague or other Bureau personnel, may do so and is not subject to this rule.

According to Mr. Pottinger, because we are dealing with very sensitive matters involving right to counsel, their concern and what they are trying to avoid is a situation in which an Agent receives a directive, an order, or advice or any other communication, formally or informally, which could cause him not to feel free to cooperate in this investigation consistent with his constitutional safeguards.

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY INVESTIGATION PROTECTION OF NATIONAL SECURITY INFORMATION

ALL

In view of our mutual concern as expressed in Departmental memorandum to the Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation, "Re: Surreptitious Entry Investigation," dated 19 July 1976, regarding appropriate protection of classified national security information, with your concurrence, it is my intention to brief the FBI personnel assigned to the Task Force who will be handling such classified information.

As you know, the Agent personnel assigned to this Task Force, by design, were drawn from our complement of Agents who have had little or no experience in security-type investigations. Since these Agents have had little or no experience in matters involving classified national security information, the briefing will be in compliance with Executive Order 11652 which requires that employees handling such classified information must be familiar with the provisions of this Order. The Executive Order requires that agencies handling such classified information establish and maintain active training and an ongoing program for employees having access to classified national security information or material. Such training shall include as a minimum the briefing of new employees and periodic reorientation during employment to impress upon each individual his responsibility for exercising vigilance and care in complying with the provisions of the Executive Order.

fied national security information, with your concurrence, such a briefing will be afforded the Task Force FBI personnel.

This proposed briefing will be conducted by personnel of the Intelligence Division who are familiar with the provisions of Executive Order 11652.

Your concurrence and/or suggestions regarding this proposed briefing will be appreciated.

NOTE:

In connection with the investigation currently underway by a Task Force consisting of FBI Agents in support of the Civil Rights Division criminal surreptitious entry investigation, the matter of the handling of classified national security information has been a concern of both the FBI and the Department. Since the FBI personnel assigned to this Task Force have not previously been engaged in security investigations which would familiarize them with the provisions of EO 11652, it is felt that an appropriate briefing regarding the provisions of this EO should be afforded the Agent personnel assigned to the Task Force. This matter was discussed at a conference in Mr. J.B. Adams' Office on 7/23/76, at which time it was the consensus of opinion that the AAG, Civil Rights Division, who is in charge of this inquiry, should be advised of our intention to conduct such a briefing and that his concurrence should be sought.

August 9, 1976

Dear [REDACTED]

In connection with the current investigation being conducted by the Civil Rights Division (CRD) concerning surreptitious entries, I advised all Special Agents in Charge by teletype of June 15, 1976, that the Bureau was cooperating with the CRD in this inquiry and encouraged those employees contacted and informed that they are subjects of this investigation to also cooperate. In furtherance of the information set forth in the above-referenced teletype, the CRD has requested me to advise and encourage you to consult counsel, if you have not already done so. For that purpose, you are hereby released from the provisions of your Employment Agreement (FD-291) subject only to the possible need for security clearances of your counsel as discussed below.

My prior communication of June 15, 1976, did not suppose that information and material to be provided to your counsel in connection with this investigation are necessarily classified or subject to the nondisclosure requirements of Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 17. However, in the event that you believe that material or information provided to counsel is so classified, you should inform your counsel of that belief and advise him that he may contact the CRD for guidance as to whether a security clearance of counsel is necessary and, if so, by what process the clearance can be sought and obtained.

SUBJECT: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

William L. Gardner, Section Chief, Civil Rights Division, U.S. Department of Justice, who is in charge of the Department's inquiry regarding surreptitious entries telephonically contacted me on 8/2/76 and requested that I voluntarily submit to an interview at 3 pm on 8/4/76 in Room 1038 at the Department of Justice. Mr. Gardner further advised that he is not interested in [REDACTED] in his present capacity as [REDACTED] and has no intention of posing any questions in this regard. His primary interest is in my role as an SAC when I was assigned to the New York Office [REDACTED] His questioning will involve the SAC folders in New York.

Mr. Gardner was told that I will submit to the interview voluntarily and will cooperate.

[REDACTED] Legal Counsel Division, was contacted and advised that based upon our discussion and Mr. Gardner's request I have been released from my employment agreement to discuss matters with the Department.*

* This release is contingent upon [REDACTED] obtaining private counsel.

On 8/8/76 [REDACTED] telephonically advised me that he is representing SA [REDACTED] in connection with the investigation into surreptitious entries and that SA [REDACTED] is interested in cooperating in this inquiry consistent with his Fifth Amendment rights but wishes to be assured that his cooperation will not affect his future in the FBI and is consistent with the Bureau's desires. I advised [REDACTED] that the Bureau is cooperating fully in this inquiry and urges all employees to cooperate consistent with their Fifth Amendment rights and he can assure SA [REDACTED] that his cooperation is fully consistent with his responsibilities as an FBI Agent and will most certainly have no adverse effect upon his future in the FBI. [REDACTED] asked that I make his call and my response a matter of record in the personnel file of SA [REDACTED] [REDACTED] telephonically advised me on 8/10/76 that he has been in touch with the Department; that immunity will be granted SA [REDACTED] and that he is making himself available for interview.

ACTION:

Recommended that this memorandum be referred to Mr. Long and that a copy, which has been so designated, be placed in the personnel file of SA [REDACTED]

PURPOSE: To advise of receipt of additional information indicating the Department is expanding the scope of its investigation into surreptitious entries.

SYNOPSIS: Present and former Special Agents who are subjects of captioned inquiry are being released from their employment agreement in order to consult with attorneys and are being advised of same. [REDACTED] advised of being informed the Department intended to look into all possible violations of civil rights by Bureau Agents. On 7-29-76 [REDACTED] Atlanta, advised of contact by Departmental Attorney William Gardner. At the time Gardner indicated his inquiry was designed to obtain information about all Bureau activities not limited to surreptitious entries.

RECOMMENDATION: For information.

DETAILS: Legal Counsel memorandum to Mr. J. B. Adams dated 7-27-76, captioned as above, advised [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] was contacted by William Gardner of the Civil Rights Division and desired to interview [REDACTED]. Gardner informed [REDACTED] he intended to learn of any and all possible violations of citizens' civil rights by FBI Agents and intended to go back as far as 1940. This was the first indication we have received that the Department's inquiry is not to be limited to surreptitious entries.

On 7-29-76 [REDACTED] Atlanta, advised Assistant Director Leavitt he had been contacted by Gardner concerning surreptitious entries investigation.

[REDACTED] later contacted by a representative of Legal Counsel Division who informed him that he was released from his employment agreement for the purpose of consulting with private counsel if he desired to retain same. [REDACTED] stated that he had retained counsel and upon his advice had declined to be interviewed by Gardner at this time.

During the conversation [REDACTED] stated that Gardner stated he intended to cover the following subjects. The interview was to cover all investigative techniques utilized by Squad 43 and the entire Division 4 of the New York Office. This would include surreptitious entries, wiretappings, COINTELPRO activities, and the identity of Agents participating in above activities. In addition, Gardner stated he desired to learn what level of authority approved the above activities and what levels of authority were aware of such activities and acquiesced in their being conducted.

DETAILS

At about 1:30 p.m., 8/16/76, a caller, identifying himself as Bruce Howard, a reporter for the Washington Post, called me and advised he had just finished interviewing Larry Schmitt at the bar of Edward Miller. Miller has told me that in August, 1972, former Director Patrick Gray had advised him, Miller, that he would consider authorizing some activities in certain security investigations. Miller said he had called me at the FBI office and advised me of this. I had not connected, and I had not put any record on the line and the rest of what he said are done it myself.

Howard requested I comment on Miller's remarks. I told Howard I had no recollection of the events described by Miller and could not comment further.

Mr. Clarence M. Kelley
Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Kelley:

Reference is made to your letter, dated July 27, 1976, which was delivered to me on August 3, 1976.

As you may be aware, on June 18, 1976, an individual, identifying himself as William L. Gardner, Chief, Criminal Section, Civil Rights Division, United States Department of Justice (USDJ), Washington, D.C., advised me on the telephone that his Division had the responsibility for an investigation being conducted concerning surreptitious entries made without judicial approval in residences and other buildings which could be violations of Title 18, Sections 241, 242, and 2236, United States Code. Gardner stated that he was in possession of information that I may have had a role in such entries on one or more occasions. Therefore, I was being considered a potential subject of this investigation. In short, Gardner requested that I travel to Washington, D.C., to be interviewed by him in this matter, at which time I would be advised of my Constitutional rights as a subject. He advised that he desired to have this interview conducted as quickly as possible and would appreciate it if I or someone acting on my behalf contact him to arrange for the interview and the conditions under which I would be interviewed.

I told Gardner that at this point, I was undecided as to whether or not I was in need of counsel. Furthermore, I had been instructed not to discuss classified information at this time with an attorney who did not have an appropriate clearance and therefore if I did decide to obtain legal counsel, I could not proceed in selecting an attorney and advising him of possibly pertinent facts. I told him that other matters and problems of a similar nature were still being resolved at the Federal Bureau of Investigation Headquarters (FBIHQ) and USDJ level which would have a bearing upon my decisions as to choice of counsel.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED
HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED
DATE 3-1-82 BY SP4JRM/cal

Gardner advised me that he had on that very day learned of the problem concerned with divulging classified information to independent counsel.

Other similar matters concerning the possibility of my interview were discussed, notably the possible use of a Grand Jury proceeding in New York City in order to obtain a statement from me in this matter. I was also left with the impression that Gardner would recontact me at an unspecified date in the near future. I have not been recontacted by him since our discussion on June 18, 1976.

Concerning your July 27, 1976 letter to me, I can only regard it as a reiteration and confirmation of your previous instructions as set forth in your teletype message of June 17, 1976. In regard to providing information to counsel of my choice, there has never been any doubt in my mind that such information would be of a highly classified nature pertaining to national security matters.

Due to the fact that I have never been advised by the USDJ as to the specific facts which have led the USDJ to consider me a potential subject, I have been put in the potential position of necessarily having to be as liberal as possible in providing information to counsel in an attempt to anticipate the scope of an interview with Mr. Gardner. Therefore, the probability of divulging classified information to counsel, becomes proportionally greater with the amount of information furnished.

As a result of your letter to me, I have initiated contact with an attorney in order to determine his willingness to represent me in this matter. In order to assist me in this regard, I hereby respectfully request that I be furnished a copy of the Employment Agreement (FD-291) executed by me.

Additionally, I hereby request that I be furnished copies of any documents furnished from FBI files to the USDJ which appear to specifically implicate me in any surreptitious entry matter.

Additionally, I hereby request that I be furnished, when available, a copy of the document presently being prepared by the Chicago Division of the FBI relating to the foreign connections of the Weatherman Underground Organization (WUO). This document may provide sufficient evidence that the WUO is properly described as a foreign organization as distinguished from a domestic organization.

Additionally, I hereby request copies of any documents disseminated to the USDJ in the normal course of business during the period that I was a member of Section 47, at the New York Division, which could reasonably indicate to the reader that a surreptitious entry technique was involved. It is requested that the specific identities of personnel of the USDJ receiving such documents be determined and furnished to me.

Your favorable response to my above-stated requests would indeed be appreciated since I naturally desire to afford the attorney of my choice every advantage in his efforts to provide excellent representation on my behalf.

(7/10)

Sincerely yours,

Supervisory Special Agent

Honorable Edward H. Levi
Attorney General
United States Department of Justice
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Levi:

I have been employed as a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) since September 30, 1963.

On June 13, 1976, I was advised by William L.
Gardner, Chief, Criminal Section, Civil Rights Division, United States Department of Justice (USDJ), Washington, D.C., that I was considered a potential subject in an investigation being conducted by his Division concerning surreptitious entries made without judicial approval which could be violations of Sections 241, 242, and 2236 of Title 18, United States Code.

I hereby request that the USDJ provide a departmental attorney to represent me in the above matter. If you decide that you are unable to provide me with such services, I request that you grant me authority to hire counsel of my choice at Government expense.

Sincerely yours,

[Redacted Signature]

On 8/20/76 I received a call from a [REDACTED] who advised that he was a former Assistant U. S. Attorney representing [REDACTED] New York, in connection with surreptitious entries. He said that SA [REDACTED] is desirous of cooperating in the investigation, has been offered immunity, and would appreciate a memorandum being placed in his file to the effect that the Bureau does desire for Agents to cooperate in this investigation consistent with exercising their Fifth Amendment rights. I advised him that this is consistent with our instructions to all offices and, accordingly, a memorandum would be placed in SA [REDACTED] personnel file.

Dear Mr. Adams:

Pursuant to our telephone conversation of August 24, 1976, it is my understanding that pursuant to the recommendation of Mr. Kelly, Special Agent [REDACTED] of the New York Office of the F.B.I. has agreed with representatives of the Civil Rights Division of the Department of Justice that he will cooperate with that division's current investigation involving activities of F.B.I. agents in New York and will answer all questions about his activities and the activities of others.

It is my understanding, based upon my conversation with you, that [REDACTED] will suffer no sanction, reprimand or administrative action of any kind as a result of his testimony and the facts which he may reveal. It is my further understanding that a written memorandum confirming the above will be placed in [REDACTED] personnel folder for future reference.

Thank you for your courtesy and cooperation in this matter.

Dear [Redacted]

I have received your letter of August 24, 1976, in which you state it is your understanding, based upon your conversation with me, that Special Agent [Redacted] will suffer no sanction, reprimand or administrative action of any kind as a result of his testimony and the facts which he may reveal. You also stated it was your understanding that a written memorandum confirming the above would be placed in [Redacted] personnel folder for future reference.

My understanding of your telephone call of August 20, 1976, was that you wanted assurances that this Bureau is desirous of Agents cooperating in the surreptitious entry investigation consistent with their Fifth Amendment rights and that the fact of their cooperation would not be held against them at a later date. I did so assure you, but it is not proper to interpret my assurances as any sort of grant of immunity from administrative action as outlined in your letter. I am unaware of any immunity from administrative action having been granted to any employee in connection with these inquiries except for the assurance that no employee will be disciplined for exercising his Constitutional rights.

Sincerely yours,

James B. Adams

Re: CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION
CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION OF SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

DETAILS:

On 8/20/76 [REDACTED] former Special Agent, and [REDACTED] former Assistant United States Attorney, New York, visited LCD and conferred with SA [REDACTED] concerning their client SA [REDACTED] New York Division. Counsel stated their client had been contacted by representatives of the Civil Rights Division concerning captioned inquiry. Their client was not advised that he was a subject of the investigation, but was informed that he would be asked to sign a waiver of rights. They said SA [REDACTED] was visibly upset and emotionally disturbed by this whole incident, particularly as it pertains to his future in the FBI. Their contact with LCD was to obtain a blanket commitment from the Bureau that no administrative action would be taken against their client regardless of the position he took with the Department. They advised that at this time they had not made a final decision as to whether or not they would permit their client to cooperate with the Department or to invoke his constitutional rights. In either event, they desired some commitment from the Bureau that whatever action their client took his future in the Bureau would not be jeopardized.

Both attorneys were fully briefed concerning this investigation and the fact that it is being directed by the Civil Rights Division. They were informed that the official position of the Bureau was that of cooperation with the Department, and that the Director had advised our field divisions that no Agent would be subject to administrative action if he chose to exercise his constitutional rights.* It was further pointed out that since the Bureau was not in possession of all facts concerning this investigation no commitment could be made other than that set out above. Both attorneys stated they understood that we were not in possession of the facts concerning this inquiry.

*This means that no action would be based on the fact constitutional rights were exercised. No broader commitment could be given.

[REDACTED] stated that he would possibly recommend that his client write a personal letter to the Director requesting the above blanket commitment against future administrative action.

At the conclusion of the interview [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] advised they had an appointment to meet with a representative of the Deputy Attorney General's office later that day. [REDACTED] stated he would be most happy to cooperate with the Bureau in any matter concerning this investigation and that he could be reached at telephone number [REDACTED] in New York City.

[REDACTED] advised that he could be reached at [REDACTED] in New York City.

By memorandum 8/20/76 I advised that on that date I received a call from [REDACTED] attorney for SA [REDACTED] New York, in connection with surreptitious entries. He said that SA [REDACTED] is desirous of cooperating in the investigation, has been offered immunity, and would appreciate a memorandum being placed in his file to the effect that the Bureau does desire for Agents to cooperate in this investigation consistent with exercising their Fifth Amendment rights. I advised him that this is consistent with our instructions to all offices and, accordingly, a memorandum would be placed in SA [REDACTED] personnel file. A copy of that memorandum was designated for SA [REDACTED] file.

By letter 8/24/76 [REDACTED] referred to our telephone conversation and stated it is his understanding, based upon his conversation with me, that SA [REDACTED] would suffer no sanction, reprimand or administrative action of any kind in connection with his testimony and the facts which he may reveal. It was his further understanding that a written memorandum confirming the above would be placed in SA [REDACTED] personnel folder for future reference.

[REDACTED] letter indicates a conclusion of immunity from administrative action which I did not intend, as I feel there is no basis for granting such immunity. My understanding was that [REDACTED] wanted assurances that the Bureau is desirous of Agents cooperating in the surreptitious entry investigation consistent with their Fifth Amendment rights and that the fact of their cooperation would not be held against them at a later date. It is my understanding that once immunity from prosecution is granted, we are then in a position to require Agents to answer concerning their activities without any assurances that their answers would not be used against them for administrative purposes. RE: J. B. Adams memorandum to Mr. Mintz

ADDENDUM: LEGAL COUNSEL DIVISION

9/3/76

You are correct in your understanding that there is no legal bar to our taking administrative action against a Special Agent (SA) based upon information he reveals after being granted immunity from criminal prosecution by the Department. This assumes, of course, that the facts he discloses indicate that he has acted in an unauthorized or otherwise improper manner in connection with his employment.

As you note in the attached memorandum, it would be improper to take administrative action against an SA because of the fact of his cooperation and, of course, we would not wish to do so as the Bureau has indicated it desires to have our employees cooperate fully in this matter, consistent with their own Fifth Amendment rights.

We concur in the suggestion that your response be cleared through Mr. Pottinger because, as a practical matter, such a response could have the effect of lessening an Agent's willingness to discuss fully and candidly his activities. We certainly wish to avoid any possibility of the Civil Rights Division incorrectly construing our response as an intentional effort to lessen cooperation from our employees in the captioned investigation.

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY INVESTIGATION

This memorandum will confirm conversations held during a meeting on July 13, 1976, with you, Mr. William L. Gardner, Deputy Associate Director James B. Adams and Inspector - Deputy Assistant Director James C. Farrington relative to your memorandum of July 9th, captioned as above, a copy of which is enclosed for your convenience.

In connection with the restrictions set forth in paragraph 2 of your memorandum that no one in the Bureau should communicate or discuss with any subject agent any matter concerning this investigation, unless a written communication to them has been approved beforehand by you, your memorandum to me of July 12th, a copy of which is also enclosed, modifies those instructions to the degree that a subject agent who freely chooses to initiate a conversation with a colleague or other Bureau personnel may do so, and is not subject to this rule. You also agreed that for the purpose of communicating your instructions to those employees involved, we should only notify those field offices to which the subject agents are currently assigned and FBI Headquarters personnel. Attached is a copy of such communication which was telephonically read to you by Mr. Farrington on July 16th and which you approved for transmittal as indicated above.

With regard to paragraph 3 of your July 9th memorandum, you were assured that we would not tolerate any employee hampering or interfering with this inquiry in any manner. In addition you were also assured that another agent would handle, as far as possible, any classification problems arising in connection with this inquiry and particularly in connection with classification questions arising as to documents or information involving the Weather Underground. However, it was also noted that we reserved the right to consult with [redacted] from time to time in his capacity as the Bureau's Classification Officer.

Dear

In connection with the current investigation being conducted by the Civil Rights Division (CRD) concerning surreptitious entries, I advised all Special Agents in Charge by teletype of June 15, 1976, that the Bureau was cooperating with the CRD in this inquiry and encouraged those employees contacted and informed that they are subjects of this investigation to also cooperate. In furtherance of the information set forth in the above referenced teletype, the CRD has requested me to advise and encourage you to consult counsel, if you have not already done so. For that purpose, you are hereby released from the provisions of your Employment Agreement (FD-291) subject only to the possible need for security clearances of your counsel as discussed below.

My prior communication of June 15, 1976, did not suppose that information and material to be provided to your counsel in connection with this investigation is necessarily classified or subject to the nondisclosure requirements of 28 C. F. R. Part 17. However, in the event that you believe that material or information provided to counsel is so classified, you should inform your counsel of that belief and advise him that he may contact the Civil Rights Division for guidance as to whether a security clearance of counsel is necessary, and if so, by what process the clearance can be sought and obtained.

PURPOSE:

To record memoranda received from the Department which authorizes the disclosure of classified information by FBI employees, who are subjects of this inquiry, to their attorneys, as well as authorization for such attorneys, who have received the proper clearance from the Department of Justice, to receive such information, pursuant to regulations set forth in Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations, Sections 17.58 and 17.64.

DETAILS:

Pursuant to prior oral requests for authorization from the Department to allow our employees who are subjects of current inquiry to discuss classified information with their attorneys, if they feel this is necessary, Mr. William L. Gardner has now made available copies of communications dated and identified as follows:

1. Memorandum from The Attorney General to Glen E. Pommerening, Assistant Attorney General for Administration, dated June 30, 1976, captioned "Clearance of Attorneys for Access to Classified Information";

2. Memorandum from The Attorney General to Mr. Pommerening, dated July 12, 1976, captioned "Civil Rights Division Surreptitious Entry Investigation";

3. Copy of a proposed letter which will be sent by the Department to lawyers representing our employees advising them that they have ~~cleared~~ them to receive classified information.

Re Detroit teletype to Bureau 8/18/76 and Bureau teletype to Detroit 8/20/76.

Enclosed for the Bureau are eight (8) copies of an LHM, dated and captioned as above.

Referenced Detroit teletype set forth requests of SAs [redacted] [redacted] and [redacted] to travel to New York City.
The purpose of this trip would be to review files maintained by the New York Division in connection with above captioned matter. This file review would be conducted in order to refresh their recollections as to their investigative activities while assigned to the New York Division, out of which allegations against them have arisen. Special Agents, assigned to the New York Division and against whom similar allegations have been made, have been afforded this opportunity to review these files.
In addition, a Special Agent assigned to the Charlotte Division was authorized travel to Detroit for the same purpose. To deny SAs [redacted] and [redacted] this opportunity would be grossly unfair and unjust.

SAC, Detroit, strongly recommends that favorable consideration be given to these requests and asks that enclosed LHM be forwarded to the Justice Department for their consideration.

ALL (6/6/76)

On June 16, 1976, and June 13, 1976, William Gardner, Departmental Attorney, Civil Rights Division, Washington, D.C., advised Special Agents [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] respectively, that the Justice Department is currently conducting an inquiry concerning allegations that FBI Agents surreptitiously entered private premises in New York, New York, within the last five years and stated that Special Agents [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] are both considered subjects of this inquiry. Mr. Gardner requested that Special Agents [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] travel at Government expense to Washington, D.C., for the purpose of being interviewed by Government officials. Mr. Gardner also suggested that Special Agents [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] might consider obtaining private counsel in this matter. Special Agents [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] have both obtained private counsel to represent their interests in this matter.

Special Agents [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] were both formerly assigned to the New York Division, Special Agent [REDACTED] having been assigned there from July 1968 until January 1973, and Special Agent [REDACTED] assigned there from February 1971 until August 1975. Due to the period of time that has transpired since their initial assignment to the New York Division and due to the voluminous amount of material handled by them during this period, many facts pertaining to their investigative activities while assigned to New York have become uncertain. Both of these Agents feel that in order to properly discuss this matter with Departmental attorneys, other Governmental officials or their own attorneys, it is necessary that they review the files contained in the New York Division so as to refresh their recollections as to the events and circumstances out of which the current allegations arose.

This document contains neither

Re: Civil Rights Division Criminal
Investigation of Surreptitious Entries

Therefore, Special Agents [redacted] and [redacted] have requested that they be permitted to travel to New York City in an official business status at Government expense, for the purpose of reviewing files maintained there, these files being otherwise unavailable to them.

It would appear to the Special Agent in Charge, Detroit Division, that such travel should be authorized in the interest of justice and so that all of the facts surrounding these allegations can be brought to light. Due to the varied investigative assignments and cases that Agents work during the span of a five year period, it is understandable that recollections become clouded and uncertain. Prior to these Agents answering any inquiries that the Government might have concerning the allegations against them, they should be permitted to review the files in the New York Division pertaining to their investigative activities while assigned there. Special Agents, currently assigned to the New York Division and against whom similar allegations have been made, have been afforded the opportunity to review these files. In addition, at least one other Special Agent has been permitted to travel at Government expense from one field division to another for the purpose of reviewing files to refresh his recollection in this matter. To deny Special Agents [redacted] and [redacted] this same opportunity to refresh their recollection would be grossly unfair and unjust.

The Special Agent in Charge, Detroit Division, strongly recommends that Special Agents [redacted] and [redacted] be authorized to travel at Government expense from Detroit, Michigan, to New York City, for the purpose of reviewing files maintained by the New York Division.

On June 16, 1976, William Gardner, Departmental Attorney, Civil Rights Division, Washington, D.C., advised Special Agents [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] respectively, that the Justice Department is currently conducting an inquiry concerning allegations that FBI Agents surreptitiously entered private premises in New York, New York, within the last five years and stated that Special Agents [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] are both considered subjects of this inquiry. Both of these Agents feel that in order to properly discuss this matter with Departmental Attorneys or their attorneys, it is necessary to review files contained in FBI New York Division Office, and request that they be permitted to do so in an official business status at Government expense, their files being otherwise unavailable to them.

As alluded to in enclosed letterhead memorandum, a Special Agent has been permitted to travel in the recent past from one FBI Office to another, for file review purposes in connection with a civil suit. In that instance, it is noted that in connection with a recent

Your opinion is requested as to whether in the criminal matter concerned here it would be a proper use of Government funds to allow the travel of Special Agents [redacted] and [redacted] at Government expense.

NOTE: By Detroit teletype to Bureau dated 8-18-76 captioned: "Civil Rights Division, Criminal Investigation of Surreptitious Entries", Detroit requested consideration be given to allowing Detroit Agents named to travel by GTR, place on Administrative Leave and be granted per diem. The matter was coordinated with Finance and Personnel Division and favorable consideration not given at that time.

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES
CLASSIFICATION MATTER

In connection with the Civil Rights Division investigation into surreptitious entries, certain Agents were subpoenaed to appear before a grand jury impaneled in the Southern District of New York and the attorney for these Agents is attempting to quash the subpoenas for various reasons, including the fact that members of the grand jury have not been cleared to receive classified information and the Agents are not able to reveal such classified information pursuant to national security regulations.

Special Agent [REDACTED] has been subpoenaed to appear before a grand jury in Washington, D. C., on September 3, 1976, and although his attorney attempted to defer his appearance pending resolution of the motion in New York such action was not agreed to by the Civil Rights Division.

[REDACTED] has advised that because the Weatherman investigation has been held by the Department Review Committee to be a national security investigation, and sources and methods of intelligence related thereto are classifiable, he is requesting that you be asked to resolve the conflict between his subpoena to testify and restrictions imposed by Title 28, CFR, Sections 17.3 and 17.64 and Executive Order 11652. In view of the dilemma and after discussing the matter with his attorney, he has advised he intends to decline to testify and has furnished a copy of the statement he intends to make as the reasons for his declination.

In order that this Bureau may appropriately advise [REDACTED] and other employees confronted with this situation, I respectfully request your early consideration of this matter.

Dear [REDACTED]

I have received the copy of your letter to Attorney General Levi dated August 26, 1976.

I know you would want to know in connection with the current investigation being conducted by the Civil Rights Division (CRD) concerning surreptitious entries, I advised all Special Agents in Charge by teletype dated June 15, 1976, that the Bureau was cooperating with the CRD in this inquiry and encouraged those employees contacted to also cooperate.

In my communication of June 15, 1976, referred to above, I did not suppose that information and material to be provided to counsel in connection with this investigation are necessarily classified or subject to the nondisclosure requirements of Title 18, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 17. However, in the event that information you propose to provide to counsel is so classified, you should inform him of that belief and advise him that he may contact the CRD for guidance as to whether a security clearance of counsel is necessary and, also, by what process the clearance can be sought and obtained.

In response to your request, you are hereby released from the provisions of your Employment Agreement (FD-291) subject only to the possible need for security clearance of your counsel as discussed above.

Sincerely yours,

PURPOSE: To respond to a letter from [REDACTED] and to set forth policy concerning release of Agents from their employment agreement for the purpose of consulting with private counsel.

SYNOPSIS: [REDACTED] telephoned Legal Counsel Division on 7/29/76 to report contact by Department representative pertaining to Civil Rights Division's (CRD's) surreptitious entries investigation. [REDACTED] requested release from employment agreement advising he had retained counsel. By letter dated 8/9/76, we advised [REDACTED] of his release. On 8/13/76 [REDACTED] responded stating our letter inferred he was a subject, which was not true. The Director noted, "What about this?" Our letter was not intended to infer any recipient was a "subject," "suspect," or "witness."

RECOMMENDATION:

1) That attached letter to [REDACTED] be approved and sent.

Memorandum to The Associate Director
Re: Civil Rights Division's Criminal
Investigation of Surreptitious Entries

ALL
(6/16)
(6/17/10)

DETAILS: When the CRD's investigation into surreptitious entries was initiated, we were furnished a list of Agents who were considered subjects of the inquiry. Many of these Agents contacted FBIHQ advising they were consulting private counsel and were desirous of being released from their employment agreement. At this time, a letter was prepared by Legal Counsel Division which it was felt would suffice for this purpose.

On 7/29/76 [REDACTED] Atlanta Division, telephoned Legal Counsel Division to report a contact by a representative of the CRD. This representative stated that he desired to speak to [REDACTED] concerning the CRD's inquiry. [REDACTED] stated that he informed the Department representative that he desired to consult with private counsel, and that he was contacting the Legal Counsel Division to request a release from the provisions of his employment agreement. On 8/9/76, we forwarded the above-mentioned letter. This letter uses the sentence, "The CRD has requested me to advise and encourage you to consult counsel, if you have not already done so." This sentence was based on discussions between representatives of the Legal Counsel Division and the Department.

By letter dated 8/13/76 [REDACTED] took exception to this sentence and stated that he believes it prejudicial, as it implies that he is being investigated as a subject. He requested that our letter be removed from his personnel file and the record be made clear that he was contacted by the Department for interview only.

The letter which was prepared by Legal Counsel Division for submission to Agents who have requested release from their employment agreements was designed to fit all categories, i.e., subject or witness, and was not intended to infer that anyone was a "subject," "suspect,"

Memorandum to The Associate Director
Re: Civil Rights Division's Criminal

or "witness." It was designed to serve as good advice to anyone involved in this inquiry.

For your information, this matter has been discussed with representatives of the Department and it was decided that it was not necessary to release all Agents contacted by the CRD from their employment agreement. This was based on the fact that many of the Agents contacted by CRD are no more than witnesses in this investigation. The Department has advised, however, that people interviewed can subsequently become subjects as the result of additional investigation.

(7)(C)

In view of the above, Legal Counsel Division will no longer notify Agents who retain private counsel that they are being released from their employment agreement unless we determine that they have been designated a subject of the investigation, or unless they specifically request to be released. In line with this, it is recommended that attached letter to [REDACTED] be approved and sent. We recommend that [REDACTED] letter and our answer be retained in files as evidence of our intentions.

PURPOSE: To advise of classification problems concerning my appearance before the Federal Grand Jury (FGJ), Washington, D.C., 9-3-76 and recommend the matter be resolved with the Attorney General.

RECOMMENDATION: Because the Weatherman investigation has been held by the Departmental Review Committee (DRC) to be a national security investigation and matters related thereto are classified up to and including "Top Secret", the Attorney General be requested to resolve the conflict between my own and other subpoenas to the FGJ to testify and restrictions imposed by T28, CFR, Sections 17.3 and 17.64 and Executive Order (EO 11652). ## SYNOPSIS AND DETAILS:

Attached is a memorandum I received from the Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, and its enclosures, a letter dated September 7, 1976, from the Attorney General to the Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, and a copy of a memorandum from the Director to the Attorney General dated September 3, 1976, captioned "Surreptitious Entries Classification Matter."

The Director's memorandum to the Attorney General of September 3 requested advice concerning the appearance of Special Agent [REDACTED] before a grand jury pursuant to a subpoena and the possible conflict between his potential testimony and restrictions imposed by the Code of Federal Regulations and Executive Order 11652. The Attorney General's letter to Mr. Pottinger dated September 7 appears to provide the resolution of the problem described in the Director's memorandum.

RECOMMENDATION:

That Special Agent [REDACTED] be advised that the letter from the Attorney General to Mr. Pottinger appears to have resolved the potential conflict between his testimony and the restrictions imposed by the Code of Federal Regulations and Executive Order 11652.

In connection with the Civil Rights Division investigation into surreptitious entries, certain Agents were subpoenaed to appear before a grand jury impaneled in the Southern District of New York and the attorney for these Agents is attempting to quash the subpoenas for various reasons, including the fact that members of the grand jury have not been cleared to receive classified information and the Agents are not able to reveal such classified information pursuant to national security regulations.

Special Agent [REDACTED] has been subpoenaed to appear before a grand jury in Washington, D. C., on September 3, 1976, and although his attorney attempted to defer his appearance pending resolution of the motion in New York such action was not agreed to by the Civil Rights Division.

[REDACTED] has advised that because the Weatherman investigation has been held by the Department Review Committee to be a national security investigation, and sources and methods of intelligence related thereto are classifiable, he is requesting that you be asked to resolve the conflict between his subpoena to testify and restrictions imposed by Title 28, CFR, Sections 17.3 and 17.04 and Executive Order 11652. In view of the dilemma and after discussing the matter with his attorney, he has advised he intends to decline to testify and has furnished a copy of the statement he intends to make as the reasons for his declination.

In order that this Bureau may appropriately advise [REDACTED] and other employees confronted with this situation, I respectfully request your early consideration of this matter.

PURPOSE:

To record information furnished by [REDACTED] regarding a scheduled interview concerning captioned matter.

SYNOPSIS AND DETAILS:

At 4:15 p.m. on September 30, 1976 [REDACTED] telephonically advised me that William Gardner of the Civil Rights Division had called him at approximately 4 p.m. on September 30 to request him to appear for an interview concerning surreptitious entries and the Weatherman investigation. Gardner told him that the interview would not be one requiring an advice of rights but one in which [REDACTED] would be requested to furnish general knowledge. [REDACTED] said that he told Gardner he had no knowledge of surreptitious entries and he would appear for the requested interview. The interview is scheduled for 1 p.m. on Monday, October 4, 1976, in Room 1038 in the Civil Rights Division space located at 550 11th Street, Washington, D.C.

[REDACTED] said that he had previously called Mr. Adams and Mr. Adams had referred him to me concerning this matter. He said that it was his understanding that matters that might be classifiable could be discussed with Department Attorney Gardner. I told [REDACTED] that I agreed and further that we had recently been furnished a copy of a letter from the Attorney General to Assistant Attorney General Pottinger indicating the Attorney General's intention to authorize Mr. Pottinger to receive and use classified information for purposes of the surreptitious entry investigation.

[REDACTED] advised me that he would appear for the requested interview and that at the conclusion of the interview he would provide a summary to the Bureau of the information he furnished.

William Gardner, Section Chief, U. S. Department of Justice, Civil Rights Division, telephonically contacted me and advised that he, Gardner, desires to discuss certain ramifications of the New York operations with me. A tentative date has been set for 10/7/76 at Gardner's office in Washington, D. C.

Gardner indicated that he will only talk with me if I sign a Waiver of Rights form. In view of this I respectfully request that I be released from my employment agreement so that I may discuss with an attorney Gardner's request. It is noted that I will be in contact with [REDACTED] former Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, who is presently representing former and present Agents of the FBI.

73 CIV 3160 (TCP)

PURPOSE:

To advise of a court order in this civil action to produce additional FBI materials regarding plaintiffs, including documents concerning physical entries, and to advise of the existence in the New York Office of 25 volumes of documents concerning such entries conducted by the New York office from the 1940s through 1975.

SYNOPSIS:

Plaintiffs in captioned civil action recently requested that the FBI produce 26 additional items in discovery in this lawsuit, including documents concerning physical entries directed against plaintiffs. On 3/18/76, an order was entered in this civil action specifying that on or about 3/24/76, Federal defendants are to respond to all outstanding requests for documents and that the trial of this civil action will commence on 7/1/76. The AUSA handling this civil action requested that the FBI attempt to obtain from the Department an early decision concerning how the Department's new guidelines will affect the FBI's investigation of plaintiffs.

Intelligence Division. In obtaining information requested by plaintiffs, canvassed all field offices concerning physical entries directed against plaintiffs and obtained documents revealing that from 1/15/63 through 7/1/66, the New York Office conducted 93 physical entries against Socialist Workers Party (SWP) and Young Socialist Alliance (YSA). New York Office possesses approximately 25 volumes of documents concerning all physical entries conducted by that office from the 1940s through 1975. Intelligence Division advised additional information requested by plaintiffs will be available to furnish to the USA, SDNY, by 3/24/76.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That upon receipt of information and documents from INTD concerning additional items requested by plaintiffs, Legal Counsel Division correspond with USA, SDNY, and the Department.

2. That INTD furnish pertinent information to the Department concerning our investigation of YSA and SWP in an effort to obtain an early decision concerning the effect of the new guidelines on the FBI's investigation of plaintiffs;

3. That INTD determine whether additional documents concerning physical entries conducted by this Bureau exist in other field offices and at FBIHQ and advise the Department concerning the existence of any such documents as well as those in New York Office.

RE: SOCIALIST WORKERS PARTY, et al. v. ATTORNEY GENERAL, et al
(U.S.D.C., S.D.N.Y.) 73 CIV 3160 (TGP)

DETAILS:

Plaintiffs, the Socialist Workers Party (SWP), its youth group the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA), and fifteen individual plaintiffs, filed captioned civil action during 7/73, alleging that defendants, the FBI, other Governmental agencies and officers, have denied them constitutional rights as a political party. They seek substantial damages as well as broad injunctive relief. On 1/7/75, the court in captioned civil action ordered us to produce "all files relating to everything gathered about the plaintiffs, including the results of surveillance conducted of the SWP or the YSA, and documents relating to the purpose of such surveillance." Subsequently, the Department, through the USA, SDNY, released a substantial number of FBI documents in discovery in this civil action. Items released included SWP Disruption Program documents, semi-annual national SWP and YSA reports, investigative reports and certain letterhead memoranda concerning individual plaintiffs and Counterintelligence Program (COINTELPRO) New Left and COINTELPRO Communist Party, USA documents concerning plaintiffs.

By letter dated 11/5/75, Thomas J. Cahill, USA, SDNY, enclosed a list, copy attached, of 25 additional items which plaintiffs requested from the FBI in discovery in this civil action. Documents requested included those pertaining to any "intelligence gathering burglaries" directed against plaintiffs. By letter dated 12/1/75, copy attached, the Director informed Mr. Cahill which of the 26 items this Bureau is willing to produce in this lawsuit and which we object to producing on grounds of privilege or relevancy.

On 3/16/76, AUSA Steven J. Glassman, SDNY, who is handling this civil action, advised that on 3/16/76, the court entered an order in this lawsuit, copy attached, specifying that on or before 3/24/76, the Federal defendants will respond to all outstanding requests for documents and that the trial of this civil action will commence on 7/1/76. AUSA Glassman emphasized that every effort should be made to have materials requested by plaintiffs furnished to him by the above date. The FBI should furnish information consistent with the Director's letter to Mr. Cahill dated 12/1/75. Privileged and administrative data, including the names of Bureau personnel, should be deleted from the documents we are now producing. Both a true copy of the document as it appears in Bureau files as well as a copy with deletions should be furnished to the USA, SDNY. Of course, only copies with deletions will be furnished to plaintiffs.

AUSA Glassman was informed that the Department's guidelines concerning FBI security investigations will be implemented in the near future and that these guidelines could affect the FBI's investigation of plaintiffs. Noting that the plaintiffs are attempting to obtain an injunction in this civil action, AUSA Glassman felt it would be extremely helpful to have the Department apply the guidelines to the investigations in question as soon as possible. If a decision has not been made by the time of trial, he stated, the court may "take it upon itself" to apply the guidelines to plaintiff organizations. From the Government's point of view, such action would be undesirable. Thus, AUSA Glassman requested that the Bureau bring the facts of the investigations in question to the Department as soon as possible.

INTD has observed that plaintiffs have requested a substantial amount of additional materials and that a great number of man hours have been and are being expended to obtain and process these items. They, however, feel that the items requested will be available to furnish to the USA, SDNY, by 3/24/76.

INTD also observed that in obtaining information requested by plaintiffs, they canvassed all FBI field offices in an effort to locate documents relating to any FBI "intelligence gathering burglaries" directed against plaintiffs. Los Angeles furnished documents concerning a physical entry and microphone installation directed against the residence of plaintiff James P. Cannon on 4/30/60. New Haven furnished documents concerning a physical entry directed against the residence of a SWP organizer on 3/10/60. New York furnished documents revealing that between 1/15/60 and 7/1/66, 93 physical entries were directed against SWP and YSA offices in New York City.

(416) On 3/17/75, SA [REDACTED] SWP Case Agent, New York Office, advised files of the New York Office contain approximately 25 volumes of documents reflecting information concerning all physical entries conducted by the New York Office from the 1940s through 1975, not simply those against SWP and YSA. The documents in question are not serialized but are filed in chronological order in SAC folders. Concerning each physical entry, the folders typically contain a memorandum from a New York SA to the SAC requesting authority to conduct the entry, a handwritten note identifying the official at FBIHQ who authorized the entry, and a memorandum describing the results of the entry. Agents who participated in each entry are identified.

To advise that on 10/5/76 Intelligence Division (INTD) Supervisor [REDACTED] was interviewed by Departmental Attorney William L. Gardner, Civil Rights Division.

DETAILS:

On 10/4/76, Mr. William L. Gardner, Civil Rights Division, telephonically requested INTD Supervisor [REDACTED] to submit to interview on the following day regarding the latter's research and handling of the surreptitious entry inquiry during the early phases of FBIHQ and Departmental inquiries.

The interview was conducted 10/5/76 at Mr. Gardner's office. The significant points covered during the interview were: Extent, basis and nature of Agent [REDACTED] initial inquiries; extent of contacts within the INTD to obtain information regarding surreptitious entries; circumstances surrounding the discovery in the New York Office, in March, 1976, of so-called "SAC Folders" containing information regarding entries; INTD knowledge of the "SAC Folders" prior to the March discovery; and steps taken to bring information in "SAC Folders" to the attention of the Civil Rights Division.

Prosecuting Agent

BY ROBERT L. JACKSON and RONALD J. OSTROW

Times Staff Writers

WASHINGTON—Atty. Gen. Griffin B. Bell has expressed reservations about prosecuting FBI break-ins, giving hope to FBI officials that he will reject recommendations for indictments, it was learned today.

Bell also has told FBI officials that he hoped the bureau would move away from concentrating on past abuses, he said.

These sources said Bell had remarked that the purpose was to understand that the break-ins were aimed at terrorist fugitives from the Weather Underground Organization.

Bell has reached no decision on the two-week-old recommendation for indictments, which he has also asked the Justice Department division to review. But his remarks have indicated sympathy to the problems faced by law enforcement authorities in gathering intelligence on terrorists, some associates said.

Meanwhile, FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley, in a statement approved by the Justice Department, branded part of the recommendations Thursday in The Times as "calculated leaks that damage the American system of justice."

He did not deny the accuracy of the reports, but said the statement:

"This action by these nameless sources is reprehensible. It is not only injurious to the morale of all FBI employees but also incalculable damage to the FBI officials and to the public whose names were prominently mentioned. It is certain that all fair-minded people are shocked by these calculated leaks that damage the American system of justice."

The Times story said that a team of Justice Department attorneys had submitted a written recommendation for indictments against six or more past and present officials for break-ins, mail-openings and wiretapping.

The recommendation was also attacked Thursday, in part by The Times, by several attorneys for FBI officials who have figured in the lengthy grand jury investigation of "surreptitious entries."

New York attorney Paul Windels, for example, said that break-ins to gather intelligence on allegedly subversive organizations were a long-established practice.

"We talk about winding up by prosecuting FBI officials for nonsense," Windels said, adding that "every day general for the past 25 years had to be aware that intelligence was obtained."

B. Solerwitz, who has represented FBI officials, said that immunity as prosecutors sought evidence against them, he cited a Watergate-era court ruling in which it was held that the break-in prosecutions were doomed.

authority of another to authorize (their) actions. Edward P. Morgan, Washington counsel for the former FBI Agents, said he expected Bell to reject the recommendation from the Justice Department team. Morgan, former Asst. Atty. Gen. J. Stanley Pottinger, will lean to the view that the current attorney general's matter of policy will decide that the prosecution is providently brought," Morgan said.

E. Petersen, a former career department attorney who rose to assistant attorney general, recalled that the department became aware in the early 1960s of wiretapping and bugging by the FBI. He noted that the department took no action against officials involved in wiretapping and bugging, and that the FBI in civil suits out of the illegal surveillance.

In fact, the department didn't even take responsibility for the actions.

HORBER ADVISED THAT CURRENT WEATHERMAN INVESTIGATIVE ACTIVITIES ARE NOT THE SUBJECT OF INQUIRY AND THEREFORE QUESTIONS WOULD NOT BE ASKED AS TO THESE ACTIVITIES. HOWEVER, SHOULD SUCH QUESTIONS ARISE, THEY SHOULD BE DEALT WITH ON A CASE BY CASE BASIS AND THE SPECIAL AGENT BEING INTERVIEWED SHOULD CONTACT FBI HEADQUARTERS FOR GUIDANCE.

SPECIAL AGENTS SHOULD OTHERWISE COOPERATE WITH THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE (DOJ) INQUIRY UNTIL IN THEIR JUDGMENT THEIR LEGAL RIGHTS ARE IN JEOPARDY, AT WHICH TIME THEY MAY TERMINATE THEIR INTERVIEWS OR TESTIMONY AND SEEK THE ADVICE OF AN ATTORNEY. SHOULD SPECIAL AGENTS DESIRE TO SEEK REPRESENTATION BY THE ATTORNEY GENERAL IN THIS MATTER, THEY SHOULD PREPARE A COMMUNICATION TO THE ATTORNEY GENERAL PROVIDING A FACTUAL BACKGROUND, THAT THEIR ACTIONS WERE WITHIN THE SCOPE OF THEIR EMPLOYMENT AND THAT THEY SEEK REPRESENTATION BY THE ATTORNEY GENERAL. Washington, D. C. pursuant to a request of Departmental
relating to Weatherman fugitive investigations. Portland Division further advises that retired SA [REDACTED] has also been contacted by Horber. Portland requests advice as to disclosing the identity of former [REDACTED] and discussing present ongoing Weatherman investigative activities. This communication advises that Horber was contacted 7/25/77, (by SA [REDACTED] LCD, pursuant to instructions from Assistant Director John A. Mintz) who advised that interviewed SAs have not been asked to identify informants and that he did not anticipate instances where such a question would arise. Horber also advised that current investigative activities are not the subject of the present inquiry. Horber agreed that should the informant identity issue or present investigative activities issue arise that each could be handled on an individual basis with the opportunity to discuss the matter further [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] advised to cooperate with Department inquiry until such time as in their judgment their legal rights are in jeopardy. Possibility of Attorney General representation attributable to Francis Green, Deputy Associate Attorney General. Portland Division is advised retired Agent
[REDACTED] Supervisor [REDACTED] and SA [REDACTED] were made

Lawyers for FBI Agents Need Clearance for Talks

by Margaret Gentry
 Associated Press

FBI agents under investigation for allegedly committing burglaries have been ordered not to talk to their lawyers about their case until the lawyers are cleared to receive secret government information.

Justice Department sources have confirmed that the department's Civil Rights Division is investigating at least 20 FBI agents involved in intelligence-gathering burglaries during the past five years. The probe involves possible violations of the civil rights of American citizens.

The FBI agents were given the instructions about their lawyers in a teletyped message from FBI headquarters last Friday, according to Jack B. Solerwitz, an attorney representing some of the FBI men.

The restriction suggests that the Justice Department probe involves break-ins that the FBI considers sensitive national security matters.

"My clients have been told they are the targets of an investigation of surreptitious entries," Solerwitz said in an interview Wednesday.

He declined to say how many of the agents he represents or to identify them. But some are assigned to the FBI's New York office, he said.

Solerwitz said department investigators telephoned the FBI men at their homes during the weekend of June 12 to inform them they were under investigation and that they would be advised of their right to keep silent and to retain an attorney.

A teletyped message from FBI headquarters June 16 advised the agents to hire private lawyers, Solerwitz said.

"The Justice Department has made it clear to these agents that they will not be provided counsel" by the government, he said. Under current policy, the department refuses to provide lawyers to defend employees in criminal investigations.

Solerwitz is representing the agents for free in his capacity as attorney for the Federal Criminal Investigators Association.

The FBI message June 18 instructed the agents not to disclose details of the case until their attorneys get security clearances. Solerwitz said he doesn't know how long it will take to get the clearance. Such clearances normally are processed through the FBI and the department.

"I have no doubt their investigation would not terminate with these agents," he said. "Any prosecutor would go higher."

It could not be determined which or how many organizations or individuals may have been burglarized by the FBI during the past years.

The five-year period is significant because statute of limitations precludes federal prosecutions for civil rights offenses more than five years old.

The disclosure that break-ins were conducted since 1971 contradicts the FBI's insistence that burglaries against domestic targets ended in 1966. The Socialist Workers Party was one target of FBI burglaries. FBI documents released to the party in connection with a lawsuit against the bureau disclosed that agents burglarized party offices or homes of members 94 times from 1960 through 1966.

Department sources have said that civil rights investigators examined the hundreds of burglaries conducted before 1966 but concluded that the statute of limitations bars any prosecutions.

In another development, department investigators have expanded their probe of financial kickbacks within the FBI to include other abuses of power by past and present FBI officials, it was learned. The nature of the other alleged abuses could not be determined.

Michael Shahcen, head of the department's Office of Professional Responsibility, which is conducting the probe, said he expects to deliver his findings and recommendations to Attorney General Edward H. Levi within a few weeks.

Subpoenas Upheld In Burglary Probe Involving FBI Men

By Warren Brown
Washington Post Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 3—A federal judge denied a motion here today that could have jeopardized the Justice Department investigation of allegations that FBI agents committed illegal burglaries within the last five years.

U.S. District Court Judge Henry Werker denied a motion to quash grand jury subpoenas for two former FBI agents involved in the probe because, he said, it was sought prematurely.

"If it had been successful, the motion would have shut down our case until we could have reversed it," Assistant Attorney General J. Stanley Pottinger said after the ruling. Pottinger heads the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division, which has been conducting the eight-month investigation.

Although the motion, filed by attorney Jack B. Solerwitz, named only the two former agents, it would have applied to all agents—reportedly about 25—if it had been granted.

Solerwitz, arguing on behalf of former New York special agents Clairborne J. Poche and Philip J. Newpher, said their appearance before a grand jury would have jeopardized national security interests.

But Werker said the contention was unfounded because agents claiming that they had committed burglaries to protect national security had several options.

Justice Department investigators could accept their assertion and allow the agents to remain silent, he said, or the government could go into a private session with the judge and the agents' lawyers to determine whether the national security argument was valid.

If the judge rules in favor of an agent, the agent may remain silent; if not, he would be compelled to testify, Werker said.

He added that The Justice Department could eliminate the need for a closed session by giving the agent immunization to disclose matters that the agent may regard as potentially harmful to national interests. Pottinger pointed out that such immunization would be for the act of disclosure only and not for the contents of the disclosure.

Werker also said an agent may be compelled to testify if it can be shown that the Attorney General feels that adequate safeguards have been taken to protect the confidentiality of sensitive disclosures.

Werker said the Justice Department could declassify documents that an agent or his attorneys regard as national security matters, thereby making the question of national security moot.

Pottinger said he does not think that there will be a need to declassify any documents in the case because, he said, no national security interests are involved.

Werker also rejected a motion by Solerwitz to appoint a special prosecutor to head the Justice Department's probe because, the judge said, he had no power to do so.

Solerwitz appealed Werker's ruling and asked for an emergency delay of the grand jury subpoenas pending an outcome of the appeal.

The U.S. Court of Appeals here is expected to rule on Solerwitz's request by 9 a.m. Tuesday.

The burglaries in the New York area were discovered as the result of a lawsuit by the Socialist Workers Party, a Trotskyite group, charging that the FBI and other federal agencies had harassed and committed illegal acts against the party.

The federal judge hearing the suit ordered the FBI to produce every document in its possession relating to the SWP and, in the course of locating these documents, FBI agents found a file in the New York field office containing information about the burglaries.

So far none of the burglaries committed during 1972 and 1973 has been identified as having been directed against the SWP. Justice Department sources have said that most were aimed at organizations and individuals that the FBI thought might have information about fugitive members of the Weather Underground.

Probe of FBI Illegalities Widens

Justice Department investigators have begun searching files of the FBI in at least six major cities in a major effort to expand their probe of illegal bureau practices beyond the New York City area, according to sources close to the case.

One FBI source said that, among other things, the investigators were likely to find evidence that federal agents had used illegal techniques, including burglaries, in their investigation of the Black Panther party in the San Francisco area in recent years.

Although Justice Department lawyers have obtained what one of them said were numerous unconfirmed reports that such techniques had been in relatively common use by FBI intelligence agents around the country, they have thus far found no conclusive evidence of burglaries beyond those that took place in New York between 1971 and 1973.

Washington, D. C. 20535

Dear Mr. Kelley:

On the evening of October 18th, I received a telephone call at my residence from an individual who identified himself as William Gardner of the Civil Rights Division of the Department of Justice. He indicated that the purpose of his call was to advise me that I would be subpoenaed to testify in the near future before a Federal Grand Jury in Washington, D. C. Mr. Gardner said that the subject of the inquiry was "FBI burglaries and tap jobs" and that I would be expected to testify concerning

I asked Mr. Gardner if he could be more specific, but he declined to provide any additional details. I advised him that I would of course be available for testimony but requested as much advance notice as possible since I have court appearances scheduled through the next two months in connection with my law practice which may conflict with my scheduled appearance before the Grand Jury.

I have consulted with [redacted] (Former SA) and [redacted] of the law firm of [redacted] in Washington, D. C. concerning my appearance and intend to answer all questions truthfully and to the best of my knowledge and recollection during my appearance before the Grand Jury. You may be assured, however, that I will make every effort to refrain from disclosing any specific information of a confidential nature which could prejudice an ongoing FBI investigation.

Very truly yours,

Dear [REDACTED]

This will <sup>ser 85</sup> acknowledge receipt of your letter of October 28, 1976.

For your information, I have advised all employees of the Bureau that they should cooperate with this investigation. This is to advise you are hereby released from your Employment Agreement so that you can discuss with your private counsel your duties while employed by the FBI as they pertain to this investigation. This release is subject only to the possible need for security clearance of your counsel as discussed below. S

It is not assumed that information and material to be provided to your counsel in connection with this investigation are necessarily classified or subject to the nondisclosure requirements of Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 17. However, in the event you believe that material or information provided to counsel is so classified, you should inform your counsel of that belief, and advise him that he may contact the Civil Rights Division for guidance as to whether a security clearance is necessary and if so, by what process the clearance can be sought and obtained.

PURPOSE:

To report that SA [REDACTED] of this Division was interviewed by two SAs assigned to the Civil Rights Division special.

SYNOPSIS AND DETAILS:

On 10/26/76, Special Agents (SAs) [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] who are assigned to the Civil Rights Division special, advised SA [REDACTED] as follows: That morning they were furnished a Xerox copy of an undated memorandum from Legal Counsel to Mr. F.S. Miller captioned "A Bill to Establish Guidelines and Procedures for Domestic Security Electronic Surveillances." The first paragraph of this memorandum, which was dictated by SA [REDACTED] specifies: "On 4/12/74 [REDACTED] Intelligence Division, requested that this office [Legal Counsel] draft a bill that if approved by Congress would authorize the FBI to conduct, with court approval, electronic domestic security surveillances. Attached hereto is a suggested bill. This matter, it is noted, is being prepared in connection with the Intelligence Division's Task Force Study on Privacy."

SAs [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] advised that Departmental Attorney William Gardner requested that SA [REDACTED] furnish information responsive to three questions: (1) Was [REDACTED] request to the Legal Counsel Office written or oral? (2) What were the circumstances surrounding the request? (3) What action was taken concerning the "bill"?

Concerning these questions, SA [REDACTED] advised that to the best of his recollection, the request was not in writing, that [REDACTED] had orally requested from the Deputy Assistant Director, LCD, that SA [REDACTED] be allowed to assist the Intelligence Division's Task Force on Privacy, and that after being drafted, the "bill" went to file and that no action was taken concerning same.

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES
CLASSIFICATION MATTER

In connection with the Civil Rights Division investigation into surreptitious entries, certain Agents were subpoenaed to appear before a grand jury impaneled in the Southern District of New York and the attorney for these Agents is attempting to quash the subpoenas for various reasons, including the fact that members of the grand jury have not been cleared to receive classified information and the Agents are not able to reveal such classified information pursuant to national security regulations.

Special Agent [REDACTED] has been subpoenaed to appear before a grand jury in Washington, D. C., on September 3, 1976, and although his attorney attempted to defer his appearance pending resolution of the motion in New York such action was not agreed to by the Civil Rights Division.

[REDACTED] has advised that because the Weatherman investigation has been held by the Department Review Committee to be a national security investigation, and sources and methods of intelligence related thereto are classifiable, he is requesting that you be asked to resolve the conflict between his subpoena to testify and restrictions imposed by Title 28, CFR, Sections 17.3 and 17.64 and Executive Order 11652. In view of the dilemma and after discussing the matter with his attorney, he has advised he intends to decline to testify and has furnished a copy of the statement he intends to make as the reasons for his declination.

In order that this Bureau may appropriately advise [REDACTED] and other employees confronted with this situation, I respectfully request your early consideration of this matter.

Reference memorandum of R. E. Long to Mr. Leavitt, 7/13/76, captioned as above. (Copy Attached)

PURPOSE:

To report results of an Intelligence Division (INTD) survey, as requested by Investigation Coordinator, Surreptitious Entry Investigation, concerning filing of forms FD-255.

SYNOPSIS:

Memorandum R. E. Long to Mr. Leavitt, 7/13/76, captioned "Surreptitious Entry Investigation," asked INTD for information as to the filing of forms FD-255 (recommendation for commendations and incentive awards). Survey of all sections, INTD, shows filing of FD-255 dependent on caption used on the form. If employee's name on form, same is filed in employee's personnel file; if captioned with organization, group or individual being investigated, then form is filed in that case file. Division maintains ticklers from inspection to inspection and following inspection tickler folder for prior year is destroyed. Although no definite policy below Division level, most sections and units maintain tickler system showing personnel receiving awards. Individual supervisors, when initiating recommendations or affixing addenda, may retain ticklers.

Memorandum to Mr. T. W. Leavitt
Re: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY INVESTIGATION

DETAILS:

In a memorandum of 7/13/76, R. E. Long, Investigation Coordinator, Surreptitious Entry Investigation, inquired of INTD as to maintenance of forms FD-255 (recommendation for incentives and commendations). The question was asked whether the form is filed in case file in all instances, or filed in a separate file. Request was made to furnish any "list, file, card index system or other records" maintained, formally or otherwise, on matters dealing with incentive awards and commendations for field and headquarters personnel.

The INTD does not maintain a separate file for forms FD-255; however, tickler copies of the FD-255 are kept as shown below:

Division Front Office

Maintains tickler copies of memoranda and forms FD-255 from inspection to inspection. Following an inspection, folder containing letters for the prior year are destroyed. Currently two sections to this file exist: one for 1975, one for 1976. Letters are arranged in file by Section. File is entitled "Letters of Commendation and Incentive Awards Received by Division Five Personnel," and is maintained in Mr. Leavitt's office.

1D-1

Section maintains no tickler system for FD-255s.

1D-2

Section maintains no tickler system for commendations/incentives. FD-255 administratively moves up supervisory chain to Finance and Personnel Division where final approval made, then filed either in employee's personnel folder or substantive case file, depending on caption on FD-255. Individual Unit Chiefs might maintain ticklers on commendations/incentives (for accomplishment purposes); but no policy on this.

Memorandum to Mr. T. W. Leavitt
Re: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY INVESTIGATION

IS-3

Maintains tickler system similar to that of Division
Front Office, entitled "Personnel-Incentives/Commendations."

CI-1

Maintains list of Headquarters personnel (CI-1) receiving commendations/incentives by name only. FD-255s usually filed in substantive case files, sometimes in personnel file of employee. To check any commendation/incentive awarded would necessitate review of personnel or substantive case file.

CI-2

Maintains no section tickler. Individual supervisors, when affixing addenda to recommendations, may retain ticklers.

CI-3

Maintains tickler, "Personnel Incentives," at Section level. Depending on caption, FD-255 either goes to employee's personnel folder or substantive case file. Individual supervisors or Unit Chiefs may maintain ticklers on which they have affixed addenda.

CI-4

Since reopening of CI-4 in 1972, no record of FD-255 has been maintained in Section. In the event any would be located they would have been filed in the personnel file of individual concerned. A tickler folder is maintained in Section showing personnel receiving incentive awards or commendations. A folder and index card system showing Agent and clerical personnel on foreign assignment who have received incentives/commendations is maintained in Foreign Liaison Unit of the CI-4 Section.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

Civil Rights Division Surreptitious Entries

To assist you in your discussions concerning the matter of surreptitious entries for investigation of civil rights allegations, the following listing of issues is drawn from the various memoranda prepared by the Deputy Attorney General, Mr. Pottinger; and James P. Turner, who was acting as Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division.

Issue #1: The Civil Rights Division has investigated FBI activities in New York, Denver, Portland, and Seattle which involve allegations of surreptitious entries and/or other allegations of civil rights violations which may have been committed by FBI employees. It has been indicated by Mr. Pottinger and by Turner's memorandum for the Attorney General (October 19, 1976) that there are additional matters that may be subject to investigation in Washington Field, Boston, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Detroit, and San Diego. If the FBI is to undertake an investigation of matters not currently being investigated by the Civil Rights Division, it would be useful for the Civil Rights Division to furnish us sufficient facts in order to institute a reasonable investigation. This is true in regard to the above-listed field divisions as well as others about which the Civil Rights Division may have information for investigation.

In view of this, the first issue is whether the Department will furnish the FBI facts on which we may undertake investigations we determine to be appropriate.

Issue #2: The Deputy Attorney General memorandum dated October 26, 1976, distinguished investigations by describing those conducted by the Civil Rights Division as "criminal investigations" and those conducted by the FBI as "administrative inquiries." The memorandum from Turner of the Civil Rights Division appeared to accept the same rationale for distinguishing investigations. Page 3, item 4, of that memorandum indicated that there were other matters of prospective but not present investigative interest to the Civil Rights Division which would not be affected by normal inspection operations of the Bureau. The same paragraph said should any of these matters require the opening of an active investigation the Bureau would be so advised at the time. Thus, Turner appears to assume that criminal investigation would be conducted by the Civil Rights Division whereas administrative inquiries by the inspection operations of the Bureau would be conducted by the FBI.

In view of the above, the second issue is whether the FBI would be authorized to conduct criminal investigations of allegations involving FBI personnel or whether such criminal inquiries would be handled by other elements of the Department leaving only administrative inquiries to be conducted by the FBI.

Issue #3: The third issue is how the matters described above should be resolved. The memoranda indicate that the Deputy Attorney General and the Civil Rights Division have different views as to what office should decide whether the Civil Rights Division will undertake a criminal investigation. Therefore, it may be necessary for that impasse to be broken by a decision by the Attorney General. In the interim, it would be useful to have a meeting with the Deputy Attorney General and Mr. Pottinger in order to clarify their intentions and ~~oprs~~. If a satisfactory understanding could be reached, the problem may be solved by confirmation in writing with the Deputy and Mr. Pottinger. If an agreement could not be reached, it may be necessary for you to resolve the matter with the Attorney General.

Memorandum

TO : THE DIRECTOR

DATE: 12/7/76

FROM : W. K. DE BRULER

SUBJECT: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY INVESTIGATION ENTRY

Pursuant to your instructions, I telephoned Assistant Attorney General Pottinger for an appointment with a view toward obtaining from Mr. Pottinger the identities of FBI employees, together with necessary information, upon which an appropriate inquiry might be instituted to determine whether administrative action might be warranted against these employees.

Mr. Pottinger requested that we postpone a meeting for the above purpose until the first part of the week commencing December 13.

During the conversation Mr. Pottinger referred to his meeting with you December 6, 1976, wherein it was apparent that there was some confusion on the part of the Deputy Attorney General's Office concerning his (Pottinger's) ability to furnish information of this nature to the FBI. Pottinger said that some time ago he was asked by the Attorney General whether he could advise the FBI as to (1) what the Department could do to enable the Bureau to institute an inquiry which was not under investigation by the Department and (2) what, if anything, could be furnished to the FBI in those situations being investigated by the Department.

Mr. Pottinger advised me that during June, 1976, he was taking a very cautious approach to these investigations and that it was his feeling all along that the FBI ought to take action to the highest degree possible. He said that most of the investigation conducted by him did not involve a level of criminal activity.

He also said that the Attorney General instructed him to take a specific case in question to the Director as an example of what might be done by the Bureau. Pottinger said the Attorney General ordered him to write a letter to the FBI as to what the Bureau could do and not interfere with the ongoing investigation. Pottinger said he learned today that his memorandum prepared in response to the Attorney General's orders was never received by anyone in the FBI.

Pottinger said he was attempting to arrange a meeting with the Attorney General and Deputy Attorney General this afternoon.

Memo for the Director
Re: Surreptitious Entry Investigation

and/or early 12/8/76 to find out why this memorandum was not sent to the FBI. Pottinger said, of course, it might be that the Attorney General for some reason or another had decided not to send the memorandum.

Pottinger referred to a contact with John Mintz, Legal Counsel, some weeks ago along the lines of determining the identities of Agents who might be subject to administrative action and where Mr. Mintz was attempting to get some type of material for this purpose. He said the memorandum prepared by him for the Attorney General covered the points requested by Mintz.

Mr. Pottinger stated he had been informed by the Director that ADIC DeBruler was to handle this matter and had the Director's complete confidence; therefore, he felt free to advise ADIC DeBruler of the above.

Pottinger said he would furnish information to ADIC DeBruler concerning one specific FBI employee wherein the information obtained by the Department was not as a result of the Federal Grand Jury. He said there were a number of allegations that were third hand and that subsequent inquiry turned out to be "zero." He termed these as the easy matters which required no administrative action and which, in turn, he could see no reason to refer to the FBI because same might get into the files of employees, raise a question when in fact no question really existed. Matters of this nature will, therefore, not be referred to the FBI.

Pottinger also said that only a "handful" of material would be turned over to ADIC DeBruler because there was not that much information of this nature developed. Pottinger said he had instructed the New York Office to prepare an all-inclusive memorandum for him outlining the identities of Bureau personnel and the basis for possible administrative action to reach him by December 10. He said that was the reason why he believed a meeting between him and ADIC DeBruler would be more beneficial during the week of December 13. He said he would telephone DeBruler and arrange a meeting for this purpose.

Pottinger inquired of ADIC DeBruler if he had seen certain memoranda out of the New York Office regarding this case. Pottinger was told that he had not seen them. He stated these would be sent to him by DeBruler prior to the anticipated meeting.

To advise of results of Inspection Division inquiry concerning surreptitious entries by New York Office in 1972 and 1973.

SYNOPSISClassified by SP4/11/76-2,3
Declassify on: OADR

As you may recall, information was recently received indicating there had been some surreptitious entries by Bureau personnel assigned to our New York Office in 1972 and 1973. The Department, upon being informed of this, sent a representative to New York who reviewed the pertinent material. Following this review and upon approval of the Department, representatives of the Inspection Division proceeded to New York 5/4/76 and also conducted review, which terminated 5/7/76.

SAC Folders are maintained in the top drawer of a four-drawer locked file cabinet located in the Personnel Files Unit situated outside the office of the ADIC. The top drawer contains 27 volumes covering surreptitious entries by New York from 1954 to the last recorded entry, 4/16/73.

A review of SAC Folder #25 disclosed nine surreptitious entries, seven in 1972, two in 1973. Memoranda recording these entries also disclosed identities of Agents who performed the actual entry, as well as the identities of the Agents on the outside for security purposes. New York files reviewed disclosed seven other entries not identified in this Folder and two possible other entries. No indication on the pertinent memoranda contained in SAC Folder #25 that FBIHQ had been contacted for approval; however, this does not mean that such was not the case. It is not known for sure who in fact approved the entries in New York other than possibly the individual who initialed the block stamp appearing on these memoranda. From files reviewed it appeared that the last entry occurred on 4/18/73.

Re: Surreptitious Entries

~~SECRET~~

In this same file cabinet in drawer #2 there is a Folder marked "SAC Folder (C)." This Folder deals almost exclusively with the obtaining of keys from various sources, with possible intended purpose of utilizing them for surreptitious entries. The first memorandum is dated 2/5/52 and the last 7/14/72 [REDACTED]

Admittedly, there are many unanswered questions that could only be resolved through interview; however, this was not possible since prior to the Inspection Division inquiry the Department conveyed the specific request that no interviews be conducted by the FBI in connection with our review of this material.

On late Monday afternoon, 5/3/76, just prior to Inspection Division's departure to New York, Departmental Attorney Gardner who personally handled review in New York advised Supervisory Special Agent [REDACTED] Intelligence Division, that as a result of his review he felt strongly that a criminal investigation should be conducted and he would so recommend this action to his superior, Assistant Attorney General Pottinger. He indicated at this point that there were four possible options, they being: (b)(6)

1. That an outside committee or commission be established to conduct the investigation (he appeared to cast this aside, however).
2. That the Inspection Division of the FBI handle the investigation but that it be headed by a representative of the Department. (He indicated he felt this was the best course of action and probably the one most acceptable to the Bureau.)

Re: Surreptitious Entries

3. Recommend that nothing further be done on the basis that the employees involved were acting within the scope of their employment. (He added, however, that this course would be completely unacceptable to him and if such a decision was made he would request he be removed from the case.)

4. That the investigation be handled by a Special Grand Jury.

Gardner did not indicate whether he intended to present these four options to Pottinger but did state that the Bureau should know in a day or two of the Department's decision. To date, no such information has been forthcoming.

Re: Surreptitious Entries

~~SECRET~~

DETAILS:

Information was recently received from our New York Office indicating that there had been some surreptitious entries by Bureau personnel in 1972 and 1973. This information was not previously known to the Bureau. The Department was appropriately informed, and Mr. William L. Gardner, Departmental Attorney, proceeded to New York during the last week in April and reviewed some of the pertinent material. The Bureau, at the request of the Department, held in abeyance any inquiry of our own pending completion of the Department's. They did agree that following their review of the material, they interposed no objection to a similar review by the Bureau. The Department, through Mr. Gardner, did convey the specific request, however, that no interviews be conducted by the FBI in connection with our review of this material.

Upon the instructions of Deputy Associate Director J. B. Adams, with the concurrence of the Director, I proceeded to New York on Tuesday, 5/4/76, accompanied by Inspectors C. E. Price and J. E. Otto. The following constitutes the results of this inquiry, which terminated 5/7/76, 9:15 AM, at New York.

SAC Folders

The SAC Folders of the New York Office are maintained in the top drawer of a four-drawer locked file cabinet located in the Personnel Files Unit situated on the 10th floor outside of the office of the Assistant Director in Charge (ADIC). The label on the outside of the top drawer states "SAC Personnel Folders Sec. 1-." According to the secretary to the ADIC, the SAC Folders have been maintained in this cabinet in this location since September, 1959.

The SAC Folders document surreptitious entries by the New York Office. The Folders individually cover the following periods:

| Volume | Label on Cover | Period Covered |

The individual memoranda contained in these Folders are not serialized. It was determined there were approximately 188 memoranda in Folder #9. This would appear to be the average number of items in the other Folders, with the exception of Folder #25, which contains approximately 65 separate memoranda. Each memorandum does not necessarily represent a single surreptitious entry. On the contrary, sometimes one memorandum will pertain to several entries and in other situations there are multiple memoranda concerning one entry.

SAC Folder #25

As noted previously, this Folder contains information regarding surreptitious entries from 7/1/66 - - to the last recorded surreptitious entry by the New York Office. This, of course, is the important Folder and the one which discloses nine surreptitious entries covering portions of the years 1972 and 1973. Xerox copies of these nine memoranda were furnished to the Departmental Attorney who reviewed same in New York.

Xerox copies of these nine memoranda are attached (see Exhibit A). As will be noted, surreptitious entries were conducted on the following dates with locations and informant symbol numbers designated.

Memo to Mr. Callahan
Re: Surreptitious Entries

In addition to the surreptitious entries set forth above and as recorded in SAC Folder #25, a review of pertinent files disclosed seven other surreptitious entries by date and symbol number, an eighth by date only, and a ninth which probably took place on an unknown date.

~~SECRET~~

With regard to [REDACTED] additional entries noted are as follows:

12/15/72
2/24/73

With regard to [REDACTED] additional entries noted are as follows:

3/10/72
6/27/72

With regard to [REDACTED] the following additional entries were detected:

4/18/73
3/27/73

Moreover, it was also determined that on a New York communication of 10/20/72 reference was made to the development on 10/19/72 of a highly sensitive anonymous source at [REDACTED] Brooklyn, New York. It is possible that this contact was actually a forerunner of the establishment of [REDACTED] on 12/11/72. This is based on the fact that the subject of these entries, [REDACTED] fugitive Bernardine Rae Dohrn, moved from the [REDACTED] address to the [REDACTED] address sometime probably in October, 1972. Also, in a New York communication of 11/14/72 reference was made of a highly sensitive anonymous source at this address [REDACTED] Supporting documents relative to these additional contacts are marked as Exhibit B.

A review of pertinent files in New York failed to disclose any other additional entries.

With regard to the nine entries listed in SAC Folder #25, as can be seen, each memorandum identifies the inside crew as well as those Agents who were outside for security and surveillance purposes. In the past, in the 1950s and 1960s, the majority of the memoranda covering surreptitious entries showed the authorizing authority for same at FBIHQ. As noted, these nine do not show whether any authority had been received from FBIHQ. It is possible that the New York official whose initial appears in the block stamp on each of these memoranda may have been the approving authority; however, this is merely speculative and is not known to be a fact. It has been determined with a relatively high degree of certainty that the initials appearing in the block stamp on those memoranda relating to entries on 3/7/72, 3/23/72 and 4/4/72 are those of former Supervisor [REDACTED] EOD 7/7/47, retired 6/20/72.

There is no initial in the block stamp of the memorandum regarding the entry on 6/5/72, but the initial at the top right is that of former [REDACTED] now retired. His initial also appears in the block stamp regarding the entry of 6/12/72. [REDACTED] initials appear in the block stamp for the entries of 12/11 and 20/72. The identity of the individual initialing the block stamp for the entry of 2/14/73 is not known. [REDACTED] now retired, is the approving official in the block stamp regarding the entry of 4/16/73.

In connection with the surreptitious entries at [REDACTED] it is noted that Attorney General authority had been received to install both a tesur and a misur at that address, the then residence of [REDACTED] tesur was instituted on 2/4/72 (with no entry involved), whereas the misur was installed on 3/7/72. For purposes of clarity, Bureau records will probably disclose that the misur was installed on 3/8/72; however, this appears to be an error. New York submitted a teletype dated 3/8/72 with the comment that the misur survey was completed this date at [REDACTED] The file copy of this teletype, however, carries the date of 3/7/72, which indicates that the misur was established on this latter date. Both the tesur and the misur ceased operation on 6/19/72 in accordance with Bureau teletype instructions of that date. The misur itself was physically removed on 7/5/72.

Bulky Exhibits Maintained in File of [REDACTED]

The file [REDACTED] received the closest scrutiny by Departmental Attorney Gardner and understandably so since the majority of the aforementioned surreptitious entries were conducted at residences occupied by her. Mr. Gardner, in reviewing the bulky exhibits pertinent to this file, noted to the Agent who was serving in a liaison capacity with him that some of the bulky exhibits were missing. This is correct. In all, there were nine exhibits unaccounted for and no notation made on the green sheet as to their disposition. It is possible, however, that some of this material was sent to the FBI Laboratory and not returned following processing. Nevertheless, it was explained in New York that under ordinary procedures material photographed would be processed in New York and negatives would be maintained in the actual pertinent bulky exhibit. For record purposes the following exhibits were missing:

As can be seen by the description of the [REDACTED] material, some of the exhibits apparently were obtained as the result of surreptitious entries. Assuming that the descriptive data relative to each exhibit is accurate, there is a possibility that 1B3 (6) conceivably could be another surreptitious entry not accounted for in our review of the files.

SAC Folder (C)

With further reference to captioned Folder, Departmental Attorneys were particularly interested in, and in fact requested and were furnished, copies of what amount to the top six serials in this Folder. Copies of these are attached as Exhibit C.

As noted earlier, this Folder deals almost exclusively with obtaining keys from various sources with the possible intended purpose of utilizing them for surreptitious entries.

Another enclosure discloses what appears to be a large number of keys obtained 11/29/71 relative to the building then occupied by the VVAW. There is no indication in this memorandum as to where these keys were placed.

Another enclosure discloses that a key was obtained on 11/29/71, again pertaining to the VVAW, and was maintained on hook #20 of the Tel-Kee cabinet.

b7(c) [REDACTED] Another enclosure discloses obtaining a key on 12/14/71 regarding [REDACTED] which was maintained on hook #21 of the Tel-Kee cabinet.

The last enclosure shows that a survey of keys in the above Tel-Kee cabinet was made in July, 1972, and those keys no longer of value were destroyed.

The Tel-Kee cabinet maintained by the SAC of the Security Division was examined by Mr. Gardner and according to information received by the Inspection Division from pertinent personnel, he was satisfied that the aforementioned keys were not maintained as indicated. In fact, all of the keys now maintained are pertinent solely to the New York Office itself.

Miscellaneous

As noted previously, the last surreptitious entry detected occurred on 4/18/73. At least insofar [REDACTED] concerned it would appear that April, 1973, was the last month of such contact. This is based on the following:

4/2) In reviewing this file, periodically it was noted that the case Agent prepared a handwritten memorandum to the file setting forth the date that physical surveillances had been conducted [REDACTED] residence. In each instance mention was also made of recontacts or attempted contacts with [REDACTED] the symbol number designated for surreptitious entry to [REDACTED] residence at her [REDACTED] address). However, beginning in May, 1973, and thereafter, such handwritten memoranda contain no reference whatsoever to this informant, but merely made mention of the dates that physical surveillances had been conducted.

Re: Surreptitious Entries

~~SECRET~~

b1(2)
7/16

There was one memorandum in this file that upon first glance would indicate that surreptitious entries had been made through 1973; however, it is felt that it was merely a choice of words. Specifically, by airtel of 1/24/74 from New York to the Director, New York was taking the position that [REDACTED] would not be productive. As part of their justification for taking this position their communication stated in part the following: "New York investigation over the past three years concerning clandestine methods of communications utilized [REDACTED] disclosed that she has received 'drop mail' on a few occasions. The so-called 'drop' would be identified, if at all, on the letter itself [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] have so advised." The first two informants were symbol numbers designated for surreptitious entries at the residences of [REDACTED] the last was the symbol number designated for a residence in which she previously resided.

Admittedly, there are many unanswered questions that could only be resolved through interview; however, as indicated previously, this was not possible since the Department conveyed the specific request that no interviews be conducted by the FBI in connection with the Inspection Division review of the foregoing material.

On late Monday afternoon, 5/3/76, just prior to Inspection Division's departure to New York, Departmental Attorney Gardner, who personally handled review in New York, advised Supervisory Special Agent [REDACTED] Intelligence Division, that as a result of his review he felt strongly that a criminal investigation should be conducted and he would so recommend this action to his superior, Assistant Attorney General Pottinger. He indicated at this point that there were four possible options, they being:

1. That an outside committee or commission be established to conduct the investigation (he appeared to cast this aside, however).
2. That the Inspection Division of the FBI handle the investigation but that it be headed by a representative of the Department. (He indicated he felt this was the best course of action and probably the one most acceptable to the Bureau.)
3. Recommend that nothing further be done on the basis that the employees involved were acting within the scope of their employment. (He added, however, that this course would be completely unacceptable to him and if such a decision was made he would request he be removed from the case.)

4. That the investigation be handled by a Special Grand Jury.

Gardner did not indicate whether he intended to present these four options to Pottinger but did state that the Bureau should know in a day or two of the Department's decision. To date no such information has been forthcoming.

In connection with captioned matter, it is to be noted that from the approximate period of September, 1972, to June, 1974, I served as Inspector - Executive Assistant to the Associate Director. In that capacity I seem to recall that on occasion I initialed some communications which undoubtedly involved surreptitious entries since they had to do with the installation of technical equipment. I can state, however, that I have no recollection whatsoever as to whether these entries were made prior to Attorney General approval of the installation or subsequent to Attorney General approval of the installation. It is my recollection, however, that all of these communications were being sent to the Attorney General. I also want to state that I have no recollection as to what office was involved nor the individuals involved. Other than the above, I have no knowledge of any break-ins or surreptitious entries performed by Bureau Agents or by others with prior or subsequent knowledge of Bureau Agents since January 1, 1966.

PURPOSE

To comply with request of Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, for personal statements regarding knowledge of break-ins or surreptitious entries since January 1, 1966. [Signature]

DETAILS:

By memorandum January 20, 1976, from the Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, to the Director, captioned "Surreptitious Entries," he requested personal statements concerning complete and full knowledge of any and all break-ins or surreptitious entries performed by Bureau Agents or by others with prior or subsequent knowledge by Bureau Agents since January 1, 1966.

I have no personal knowledge of any break-ins or surreptitious entries performed by Bureau Agents or by anyone else since January 1, 1966. I have no hearsay knowledge of any such entries other than that which may have been gained by review of information being forwarded to the Department.

RECOMMENDATION:

In response to the request of the Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, for personal statements regarding knowledge of break-ins or surreptitious entries since January 1, 1966, I wish to state the following:

I have no personal knowledge of any break-ins or surreptitious entries performed by Bureau Agents or others with prior or subsequent knowledge by Bureau Agents since January 1, 1966, other than knowledge contained in correspondence to the Department of Justice which I had occasion to review in my official capacity prior to transmittal to the Department of Justice.

In connection with the installation of electronic surveillance equipment for electronic surveillance activity authorized by the Attorney General, I was aware that surreptitious entry may or may not have been performed to effect the installation. I have no knowledge of any specific case wherein surreptitious entry was in fact necessary for installation of such equipment.

Reference is made to memorandum T.W. Leavitt to Mr. J.B. Adams dated 3/16/76, captioned "Surreptitious Entries."

As a result of my assignment at FBIHQ, through the review of various material, the only recollection I have concerning surreptitious entries involve one such entry that was conducted in New Orleans, Louisiana, I believe, in 1966 regarding the Ku Klux Klan. It is my recollection that this entry took place in a hotel and that copies of certain Klan records were obtained as a result of this entry. I had no personal involvement in this matter.

SUBJECT: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

The Civil Rights Division of the Department has requested that FBI Headquarters inquire of Bureau personnel at certain levels in the field and at Headquarters their complete and full knowledge of any and all break-ins or surreptitious entries performed by Bureau agents or by others since 1/1/66.

I have no knowledge of any specific break-ins or surreptitious entries since 1/1/66 other than those that might have passed through my office which were being reported to the Department.

This is in reference to a memorandum T. W. Leavitt to Mr. J. B. Adams dated 3/16/76, captioned as above, in which it was recommended and approved that pursuant to the request of the Civil Rights Division, Department of Justice, Headquarters personnel, Section Chief and higher, are requested to submit a memorandum as to their knowledge of surreptitious entries since January 1, 1966.

This is to advise you that the phrase "surreptitious entry" first came to my attention while employed as a Special Agent of the Washington Field Office sometime during the period 1960-1961. This occurred during a conversation in which I was engaged with several other Agents whose identities I cannot recall at this time, involving the descriptive words "bag job." At that time, in response to an inquiry raised by me as to what connotations "bag job" had, it was explained that this involved a surreptitious entry

Aside from various documents coming across my desk and which I read in connection with my responsibilities as the Deputy Assistant Director Legal Counsel Division, I recall no other information pertaining to surreptitious entries.

I cannot recall at this time any information concerning surreptitious entries made by FBI personnel since 1966. It should be noted that during the period of April 16, 1972, to January 4, 1975, I was the Special Agent in Charge of the Buffalo Division of the FBI. During that time we utilized court approved Title III installations on a number of occasions. I do not recall whether or not any of these involved surreptitious entries.

PURPOSE:

To alert you to the existence of information relevant to the question whether you should take administrative action concerning the surreptitious entry matter.

Pursuant to your instructions I furnished you a memorandum dated December 8, 1976, captioned as above which addressed the question whether there is any indication that the Civil Rights Division restricted access to the results of their investigation so that it would not be available to you for purposes of taking administrative action within the FBI. While reviewing the documents furnished me by Mr. Long for that purpose, I discovered a memorandum which I had not known existed previously. The memorandum did not deal with the question of whether the Civil Rights Division restricted access to the results of their investigation but it did contain information concerning surreptitious entries that had been developed within the FBI. I cannot assess its full significance because additional investigation is required. However, it is my opinion that you should be alerted to the existence of the information so that you may be prepared to order the necessary investigation and consider taking appropriate administrative action at such time as it may be possible to do so consistent with the Civil Rights Division investigation.

The memorandum was from Director, FBI, to Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, captioned "Surreptitious Entries," dated May 14, 1976. It transmitted one copy each of responses from FBI officials who were asked to furnish "their complete and full knowledge of any and all break-ins or surreptitious entries performed by Bureau Agents or by others with prior or subsequent knowledge by the Agents since January 1, 1966." The Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, had requested such an inquiry of Bureau officials in his memorandum to you of January 20, 1976. Included in the responses from the Bureau officials was one from a current Bureau official whose response was dated April 5, 1976. His statement was 'I have been involved in both the domestic and foreign fields in intelligence for the majority of my career in the FBI and during this period I have been aware of many surreptitious entries, although I cannot specifically identify any at this point, either by dates, places, or targets involved.'

The above-quoted statement must be compared with information reported in an Inspection Division memorandum prepared subsequently. The memorandum from H.N. Bassett to Mr. Callahan captioned "Surreptitious Entries" dated May 11, 1976, reported the results of the Inspection Division inquiry in the New York Office. On page 9 of the memorandum, it was reported that the current Bureau official whose statement is quoted above was identified as a person whose initials appear in the block stamp on memoranda found in the New York Office regarding surreptitious entries on December 11, 1972, and December 20, 1972. Attached for your information is one copy each of the memorandum to the Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, May 14, 1976, and the relevant enclosure plus one copy of the Bassett to Callahan memorandum, 5-11-76.

RECOMMENDATION:

That at such time as you obtain the concurrence of the Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, this matter be referred to the Planning and Inspection Division for investigation.

PURPOSE:

To record a conference with the Attorney General concerning captioned matter.

SYNOPSIS AND DETAILS:

At approximately 9:30 a.m. on December 9, 1976, Doug Marvin, counsel to the Attorney General, called me and said the Attorney General requested me to meet with him personally at once. I met with the Attorney General in his office at approximately 9:35 a.m. We were joined by Doug Marvin, Jack Fuller and the Deputy Attorney General, all of whom attended at the Attorney General's specific request.

The Attorney General told me that he was concerned that there appeared to be some lack of agreement between the FBI and the Civil Rights Division regarding the authority of the Director to undertake an investigation for purposes of administrative action. He said that when the issue has been discussed there seems to have been some difficulty on the part of both the FBI and the Civil Rights Division in agreeing upon the correct state of affairs. He said that you had indicated to him that you had conferred with me concerning these matters and that he desired to discuss them with me. He said that in his discussions with Assistant Attorney General Pottinger as recently as the evening of December 8, 1976, it was Mr. Pottinger's position that the Director was not constrained from undertaking an investigation for purposes of administrative action at the present time and that it has never been his position that the Director was ever constrained in that regard. Further, Mr. Pottinger took the position that the Director had available to him sufficient information on which he could take administrative action which information was contained in a "Bassett memorandum." The Attorney General then asked me to explain to him the Director's position.

Memo Legal Counsel to the Director

I told the Attorney General that before the Director could undertake any administrative action in this matter he would need some indication from the Assistant Attorney General of the Civil Rights Division or from the Attorney General that they concurred in the decision to take administrative action while the Civil Rights Division investigation is still pending and that the Director had told me personally during this week that he had not received such concurrence and moreover that it was his understanding from Mr. Pottinger that he should not proceed to take administrative action while the Civil Rights Division investigation is pending. I told the Attorney General that even if the Director had the Assistant Attorney General or the Attorney General's concurrence to take administrative action he could not realistically do so without having the factual basis on which such action could be taken. I explained to him the "Bassett memorandum" apparently refers to a memorandum prepared by Assistant Director Bassett at the time he was in charge of the Inspection Division and that the memorandum merely confirms the existence of certain documents in the New York Office and reports that those documents bear initials which are identifiable with current Bureau officials. I told him that the memorandum did not report information in addition to the existence of the documents and of the initials and that such limited information was insufficient to use as a basis for administrative action. I told him that additional investigation was required in the form of interviews and possibly other document reviews but that in accordance with the Director's understanding of the limitations imposed on him by the Civil Rights Division, the necessary additional investigation could not be conducted.

The Deputy Attorney General said that he agreed with the Director's understanding of the circumstances but that Mr. Pottinger was taking the position that the Director was not bound to refrain from doing those things necessary in order to take administrative action.

I then told the Attorney General that it was my opinion that the Director would order an investigation for the purposes of taking appropriate administrative action if he were authorized to do so by the Attorney General. The Attorney General said that if that were the Director's position the Attorney General would consider a memorandum from the Director expressing his desire to conduct the necessary investigation and stating that he intends to order such investigation unless directed not to do so by the Attorney General. The Attorney General made clear that the decision whether such a request should be made by the Director lies solely within the discretion of the Director.

Re: Surreptitious Entries

I told the Attorney General I would bring these matters to your attention and I was confident that he would have a response from you shortly.

The Attorney General said that he had discussed the possibility of the Director ordering an investigation for administrative purposes but the Director had told him that it was difficult to undertake investigations based on rumors. The Attorney General said he understood that but that he would like to make a specific point that the FBI should have a method of inspecting offices that would identify such problems so that there would be no need for the Director to rely upon rumors.

RECOMMENDATION:

That you send the attached proposed memorandum to the Attorney General requesting his concurrence in your decision to order an investigation for purposes of administrative action concerning surreptitious entries.

SUBJECT: [REDACTED]

Civil Rights Division Substantive [REDACTED]

During the past several months, I have been concerned with the delay in the completion of the investigation of the [REDACTED] case. It has been my desire from the beginning of this matter that the facts be promptly collected and made available so that any criminal or administrative action deemed appropriate might be undertaken without delay. I still believe that my obligations to the FBI and to you require me to resolve the administrative aspects of this matter as soon as possible. Further delay may be harmful to this Bureau. Therefore, it is my intention to order an investigation to be conducted by the Planning and Inspection Division of this Bureau under my direct supervision so that I may be furnished the facts and that appropriate administrative action may be taken. It is my present intention to conduct a full investigation of all matters presently known to require investigation and all matters which may be discovered during the course of the inquiry. I ask your concurrence in my decision to order this investigation. If you, as Assistant Attorney General of the Civil Rights Division have any objections to the implementation of my decision or if you have any specific recommendations to me concerning this matter, I would appreciate your expressing these objections and directives in writing by November 14, 1979. I will consider the receipt of such written responses. I will proceed to implement my decision as established and I will proceed to implement my decision as established.

PURPOSE:

To record a call from Assistant Attorney General Pottinger concerning captioned matter.

DETAILS:

At approximately 2:17 p.m. on December 9, Assistant Attorney General Pottinger called me and said that he had spoken with you on the evening of December 8 concerning captioned matter. He said that today he had talked with the Attorney General concerning this matter and the Attorney General had told him of the Attorney General's conference with me on the morning of December 9. Mr. Pottinger said he feels there is a continuing lack of understanding and he would like to suggest a meeting directly between himself and the FBI because to involve the Attorney General and the Deputy Attorney General as intermediaries seems to cause things not to be clear. He suggested that a conference be held in your office at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, December 14, 1976, to be attended by you, Mr. Pottinger, Jim Turner of Pottinger's staff, Mr. DeBruler, and me.

He said that he would like to present to you at that time a memorandum concerning guidelines on administrative action which you might undertake. Secondly, he would like to refer to you matters which you might consider for administrative action. Third, he would like to furnish you his ideas concerning how investigations might be structured to uncover facts and he would like to share with you his methodology. I agreed that we would set 10 a.m., December 14, 1976, in your office as the time and place for such a meeting if your schedule would permit. Your secretary advised me that such a meeting could be scheduled for us at that time and we made a tentative commitment for you.

Re: Surreptitious Entries

At approximately 4:20 p. m. on December 9, I called you at New Orleans and advised you of my conference with the Attorney General and of the call I received from Mr. Pottinger and of the scheduled meeting. I advised you that I had prepared a memorandum that you might send to the Attorney General indicating your intention to undertake investigation for purposes of administrative action in regard to surreptitious entries. I recommended to you that even though a meeting is scheduled with Mr. Pottinger that you consider forwarding the memorandum to the Attorney General in order to make your position clear.

Memorandum

TO : THE DIRECTOR

DATE: 12-10-76

FROM : R. E. LONG

SUBJECT: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY INVESTIGATION

On 6-18-76, I assumed the duties of investigation coordinator for the surreptitious entry investigation. It was clearly established and defined by Mr. Adams that I would be working with the Department on this investigation. In the beginning, it was established that I would designate a copy of all the results of my investigation to Mr. Adams. I submitted the very first paper on result of investigation to Mr. Gardner of the Department, and a copy to Mr. Adams. Upon delivering the copy to Mr. Gardner, it was observed by him that a copy was designated for Mr. Adams. He remarked at this time that results of investigation were to go to him only and nothing was to be submitted to the Bureau. At that time, it was understood that this situation would be discontinued and, as a result thereof, I was under instructions by Mr. Adams and Mr. Gardner to submit no results of investigation to anyone at the Bureau but to Mr. Gardner only.

Mr. Gardner advised me that he wanted it to be clearly understood that no one at the Bureau was to be advised of the results of any investigation in this matter by me or anyone in the crew. If Mr. Kelley or anyone at the Bureau was to be advised of any startling investigation that was breaking or the result of any investigation, this would only be effected by Mr. Gardner and preferably Mr. Pottinger.

In view of the above, it was clearly understood by me that I would not furnish results of investigation to anyone at the Bureau; that I was clearly working with Mr. Gardner and would report to him only as to the results of investigation.

As a matter of interest, I advised several members of Mr. Gardner's staff that I thought something should be called to Mr. Kelley's attention and so recommended. This was done, as again, it was clearly understood that things would be brought to Mr. Kelley's attention only through Mr. Gardner and Mr. Pottinger.

SPECIAL AGENT [REDACTED]

ACTION MEMORANDUM

ALL (446) (7X)

Subject: [REDACTED]

This is in response to your memorandum to Assistant Director Frederick C. Fehl dated December 7, 1976, which outlines your request to have Special Agent (SA) [REDACTED] apprised of the need to have him interviewed by Mr. Gardner of your office by Friday, December 10, 1976. In addition, it was further requested that [REDACTED] be informed of your desire to grant him immunity from prosecution regarding any matter he testifies to in the interview as well as before a grand jury, in the event that such testimony becomes necessary at a later date. You also requested that Agent [REDACTED] be informed he had a right to counsel and that he has no obligation to be interviewed, although he does have an obligation to respond to a subpoena.

Agent [REDACTED] has been contacted on several occasions regarding this matter, the most recent being December 8 and 9, 1976, at which time he was furnished a transcript of your memorandum outlined above. It has been Agent [REDACTED] position from the beginning that any effort by him to surface from his undercover capacity would seriously jeopardize his assignment. Agent [REDACTED] has continually advised that he has no objection to conversing with Department of Justice officials on this matter at the conclusion of this assignment; however, for him to react to this request would require him to make contact with an attorney of his own choice. He believes that by making himself available to personal counsel he would be jeopardizing his undercover role.

Agent [REDACTED] after fully evaluating the Department's most recent request, respectfully advised he has no other alternative than to have the Department execute the subpoena for his appearance.

Assistant Attorney General
Civil Rights Division

ALL (W), (K)

Agent [REDACTED] has advised that if he is compelled to surface or testify based upon the request of the Civil Rights Division that the Department provide him written assurance of their assumption of full responsibility in the event his undercover role is compromised including consequences of his safety and security.

It is the opinion of Bureau officials on the scene who maintain contact with him that an appearance before a grand jury would in all probability end his effectiveness as an undercover Agent in this highly sensitive criminal investigation. It is their further opinion that the pitfalls of appearing before a grand jury include possible exposure of his identification through uncontrollable circumstances. There is concern, of course, as to a member of the grand jury possibly identifying Agent [REDACTED] and/or his identity being established or observed by persons unknown who could be in or around the Federal grand jury area or the courthouse.

In view of the fact that the investigation in which Agent [REDACTED] is involved is of such magnitude, there is a dire need that he continue to remain in an undercover capacity at least until late December, 1976. The tentative overt stage of this investigation involving individuals of national prominence is being scheduled for mid-January, 1977. It is the opinion of all the individuals involved in this investigation that all undercover agents should continue in these assignments for a short period of time while the overt stage of the investigation is under way in order to gather additional evidence regarding the overall investigation.

One of the most important factors in evaluating the decision in this matter centers around the personal safety and security of not only Agent [REDACTED] but of an informant who has furnished highly sensitive information during the course of this lengthy investigation. We feel that should Agent [REDACTED] undercover role be exposed at this time, it would call for immediate action in protecting the informant since his life would be endangered in addition to totally diminishing his usefulness during the overt investigation.

Assistant Attorney General
Civil Rights Division

We had previously contemplated conducting overt investigation in this matter at a time earlier than December 10, 1976. However, the success that we have achieved has necessitated our investigation continuing in a covert fashion.

(b)(7)(c)

This matter has been thoroughly discussed on several occasions with Jay C. Waldman, Deputy Assistant Attorney General, Criminal Division, by reason of the fact that the Criminal Division has the prosecutive responsibility of this investigation. Inasmuch as a subpoena of Agent [REDACTED] at this time would have such an adverse effect on the criminal investigation pending as well as his safety, it is felt a conference should be held by the Civil Rights Division and the Criminal Division with Deputy Attorney General Tyler for the purpose of discussing the issues contained in this memorandum prior to the issuance of any subpoena for Agent [REDACTED] to appear before a Federal grand jury. Representatives of the Federal Bureau of Investigation stand ready to participate and discuss this matter.

Purpose is to advise of a telephone contact received by SA [REDACTED] from an attorney in the Criminal Division, Civil Rights Section, Department of Justice (DOJ) requesting an interview of SA [REDACTED] concerning his knowledge on any surreptitious entries conducted by the squad that handled the Black Panther Party (BPP) case in the New York Office.

During the p.m. of 12/20/76 Daniel Bell, Attorney, Criminal Division, Civil Rights Section, DOJ telephonically contacted SA [REDACTED] at FBIHQ. Mr. Bell inquired as to whether SA [REDACTED] was identical to Supervisor [REDACTED] who formerly supervised the squad handling the BPP case in the New York Office. SA [REDACTED] answered in the affirmative. Mr. Bell advised that he has been conducting an investigation regarding surreptitious entries on the part of Bureau Agents. He further advised that during the course of this investigation, information has come to his attention which discloses that the squad that handled the BPP case in the New York Office may have been involved in surreptitious entries in the past. Mr. Bell stated he would like to interview SA [REDACTED] for any knowledge he may have concerning this matter. Mr. Bell further stated to SA [REDACTED] that the information he has developed to date does not implicate him in any criminal action. However, during the course of the formal interview that is to be conducted he may have to ask SA [REDACTED] questions that may tend to incriminate him and if such be the case, SA [REDACTED] would be apprised of his rights. SA [REDACTED] advised Mr. Bell that in view of the latter he would not set a definite date for an interview until he considered what action he should take, whether to retain counsel or not.

By way of background SA [REDACTED] was the supervisor of squad 43 in 1970, 71, 72, and 73 in the New York Office, which squad did handle the BPP case.

PURPOSE

The purpose of this memorandum is to advise you that [REDACTED] has been subpoenaed to testify 1/4/77 in captioned matter.

DETAILS

[REDACTED] who is on extended annual leave until 1/3/77 in Cincinnati, Ohio, telephonically advised Chief Inspector David A. Brumble that on 12/23/76 he had received a telephone call from William Gardner, Section Chief, Criminal Section, Civil Rights Division, U. S. Department of Justice. Gardner informed him that he [REDACTED] was subpoenaed to testify before the Federal Grand Jury in New York City concerning the surreptitious entry matter on 1/4/77. [REDACTED] stated he had previously talked to Gardner concerning this matter in August, 1976. [REDACTED] advised that Gardner voluntarily commented that his group was trying to get as much testimony as possible before the Federal Grand Jury and that "they" plan to leave the results of their inquiry for the new Attorney General to make a decision in this matter.

Purpose of this memorandum is to advise that SA [REDACTED] will travel to New York City on official business on 1/6/77 to be interviewed by Departmental Attorneys of the Civil Rights Division, Criminal Section, Department of Justice (DOJ), regarding their investigation of surreptitious entries.

You have been previously advised that SA [REDACTED] formerly the Supervisor of the Black Extremist Desk, New York Office, from 1970 to 1973, was telephonically contacted on 12/20/76 by Daniel Bell, Attorney, Criminal Section, Civil Rights Division, DOJ, wherein Mr. Bell advised that he has been conducting an investigation regarding surreptitious entries on the part of Bureau Agents and during the course of this investigation information has come to his attention which discloses that the squad that handled the Black panther party case in the New York Office may have been involved in surreptitious entries in the past. SUBJECT: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES INVESTIGATION

SYNOPSIS AND DETAILS:

(b)(6)(3)

At 5:10 p.m. on January 7, 1977, former SAC [REDACTED] called me and said that he had been contacted by Paul Hoeber of the Civil Rights Division of the Department who told [REDACTED] that he would be subpoenaed before a Federal Grand Jury in New York City and attempted to make arrangements for the date of his appearance. [REDACTED] said that he will probably appear next Tuesday afternoon, January 11, 1977.

He asked me for any instructions the Bureau may have. I told him that the Director has indicated the Bureau will cooperate in this investigation and that for purposes of relieving him of the obligations of his secrecy agreement he could consider my advice to him that he was relieved of that obligation to provide him sufficient authority for the limited purposes of his interview by Department representatives or his testimony before the Federal Grand Jury. I also told [REDACTED] that he might consider whether he would require the assistance of counsel. He said he had discussed that matter with the Department representative and had determined in his own mind that the assistance of counsel would not be needed at this time.

Mr. Clarence M. Kelley
Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Kelley:

This letter is in regard to attorney's fees for Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), which were the result of subpoenas and/or requests to be interviewed by attorneys from the United States Department of Justice in connection with the Civil Rights Division's inquiry into the FBI's Weather Underground investigations.

Enclosed herewith is a copy of the bills for 29 Special Agents of the FBI from [REDACTED] Attorney and Counselor at Law [REDACTED] New York 11501.

Each of the Agents is aware of the bill and agree that the attorney's fees should be paid for by the Department of Justice since these expenses were incurred as a result of actions taken in the course of their employment.

I, therefore, respectfully request that you forward the enclosed bills to the Attorney General of the Department of Justice with a recommendation that they be paid by the Department.

Very truly yours,

Referenced New York letter enclosed one copy each of individual bills for professional services rendered by an attorney for 29 Special Agents. The enclosures do not provide acceptable documentation of specific individual requests by the Special Agents.

Advise the Agents that requests for the Department of Justice to pay the bills should be made by individual letters of request from each Agent desiring to make such request. Letters should be addressed to the Attorney General and should include sufficient information justifying the request to afford a reasonable basis for the Attorney General to make a determination in each instance. Such letters may be forwarded to FBI Headquarters for delivery to the Attorney General.

NOTE: The above-cited portion of the Manual of Rules and Regulations concerning "Illegal Activities" presently contains four paragraphs delineating the various types of illegal, and thus prohibited, activities for FBI personnel, including such things as entrapment or other improper, illegal or unethical tactics in procurement of evidence; illegal mail openings; illegal electronic surveillances; and brutality, physical violence, duress, and intimidation. It is believed that this portion of the Manual should have the addition quoted above for the two-fold purpose of emphasizing the extreme importance of our prohibitions against illegal surreptitious entries and, more importantly, to make it crystal clear that the prohibitions are applicable to all phases of the FBI's work.

CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION INVESTIGATION OF ALLEGATIONS OF SURREPTITIOUS
ENTRIES, MAIL OPENINGS, WIRETAPPING, AND OTHER OFFENSES

of SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

The recent indictment of a former FBI supervisor on charges of illegal mail opening, wiretapping, and other offenses has caused great concern in the FBI. While I cannot address the specific issues in regard to that indictment both because I do not have knowledge of relevant facts and because it would be improper for me to interfere with the grand jury process, I would like to bring to your attention some general information concerning the FBI as an institution in order that you might determine its relevance to the indictment and to other matters which may yet be pending resolution in the Civil Rights Division investigation.

Based on public statements of former officials of the FBI and on comments made by others currently employed by the FBI, it is reasonable to conclude that activities such as those charged in the indictment were the product of an atmosphere generated by the FBI as an institution. The final prosecutive opinion rendered by the Department of Justice in regard to allegations of illegal mail opening pursuant to a program of the Central Intelligence Agency indicated that it was based, in part, on the inability of the Government to prove the absence of Presidential authority, but it indicated that it was also based on the judgment that it was not feasible to successfully prosecute under circumstances where the activity was chargeable to an institution functioning during a particular era rather than to specifically identifiable individual defendants. Again, while not addressing the specific issues involved in the indictment insofar as the absence of Presidential authority, I would like to bring to your attention my concern that activities which may have occurred as a result of institutional failures on the part of the FBI should be so characterized in your deliberations.

I do not intend to imply that your previous consideration of these matters was based on less than all of the facts available to you. Instead, I am requesting that you review the factual results of the Civil Rights Division investigation in light of the possibility that they should be regarded as institutional failures primarily and that any individual culpability is secondary and such failure and culpability should be dealt with in a manner that would not only vindicate the law but would also restore confidence in the FBI as an institution. My personal efforts in that regard have been made known to you, to the employees of the FBI, and to the general public. It is my belief that a policy of openness and adherence to the law will avoid similar institutional failures in the future. In that atmosphere, individual acts of irresponsibility or illegality may be dealt with accordingly in the future.

If you approve my request that you review these matters as I have suggested, it would assist me in the administration of this Bureau if you would so advise me by letter and if you would so advise me of the results of your deliberations at your earliest convenience.

UNAUTHORIZED DISCLOSURES CONCERNING
CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION INVESTIGATION
OF SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED
HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED
DATE 3-3-82 BY SP1

As you are aware, the repeated unauthorized disclosures of information concerning the Department's investigation into alleged wrongdoings by present and former employees of this Bureau has been a matter of serious concern to me. I know that you share this concern and are doing your utmost to guard against a repetition of this conduct.

One recent example of these disclosures is found in the March 31, 1977, issue of the Washington Post, captioned "Indictments Urged of FBI Agents in Illegal Break-Ins." The article announced that Justice Department officials had recommended indictments of "low-level personnel involved in illegal burglaries as a stepping-stone to possible further prosecution of approximately six present and former FBI executives." As you know, this is not an isolated incident. Similar articles have appeared repeatedly over the past several months, discussing the progress of the Department's investigation, speculating on the likelihood of indictments, identifying persons who are the principal subjects of the investigation, and disclosing matters such as trial strategy that could be known only to attorneys or others in the Department of Justice who were closely connected with the investigation.

On June 30, 1976, I sent a memorandum to the Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, J. Mr. Pottinger replied that "no such investigation should be undertaken." On October 21, 1976, I forwarded a complaint form to the Public Integrity Section of the Criminal Division, enclosing a copy of an article in the New York Times of the same date, noting that the information contained therein might involve a violation of the Privacy Act. In his reply, Assistant Attorney General Richard L. Thornburgh stated that no investigation is conducted at this time, but that the Criminal Division would "review this decision at such time as the Civil Rights Division has conducted its inquiry into the illegal entries."

In my opinion, the deliberate disclosure of this information may constitute a violation of the criminal provisions of the Privacy Act. It is certainly contrary to explicit regulations of the Department of Justice, which are subject to severe administrative penalties. There may also have been a flagrant breach of the security, grand jury proceedings and of the ethical and professional standards of the Bar. One can only speculate on whether the resultant publicity has prejudiced the ability of prospective defendants to obtain a fair trial. I am sure you will agree that these matters take on special significance where personnel of the Department of Justice may be involved.

I certainly do not intend to minimize the seriousness of the charges that have been made against present and former members of this Bureau. I recognize also the necessity for investigation and the need for a prompt and impartial resolution of the allegations. It is for this reason that I deferred to the Department of Justice and avoided making any inquiries regarding the investigation. But as Director of the FBI I have a special responsibility to insure that our employees are treated in a fair and impartial manner, particularly where allegations of misconduct may result in criminal charges. They are entitled to no more--and certainly no less--than any other citizen in similar circumstances.

I therefore respectfully request that this matter be referred to the Office of Professional Responsibility in accordance with 28 C.F.R. § 0.101 and that you be kept advised of the progress of the inquiry.

For your further information, I have attached copies of some of the newspaper articles that have appeared concerning this investigation.

Note: This letter formally requests that the Office of Professional Responsibility inquire into the unauthorized disclosures of information concerning the Department's investigation into alleged wrongdoings by present and former Bureau personnel. Although we have had prior correspondence with the Department in this matter, neither of our early communications was directed to the Attorney General; nor did we explicitly request an inquiry by the Office of Professional Responsibility. That Office reviews allegations against Departmental employees involving violations of law, Departmental regulations, or Departmental standards of conduct. It was created primarily to "make certain that Departmental employees perform their duties in accord with the professional standards expected of the Nation's principal law enforcement agencies." Accordingly, this matter seems uniquely suited to the responsibilities of that Office.

SUBJECT: CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION INVESTIGATION OF SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES AND OTHER ALLEGED OFFENSES

PURPOSE:

The purpose is to report a request by Congressman Thomas Luken (Ohio) for public information regarding captioned matter.

SYNOPSIS AND DETAILS:

At 3:10 p. m. on May 3, Congressman Thomas Luken of Ohio telephonically advised me that he is interested in receiving all information available concerning captioned matter with particular emphasis on the indictment of John Kearney. I told the Congressman that investigation was conducted by the Civil Rights Division of the Department and that the Bureau has not been furnished the results of that investigation. I told him that recently two groups of Special Agents met with the Attorney General and expressed their concerns regarding the indictment of Kearney and that the Attorney General had indicated his responsibility was to proceed with the indictment. I told the Congressman that it was only that sort of information that the Bureau could furnish him at this time.

Congressman Luken asked me whether any of the Director's statement concerning these matters had been made publicly and whether there were any newspaper clippings that might be relevant. He also asked whether there had been any remarks made in Congress concerning these matters. I told him that the Director had not made any public comment and that there were remarks published in the Congressional Record and in the public press by others. He requested assistance in locating such public material and I indicated to him that we would endeavor to aid him to that extent.

By letter dated February 21, 1962, captioned "JUNE" you advised FBIHQ that symbol number [REDACTED] was assigned to a highly confidential source, namely the U. S. Festival Committee (Eighth World Youth Festival) Room 807, 460 Park Avenue South, New York, New York, for the date 2/16/62. This source was recontacted by the New York Office on 6/7/62.

Material obtained from [REDACTED] was subsequently included in an FBI memorandum dated July 2, 1962.

In connection with a pending FOIPA action, the Bureau has reviewed this memorandum as well as pertinent Bureau files but cannot clearly establish the exact nature of this source, whether it was a surreptitious entry or another sensitive investigative technique.

The identity of this source will affect the FOIPA statutory exemptions available for use and the extent of the information to be released.

This memorandum was also examined by the FOIPA Appeals Unit, Department of Justice, with their recommendation that its release be held in abeyance pending the Bureau's determination as to the identity of the source.

In view of the foregoing, you should conduct a thorough

NOTE: J. M. [redacted] memorandum to Mr. A. J. Decker, Jr., dated 3/10/77, recommended that Mr. J. B. Adams determine the identity of [redacted] which is set forth in T. D.
Rushing to J. B. Bland memorandum dated 7/2/62, Serial 5270X of Bureau file 66-2542-3-34, which is maintained in the Special File room, is New York's letter of February 21, not contain any additional information that would further identify [redacted] other than that which is set forth in the first paragraph of this letter. By letter dated 4/18/77, we addressed a letter to the Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, requesting authority for us to make necessary inquiries to determine the nature of this source.

The reason for the request was to be absolutely sure that any inquiry by us to establish the identity of [redacted] would not interfere with the Civil Rights Division's investi-

REQUEST OF THE BUREAU

It is noted that New York airtel, dated 5/16/77 requested the Bureau to ascertain from the Department and/or Bureau officials who conducted inquiries in the surreptitious entry investigation at the NYO, a listing of personnel who were assigned to Squad 47 of the NYO during the pertinent period.

In addition, it is suggested that the Bureau ascertain from the Department the identities of all FBI personnel who were subpoenaed and/or interviewed and/or appeared before a Grand Jury in connection with the surreptitious entry investigation conducted by the Civil Rights Division of the Department of Justice during the past year.

After a listing of these personnel and Squad 47 personnel is obtained, it is suggested that the Bureau ascertain the current offices of assignment of these personnel from the Personnel Section, inasmuch as many of these individuals have been transferred from the NYO.

The Bureau may then desire to set out leads to have these personnel interviewed in accordance with instructions set out in Bureau airtel, dated 5/9/77.

LEADS

NEW YORK

AT NEW YORK, NEW YORK. 1. Will interview Supervisor [REDACTED] when available.

2. Will await receipt from the Bureau of a listing of personnel currently assigned to the NYO who had been assigned to Squad 47 during the pertinent period, and a listing of personnel currently assigned to the NYO who were subpoenaed and/or interviewed and/or appeared before a Grand Jury in connection with the surreptitious entry investigation conducted by the Civil Rights Division of the Department of Justice during the past year, and will interview these personnel, if so desired by the Bureau.

PURPOSE: To request approval for additional internal investigation relative to unauthorized leaks of classified information arising out of the Department's Civil Rights Division "Surreptitious Entry Investigation"

DETAILS: As reported in memorandum [redacted] to Mr. Decker, 5/5/77, Leon Ulman, Chairman, Department Review Committee (DRC) requested in a memorandum dated 4/21/77 that the Bureau's Document Classification Officer (Security Officer) initiate an internal investigation concerning alleged unauthorized leaks of classified information arising out of the Civil Rights Division's "Surreptitious Entry Investigation." This request is pursuant to Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 17.55, which is the implementation directive for Executive Order 11652 which, in part, requires the Security Officer of each division to conduct inquiries to determine whether corrective measures and appropriate administrative, disciplinary or legal action should be taken in a case of unauthorized disclosure of classified information. Inquiry findings and recommendations of the Security Officer must be reported to the Department Security Officer and the DRC. In accordance with Mr. Ulman's request and with your approval, airtel dated 5/9/77 requested New York to conduct appropriate investigation concerning access to and disposition of certain classified documents in New York SAC Folder 25 which may have been subject to unauthorized disclosure. By airtel dated 5/20/77 from New York, the following Bureau officials were identified as having access to the material in question: Assistant Director H. N. Bassett; Assistant Director R. E. Long and his investigative staff; SAC J. E. Otto, Minneapolis Division; SAC P. A. McNiff, Tampa Division; SAC C. E. Price, Richmond Division; and SA [redacted] Legal Counsel Division.

Memorandum to Mr. Decker
Re: Allegations of Unauthorized Leaks of Classified Information
62-116065

Assistant Director Long advised on 5/25/77 he was precluded from releasing material or discussing matters relating to the Civil Rights Division "Surreptitious Entry Investigation" based on an agreement between the Bureau and the Department of Justice. He suggested the documents contained in New York SAC Folder 25, which is now maintained at FBIHQ, should be provided through the Department and those Bureau officials assigned to that investigation who had access to the documents in question be interviewed by Departmental officials conducting the Department's internal investigation concerning unauthorized disclosure of classified information in this matter.

In view of the above, it is requested that you approve the following required to pursue the Bureau's responsibility in this internal investigation.

RECOMMENDATION: 1. That the attached letter to Leon Ulman, Chairman, DRC, be approved in order to (a) advise what action the Bureau is taking in this matter, and (b) to request the Department review documents and interview certain Bureau officials not available to the FBI because of Departmental agreement.

ADDENDUM, LEGAL COUNSEL DIVISION, 6-7-77 [REDACTED] 6/6

The following is being set forth in response to Mr. Revell's routing slip of 6-6-77 in which he requested Legal Counsel Division's views on this matter.

The interviews and affidavits for which permission is sought concern a matter which could be the subject of criminal charges under Title 18, United States Code, Section 793(d), (copy attached). Since the individuals who are to be interviewed and whose affidavits are to be secured are identified as having had access to information which was wrongfully disclosed, this necessarily means that they are, in effect, suspects in any potential criminal prosecution. Therefore, it is our recommendation that such individuals be advised of their rights before any interview and the securing of affidavits.

EXECUTIVE ORDER

Reference is made to your memorandum dated April 21, 1977, instructing that pursuant to Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 17, an internal investigation be conducted regarding alleged unauthorized disclosures of classified information in connection with the Civil Rights Division "Surreptitious Entry Investigation."

In accordance with your request, enclosed is a copy of a memorandum prepared by this Bureau's New York Office dated May 26, 1977, setting forth the results of interview of 14 employees of this Bureau's FBI office. This memorandum also contains an assessment relating to the damage resulting from the unauthorized disclosures of classified national security information which have appeared in the media in connection with the "Surreptitious Entry Investigation." A copy of the enclosure is also being furnished to the Department Security Officer with a copy of this memorandum.

This investigation is continuing within the FBI and you will be advised of further results.

FROM :

SUBJECT:

[REDACTED] SPECIAL AGENT
MILWAUKEE DIVISION (PROJECT ONSLAUGHT) REQUEST TO APPEAR BEFORE FEDERAL GRAND JURY,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

PURPOSE:

To advise of the request by Departmental Attorney Paul Hoeber for captioned Special Agent to appear before the Federal Grand Jury and to obtain release from employment agreement, to allow him to consult with a personal attorney and to testify before the Grand Jury.

DETAILS:

On 6/1/77, Special Agent [REDACTED] of the Milwaukee Division, who is on temporary duty in the Freedom of Information-Privacy Acts Branch with Project Onslaught, was contacted by Departmental Attorney Hoeber. Hoeber advised him that his presence before the Federal Grand Jury presently sitting in Washington, D. C. was desired on Friday, 6/3/77.

SA [REDACTED] has notified his SAC of the above as well as his response to the Department Attorney that he would appear.

SA [REDACTED] has retained a personal counsel in Washington, D. C., who is [REDACTED] has represented FBI personnel in this matter and is on the approved list. (HAS CLEARANCE)

In view of the short deadline, SA [REDACTED] will assume that he has the Director's approval releasing him from his employment agreement and authorizing him to discuss FBI investigative matters with both his personal attorney and the Grand Jury.

WASHINGTON FIELD OFFICE AGENTS SUBPOENAED TO APPEAR BEFORE
GRAND JURY, WASHINGTON, D.C., CONCERNING SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES
REURTEL DATED JULY 13, 1977.

ON JULY 14, 1977, MR. WILLIAM L. GARDNER, CHIEF, CRIMINAL SECTION, CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION, ADVISED A REPRESENTA-TIVE OF LEGAL COUNSEL DIVISION, FBIHQ, THAT THE DEPARTMENT
DOES NOT INTEND TO ASK QUESTIONS THAT WOULD RESULT IN DISCLO-

OF WHETHER THE GRAND JURY IS CLEARED OR UNCLEARED DOES NOT ARISE. HE FURTHER STATED THAT THIS ISSUE WAS DISCUSSED AND RESOLVED MANY MONTHS AGO AND THAT [REDACTED] IS OR SHOULD BE COMPLETELY AWARE OF THE ABOVE. THE SPECIAL AGENTS NAMED IN REFERENCED TELETYPE AND THOSE WHO WILL BE SUBPOENAED ARE HEREBY RELIEVED OF THEIR OBLIGATIONS UNDER FORM FD-291,

NECESSARY TO TESTIFY BEFORE THE GRAND JURY. IN VIEW OF MR. GARDNER'S SPECIFIC REPRESENTATION THAT THERE WILL BE NO OCCASION TO REVEAL CLASSIFIED INFORMATION DURING SUCH TESTIMONY, IT DOES NOT APPEAR THAT ANY OTHER RELEASE IS APPROPRIATE OR NECESSARY.

NOTE:

This responds to referenced teletype's request for written instructions as to testimony by agents of WFO subpoenaed to testify before a Federal grand jury concerning surreptitious entries. Agent's counsel raised the question of necessity for releases to include not only the employment agreement but also specific provisions relating to safeguarding of classified information.

WHERE SHOWN OTHERWISE.

This is to call to your attention a matter relating to the Civil Rights Division "Surreptitious Entry Investigation" which has been conveyed to me by Bureau personnel concerned regarding the safeguarding of classified national security material and information.

In July, 1977, [redacted] a member of the law firm of [redacted] Washington, D. C., who is counsel for a number of Special Agents who have been summoned to appear before the Federal grand jury meeting at Washington, D. C., in connection with the Civil Rights Division investigation, questioned as to whether his clients were authorized to discuss classified information and material before the Federal grand jury. [redacted] questioned as to whether the Agents were authorized to reveal classified information falling within the purview of Executive Order 11652 and Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 17 (28 CFR 17), to uncleared persons.

On July 14, 1977, Mr. William L. Gardner, Chief, Criminal Section, Civil Rights Division, was queried by a representative of this Bureau's Legal Counsel Division regarding clearance requirements in this instance. Mr. Gardner responded the Department does not intend to ask questions that would result in disclosure of classified information and that, therefore, the issue of whether the grand jury is cleared or uncleared does not arise. He stated this issue was discussed and resolved many months ago and that [redacted] is or should be completely aware of the above.

Based upon Mr. Gardner's certification, instructions were issued to several Special Agents scheduled to appear before the grand jury at Washington, D. C., that they were relieved of their Information has been brought to my attention indicating there may have been instances where classified national security information has been discussed before the Federal grand jury convened in Washington, D. C., in connection with the "Surreptitious Entry Investigation." While our knowledge of the matters discussed is limited, FBI Headquarters personnel responsible for protecting classified information have advised of several examples where information possibly disclosing intelligence sources and methods and foreign relations matters, the continuing protection of which is essential to the national security, may have been discussed. Examples of these areas are the following.

1. A former field office official was questioned relating to a surreptitious entry [redacted]

[redacted] Prior to his appearance before the grand jury [redacted] While the Department Attorneys endeavored to be nonspecific relating to the foreign intelligence area and attempted to develop FBI Headquarters approval procedures for such techniques, the former [redacted] official was unable to state what had been discussed before the grand jury prior to and following his appearance.

2. A supervisor of a West Coast field office was questioned in detail before the grand jury relating to [redacted]

(b)(3)

As a matter of background, by letter dated September 7, 1976, the former Attorney General authorized the former Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, to disseminate classified information or material, pursuant to the provisions of 28 CFR 17.04, to persons outside the Executive Branch in connection with the investigation by a Federal grand jury convened to hear evidence of alleged break-ins and related matters directed at private organizations and individuals in the United States, including specifically the Weather Underground organization. This authorization was specifically limited to the dissemination of such information or material only to the members of "this grand jury, its court reporter and the typist for any transcript of the grand jury proceedings." The authorization was conditioned upon the Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, making appropriate arrangements to assure the proper protection of such information and material.

It is this Bureau's understanding the above authorization related to the Federal grand jury convened in New York City to hear evidence relating to the "Surveillance Entry Investigation." We have no information indicating such authorization has been granted for the Federal grand jury convened in Washington, D. C., and inquiries of the Security Programs Section, Office of Management and Finance, have failed to determine any clearances have been granted for the Washington, D. C., grand jury, court reporter and typist.

The Attorney General

The letter of the former Attorney General also indicated pursuant to 28 CFR 17.26 the former Assistant Attorney General was authorized to downgrade or declassify any classified national security information relevant to the grand jury proceedings, for the purposes of the grand jury proceedings only. This authority was subject to approval by the Department Review Committee (DRC). No information has been received indicating the DRC has downgraded or declassified any information pursuant to either the grand jury convened in New York City or that convened in Washington, D. C.

I would appreciate your making appropriate inquiries regarding this matter to ensure classified national security information and material is being appropriately safeguarded in accordance with Federal regulations and that you effect any corrective steps you deem appropriate. Please advise me the results of your inquiries so I may furnish appropriate advice to our personnel.

It should also be noted the DEC, which other than the Attorney General is the final authority on classification matters within the Department, has determined in the past the Weatherman investigation, which has been the principle target of the "Extraterritorial Entry Investigation," was a legitimate national security investigation in accordance with the need to protect classified material. Certain techniques utilized in the past in connection with the Weatherman investigation have been adjudicated by the DEC as properly classified. It would appear the Civil Rights Division Attorneys, in spite of their representations, are clearly discussing sensitive classified matters before the grand jury convened in Washington, D. C., without regard to clearances and other safeguarding procedures as specified by the former Attorney General in connection with the grand jury convened in New York City. Reference is made to my letter dated April 13, 1977, to the Attorney General concerning captioned matter (copy attached).

In referenced letter I brought to the attention of the Attorney General the fact that disclosures of facts involved in this investigation were serious and I requested that the Office of Professional Responsibility investigate the leaking of investigative facts in this matter.

In this regard I am attaching a copy of a newspaper article appearing in the October 4, 1977, edition of the "New York Times" which also contains information relating to captioned matter. I am forwarding this article to you for your consideration in the investigation of this matter.

As I pointed out in referenced letter, I am of the opinion the publicity generated by this information has seriously prejudiced the ability of prospective defendants to obtain a fair trial, but I do not intend this letter to minimize the seriousness of the charges made. I would appreciate being kept advised of the progress of this inquiry into this matter.

UNAUTHORIZED DISCLOSURES CONCERNING
OF SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

As you are aware, the repeated unauthorized disclosure of information concerning the Department's investigation into alleged wrongdoings by present and former employees of this Bureau has been a matter of serious concern to me. I know that you share this concern and are doing your utmost to guard against a repetition of this conduct.

One recent example of these disclosures is found in the March 31, 1977, issue of the Washington Post, captioned "Indictments Wreck of FBI Agents in Illegal Break-Ins." The article announced that Justice Department officials had recommended indictments of "low-level personnel involved in illegal burglaries as a stepping-stone to possible further prosecution of approximately six present and former FBI executives." As you know, this is not an isolated incident. Similar articles have appeared repeatedly over the past several months, discussing the progress of the Department's investigation, speculating on the likelihood of indictments, identifying persons who are the principal subjects of the investigation, and disclosing matters such as trial strategy that could be known only to attorneys or others in the Department of Justice who were closely connected with the investigation.

On June 30, 1976, I sent a memorandum to the Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, J. Stanley Pottinger, inquiring whether an investigation should be conducted regarding disclosures that appeared earlier that month in the New York Post. Mr. Pottinger replied that no such investigation should be undertaken." On October 21, 1976, I forwarded a complaint form to the Public Integrity Section of the Criminal Division, enclosing a copy of an article in the New York Times of the same date, noting that the information contained therein might involve a violation of the Privacy Act. In his reply, Assistant Attorney General Richard L. Thornburgh requested that no investigation be conducted at that time, but advised that the Criminal Division would "review this decision at such time as the Civil Rights Division has conducted its inquiry into the illegal entries."

In my opinion, the deliberate disclosure of this information may constitute a violation of the criminal provisions of the Privacy Act. It is certainly contrary to explicit regulations of the Department of Justice, which are subject to severe administrative penalties. There may also have been a flagrant breach of the secrecy of grand jury proceedings and of the ethical and professional standards of the Bar. One can only speculate on whether the resultant publicity has prejudiced the ability of prospective defendants to obtain a fair trial. I am sure you will agree that these matters take on special significance where personnel of the Department of Justice may be involved.

I certainly do not intend to minimize the seriousness of the charges that have been made against present and former members of this Bureau. I recognize also the necessity for investigation and the need for a prompt and impartial resolution of the allegations. It is for this reason that I deferred to the Department of Justice and avoided making any inquiries regarding the investigation. But as Director of the FBI I have a special responsibility to insure that our employees are treated in a fair and impartial manner, particularly where allegations of misconduct may result in criminal charges. They are entitled to no more--and certainly no less--than any other citizen in similar circumstances.

I therefore respectfully request that this matter be referred to the Office of Professional Responsibility in accordance with 28 C.F.R. § 0.39a and that I be kept advised of the progress of the inquiry.

For your further information, I have attached copies of some of the newspaper articles that have appeared concerning this investigation.

F.B.I. Chief in New York May Face More

Questions on Wiretap Case

By NICHOLAS M. HORROCK

Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON Oct. 3—Government prosecutors are contemplating recalling the chief of the big New York office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation before a grand jury in an effort to straighten out contradictory testimony about an illegal electronic surveillance in Staten Island, sources familiar with the case said today.

This is the first indication of activity in a case that has seemed frozen in bureaucratic limbo since last spring. The Department of Justice has been investigating alleged abuses by the F.B.I. for more than 16 months under two Administrations, but only one indictment has been brought and only one potential suspect cleared by an official statement.

Department sources said there had been growing pressure to make a decision on the F.B.I. cases before Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr., President Carter's nominee to head the bureau, takes office. Judge Johnson's confirmation hearings before the Senate Judiciary Committee are to begin a week from today, a White House source said.

According to well-informed sources, the second grand jury appearance for J. Wallace LaPrade, an assistant director of the F.B.I., might give him an opportunity to resolve contradictions between his testimony and that of other bureau men on a wiretapping stakeout in an antiwar radical case several years ago.

A Chance to Query Him

But another source said that it would also provide the Government with a chance to ask Mr. LaPrade whether he had had a role in a series of previously undisclosed burglaries.

On May 10, The New York Times quoted Government sources who said that the prosecutors had recommended to Attorney General Griffin B. Bell that Mr. LaPrade be prosecuted. The prosecutors, from the civil rights division, which has handled the case, said they had also found evidence that could warrant prosecution of John F. Morley, Andrew J. Decker, Arbor Gray and James Ingram, all of whom had served in F.B.I. internal security work.

J. Wallace LaPrade

The recommendation to prosecute Mr. LaPrade, key sources said, was based on contradictions between his testimony and that of other F.B.I. agents about an electronic surveillance in the bureau's effort to catch Cameron Bishop, an antiwar radical wanted in the early 1970's in connection with several bombings.

Several agents and officials were questioned by a Federal grand jury sitting in the Southern District of New York about who was in a panel truck parked on a stakeout of an unauthorized wiretapping of a telephone that the agents believed Mr. Bishop would use.

Mr. LaPrade reportedly said he was not in the truck. Other agents said he was.

A source said that Mr. LaPrade would have an opportunity to "clear up" this contradiction before a grand jury here.

that was ordered to review the case by Mr. Bell last spring.

Thomas Bolan, Mr. LaPrade's lawyer, said he could not comment on the case. John Wilson, a spokesman for the Justice Department, said that lawyers handling the investigation referred comment to Benjamin Civelletti, an Assistant Attorney General in charge of the criminal division, and that Mr. Civelletti was on the way to Los Angeles. Later Marvin Wall, the chief spokesman for the department, called back and said that it was declining comment because this was an active criminal investigation.

As the case has dragged on, lawyers both within the department and for the defense, members of the F.B.I. and those under investigation have criticized the department's delay.

"This has left all these men [F.B.I. officials and agents implicated in the reported abuses] in limbo over what's going to happen," one defense lawyer complained privately. "And I think that's vastly unjust."

The starting date of the investigation has not been reported. But it has been under way at least 16 months, according to records and interviews. At the end of the Ford Administration, Justice Department lawyers were reported to have prepared to recommend a series of prosecutions.

Four months later, John Kearney, a retired bureau supervisor, was indicted on charges stemming from the case. In the uproar that followed, Mr. Bell ordered a Washington grand jury to completely review the allegations and determine whether higher-ranking officials had ordered the illegal activities.

Two months later, department lawyers wrote to John Morley, a former F.B.I. official who headed internal security intelligence work in New York at one point, and told him he was no longer a target of the investigation.

It has been clear that Mr. Bell has been reluctant to prosecute agency men for actions taken during their investigations. He has been under heavy pressure from groups supporting the F.B.I. and from conservative national security advocates who have argued that the Government could not prosecute its employees for properly trying to protect citizens against dangerous agitators.

Kelley Sees New Sensitivity

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3 (AP)—Law enforcement officials, despite a tendency to "cry disaster over each new Supreme Court decision" that broadens defendants' rights, have gained a new sensitivity to human worth, Clarence M. Kelley said today.

The retiring Director of the F.B.I. told the International Association of Chiefs of Police that sensitivity to constitutional rights and the "individual's innate worth" was the most important change he had seen in 37 years of police work.

As the association's 84th annual conference began, Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. of California challenged the chiefs to support the cause of excluded groups in society.

"It is not enough to indulge in the perceptions of the past, but to try to assimilate and welcome into the mainstream of society those groups who for too long have been left out," he said, mentioning the elderly, women and minorities.

Newark Field Office Said to Have Been Told to 'Do Anything' in Weathermen Search

By NICHOLAS M. HORROCK

Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6—Federal prosecutors have found a written link between the headquarters of the Federal Bureau of Investigation here and two previously undisclosed burglaries by agents at a private home in New Jersey, law enforcement sources said today.

According to these sources, the prosecutors have found an F.B.I. memorandum from Washington to the Newark field office authorizing agents to "do anything possible" to apprehend Judith Flatley, who was being sought as a fugitive on a charge growing out of antiwar activities by the Weathermen organization.

At least two "surreptitious entries" were made at the home of Miss Flatley's parents, Benjamin and Rosa Cohen, in Union, N.J., near Newark, in January and February 1973, the sources said.

This is the first instance in which such blanket written authority has been found in a 16-month investigation of burglary and wiretapping by F.B.I. agents, the sources said. The document also established, the sources said, that bureau officials in Washington were willing to give agents carte blanche to apprehend the Weathermen fugitives.

The disclosure of the memorandum comes at a time when there is growing speculation that Attorney General Griffin B. Bell is nearing a decision on whether to seek further indictments or to abandon the investigation and impose some sort of administrative sanctions on agents involved who are still in the bureau.

Numerous Justice Department sources have indicated in recent days that a major decision will be made in the next week or two, and that, as Mr. Bell has indicated, serious thought is being given to possible disciplinary actions short of indictment.

John Kearney, a former supervisor in the bureau's New York field office, was indicted earlier this year on charges growing out of the investigation. The prosecutors in the case reported to Mr. Bell at that time that they had evidence of wrongdoing by a half dozen senior F.B.I. officials as well as several middle-level supervisors.

In addition, The New York Times reported yesterday that similar break-ins had been committed within the last five years by agents assigned to organized crime units in New York. The purpose of those break-ins and wiretaps, law enforcement sources said, was to obtain illegally information that later could be used as the basis for applications for wiretaps.

What the agents were doing, the sources said, was obtaining information from break-ins or illegal bugs, pretending that it had been legally obtained from live informants, then using it in their requests for legal wiretaps.

At the time of the alleged burglaries at the Cohen home, J. William LaPrade was in charge of the Newark office. He is now an assistant director of the bureau and heads the New York field office. The prosecutors are reported to be seeking to discover whether he received the memorandum personally and construed it as authority to order a break-in.

Thomas Bolan, Mr. LaPrade's lawyer, declined to comment on the matter, but sources familiar with the case have said that Mr. LaPrade has never been asked about the Newark incident.

A spokesman for the F.B.I. had no comment on the case.

According to the law enforcement sources, Miss Flatley's search was part of an intense campaign in late 1972 and early 1973 to capture members of the Weather Underground who were wanted on a range of Federal warrants. L. Patrick Gray was director of the bureau and has repeatedly denied, through his lawyer, ordering any illegal entries.

Nevertheless, the sources said, a "greenie"—a green-tabbed memorandum denoting a "special" investigation—went to the Newark field office ordering an increase in its efforts to apprehend Miss Flatley.

Two agents, James Weaver, now attached to the San Diego field office, and Kenneth Stuller, now believed to be on duty in New York, were questioned about the entry into the Cohen home.

Their lawyer, Jack Solerwitz of Minco-la, L.I., declined to comment on the details of the case but said that the two agents had done nothing wrong.

In the search for fugitives of the Weather organizations, F.B.I. agents made illegal entries in an effort to find leads to the whereabouts of the fugitives. Many of the victims of the entries were families or friends of fugitives.

In early 1976, the civil rights division of the Department of Justice began a national investigation of the practice but concentrated mainly on members of Squad 47, a unit in the New York field office assigned to internal security and Weather organization cases.

One constant difficulty, sources familiar with the investigation have said, was establishing that the line agents carried out these illegal acts at the specific instruction of their superiors and that there was authorization from F.B.I. headquarters.

Dear Sir:

It is difficult to describe the distress and frustration I feel as I have suddenly been made out to be a criminal by the Department of Justice. Over six years ago I took an oath to uphold the laws of the United States as a member of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and that same Justice Department which now seeks to impugn my character and reputation. The day of the administration of that oath as a Special Agent of the FBI, June 21, 1971, was for me a proud and happy day. It meant a chance to serve my country and to make my small contribution to society.

Although I enjoy my work as an Agent now more than ever, a sadness and bitterness is now part of me that did not exist before. I have been used -- made a pawn -- by men, specifically Department of Justice Attorneys, playing a game for their self-aggrandizement.

On August 24 of this year I testified before a Federal Grand Jury in Washington, D.C. regarding activities in which I participated as a Special Agent. My cooperation with Department of Justice Attorneys was freely given for the following reasons: (1) Directions from the FBI Director, Clarence Kelley, that agents cooperate fully with Departmental Investigators; (2) Agreement of immunity from prosecution proffered by Justice Department Attorneys, refusal of which risks contempt of Grand Jury charges; and (3) Belief on my part that perhaps the FBI had been guilty of "excesses" in the past and that, painful as it might be, investigation into these "excesses" might, over time, be for the better.

ENCLO.

Griffin Bell

I am not now, nor was I on June 21, 1971, naive enough to believe that the FBI, or any government agency, should not be held accountable for its actions or those of its agents. My August 24 testimony before the Grand Jury is ample evidence that I believe this to be true. I do not believe, however, I should be ashamed of any activities in which I have engaged as an Agent. Never have I participated in anything as an FBI Agent with malicious or criminal intent, and never did I participate in anything as an Agent that I did not feel at the time was approved and justified.

It is impossible to describe the range of emotions I encountered during the two days in August I spent talking with Departmental Attorneys and testifying before the Grand Jury. Suddenly, I who had decided to dedicate his life to defending justice was called to answer to justice. It was a depressing experience, one which left me feeling totally vulnerable. But in the back of my mind was the ever present rationalization that, perhaps, it was for the best.

Then, however, in the October 7, 1977 issue of The New York Times, an article headlined, "Burglaries in Jersey Linked to FBI Memo", appeared under the by-line of Nicholas M. Harrock. The text of the article contained not only the names of myself and other agents in connection with an alleged illegal entry, but also information which could only have been obtained from Department of Justice Attorneys and from secret Grand Jury testimony.

I was, to say the least, outraged and my vulnerability was complete. As a result of that article, I am suddenly exposed as having committed criminal acts, I am open to possible civil suits and my reputation, as well as that of other agents and the Bureau itself is questioned in a public forum. All of this occurs without the benefit of proper legal disposition of the matters in question and, more importantly, the obvious sources of information as contained in the article are Department of Justice attorneys.

For some time now, FBI activities have been under investigation. It seems daily, articles such as that described above appear in the press. The majority seem to impugn the reputation and character of the Bureau and its employees. When I compare the damage done by so-called "FBI excesses" with those of Department of Justice investigators who seem determined to destroy the Bureau or, at best, limit its effectiveness as a law enforcement agency, the "FBI excesses" pale in the comparison.

The tools to correct or improve FBI investigative techniques lie with the President, through the Attorney General and with the Congress, through its oversight committees -- as do culpability for past "excesses". Exposing these "excesses" through the media by using the guise of a confidential investigation and then slipping the results through the keyhole serve no one. I strongly urge and implore you, Sir, to launch an immediate investigation into the leakage of information by "Justice Department sources" as contained in the above cited New York Times article, as well as previous such articles.

As a starting point for this investigation, I give you the names of Mr. Francis Martin and Mr. Richard Johnston, the attorneys who questioned me before the Grand Jury on August 24. I urge this investigation with respect for you, Sir, the institutions of our Government and the cherished rights and liberties of all citizens in the United States.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

PLANNING AND INSPECTION DIVISION

Attached letter is answer to your letter to Michael E. Shaheen, Jr., Counsel, Office of Professional Responsibility (OPR), Department of Justice (DOJ), re leaks from the Federal Grand Jury concerning the Civil Rights Division investigation of surreptitious entries. Attached letter states that OPR, DOJ, conducted an inquiry based on your 4/13/77 letter concerning the same matter and the results of that investigation were reported to the Attorney General. He requested no further inquiry and OPR, DOJ, is not conducting any additional inquiries until requested to do so by the Attorney General.

For your information, we also advised the Attorney General on 10/31/77 of SA [REDACTED] concern that grand jury information had been leaked concerning his testimony. We have no reply from the latest letter. This is being furnished to you for your information.

SUBJECT: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES INVESTIGATION
BY CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION,
DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED
HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED
DATE 3-3-82 BY SP4JRM/cal

PURPOSE: To submit attached list of FBI documents (all xerox copies except one) furnished to Departmental Attorney Stephen A. Horn, Civil Rights Division, 4/28/77-5/4/77, and to record that Mr. Horn reviewed original Bureau abstracts in the Service Unit and Bufile [REDACTED] as well as portions of Bufile 66-8160 with Bureau approval.

DETAILS: In view of my retirement on 12/30/77, the following information is being furnished to you concerning this matter. With your approval, on 4/25/77, I was assigned to allow Departmental Attorney Stephen A. Horn, Civil Rights Division, free access to review the original Bureau abstracts maintained in the Service Unit of the Records Branch and to service any requests for access to additional records after clearing such requests with you, or with Mr. Paul L. Mack when you were not available.

Mr. Horn reviewed Service Unit abstracts daily on 4/25/77-4/29/77 and on 5/2/77, personally selecting the abstracts he desired to review after the filing system had been explained. The original abstracts for serials 4, 6x6, 13, 30 and 113 of Bufile [REDACTED] (REVOLUTIONARY ACTIVITIES - VIOLENCE) were charged out to the Special File Room for maintenance there and Mr. Horn requested to review these abstracts, which were shown to him after approval was granted on 4/27/77. He then requested to review Bufile [REDACTED]. After this request was approved, with review required of Domestic Security and Terrorism Section of Criminal Investigative Division to excise names of Special Agents in deep undercover assignments, all five sections of Bufile [REDACTED] were made available on 4/28/77, for Mr. Horn's review. He also requested approval to review all 1972 and 1973 mail (regular and "June" mail) in Bufile 66-8160 (TECHNICAL SURVEILLANCE - GENERAL). Attached is a list of the original serials that were copied and excised for Mr. Horn to review from these two files in lieu of the original serials. Also

Memorandum [REDACTED] to Mr. Adams
RE: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES INVESTIGATION
BY CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION,
DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

(4/2), (4/6), C/K

attached is a list of FBI documents (all xerox copies except one) from these two files that were requested by Mr. Horn and furnished to him with the approval of you or Mr. Mack. All of these were reviewed by the Document Classification Office for classification purposes before they were furnished to Mr. Horn. Note that serial 6x6 of Bufile [REDACTED] is classified "Top Secret" and therefore a "Classified Document Receipt" was obtained from Mr. Horn. Also note that the original serial 3438x2 of 66-8160 was charged out to Mr. Horn on 4/29/77, and has not been returned to date. A xerox copy of the "Classified Document Receipt" (original and yellow copy both attached to original serial in file) for the xerox copy of [REDACTED] furnished Mr. Horn is attached hereto as well as a xerox copy of the charge out receipt for 66-8160-3438x2 (original serial). The excised copies of serials shown to Mr. Horn in lieu of the original serials as listed on one of the attachments hereto have been returned to the Domestic Security and Terrorism Section.

RECOMMENDATION:

This memorandum is being submitted for information and record purposes, if desired, in view of my retirement on 12/30/77.

ReBuairtel, 5/9/77, requesting information concerning the identity of former [REDACTED]

A review of the separate indices maintained in the ADIC's Office, reveal [REDACTED] to have been the confidential source indicated for disseminating information obtained by the NYO through the use of two surreptitious entries, 2/16/62 and 6/7/62.

All documentation relating to these two entries as well as the documentation of all other such entries, was removed from the ADIC's Office and turned over to the Department of Justice.

However, a review of NYfile 100-142451 (Bufile 100-436224 and 100-436225) indicates that on the two referenced dates [REDACTED] furnished information concerning materials maintained by the United States Festival Committee, Incorporated, at their headquarters, Room 807, 460 Park Avenue South, NYC. This information appears to indicate the location of the two entries.

The information obtained from these entries consists of photographic copies of letters and envelopes.

PURPOSE: To advise of access authorizations (clearances) currently being afforded by the Department of Justice in connection with the Surreptitious Entry Investigation and the fact the Department has failed to obtain necessary clearances for former Special Agent John J. Kearney.

DETAILS:

[REDACTED]

The Department Security Office had determined that attorney [REDACTED] of the [REDACTED] law firm is no longer on the Kearney case and he will not be afforded compartmented clearance.

[REDACTED]

At the request of the Document Classification/Security Officer, the Department Security Office advised no request had been made and no access authorization has been granted to former Special Agent Kearney.

Re: Surreptitious Entry Investigation

Obviously Kearney will require clearances if he is to discuss with his attorneys areas which have already been touched upon in connection with the initial discovery motions in the Kearney indictment.

Also, it would seem advisable, if not already done, that Kearney be released from his employment agreement which carries beyond his date of retirement.

4/10 [REDACTED]

RECOMMENDATION: For information. It is suggested Mr. Adams or Mr. McDermott promptly call to the attention of appropriate officials at the Department the need for John J. Kearney to be granted access authorizations as indicated above.

Hold this until the Bureau receives which may be in the

It has been determined that on 2/1/78 Deputy Assistant Attorney General Mary C. Lawton, Office of Legal Counsel, instructed the Department Security Office to obtain clearance for former Special Agent John J. Kearney. The Department Security Office was advised it should have no direct contact with Kearney, but should handle any necessary procedures through the office of [REDACTED] attorney for Kearney.

It is noted the Director, by memorandum dated 6/9/77, advised the Attorney General he might desire to afford former Special Agent Kearney and his counsel [REDACTED] clearances for access to classified information and to secure their agreement to abide by the Department's regulations concerning access to, security of and disclosure of classified information. The Document Classification/Security Officer shortly thereafter advised the Department Review Committee, the highest organizational body on classification matters, of the need for the Department to ensure clearances were obtained for Kearney and [REDACTED] Prior to this time in a "Motion for Discovery and Inspection," attorney [REDACTED] had requested information relating to Communications Intelligence matters.

During conference at Dept on 2/2/78 Mary Lawton mentioned needed clearance for Barney Skolnick and he agreed that such clearance should be aff'd for Kearney. HED

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY/INVESTIGATION

PURPOSE: To secure authority for SA [REDACTED] to discuss official matters before the Federal grand jury convened at Washington, D. C., to hear evidence relating to captioned investigation, and, in the event proper clearance procedures are effected, to discuss before the grand jury classified national security information and material, if necessary.

DETAILS: On 3/13/78, SA [REDACTED] Administrative Services Division, advised me he had received information from the Criminal Division of the Department that I was scheduled to appear before a Federal grand jury hearing evidence relating to the Surreptitious Entry Investigation on 3/15/78. After asking SA [REDACTED] as to whether I was a target of the investigation and as to whether my appearance was voluntary or to be under subpoena, he made further inquiries and advised me I was not a target and that I would be subpoenaed to appear on 3/16/78. REC-46 62-117166-127

This is to request authority of the Director that I be released from my employment agreement to discuss official information as necessary before the Federal grand jury. Also, in the event I determine necessary clearances have been obtained by the Department for members of the Federal grand jury, court reporter and court stenographer, that I be authorized to discuss as required classified national security information and material.

As a matter of information, by memorandum dated 10/6/77, the former Director called to the attention of the Attorney General several instances wherein classified information and material had been discussed before the Federal grand jury in this investigation without proper clearances for the grand jury, court reporter and stenographer. The former Director requested at that time the Attorney General make appropriate inquiries to ensure classified national security information and material was being appropriately safeguarded in accordance with Federal regulations and that the Director be advised of the results of these inquiries so he in turn could alert appropriate personnel. To my knowledge the Director's memorandum of 10/6/77 was never acknowledged.

On this date, I checked with the Department Security Office and determined that neither the court reporter, court stenographer nor members of the Federal grand jury convened at Washington, D. C., had been afforded clearances for national security information and material. A representative of the Department Security Office advised in his opinion such clearance was definitely necessary before such individuals could receive classified national security information or material.

I have retained personal attorneys in connection with this appearance and am requesting the Department authorize one who has already received clearance to discuss classified matters relating to this appearance and afford clearance to the second attorney who does not possess clearance for national security information and material.

RECOMMENDATION: That SA [REDACTED] as required, be released from his employment agreement to discuss classified national security information and material before the Federal grand jury convened at Washington, D. C., in captioned matter, if required, and providing proper clearances have been obtained by the Department for all individuals who will receive this material.

██████████ contacted Inspector James C. Farrington, Legal Counsel Division, regarding this matter at which time it was suggested to him that he may wish to contact the Departmental Attorney handling the testimony before this grand jury for the purpose of determining whether the line of questioning will involve classified data, and resolve this problem at that time. In this way, it was hoped that this would eliminate any confrontation during the grand jury testimony.

In view of the concerns expressed by SA ██████████ relative to the possibility of discussing classified information before the Federal Grand Jury, there is attached a copy of a letter dated March 23, 1978, to Assistant Attorney General Benjamin R. Civiletti, from Attorney General Bell, which was received today, 3/27/78, from Mr. Frank Martin, Trial Attorney, in which the Attorney General authorized the dissemination of classified information or material to persons outside the Executive Branch in connection with this investigation by this Federal Grand Jury.

3/31/78

ALL
(4/3)
(3/6)
(7/6)

The 3/23/78 Attorney General letter to Assistant Attorney General Civiletti is a perfunctory post facto clearance of a Federal grand jury which has been in session for months. It does not respond to former Director Kelley's 10/77 letter citing instances where national security information was compromised before this grand jury and requesting corrective action. While the Attorney General's letter meets the requirement of 28 CFR 17.64, that classified information shall not be disseminated outside the Executive Branch except as authorized by the Attorney General, apparently no effort has been made to assure its protection, and the authorization does not meet the requirement of 28 CFR 17.57, that access shall not be given to any person unless a determination of trustworthiness has been made.

Late 3/30/78, the Department Security Office stated it was endeavoring, at the request of the Criminal Division, to expeditiously afford my attorney [REDACTED] clearance so he could represent me in connection with my rescheduled appearance before the grand jury at 1:30 p.m., 3/31/78.

While it appears some in the Department are continuing to ignore or bend for their own purposes regulations relating to the safeguarding of national security material, in view of the letter of the Attorney General and the current efforts of the Department to afford my attorney clearance, the FBI could be accused of resorting to technicalities if I am not released from my employment agreement to furnish both official and classified information to the grand jury. The continued violations and circumvention by the Department of regulations relating to protection of national security information in this investigation unfortunately destroy the integrity of the Executive Branch's system of protecting such information and material, the integrity of such material obtained by us from intelligence sources and methods, and will deter our acquisition of vital national security material in the future.

I have not indicated an unwillingness to cooperate with this Federal grand jury. In my position, it is my responsibility to ensure regulations relating to the protection of national security information and material are enforced and this has been my intention. In view of the above, I request the Director release me from my employment agreement so I may provide official information and classified information to this Federal grand jury, its stenographer and court reporter, and any appropriate Department personnel who I am assured have proper clearance. While I believe to present my testimony in the proper perspective I need to relate information of a compartmented nature requiring special clearance and information which the President has requested be held closely, in view of the insecurity of the Federal grand jury I should not be permitted to discuss this latter information.

RECOMMENDATION: That SA [redacted] be released by the Director from his employment agreement to furnish official and classified information up to and including "Top Secret" on 3/31/78 to the Federal grand jury at Washington, D. C., in accordance with the above, and that he also be released to confer with his attorney, providing the Department does secure proper clearance before my testimony, under the same conditions.

Martin advised [redacted] he did not think clearance was warranted and he considered [redacted] my counsel based on a memorandum in the custody of the Department. Thereupon, Martin stated the Department would question me regarding the following areas:

On 4-18-78 Mr. Paul Boucher, Chief of the Departmental Task Force investigating surreptitious entry, called me and advised that they are presently referring matters to the FBI for any administrative action that the Bureau desires to take. Mr. Boucher advised that this is being handled by the Office of Professional Responsibility of the Planning and Inspection Division of the FBI. He advised that in view of this that certain individuals will need access to records that the Bureau has and/as furnished to the Department.

Mr. Boucher advised that in view of the nature of the action he is giving access to the following individuals to the files contained in Room 1427-D, which would be the surreptitious entry files:

SAC Memorandum 30-76, dated 7/1/76, sets forth the Bureau policy and regulations requiring that all field office investigative activity must be made a matter of record and integrated into the field office files. The following is set forth as a reminder and in amplification of the instructions in SAC Memorandum 30-76.

Demands are continually being made upon the Bureau to produce FBI documents through Freedom of Information/Privacy Act requests and discovery orders in civil litigation and subpoena matters. Issues are sometimes raised regarding the production of documents originally designated as "Do Not File" documents and/or documents relating to surreptitious entries. In these instances, it has been necessary to hand search files or folders which contain such documents in unrecorded and unindexed form. Explanations have been required from the FBI as to why such documents continue to be maintained in this status. Failure to comply with these court orders could result in contempt of court citations being issued against FBI officials. In such situations, the court may also elect to impose sanctions against the FBI when the Bureau is a party in civil litigation matters.

In order that the Bureau may meet such discovery demands and at the same time protect privileged or highly sensitive material contained in official documents, it is incumbent that the credibility of the Bureau not be diminished. Compliance with existing regulations regarding the recording and indexing of documents is necessary. Each office should insure all documents are recorded and indexed.

For purposes of uniformity and classification of instructions to SAC Memorandum 30-76, any file, folder, or collection of documents, but not limited to, any such file, folder, or collection of documents, should be assigned an appropriate file number(s). The individual documents should be serialized, and the subject matter of each should be appropriately indexed affording retrievability of documents as defined under the FBI Central Records System published in the Federal Register.

The instructions set forth above, as well as those in SAC Memorandum 30-76, are to be applied to all documents investigative in nature and those administrative in nature except where the Manual of Administrative Operations and Procedures (MAOP) provides for exemption from indexing and serializing administrative documents.

This matter should be handled expeditiously and FBIHQ advised by close of business 5/9/80 of compliance with above instructions. Your reply should be designated "Attention: Records System Section, Records Management Division."

NOTE: In the past, surveys and administrative inquiry investigations have been conducted concerning the location and identification of documents, including those considered to be "Do Not File" type of documents. Searches conducted in connection with civil discovery matters have revealed such documents have been transferred or referenced by reference in the Central Records System. In such instances, the individual subject matter of such documents has not been indexed, and in general, such documents have been matter requires such as National Lawyers Guild v. Attorney General of the U.S., U.S. v. [redacted], and Alan Murphy, et al. v. Richard Nixon, et al., U.S.C., the FBI has had to respond to such requests. SAC Memorandum 30-76 sets forth general instructions regarding recording and indexing of such material. Because of the demands made upon the Bureau in civil discovery and subpoena matters, the indexing of such documents should be uniform.

Memorandum R. W. Scherrer to Mr. Finzel
RE: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

DETAILS:

Attached as an enclosure to the original of this memorandum is a folder captioned "SAC Folder Instructions," which was recovered at an undisclosed date from the New York Office. This material was not previously placed on record, inasmuch as there is no information contained therein identifying the target of any surreptitious entry. The information contained in the attached folder consists of various memoranda, routing slips and notes apparently related to the administrative handling of material secured through surreptitious entry. It is noted that a classification review of the material contained in the attached folder was conducted on 1/21/80. Also, as noted previously, no subject or target of surreptitious entry was identified in material contained in the attached folder. The following topics are mentioned and should be indexed to this memorandum:

Memorandum R. M. Scherrer to Mr. Finzel
RE: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY

DETAILS:

H. N. Bassett memorandum to Mr. Callahan dated 5/11/76 reported the details of the acquisition of 27 volumes of personal folders maintained by the Assistant Director in Charge of the New York Office. These folders were acquired by former Assistant Director [REDACTED] and Inspectors [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] during the period 5/4/76 through 5/7/76. The above-described folders were taken to FBIHQ where they have been maintained since May, 1976. It is anticipated that these folders will not be returned to the New York Office, but will be retained at FBIHQ. The material contained in these folders identifies the targets of surreptitious entries carried out by the New York Office and are retrievable through the New York Office general index. (b) (7)

In order to facilitate FBIHQ retrieval of material contained in the 27 folders, the various memoranda contained therein will be indexed into the FBIHQ general index.

The 27 folders described above will be made bulky enclosures to instant memorandum and will be retained in the Special File Room with access restricted to the Bureau Officials identified in recommendation number two above.

CONFIDENTIAL SOURCE ASSIGNMENTS

Reference is made to my informal note of 11/23/55 setting forth contents of the conversation which I had with Inspector B. C. BROWN.

After discussion with ASAC DONALD MOORE on this date, I telephonically contacted Inspector BROWN and made the following recommendations which he approved and stated should be placed into effect.

The communications referring to anonymous source assignments should be completely deleted from the June file. In addition, our indices should be purged of all references to the communications covering anonymous source assignments which were previously placed in the June file. The memoranda and other communications so extracted from the June file will be placed in a personal folder of the SAC to be maintained in the actual personal custody of the SAC in the SAC's personal office. The only official record which will be maintained will be a card index maintained by the SAC's Secretary which will set forth the number of the asterisk informant and the date of development of the informant.

It was agreed that the data placed in the SAC's personal folder would not be destroyed but would be retained.

These instructions are being stapled to the inside of said folder.

The communications extracted from the June file should be filed in chronological order.

In view of the decisions set forth above, it will be satisfactory to make a notation on any memoranda prepared covering confidential source assignments data concerning authority received from Headquarters.

(SEE ADDENDUM)

WILLIAM G. SIMON
ASAC

12/28/55

Further discussion has disclosed the necessity for maintaining a special index which contains the name, address, and the symbol number of a particular assignment. This index is referred to hundreds of times each month and is of absolute necessity to the workability of information secured under this program.

In addition it was noted that we must maintain a symbol informant card in the confidential informant index, it being noted that within the past several years instructions have been received that symbol numbers assigned to anonymous source assignments must be in sequence with symbol numbers assigned to tesurs, misurs, etc.

In addition it was noted that communications are forwarded to the Bureau each week advising the Bureau of the identity of symbol numbers assigned to anonymous source assignments and furnishing additional dates in connection with symbol numbers previously furnished to the Bureau.

In view of the above, I had another conversation with Inspector Brown. It was proposed that we maintain a special index under a personal label of James J. Kelly, to be utilized in connection with the personal folder to be maintained by James J. Kelly containing this material. Mr. Brown agreed that this was the only proper step which could be taken, it being agreed that it was necessary to report on this information.

I told him that the inconsistency which appeared was in connection with the maintenance of the symbol number card and the forwarding of communications to the Bureau explaining the designation of symbol numbers. I pointed out to him that within the past several years this system had been inaugurated by the NY office and that it has been very helpful in the report-writing phases of our work inasmuch as only the symbol number need be used rather than a long descriptive passage which attempts to explain the source of the information. Inspector Brown agreed that it would be necessary to maintain the symbol number card as in the past containing both the symbol number and the name of the subject and that also it would be necessary to continue forwarding to the Bureau as in the past under a JUNE and Personal & Confidential cover the designation of symbol numbers.

I pointed out to him that with respect to the administrative handling of these matters in the past year and a half there was no problem and that the main problems arose because of the variance in our procedures over the years in connection with anonymous source assignments conducted 10 and 15 years ago.

I also pointed out to him that there was a tremendous amount of information resulting from anonymous source assignments which had been channelized throughout the files of this office over the years.

W. G. SIMON, ASAC

See me
Inspector B. C. Brown advised me on 11/23/55 that with respect to any record of authorization of highly confidential sources, there should be no record in any file concerning authority secured for handling such an assignment.

The SAC should maintain an informal folder in his personal file or desk and in that folder there should be repositied an informal note concerning each particular assignment. These notes should be held until the next inspection. See note 11/24/55

With respect to those files which contain such memoranda at the present time, they should be purged and the memoranda should be destroyed, on any of the assignments which have been completed.

These notes on each job should be retained in the future and will be deleted from the folder on the occasion of each inspection.

These instructions are being stapled to the inside of the folder, which will be placed in the lower lefthand drawer of the SAC's personal desk.

Memorandum

TO : SAC

FROM : [REDACTED]

SUBJECT:

ADMINISTRATIVE HANDLING OF "JUNE" MATERIAL INVOLVING HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL AND ANONYMOUS SOURCES (HCAS)

The current procedure in the handling of memoranda involving highly confidential and anonymous sources is as follows:

- A - A June memorandum is prepared by the agent, setting out the results of his investigation to determine the security aspects of the contemplated assignment. Based on this memo, the Bureau is telephonically contacted and authority obtained. A notation by the ASAC is made on this memo setting out who authorized the assignment and the date. This memo is then filed in the SAC's folder permanently. Once the assignment has been completed, if positive results are received a June memo is prepared setting out the results. This memo is also filed in the SAC's folder. All of these memos are filed according to date order.

Authority for Above Procedure

On 11/23/55, ASAC William G. Simon spoke to Inspector B. C. Brown at which time Inspector Brown instructed that the SAC should maintain an informal folder in his personal file or desk and in that folder there should be repositied an informal note concerning each particular assignment. These notes should be held until the next inspection.

Memo

ASAC William G. Simon again spoke to Inspector B. G. Brown on 12/28/56. In which the above instructions were reiterated and according to Mr. Simon's statement, "It was agreed that the data placed in the SAC's personal folder would not be destroyed but would be retained."

RECOMMENDATION

When authority is desired to conduct an NCAS, a memorandum be prepared setting out the results of the investigation conducted in connection with the ascertaining of the security aspects involved. This memorandum should not in any way refer to the question of Bureau authority. This memorandum should be the basis for the ASAC calling the Bureau. When authority is obtained, the ASAC should prepare a brief memorandum setting out this authority. Both of the above memorandums should be filed in separate SAC folders in date order. At the time of the next inspection, the memorandums containing Bureau authority should be destroyed and the other memorandum retained. It is also felt that a memorandum setting out the results of the NCAS should be prepared and filed in the same SAC folder as the memorandum containing the results of the investigation and this also would be retained on a permanent basis.

B - Certain of the assignments are approved on a continuing basis. This means that each month, a memorandum is submitted to Asst. Director A. H. Belmont at the Bureau, setting out the results of certain NCAS that are of a continuing nature and these are approved on an NCAS basis thus avoiding the necessity of asking for Bureau authority on an individual basis. One copy is retained in the New York Office and is prepared by ASAC NCAS who retains it for approximately 2 years until there is a change in that approval has been obtained on an NCAS basis. He then destroys it.

RECOMMENDATION

That there be no change in this procedure.

A review of existing SAC folders reflects that it would be impossible to destroy these memoranda without destroying Bureau authority without destroying valuable information. It is therefore, recommended that the proposed recommendations above be placed in effect and that the memoranda as they exist up to this time be retained in their present condition.

SUBJECT: CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED

On 3/25/63 Assistant to the Director A. H. BELMONT called to advise of the Director's concern in regard to confidential sources, especially in view of pdc-shots being taken at the Bureau by LEVINE and others.

He stated that the Director, after reviewing the facts, has decided to continue with this valuable source of information, but all such sources are to receive close scrutiny. The SAC or ASAC is to approve each request and Bureau authority must be specifically obtained for the handling of each source. The Director wants to be sure that we are not going on a fishing expedition, but have a specific objective in mind when handling these sources.

He stated that the planning of each source should be gone over carefully and an informal memorandum concerning same should be placed in the safe in the SAC's office and kept there until the next Inspection, at which time the memoranda will be reviewed by the Inspector and destroyed. Mr. BELMONT stated he wants to be sure that we are using men of dedication and stability on this important type of assignment.

This matter was discussed at the conference of the ASACS on 3/26/63. It was pointed out that while we are to be extremely cautious in this type of operation, this should not be interpreted to mean that there should be any lessening of our activity in this field. If we expect to continue making in-roads in the security field, we should use every ounce of imagination and initiative at our disposal. It was pointed out that sometimes it is easy, when a caution of this sort emanates from the Bureau, to use it as a vehicle to slow down our operation and not accomplish the end result that we have been achieving in the past.

"The New York Times" of July 21, 1975, contained an article in which it quoted from the latest issue of Newsweek magazine which reported that FBI Agents broke into an average of one foreign embassy a month in recent years. The article indicated the FBI conducted about 1,500 break-ins of embassies and missions, criminal hide-outs and headquarters of extremist groups such as the Ku Klux Klan and the Communist Party, USA (CPUSA). The embassy break-ins were described as having been usually staged to obtain information to help the National Security Agency break foreign codes.

F.B.I. Embassy Break-Ins Put at One-a-Month Rate

NY Times
July 21, 1975

By Reuters

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation broke into an office and a truckload of files average of one foreign embassy from the Czechoslovak Embassy a month in recent years. Newsweek magazine reports in its latest issue. In one Arab mission they met Israeli agents already there, saluted and walked away, the magazine adds.

Newsweek says that F.B.I. agents broke into the embassies of Arab countries, Poland, Yugoslavia, France and Japan, stole a coding machine from the Czechoslovak Embassy and blocked a New York City police inquiry into a break-in at the apartment of a Soviet diplomat assigned to the United Nations.

The magazine quotes Justice Department and present and former F.B.I. employees as the source of its information.

The bureau conducted about 1,500 break-ins of embassies and missions, criminal hideouts and headquarters of extremist groups such as the Ku Klux Klan and the American Communist party, the Newsweek article says.

"Embassy break-ins, averaging one a month by one estimate, were usually staged to get information that could help the National Security Agency break foreign codes," it adds.

The magazine says the agents were organized into groups known as "black-bag teams" or "black-bag boys."

They dressed in suits and ties but did not carry guns, badges or credentials, the article adds and quotes a former agent as having said the agents had been told, "If you get caught, you're on your own."

The teams consisted of a locksmith, a lookout and one or two men to carry out the searches. Newsweek reports and adds that sometimes a "slugger" was sent along to intercept anyone who might discover a break-in while it was in progress.

Two sources reported, the article says that F.B.I. agents posing as garbage collectors

"One of the funniest things you'd ever see was the film of the Czech deputy chief of security going to the Soviet Embassy with his hat in his hand," Newsweek quoted one source as having said.

"The Czechs couldn't even wire Prague to tell them what had happened. They had to go to the Soviet Embassy and use the Soviet machines."

F.B.I. Declines to Comment

Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, July 20—An F.B.I. spokesman, Homer Boynton, said the bureau had "no comment" on the report of F.B.I. break-ins at embassies and missions.

Mr. Boynton said he could not add anything to the statement by the F.B.I. director, Clarence M. Kelley, at a news conference last week that the agency had in the past made "surreptitious entries" into various places, including embassies, since World War II.

All the information on the burglaries is being transferred to the Attorney General and the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, Mr. Boynton said.

Mr. Kelley said that the bureau's agents had committed the break-ins and burglaries to obtain "information relative to the security of the nation."

He added that "there were a few" such break-ins at embassies here after 1966 — the year that F.B.I. sources have previously given for the termination of the practice by J. Edgar Hoover, the bureau's late director.

Mr. Kelley said that he had not been asked to approve any break-ins in the two years he has been in office.

The FBI's 'Black-Bag Boys'

President ordered an end to the controls that have kept the price of domestic "old oil"—generally from wells in operation before 1973—at an artificially low $5.25 per barrel. Instead of the immediate and total decontrol he had once envisioned, however, Ford proposed a gradual phasing out of price controls over the next two and a half years. Eventually, all old oil—about 60 per cent of domestic production—would join "new oil" in following the world market price. But Ford conceded that there should be some limit; he proposed a domestic ceiling of $13.50 per barrel.

Ripples: Ford's concessions on the question of a ceiling and on the need for gradual decontrol hinted plainly at compromise and thus were probably the most significant parts of his order, but critics preferred to focus initially on the plan's specific economic impact. The President said only that his proposal would add 1 cent to the price of each gallon of gasoline during the first year and a total of 7 cents in 30 months. But consumer advocate Ralph Nader warned of a far-reaching "ripple effect" inflating the economy. Some experts in Congress cited a computer projection warning that 800,000 more Americans would be unemployed, the gross national product would be cut by $40 billion and consumer prices would be raised by 3.2 per cent.

Despite last-minute maneuvering, Ford apparently couldn't raise enough support to keep Congress from killing his decontrol plan this week. But he did have the votes to sustain his veto of a bill passed last week that would tighten controls on old oil and roll back new-oil prices to $11.28 per barrel. Ford also pledged to veto a backup plan for, simply extending current controls to March 1. To avoid the instant skyrocketing of prices, however, both sides may well agree to a briefer extension.

That would provide time for a more comprehensive compromise, and some of its features already seemed plain. One key House committee was considering a phased decontrol of oil, similar to Ford's plan but with a lower ceiling price. A consensus was also building on some sort of windfall-profits tax for oil companies, mandatory mileage standards for new automobiles, the creation of a strategic oil reserve—and a multimillion-dollar trust fund to help find new ways of keeping up with the nation's need for energy.

—DAVID M. ALPERN with HENRY W. HUBBARD and THOMAS M. DEFRANK in Washington

Every foreign intelligence agent had suspected it and every major mafioso had known for sure, but last week director Clarence Kelley made it official: the FBI, he reported, has in the past made "surptitious entries" into various places, foreign embassies included, to obtain what it felt was important information. Kelley said the break-ins began during World War II and were largely discontinued by J. Edgar Hoover in 1966, and he implied they were legal because the agents "acted in good faith." But the disclosure touched off a major furor: Attorney General Edward Levi promised a criminal investigation, several foreign former agent who said he had taken part in many break-ins. "You were told, 'If you get caught, you're on your own'." They were known as "black-bag teams" or "black-bag boys" and they usually consisted—at a minimum—of a locksmith, a lookout and a couple of men to do the ransacking. Depending on the purpose of the break-in, one of them would know how to use a camera or install a bug. Sometimes a "slugger" was sent along to intercept unexpected visitors. "We had guys who, if they went bad, would be the best second-story men in the world," boasted one former agent.

Over the years, a Justice Department official told NEWSWEEK's Stephan Leshner, the FBI conducted about 1,500 break-ins of foreign embassies and missions, mob hangouts and the headquarters of such extremist groups as the Ku Klux Klan and the American Communist Party. Embassy break-ins, averaging one a month by one estimate, were usually staged to get information that could help the National Security Agency break foreign codes.

Bugs: One top source said last week that he never knew of a case in which the FBI planted a bug in an embassy; if the code were cracked, no bug would be needed anyway and, besides, a diplomatic bug was almost sure to be found. But break-ins against organized-crime figures and U.S. Communists were almost always to plant bugs. "They had bugs in mob apartments all over New York," said one government investigator.

A break-in at a mob office in Brooklyn, for example, might employ only a lookout, a driver for a getaway car and a couple of agents. But a break-in at a major embassy or mission would require not only a skilled team, but dozens of agents to fan out across the city and watch all of the 50 to 60 persons known to have keys to the building. The agents who entered usually would take in sensitive cameras (capable of taking pictures without a flash) and small copying machines that could be folded into a suitcase. They wouldn't read anything," said one FBI source. "They just copy everything in sight." The agents would photograph the coding machine from every possible angle, then copy messages and replace the originals. The idea was that the National Security Agency would have intercepted incoming coded messages and the FBI would have decoded copies. That, plus the ambassadors called the White House to learn whether they had been targets, and Presidential counsel Philip Buchen berated Levi for not keeping Kelley "on a shorter leash." Most intriguingly, the director's disclosure also set other tongues wagging. NEWSWEEK's Anthony Marro pieced together this story of the FBI's after-hours adventures:

The FBI agents usually went in clean: no badge, no guns, no credentials. Almost always they wore the standard uniform of suit and tie, but with labels and cleaners' markings removed. "It was your ass if you got caught," recalled a photographs, might enable the NSA to break the code.

Czech defector slips coding machine to 'garbagemen'

Two sources said that the FBI actually smuggled out an entire coding machine about fifteen years ago. Borrowing a truck and uniforms from a garbage-collection company, agents drove into the yard of the Czech Embassy in Washington and waited near an open window, through which a Czech defector passed not only the machine but nearly a truckload of files. "They were so excited that they forgot to pick up the garbage," said one source. The next morning, the FBI filmed the results from a hide-out. "One of the funniest things you'd ever see," the source said, "was the film of the Czech deputy chief of security going to the Soviet Embassy with his hat in his hand. The Czechs couldn't even wire Prague to tell them what had happened. They had to go to the Soviet Embassy and use the Soviet machines."

Salute: This same source and another agreed that in the late 1950s and early 1960s the FBI also broke into the Polish and Yugoslav embassies in Washington. At least three separate bureau sources agreed that there was "no way" for agents to penetrate the Soviet Embassy, so instead they targeted Soviet satellite countries. Even allies, such as France or Japan, were occasional targets, as were the Arab states. "All the Arab embassies were easy," said one bureau source. "The only problem was tripping over the Israelis already inside." He said that in at least one case FBI agents breaking into an Arab mission found themselves face to face with Israeli agents. What happens in such cases? "You salute each other and walk away," the source said. "Nobody wants any trouble."

There were enough problems as it was. Once, in a mob headquarters in the Midwest, an agent planting a microphone slipped on a joist in the attic and thrust his foot through the ceiling of the room below. The agents had to wake up the owner of a hardware store and get plaster to repair the ceiling before dawn. During the late 1950s, two sources said, an agent had a heart attack and died while helping with a bag job in one of the Eastern European embassies. And sometimes local police stumbled onto an FBI break-in. When that happened, "You hit the cop and you ran," said one former agent. Said another: "There were some nasty confrontations in back alleys."

Two sources recalled a case ten years ago in which FBI agents had earlier planted a bug in the office of a mob attorney and had "gone back in to juice it up." One agent dropped something that he shouldn't have been carrying anyway—either his credentials or a report with his name on it—and when the lawyer came in next morning, it was clear the FBI had been there. As the sources recalled it, the agent was fired.

There were cases in which local police concealed the FBI's tracks. More than a decade ago, a former New York City policeman recalled, the FBI broke into the apartment of a Soviet diplomat assigned to the United Nations. As usual, there was an agent on watch in the lobby of the apartment, but the Russian—who had forgotten some theater tickets—somehow returned without being spotted. When he discovered the agents, their only recourse was to pretend that they really were burglars. They hit him, knocked him down and hurriedly ransacked the room. The Russians called the cops, who came to investigate, but later that night the FBI told the detectives not to probe too hard. The detectives were unhappy about it because they had to fill out monthly status reports on the "unsolved" case.

On one occasion, however, the FBI unwittingly helped the New York police. An FBI agent was breaking into the apartment of a mobster while a lookout and a getaway man waited in separate cars. The plan was for the "burglar" to come out and signal to the lookout, who would honk twice; the getaway car would drive up and speed the "burglar" away. "Off they went at 90 miles per hour," said a former agent. "About six blocks away, the driver looks at the passenger and says, 'Who the f--- are you?' The passenger looks at the driver and answers, 'Who the f--- are you?'" The passenger, it seemed, was a police "burglar" whose target was another apartment in the same building—and whose getaway signal was also two honks of a horn.

NEW YORK: MAC the Knife

Two crises ago—as New York reckons time these days—Governor Carey and the New York State Legislature created the Municipal Assistance Corporation to help the Big Apple through bankruptcy. That was back in 1975, when Big Mac, as it was immediately nicknamed, was quickly prepared to take on the city's staggering $6 billion in short-term debts. The MAC was to issue long-term bonds of its own—15 percent of specially earmarked city sales tax revenue—while watching over the troubled, gimmick-ridden City Hall's financial making process. Politicians, union leaders and financial leaders heaved a sigh of relief—but that proved premature. The city resumed its gimmickry. Big Mac's tepid welcome in the bond market was a far cry from the bond market's most distasteful dose of fiscal discipline it has yet had to swallow.

Image: With its first $1 billion issue not completely sold and another $1 billion still to offer, Big Mac Mayor Abe Beame to the City. Only weeks before, Beame had announced massive layoffs of city workers, 19,000 of which were still supposed to be in effect despite additional tax increases authorized for the city to help pay the crisis (NEWSWEEK, July 14). The painful experience—including a day garbage strike—had done more than good to the city's image with potential investors. Beame was told by chairman Thomas D. Flynn of the board directors. "The Big Mac came back from their road show and discouraged about the city around the country," one city official said. "They couldn't believe the city and its life-style—tuition at City University to the capitulation to city unions."

Without Big Mac's bonds,

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY

Between the years 1942 to 1967, the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) utilized surreptitious entry in cases bearing on the security of the Nation. When a Special Agent in Charge (SAC) of a field office considered the technique necessary to the conduct of an investigation, he would make his request to the appropriate Assistant Director, justifying need for a surreptitious entry and assuring it could be safely accomplished with full security. In accordance with Director's Hoover's instructions, a memorandum outlining the facts of the request was then prepared for approval of Mr. Tolson, the Associate Director, or Director Hoover. Subsequently, the memorandum was filed in the Assistant Director's office under a "Do Not File" procedure, and thereafter destroyed. In the field office, the SAC maintained a record of approval, as a control device, in his office safe. At the next yearly field office inspection, a review would be made of these records by the Inspector to insure that the SAC was not acting without prior Headquarters approval in conducting surreptitious entries. Upon completion of this review, these records were then destroyed. Accordingly, in attempting to now reconstruct those instances of surreptitious entry, FBI Headquarters necessarily had to rely upon search of our indices and the recollection of Special Agents who might have knowledge of such activity.

In July, 1966, Director J. Edgar Hoover ordered discontinuance of the aforementioned technique. In January, 1967, Director Hoover restated his position in a memorandum that he would not authorize use of the surreptitious entry technique.

In connection with the installation of microphone surveillances, surreptitious entry was required in many instances. Prior to March 30, 1965, microphone installation and activation did not require written authority from the Attorney General, but could be effected on FBI Headquarters authority. The Department was aware of this procedure as evidenced by a memorandum from former Attorney General Herbert Brownell, dated May 20, 1954, which recognized FBI authority to institute such surveillances.

By memorandum to the Attorney General dated March 30, 1965, Director Hoover stated that the FBI would begin requesting Attorney General authority for the placement of microphones. By memorandum dated September 27, 1965, the Attorney General referred to microphones involving trespass and confirmed his understanding that such microphones would not be used without his authorization.

A recent FBI survey determined that during the period January, 1967, to March, 1975, the Attorney General authorized operation of 172 microphone surveillances.

Prior to September, 1974, surveys to determine if a microphone surveillance would be feasible at a particular location were authorized by FBI Headquarters. Some of these feasibility surveys involved trespass. Where a microphone installation was considered feasible, authority for operation of the surveillance was obtained from the Attorney General. Since September, 1974, the FBI has followed a policy of requesting authority of the Attorney General to conduct these feasibility surveys. Since that time, the Attorney General has authorized surveys and installations on 23 occasions.

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY

"The New York Times" edition of July 20, 1975, on page K2, contains an article captioned "The F.B.I.'s Record on Break-Ins." According to the article, the FBI perpetrated break-ins in investigating ordinary cases of bank robbery, kidnapping, and hijacking in addition to those involving "national security."

The General Investigative Division (GID) at FBI Headquarters has the responsibility for supervising investigative matters of substantive Federal violations within FBI investigative jurisdiction in all cases including Bank Robbery, Kidnapping, and Hijacking except those involving violations of the Fugitive Felon Act, Organized Crime and Internal Security matters. It does supervise some matters involving anti-racketeering which might fall into an organized crime category. The GID does not now have nor has it ever established any program(s) involving "surreptitious entry" as an investigative technique. Likewise, officials currently assigned to the GID have no knowledge of any instances wherein a surreptitious entry was utilized in the investigation of matters handled by the GID.

It is noted, however, that there have been occasions, where pursuant to a court authorized interception of oral communications by use of concealed microphones, appropriate entry necessary for the installation of said microphones was made into private premises. These entries are considered legal and proper.

Surreptitious Entries

An article appearing in "Newsweek" July 28, 1975, alluded to a number of surreptitious entries engaged in by the FBI from the 1940's until 1968. While general in nature, this article referred to several specific cases involving our investigations in both the security and organized crime fields. The writer related a set of facts concerning entry made in an attorney's office at which time Agents supposedly left behind certain evidence which identified the persons making entry as being with the FBI. It is felt that the situation referred to concerns our investigation of Alvin L. Malnik, a Miami attorney. There is attached a separate communication setting forth the complete facts relating to the Malnik situation.

At one point in the article the writer made reference to problems encountered by the Agents while conducting surreptitious entries and referred to a situation in which entry was made into "mob headquarters" for the purpose of planting a microphone. During this entry an Agent supposedly "thrust his foot through the ceiling." We are unable to locate any record of such an occurrence taking place.

We are unable to locate any record of a breaking in at a mob office in Brooklyn, New York, as stated in the article.

This is to advise of a meeting of Intelligence Division (INTD) representatives with Mr. John J. Buckley, Jr., Special Assistant to the Attorney General at the Department on August 14, 1975, to discuss various aspects relating to captioned investigative technique.

EX 103 REC-4 66-8160-3716

Assistant Director W. R. Wannall and [REDACTED] INTD, met with Mr. Buckley in room 5123, Justice Building.

Mr. Buckley raised a number of questions relating to the use of this technique which he desired answered for his clarification. These included definitions and background relating to targets and procedures in implementing the technique. Mr. Buckley was shown and later at his request furnished copies of memorandum from Mr. Sullivan to Mr. DeLoach dated 7/19/66 captioned "Black Bag Jobs" and memorandum of Director Hoover to Messrs. Tolson and DeLoach dated 1/7/67, uncaptioned but relating to this technique. He indicated he would return these documents which relate to discontinuance of this technique in 1966.

Mr. Buckley requested that the FBI respond to the following questions relating to the use of this technique in connection with criminal investigations:

1. Are "surveys" conducted by FBI personnel to determine the feasibility of microphone installation in criminal cases in the same manner as they are conducted in counterintelligence-type cases?

2. Where surreptitious entry is effected for microphone installation, is the entry limited to the installation or are documents searched for, examined or photographed?

3. While in the past microphone surveillance was used only in kidnaping and extortion cases, Mr. Buckley suggested that recent information (probably in the news media, although he did not say) indicates that surreptitious entry and microphone surveillance have been used in organized crime matters. He requested he be furnished information relating to the use of these techniques in the criminal area.

On 8/19/75, Stanley Pottinger, Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, telephonically advised Inspector Paul L. Mack that he has been designated by the Attorney General to look into our surreptitious entry program. He wanted to alert the FBI that he is requesting certain material needed to adequately conduct his inquiry. He stated a letter would be forthcoming outlining in detail his request but essentially it is as follows:

- 1) List of surreptitious entries including date of entry for each entry from 1/1/66 to the present.
- 2) Location and nature of premises entered.
- 3) Identities of persons occupying the premises entered.
- 4) The identity of any organization that was the target of the entry.
- 5) The specific purpose of the entry.
- 6) The nature and identity of information obtained.
- 7) Identity of any other organizations of government (local or Federal) which prompted or participated in the entry.
- 8) Identity of all FBI personnel involved in the entry as well as all personnel who approved the entry.
- 9) Identity of the files that relate to the entry.

In addition, he requested copies of memoranda of former Director J. Edgar Hoover prepared in 1966 and 1967 in which he terminated surreptitious entries. He also requested a copy of memorandum recording the fact that former Attorney General Herbert Brownell had been briefed in 1954 regarding surreptitious entries.

AAG Pottinger requested that the necessary data be promptly compiled and be made available to him by Friday, 8/22/75.

RE: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

AAG Pottinger and Departmental Attorney Frank Allen subsequently advised on 8/19/75 that in connection with microphone installations they recognize that the Bureau's policy at one time was to conduct a feasibility survey prior to securing authority to make the installation and that this policy has been changed so that any feasibility surveys conducted are made following receipt of the Attorney General's authorization. They requested a separate listing be compiled with respect to surreptitious entries in connection with microphone installations.

ACTION:

Intelligence Division, Special Investigative Division and General Investigative Division take necessary steps to obtain the requested information and Intelligence Division coordinate response to AAG Pottinger by 8/22/75.

Reference is made to memorandum of Mr. J. B. Adams to Mr. P. L. Mack, August 19, 1975.

From January, 1966, to the present time, there have been 9<sup>1</sup> surreptitious entries conducted in connection with investigations handled by the Special Investigative Division. All of these entries have been under authority of court order and in accordance with Title III of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968, and were undertaken for the purpose of installing electronic devices for the interception of oral communications. In each instance, at the conclusion of the court-authorized period of interception, a second entry was made for the purpose of retrieving the electronic device.

Further, in compliance with the provisions of the above act, subjects of interception were advised no later than 90 days after the termination of the period of the court order that their conversations were intercepted by the Government.

In regard to items three and nine, information requested in referenced memorandum is not retrievable at FBI Headquarters.

In regard to item four, all entries were in accordance with court orders regarding criminal activity on the part of individuals. No organizations were the targets of the entries.

Memorandum to Mr. Cleveland
Re: Surreptitious Entries

In regard to item five, the specific purpose of all entries was the installation of an electronic device for the interception of oral communications.

In regard to item six, this does not apply since purpose of entry was solely for installation purposes.

In regard to item seven, no other organizations of government, local or Federal, prompted or participated in the entry.

In regard to item eight, the identity of FBI personnel involved in the entry is not retrievable at FBI Headquarters. It is further pointed out that approval of entry is handled under the provisions of Title III of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968. In the preparation of affidavits, FBI Agents coordinate activities with the appropriate United States Attorney in the judicial district where installation is desired, and the affidavit is forwarded to FBI Headquarters for review by appropriate supervising Agents, Legal Counsel Division, and the Director of the FBI. Thereafter, it is forwarded to the Department of Justice for approval of the Attorney General or his designate. Thereafter, approval is obtained from a United States District Judge in the district of origin of the affidavit.

The following, detail each specific entry and provide information as requested in items one and two:

Reference is made to memorandum of Mr. J. B. Adams to Mr. P. L. Mack, 8/19/75, and telephone call of Mr. H. N. Helterhoff to Mr. J. L. Smythe, 8/20/75.

A review of the files of the Special Investigative Division indicates that from January, 1966, to the present time there have been six surreptitious entries conducted in connection with investigations handled by the General Investigative Division. All of these entries have been under authority of court order and in accordance with Title III of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968, and were undertaken for the purpose of installing electronic devices for the interception of oral communications. In each instance, at the conclusion of the court-authorized period of interception, a second entry was made for the purpose of retrieving the electronic device.

Further, in compliance with the provisions of the above act, subjects of interception were advised no later than 90 days after the termination of the period of the court order that their conversations were intercepted by the Government.

In regard to Items 3 and 9, information requested in referenced memorandum is not retrievable at FBI Headquarters.

In regard to Item 4, all entries were in accordance with court orders regarding criminal activity on the part of individuals. No organizations were the targets of the entries.

In regard to Item 5, the specific purpose of all entries was the installation of an electronic device for the interception of oral communications.

SPECIAL AGENT IN CHARGE

Memorandum to Mr. Cleveland
Re: Surreptitious Entries

In regard to Item 6, this does not apply since the purpose of entry was solely for installation purposes.

In regard to Item 7, no other organizations of government, local or Federal, prompted or participated in the entry.

In regard to Item 8, the identity of FBI personnel involved in the entry is not retrievable at FBI Headquarters. It is further pointed out that approval of entry is handled under the provisions of Title III of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968. In the preparation of affidavits, FBI Agents coordinate activities with the appropriate U. S. Attorney in the judicial district where installation is desired, and the affidavit is forwarded to FBI Headquarters for review by appropriate supervising Agents, Legal Counsel Division, and the Director of the FBI. Thereafter, it is forwarded to the Department of Justice for approval of the Attorney General or his designate. Thereafter, approval is obtained from a U. S. District Judge in the district of origin of the affidavit.

The following detail each specific entry and provide information as requested in Items 1 and 2:

FROM : Mr. W. R. Wannall Wannall

SUBJECT: UNCONSENTED, WARRANTLESS PHYSICAL ENTRIES CONDUCTED BY THE FBI

JUNE

Surreptitious Entries

On 8/25/75 at 2:19 p.m., Mr. Jack Fuller, Special Assistant to the Attorney General, called requesting of Deputy Assistant Director Thomas W. Leavitt data depicting the Bureau's authority for surreptitious entries for purposes other than installing a microphone. He stated he needed this material no later than Tuesday, August 26, 1975, in order to assist in preparing a communication for the Attorney General.

Attached memorandum previously prepared by the Legal Counsel Division covers the matter of Mr. Fuller's request. The data was furnished to the Attorney General by letter dated 6/30/75 along with a number of other items of interest.

ACTION:

Attached copy of memorandum entitled "PRESIDENTIAL AUTHORITY TO AUTHORIZE UNUSUAL INVESTIGATIVE TECHNIQUES IN FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE INVESTIGATIONS" be forwarded to Mr. Fuller.

To advise of a 9/9/75 meeting between Mr. Frank Allen, Deputy Chief, Criminal Section, Civil Rights Division of the Department, and [REDACTED] Intelligence Division, regarding the 8/19/75 letter of J. Stanley Pottinger, Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, requesting information about captioned activities conducted by the Bureau since 1/1/66.

The above 8/19/75 letter requested certain information in nine categories about each surreptitious entry. Several of the categories, including date of entry, location and nature of premises, and occupants of the premises, were self-explanatory; others, including the nature of information and materials obtained, and identity of FBI personnel involved in the entries were subject to various interpretations and therefore in need of further clarification.

Category number 6, the "nature of information and materials obtained," will, in the case of microphone installations, be limited to that information gathered from the microphone itself. Therefore, this category, according to Mr. Allen, may be answered by responding as to whether or not conversations were overheard (i.e. "conversations of subject").

Memorandum to Mr. W. R. Wannall
Re: Surreptitious Entries

Category number 8, regarding the "identity of all FBI personnel who took part in the entries, and any person who approved or recommended such entry," may be answered by identifying (1) the Field Supervisor and highest approving authority in the field office who together recommended the action to FBIHQ, (2) the FBIHQ case supervisor and highest approving Bureau official who together approved the activity for a field office, (3) approval of the Attorney General on the appropriate date, and (4) the identities of the Special Agents who actually took part in the installation, or survey.

With respect to (1) and (2) in the foregoing paragraph, Mr. Allen recognized that on some occasions officials such as Relief Supervisors, Assistant Special Agents in Charge, Night Supervisors, #1 Men, etc., would approve field communications to FBIHQ recommending surveys and installations, and subsequent FBIHQ authorizations to the field. Where appropriate therefore, the identity of the individual signing a communication, and for whom, should be noted.

With respect to the identities of Special Agents who took part in the actual survey and installation, Mr. Allen was advised that FBIHQ and field office files normally would not reveal this information. Mr. Allen inquired if the data might be obtained through recollection of field office Special Agents assigned to the appropriate areas of investigation. He was advised that in a number of instances, the information might be obtained by this method, although retirements, reassignments, and deaths of Agent personnel would undoubtedly hinder the attempt. Mr. Allen indicated the Bureau should make a reasonable effort to secure the requested identities.

An additional area of question; namely, the lack of any indication in FBIHQ and field office files that a trespass or entry was committed during a survey for microphone installation was brought to Mr. Allen's attention. The matter was resolved in favor of indicating where appropriate, in the Bureau's response to the Department, that FBIHQ and field office files contain no indication an entry was effected for the survey. Where evidence exists to the contrary, the survey would be treated as an entry.

Memorandum to Mr. W. R. Wannall
Re: Surreptitious Entries

During the course of the conversation, Mr. Allen indicated that following review of all requested data regarding surreptitious entries, consideration would be given to interviewing selected FBI personnel concerning their knowledge of these activities. In addition, he indicated that files containing instances of surreptitious entries might be reviewed at some later date.

Warrantless Electronic Surveillance by the FBI

Classified by SP-10/col

10/1/93

The early use of microphones by the FBI is not recorded in detail. Following the issuance of President Roosevelt's May 21, 1940, memorandum, microphone surveillances were used in cases involving matters affecting the defense of the Nation. Throughout World War II and until 1965, the use of microphones was initiated upon the authority of the FBI Director. The unsettled state of law regarding the admissibility of evidence obtained from microphones was of continuing concern to FBI officials. Under existing policy, the Bureau was installing and using microphones on its own authority. On the other hand, the use of these techniques was dictated by considerations of national security which were clearly of concern to President Roosevelt and his successors. Although the Department was not being informed in writing of the installation of microphone coverage, it was clearly aware of this practice by the FBI. In connection with prosecutions of communist leaders under the Smith Act, extensive discussions were held between Bureau representatives and officials of the Department concerning the use of microphones, particularly the question of admissibility of evidence derived from such coverage.

NOTE:

Reference the 8/19/75 letter of J. Stanley Pottinger, AAG Civil Rights Division, Department of Justice, entitled "Surreptitious Entries," wherein AAG requests information about surreptitious entries conducted by Bureau since 1/1/66. Recent GAO audit of the Internal Security Division, New York Division, has revealed a number of entries and "investigative techniques," not further identified. New York is being requested to furnish information in the nine categories sought by the Department, and to identify the "investigative techniques."

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has conducted 97 surreptitious entries since January 1, 1966, in connection with investigations handled under authority of a court order and in accordance with provisions of Title III of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968. All of these entries were for the purpose of interception of oral communications. At the conclusion of the court-authorized period of interception, a second entry was made for the purpose of retrieving the electronic device.

In compliance with provisions of the above Act, subjects of interception were advised no later than 90 days after termination of the surveillance that their conversations were intercepted by the Government. All interceptions were made on the basis of criminal activity on the part of subject individuals. No organizations were targets of the entries.

The specific purpose of each entry was for the installation of an electronic device to intercept oral communications. No other organizations of government, local or Federal, promoted or participated in the entries.

Approval for each entry is handled in accordance with provisions of Title III of the above Act. At the field office level, Special Agents coordinate with the appropriate United States Attorney in the judicial district where installation is desired in the preparation of affidavits regarding the desired interception. The affidavit is forwarded to the FBI Headquarters for review by appropriate supervisory personnel, Legal Counsel Division, and the Director. Thereafter, the affidavit is forwarded to the Department of Justice for approval of the Attorney General. Finally, approval is obtained from a U. S. District Judge in the district of origin of the affidavit.

Reference is made to memorandum from Legal Counsel to Mr. J. B. Adams dated 7/28/75, captioned "Unconsented, Warrantless Physical Entries Conducted By The FBI, i.e., Surreptitious Entries Or 'Bag Jobs,'" which requested that INTD obtain factual data concerning this matter to support Legal Counsel Divisions (LCD's) assessment of defenses to possible criminal charges.

Attached for review by LCD are 3 memoranda from the FBI Director to the Department containing information responsive to LCD's request: a memorandum to the Attorney General dated 7/25/75, captioned "Surreptitious Entry," a memorandum to the Assistant Attorney General, Civil Right Division, dated 9/3/75, captioned "Surreptitious Entries," and a memorandum to the Attorney General dated 1/11/75, also captioned "Surreptitious Entries."

To avoid duplication and with the concurrence of LCD personnel handling this matter, we have held our response in abeyance pending compilation of results of extensive research concerning surreptitious entries which has been conducted at the request of the Department. Attachments set forth factual data developed to date pertinent to LCD's assessment of possible criminal liability for such actions and legal defenses.

ACTION:

The INTD will furnish whatever additional material is compiled on the basis of research concerning surreptitious entries and furnish same to LCD.

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

Reference is made to your letter of August 19, 1975, in which you requested information concerning surreptitious entries conducted by the FBI since January 1, 1966.

Enclosed is a memorandum dated September 3, 1975, containing a list of surreptitious entries conducted since January 1, 1967. A separate list detailing additional entries since January 1, 1966, will be furnished your office as soon as the information is compiled.

You requested information in nine categories concerning each surreptitious entry. You will note in the enclosure that in certain categories, information has not been furnished. Extensive records review is being conducted to provide this data; however, the compartmentalized procedures of administration of these activities will preclude, in many cases, location of information regarding identities of individuals involved and identities of approving authorities.

As the Department has been advised previously by memorandum dated July 25, 1975, entitled "Surreptitious Entry," approval for use of the technique of surreptitious entry was not handled in the manner of usual authorizations in FBI investigations. When a Special Agent in Charge (SAC) of a field office considered the technique necessary he would make a request to the appropriate Assistant Director, justifying the need. In accordance with Director Hoover's instructions, a memorandum was then prepared on the FBI Headquarters level for approval of Mr. Tolson, the Associate Director, or Mr. Hoover. The memorandum was subsequently filed in the Assistant Director's office under a "Do Not File" procedure, and thereafter destroyed. In the field office, the SAC maintained a record of approval, as a control device, in his office safe, and at the next yearly field office inspection, an Inspector would review approvals to conduct surreptitious entries. Upon completion of review, these records were then destroyed.

In addition to surreptitious entries conducted in matters concerning the security of the Nation, entries have been conducted by the FBI for installation of electronic devices for interception of oral communications under authority of a court order, and in accordance with Title III of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968. Since January 1, 1966, a total of 97 such entries has been conducted by the FBI, all following passage of the Act.

If you desire, a separate listing of surreptitious entries meeting the above criteria will be furnished your office.

Pursuant to your request, attached is a copy of a memorandum from W. C. Sullivan to Mr. C. D. DeLoach, dated July 19, 1966, entitled "'Black Bag' Jobs"; memorandum of January 6, 1967, prepared by Director Hoover; and memorandum from the Attorney General to Director, FBI, dated May 20, 1954.

As information being furnished, in some instances, concerns sensitive, on-going operations in the foreign counterintelligence field, compromise of which would severely affect our coverage of hostile intelligence services, it is requested that the information be handled on a strict need-to-know basis.

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

Reference is made to the August 19, 1975, letter of J. Stanley Pottinger, Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, to Clarence M. Kelley, Director, FBI, wherein Mr. Pottinger requested certain information concerning surreptitious entries conducted by the FBI since January 1, 1966.

Mr. Pottinger requested the following information regarding surreptitious entries:

1. The date of the entry.
2. The location and nature of the premises entered.
3. The identity of the person whose premises were entered as well as pertinent information about the person.
4. Any organization or group, if any, which was the target of the investigation in which the entry occurred.

SUBJECT: "BLACK BAG" JOBS

Mr. DeLoach
Mr. Sullivan

The following is set forth in regard to your request concerning what authority we have for "black bag" jobs and for the background of our policy and procedures in such matters.

We do not obtain authorization for "black bag" jobs from outside the Bureau. Such a technique involves trespass and is clearly illegal; therefore, it would be impossible to obtain any legal sanction for it. Despite this, "black bag" jobs have been used because they represent an invaluable technique in combating subversive activities of a clandestine nature aimed directly at undermining and destroying our nation.

The present procedure followed in the use of this technique calls for the Special Agent in Charge of a field office to make his request for the use of the technique to the appropriate Assistant Director. The Special Agent in Charge must completely justify the need for the use of the technique and at the same time assure that it can be safely used without any danger or embarrassment to the Bureau. The facts are incorporated in a memorandum which, in accordance with the Director's instructions, is sent to Mr. Tolson or to the Director for approval. Subsequently this memorandum is filed in the Assistant Director's office under a "Do Not File" procedure.

In the field the Special Agent in Charge prepares an informal memorandum showing that he obtained Bureau authority and this memorandum is filed in his safe until the next inspection by Bureau Inspectors, at which time it is destroyed.

Also through the use of this technique we have on numerous occasions been able to obtain material held highly secret and closely guarded by subversive groups and organizations which consisted of membership lists and mailing lists of these organizations.

This applies even to our investigation of the Ku Klux Klan. You may recall that recently through a "black bag" job we obtained the records in the possession of three high-ranking officials of a klan organization in Louisiana. These records gave us the complete membership and financial information concerning the klan's operation which we have been using most effectively to disrupt the organization and, in fact, to bring about its near disintegration.

It was through information obtained through our "black bag" operations that we obtained the basic information used to compromise and to bring about the expulsion of William Albertson, the former Executive Secretary of the Communist Party New York District organization.

MR. DE LOACH

I note that requests are still being made by Bureau officials for the use of "black bar" techniques. I have previously indicated that I do not intend to approve any such requests in the future, and, consequently, no such recommendations should be submitted for approval of such matters. This practice, which includes also surreptitious entrances upon premises of any kind, will not meet with my approval in the future.

Very truly yours,

John Edgar Hoover
Director

JUNE

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

Reference is made to your letter of August 19, 1975, in which you requested information concerning surreptitious entries conducted by the FBI since January 1, 1966.

Enclosed is the original and one copy of a memorandum dated October 16, 1975, listing surreptitious entries since January 1, 1966, in connection with the installation of authorized microphone surveillance.

You will note that in Category 8, relating to the identity of personnel recommending, approving, and participating in an entry, we have not furnished the identities of personnel. All entries cited in the enclosure were conducted pursuant to an authorization by the Attorney General for microphone surveillance. We believe that the information which we have furnished with respect to this question will permit a general preliminary assessment of the propriety of these activities. Should you later require the identities of participating personnel to fully evaluate specific cases, we will, of course, provide such data to you.

A separate memorandum, relating to entries conducted to survey the feasibility of microphone installation and installation prior to authority of the Attorney General, is being prepared and will include, where available, the identities of personnel involved.

Re: Surreptitious Entries

NOTE:

Reference 8/19/75 memorandum J. Stanley Pottinger, AAG, Civil Rights Division, requesting information regarding surreptitious entries conducted by the FBI since 1/1/66. Enclosed is memorandum detailing entries for authorized microphone installation. Information as to identities of personnel involved is not being furnished at this time. All entries were conducted pursuant to AG authority and we believe data furnished herein will permit a preliminary assessment by the Department as to propriety of the activities. If required, identities will be furnished to the Department. We have previously furnished information concerning entries in the foreign counterintelligence field and in criminal investigations.

Reference is made to the August 19, 1975, letter of J. Stanley Pottinger, Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, to Clarence M. Kelley, Director, FBI, wherein Mr. Pottinger requested certain information concerning surreptitious entries conducted by the FBI since January 1, 1966.

Mr. Pottinger requested the following information regarding surreptitious entries:

1. The date of the entry.
2. The location and nature of the premises entered.
3. The identity of the person whose premises were entered as well as pertinent information about the person.
4. Any organization or group, if any, which was the target of the investigation in which the entry occurred.
5. The specific purpose of the surreptitious entry.
6. The nature of the information and materials obtained.
7. The identity of any other organization, governmental or private, that prompted the entry, or participated in the planning or execution of the entry.
8. The identity of all FBI personnel who took part in the entries, and any person who approved or recommended such an entry.
9. The identification number of the case file(s) from which information about the entries may be obtained.

Re: Surreptitious Entries

The FBI has conducted surreptitious entries in connection with the installation of authorized electronic surveillance. When a Special Agent in Charge (SAC) of a field office considers electronic surveillance necessary to the conduct of an investigation, a recommendation is made to FBI Headquarters (FBIHQ) for use of this technique. On concurrence of FBIHQ, the request for authority to install the surveillance is referred to the Attorney General. If authorized by the Attorney General, the field office is so advised and instructed by FBIHQ to install the electronic device, report to FBIHQ the date and time of activation of the device, and justify at a specified interval the need for continuation of the surveillance. When the surveillance is discontinued, FBIHQ is notified of this action as is the Attorney General.

Re: Surreptitious Entries

(610) From 1942 to April, 1968, surreptitious entry was utilized by the FBI on a highly selective basis in the conduct of certain investigations. Available records and recollection of Special Agents at FBI Headquarters (FBIHQ) identify the targets of surreptitious entries as domestic subversive and white hate groups.

When a Special Agent in Charge (SAC) of a field office considered surreptitious entry necessary to the conduct of an investigation, he would make his request to the appropriate Assistant Director at FBIHQ, justifying the need for an entry and assuring it could be accomplished safely with full security. A memorandum outlining the facts of the request was prepared for approval of Mr. Hoover, or Mr. Tolson, the Associate Director. Subsequently, the memorandum was filed in the Assistant Director's office under a "Do Not File" procedure, and thereafter destroyed. X

There is no central index, file, or document listing surreptitious entries conducted against domestic targets. To reconstruct these activities, it is necessary to rely upon recollections of Special Agents who have knowledge of such activities, and review of those files identified by recollection as being targets of surreptitious entries. Since policies and procedures followed in reporting of information resulting from a surreptitious entry were designed to conceal the activity from persons not having a need to know, information contained in FBI files relating to entries is in most instances incomplete and difficult to identify. X

ALL (LX1)

Reconstruction of instances of surreptitious entry through review of files and recollections of Special Agent personnel at FBIHQ, show the following entries since 1942:

(C)

Re: Surreptitious Entries

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

16. Young Socialist Alliance, New York City. At least twelve entries, national and local offices, September, 1964, to July, 1966. (X)
17. National Committee to Aid Bloomington Students, Young Socialist Alliance, New York City. At least seven entries from September, 1964, to July, 1966. (X)

White Hate Group

1. United Klans of America, Monroe, Louisiana. One entry in March, 1966. (X)

A review of the above matters, together with recollections of Special Agent personnel at FBIHQ, has resulted in reconstruction of instances of surreptitious entry which are detailed in the following pages. These entries were conducted subsequent to January 1, 1966. It is noted that information concerning the identities of authorities at FBIHQ who approved entries was obtained from the files of our field offices. In this regard, the approving authority at FBIHQ as listed in each entry is the individual who called the field office to advise the activity was authorized. It is not known and cannot be determined from available records whether the individual who called the field office was the official who actually authorized the entry, or whether the authorization was made by an official other than the caller. SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY

Re Bureau teletype to WFO, 10/15/75.
62-117166-X51

Responses to questions in referenced teletype appear below. It should be noted that each installation requires a survey and in those instances where they were done the same date or simultaneously, the authority permitted survey and installation, if feasible, at the same time. The date of installation is the date installation was completed and no entry made after that date. In number 4 below, entry extended over approximately four weeks time, but installation was not considered complete until external circuits were in and the whole installation was operable.

Reference is made to your memorandum of October 24, 1975, in which you raised certain questions as to the accuracy of information reported by the FBI in memoranda of July 25, 1975, and October 17, 1975, concerning surreptitious entries in domestic security investigations.

Our memorandum of October 17, 1975, stated that the FBI engaged in 238 surreptitious entries in domestic security investigations, a figure established through recollection of Special Agent personnel at FBI Headquarters and review of certain files of the Internal Security Division, New York Office. In a later memorandum dated October 23, 1975, entitled "Surreptitious Entries," and furnished to Mr. J. Stanley Pottinger, Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, we reported that these 238 entries were made against at least fourteen domestic subversive targets. In addition, we noted that at least three domestic subversive targets were the subject of numerous entries from October, 1952, to June, 1966.

Since preparation of the July 25 memorandum, and as a result of further review of records at FBI Headquarters (FBIHQ) and in the field, we have identified seven domestic targets in addition to those reported previously. Information regarding these entries, including details with respect to all entries conducted subsequent to January 1, 1966, has been furnished to Mr. J. Stanley Pottinger, Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, by memorandum of October 23, 1975, entitled "Surreptitious Entries."

Referenced AAG memorandum of 8/19/75, requested information regarding entries since 1/1/66. By memorandum of 10/16/75, we furnished AAG a list of microphone installations, and feasibility surveys made at same time as installation, which were made subsequent to our receipt of AG authority to conduct a microphone surveillance. We advised AAG in the 10/16/75 memorandum that inasmuch as installation and survey entries occurred subsequent to AG authority we were not, at that time, furnishing identities of personnel involved. We also advised AAG that a separate memorandum, relating to surveys and installations conducted prior to AG authority, would be prepared including, where available, identities of personnel involved. Enclosure represents surveys conducted independent of and before installation, and prior to AG authority for microphone surveillance. In addition, included are two instances of microphone installation made prior to AG authority.

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

Reference is made to the August 19, 1975, letter of J. Stanley Pottinger, Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, to Clarence M. Kelley, Director, FBI, wherein Mr. Pottinger requested certain information concerning surreptitious entries conducted by the FBI since January 1, 1966.

Mr. Pottinger requested the following information regarding surreptitious entries:

1. The date of the entry.
2. The location and nature of the premises entered.
3. The identity of the person whose premises were entered as well as pertinent information about the person.
4. Any organization or group, if any, which was the target of the investigation in which the entry occurred.
5. The specific purpose of the surreptitious entry.
6. The nature of the information and materials obtained.
7. The identity of any other organization, governmental or private, that prompted the entry, or participated in the planning or execution of the entry.
8. The identity of all FBI personnel who took part in the entries, and any person who approved or recommended such an entry.
9. The identification number of the case file(s) from which information about the entries may be obtained.

Re: Surreptitious Entries

When a Special Agent in Charge (SAC) of a field office considers electronic surveillance necessary and justified in the conduct of an investigation, a recommendation is made to FBI Headquarters (FBIHQ) that a survey be conducted to determine the feasibility of installation of the surveillance. Prior to September, 1974, feasibility surveys, some of which involved trespass, were authorized by FBIHQ. In some instances, surveys involved surreptitious entry; however, not all surveys necessitated physical entry or trespass. In many cases, survey and installation were effected at the same time to avoid additional entry and to insure greater security to the operation. Where installations were made prior to authority of the Attorney General, activation of electronic devices was not effected until the Attorney General authorized the surveillance.

Since September, 1974, the FBI has followed a policy of requesting authority of the Attorney General to conduct feasibility surveys in cases where trespass is necessary to effect the survey.

Following is a list of surreptitious entries in connection with feasibility surveys and microphone installations which were made prior to authorization of the Attorney General:

security of our files, and the setting of precedent with respect to review of these raw files, we should establish procedures or guidelines as to access for review by the Department.

It is noted that in connection with review of certain Cointelpro files, the Department was provided limited access, at FBI Headquarters, for their inquiry.

RECOMMENDATION

That the Legal Counsel Division furnish its observations with respect to Departmental access for review of the aforementioned files in the field and at FBI Headquarters.

ADDENDUM: LEGAL COUNSEL DIVISION

11-25-75

It is the Legal Counsel Division's judgment that limited access to our files should be made available to Departmental attorneys to review these files at FBI Headquarters. In those situations in which a copy of the pertinent field office file is not also filed at Headquarters, it is suggested that consideration be given to having the field furnish a copy of the pertinent record to FBI Headquarters. In this manner a centralized coordination of access to our files can be maintained. Precedent to such action has already been set in connection with Departmental attorneys reviewing our files in connection with Freedom of Information Act appeals.

Reference is made to your letter of August 19, 1975, in which you requested information concerning surreptitious entries conducted by the FBI since January 1, 1966. Further reference is made to my memorandum of October 23, 1975, outlining entries against domestic targets.

Since preparation of my October 23 memorandum, we have located in our files evidence of an October 27, 1963, entry into the offices of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC), New York City. The FPCC was a pro-Castro group whose aims included promotion of "the truth about revolutionary Cuba," and which, through two of its organizers, obtained funds from the Cuban Government to support certain aspects of the group's operations. A review of pertinent records has shown the following with respect to this entry:

[REDACTED]

Our New York Office advised on October 4, 1963, that plans had been made to conduct an October 27 entry into FPCC offices. New York's file shows a memorandum was prepared by Special Agent (SA) [REDACTED] requesting approval to conduct the entry, and that approval was given by Assistant Special Agent in Charge (ASAC) Joseph Schmit. Although there is no indication approval was sought and obtained on a higher level than ASAC Schmit, the usual procedure dictated approval would be granted by FBIHQ.

Reference 11/20/75 memorandum, F. J. Cassidy to Mr. W. R. Wannall, captioned as above, concerning request of Assistant Attorney General J. Stanley Pottinger, Civil Rights Division, to review FBIHQ and field office files in the ~~_____~~ and ~~_____~~ matters.

This is to advise of a December 2 conversation between Mr. William L. Gardner, Civil Rights Division, and ~~_____~~ Intelligence Division (INTD).

On December 2, Mr. Gardner indicated the Department's Civil Rights Division would like to begin review of the materials noted in the Pottinger memorandum of 11/11/75 (copy furnished with referenced 11/20/75 memorandum). The Departmental review will take place at a yet undesignated location within FBIHQ, possibly Room 4171, where Senate and House Select Committee staff personnel have conducted reviews in the past. It is desired that review begin on or about December 8 or 9, 1975. For the present, review will be limited to FBIHQ files and, as noted in the Pottinger memorandum, "any and all information, materials, documents, etc., physically maintained by the Bureau, whether in files or not, pertaining to the entries..."; however, if necessary, field office files may be reviewed, possibly at the field office, by representatives of the Civil Rights Division.

The Legal Counsel Division has advised that Departmental attorneys should have limited access to our files at FBIHQ, and further, where pertinent documents are not included in the FBIHQ file but are located in the field, copies might be forwarded from the appropriate field office.

(c) [REDACTED] It is recognized that both files, particularly the [REDACTED] matter, may contain information tending to disclose the identities of sensitive sources or methods, or contain material not relevant to the Departmental inquiry. Mr. Gardner was advised that in the event material is excluded or deleted prior to Departmental review, Departmental attorneys would be advised of the nature of the material withheld as well as the justification therefor. Should a problem arise from any exclusion, we will resolve the matter with the Attorney General.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. CI-1 and CI-3 Sections should review the [REDACTED] (c) [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] files, respectively, to determine what information, if any, should be excluded from the files prior to Departmental review. Inasmuch as the Department has indicated its desire to review these files at an early date, CI-1 and CI-3 should handle this review as expeditiously as possible.

*Pro-

2. On completion of the recommended review, CI-1 and CI-3 should notify [REDACTED] so that necessary arrangements can be made to have Departmental attorneys proceed with their review.

To advise of the December 2, 1975, memorandum from Assistant Attorney General J. Stanley Pottinger, Civil Rights Division, requesting certain information concerning surreptitious entries conducted by the FBI. A copy of the memorandum is attached.

By memorandum of November 14, captioned as above, we furnished to the Department at their request certain information concerning entries conducted (in cases handled by the Intelligence Division) in connection with installation of electronic surveillances. The Civil Rights Division has now requested to review six matters detailed in that November 14 memorandum. Those cases are noted on the attachment for Sections CI-1 and CI-3, INTD. Mr. Pottinger's request asks for FBIHQ and field office files, as well as any material in file or not relating specifically to the entries.

On December 2, Mr. William Gardner, Civil Rights Division, indicated the review would be confined for the present to files at FBIHQ; however, if necessary, arrangements would be made to review appropriate files in the field offices, or review documents transmitted to FBIHQ from the field.

The Department would like to begin its review of the six matters noted in the attachment at the earliest opportunity. Accordingly, arrangements should be made to obtain and review files as expeditiously as possible.

Items 20 through 23 of Pottinger's request apply in part to entries conducted in connection with electronic surveillance installations pursuant to Title III. Those questions will, therefore, be applicable to policies and procedures of the General and Special Investigative Divisions.

ACTION

1. CI-1 and CI-3, INTD, should obtain and review files within their respective Sections. It is suggested that files might be reviewed to insure the identities of sources are properly concealed, and that justifiable exclusions are made. Where exclusions are made, we should be prepared to identify the nature of material excluded. Any differences during Departmental review will be resolved with the Attorney General.

2. The General and Special Investigative Divisions should review the attached memorandum, specifically those items underscored, and where appropriate furnish responses as expeditiously as possible to [REDACTED] INTD, who will coordinate response to the Department.

To advise of the 3744 12/2/75 memorandum from Assistant Attorney General J. Stanley Pottinger, Civil Rights Division, requesting certain information concerning surreptitious entries conducted by the FBI. A copy of the memorandum is attached.

The Pottinger memorandum references exchanges of memoranda between the Department and the Bureau which concern surreptitious entries conducted in connection with installation of electronic surveillances, foreign counterintelligence, internal security, and intelligence collection investigations. The Department has now requested to review certain files wherein entries were conducted, and, in addition, requests certain memoranda, guidelines, etc., dealing with policies and procedures, written and verbal, in connection with surreptitious entries, break-ins, physical intrusions, etc. 62-117166-63

The General Investigative, Special Investigative and Intelligence Divisions are taking steps to respond to questions set forth in the 12/2/75 memorandum as they apply to their respective areas of investigation. DEC 57 66-8160-37

The Department has not indicated by deadline when they expect a response to their request; however, it is believed an early response would be anticipated.

RECOMMENDATION:

The Legal Counsel Division and the Laboratory Division are requested to review the attached 12/2/75 memorandum, Items 20 and 23, and furnish, where available, any material responsive to the Departmental request to Supervisor H. W. Porter III, IS-3, Intelligence Division, who will coordinate response to the Department.

Reference is made to your memorandum of August 1975, requesting certain information concerning surreptitious entries conducted by the FBI since January 1, 1966, and to our memorandum of October 23, 1975, listing entries conducted against domestic targets. per 3-179

In connection with our search of files and records in response to your inquiry into the Martin Luther King, Jr., matter, we have recently discovered a domestic target of surreptitious entry in addition to those reported in our memorandum of October 23. We are bringing this matter to your attention for whatever action is required by the Department.

Files of our New York Office show that during the period October 24, 1954, to January 21, 1964, there were 29 entries into the business office of [REDACTED]. Our records also show a March 27, 1965, entry into another office of [REDACTED].

At this time, we are taking no action to obtain further information concerning these entries since your request of August 19 asked for details on entries conducted since January 1, 1966. Complete details of these entries will, of course, be available to you in connection with your current inquiries into the Martin Luther King, Jr., matter.

Reference is made to the memorandum of F. J. Cassidy to W. R. Wannall dated December 8, 1975, and my memorandum to you dated August 21, 1975, both captioned as above.

Referenced memorandum of August 21, 1975, contained a review of all surreptitious entries supervised by the Special Investigative Division since 1966. Ninety-one such entries were detailed, all of which were conducted under the provisions of Title III of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 for the purpose of installing electronic devices for the interception of oral communications.

Question 20 contained in the request from J. Stanley Pottinger dated December 2, 1975, and attached to Mr. Cassidy's referenced memorandum, requested all written memoranda, guidelines, procedures, etc., authorizing surreptitious entries and break-ins which have been in effect since 1970. The Special Investigative Division has issued no such instructions inasmuch as all entries since 1970 have been conducted under the provisions of Title III of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968. As stated in my memorandum of August 21, 1975, all entries were made for the purpose of installing electronic devices and no entries were made prior to the issuance of a court order. The Title III process is a joint effort between the local United States Attorneys, or the Strike Force Attorneys, and FBI personnel and all procedures relative to installing these devices are prescribed by law and are monitored by the local United States Attorney or Strike Force Attorney.

Memorandum to Cleveland
Re: Surreptitious Entries

In regard to question 21 of referenced memorandum dated December 8, 1975, all requests to the Attorney General for the installation of electronic devices since 1970 have been in the form of Title III applications. These applications are reviewed for sufficiency of probable cause and are either authorized by the Attorney General or returned for further development of probable cause. As a result, it is difficult to maintain an accurate record of instances since 1970 when the Attorney General permission for the installation of listening devices was denied. On numerous occasions, Title III applications sent to the Department of Justice have remained there for many weeks with no action being taken, thereby negating the recency of the probable cause and requiring the submission of a new affidavit updating the previous information or targeting new individuals and locations. It is pointed out, however, that no entries into premises were conducted prior to the decision of the Attorney General and the obtaining of the appropriate court order.

In regard to question 22, no pre court order surveys have been conducted in relation to any Title III microphone installations supervised by the Special Investigative Division. In those instances where microphones have been installed, the initial entry was not conducted until the issuance of the court order and, if no microphone installation was possible, it was not installed.

In regard to question 23, no written or oral instructions have been furnished to the field in regard to surreptitious entries in connection with the installation of Title III microphones. As has been pointed out in the answer to question 20, procedures are prescribed by law and monitored by the local United States Attorney or Strike Force Attorney.

F. J. Cassidy to Mr. Wannall memorandum dated 12/8/75, attached, requests General Investigative Division (GID) review Departmental letter from J. Stanley Pottinger dated 12/2/75 in connection with electronic surveillance installations, pursuant to Title III. The memorandum requests we furnish appropriate responses to the Intelligence Division in connection with items 20 - 23 of Pottinger's letter. In attached R. J. McCarthy to Mr. Cleveland memorandum dated 8/21/75, the Special Investigative Division (SID) advised that from January, 1966, up to that time, there had been six surreptitious entries conducted in connection with investigations handled by GID. All of these entries were under authority of court order in accordance with Title III of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968, and were undertaken for the purpose of installing electronic devices for the interception of oral communications. In each instance, at the conclusion of the court-authorized period of interception, a second entry was made for the purpose of retrieving the electronic device. Since the 8/21/75 memorandum, one additional surreptitious entry was conducted in accordance with Title III in Kansas City, Missouri, based on court order dated 10/23/75, with installation 10/23/75 and date of discontinuance 11/12/75. Renewal for this interception was granted by court order 11/26/75, interception commenced 11/26/75 and was discontinued 12/10/75. The location in both instances was the same and the nature of the premise was business.

Question 20 of Mr. Pottinger's memorandum requests all written memoranda, guidelines, procedures, instructions or documents which outline the policies and procedures respecting authorization by Bureau officials for Agents to conduct surreptitious entries, break-ins, or physical intrusions into premises since 1970. GID has issued no such instructions, inasmuch as each entry since 1970 has been conducted under the provisions of Title III of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968. All entries in the above instances were in accordance with this Federal Statute. GID notes Title III is a cooperative effort between local U. S. Attorneys' Offices or Strike Force Attorneys, and is carried out in strict compliance with provisions established under this Federal Statute.

Question 21 requests list of surreptitious entries conducted by Bureau personnel for installation of microphone or listening devices since 1970 when Attorney General permission for the installation was denied. In each instance of a request from the Field for installation of electronic devices in accordance with Title III installation, each application is thoroughly reviewed for sufficiency and forwarded to the Department of Justice requesting approval. In some instances, a time lag occurs and the current nature of probable cause on which affidavit is based needs updating. Therefore, applications for Title III, dealing with installation of electronic devices, are either approved by the Department or returned to develop more probable cause. GID does not maintain a record of instances where permission to install listening devices is denied by the Attorney General. However, no authorization is given in any instance by GID to enter premises prior to a specific, positive decision by the Attorney General and the obtaining of an appropriate court order.

Question 22 asked us to furnish a list of all surveys (entries made to survey the feasibility of installation of a microphone or other surveillance) made since 1970 involving entry which did not result in the Bureau's requesting permission of the Attorney General. No entries are known to have been made prior to court order to conduct surveys in connection with any Title III installation supervised by GID. In each instance where installation of microphone was carried out, entry was not conducted until issuance of specific court order.

Question 23 requests copies of all written memoranda, documents, instructions, guidelines or procedures governing the procedures and policies to be followed when Bureau officials authorize Agents to conduct entries. GID has issued no written or oral instructions to the Field in regard to surreptitious entries in connection with Title III microphones. To recommend that FBIHQ Supervisor [redacted] be authorized to travel to the New York Office in connection with a Departmental review of certain files within that Division.

Memorandum F. J. Cassidy to Mr. W. R. Wannall, December 8, 1975, entitled "Surreptitious Entries," advised of the Civil Rights Division's pending review of certain files concerning matters wherein surreptitious entries were conducted by the FBI. Copy of this memorandum attached for information.

Also attached is a self-explanatory copy of a December 2, 1975, letter from J. Stanley Pottinger, Civil Rights Division, requesting information and materials relating to case files wherein surreptitious entries were conducted. In connection with the Civil Rights Division's current review of files at FBIHQ, Mr. William L. Gardner, Departmental Attorney, advised on January 12, 1976, that he would like to review New York file 65-25653 (Bureau 65-74117) at the New York Office, beginning on January 21, 1976.

Mr. Gardner recently reviewed Bureau file 65-74117 at FBIHQ, under the guidance and with the counsel of Supervisor [redacted]. In view of Supervisor [redacted] familiarity with this file, and his previous coordination with Mr. Gardner, it is suggested that [redacted] travel to the New York Office to prepare the file there for Departmental review. Inasmuch as the field office file will be much more extensive than the file at FBIHQ, it is believed prior review by Supervisor [redacted] will serve to avoid possible disclosure or compromise of the identities of especially sensitive sources mentioned in the file.

Re: Surreptitious Entries

~~SECRET~~

Mr. Gardner has advised that at the present time no interviews of personnel involved in any entries are expected to be conducted.

It is being suggested that Supervisor [REDACTED] travel to the New York Office on January 20, 1976, allowing sufficient time to review this file. It is further suggested that [REDACTED] remain with Mr. Gardner during the review to insure availability for consultation.

RECOMMENDATION:

1. That Supervisor [REDACTED] CI-1 Section, be authorized to travel to the New York Office on January 20, 1976, to prepare New York file for Departmental review on the following day, and further, that [REDACTED] remain with the Department's representative during the review.

2. If approved, the attached airtel, advising New York of the pending review, be sent.

On January 14, 1976 [REDACTED] advised Mr. Gardner that FBIHQ contemplated sending Supervisor [REDACTED] to the New York Office, one day in advance of Mr. Gardner's visit, so that [REDACTED] might review the New York file to insure against possible disclosure of the identities of sensitive sources mentioned therein (such as [REDACTED]). Mr. Gardner expressed no objection to our contemplated course of action.

Mr. Gardner has been advised that he will be made aware, during his review, of the nature and reason for any deletions or excisions. This is the practice followed during Gardner's review of files at FBIHQ over the past several weeks.

With respect to general criminal and organized crime investigations, a search of our records has shown that until 1965 a number of surreptitious entries were made in connection with microphone installations, and authority for these installations was granted by FBI Headquarters. There are no written guidelines or policy memoranda governing approval for these entries.

In March, 1965, the Director advised the Attorney General that with respect to installation of microphones in these cases the Director would "forward to you from time to time request for microphones where deemed imperative for your consideration and approval or disapproval."

From August, 1965, until June, 1969, there were no surreptitious entries in connection with microphone installations in criminal and organized crime investigations. Beginning in June, 1969, and continuing to the present, entries have been made in connection with microphone installations pursuant to Title III of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968.

All entries made under Title III have been for the purpose of installing electronic devices to intercept oral communications. No entries have been made prior to the issuance of a court order. The Title III process is a joint effort between the local United States Attorneys, or Strike Force Attorneys, and FBI personnel. All procedures relative to installation are prescribed by law and are monitored by the local United States or Strike Force Attorney.

Requests for authority to conduct entries were made by field offices and approved or disapproved at FBI Headquarters on an individual case basis. At the field office level, the authority making the request was the Special Agent in Charge (SAC) or some other individual designated by the SAC to handle such matters. Requests and approvals between the field and Headquarters were handled telephonically; however, as a control device, a memorandum was prepared at both levels. In the field office, the SAC maintained this memorandum in his office safe until the next annual office inspection. Following review of these memoranda by the Inspector - to insure the field office was acting with Bureau authority in conducting entries - the memoranda were destroyed.

Requests to conduct entries were received at FBI Headquarters on the Deputy Assistant Director (Inspector) level of the Intelligence Division. The field office making a request was required to completely justify the need for an entry, and assure the action could be conducted with full security. Usually, on receipt of a request to conduct an entry, the Deputy Assistant Director would advise the field office that unless instructions were received to the contrary, the requested entry could be effected.

Although we have located no policy memoranda dealing with actions to be taken at FBI Headquarters with respect to approvals to conduct entries, it is the present understanding that on receipt of a request from the field, a memorandum was prepared outlining the facts of the request for approval of the Director, or Associate Director, FBI.

This memorandum was handled under a "Do Not File" procedure, was informative in nature, and was not intended by its author to be retained permanently. Following a period of time, the memorandum was destroyed.

In certain instances, technical guidance and equipment were needed by field offices to obtain information held by the target of a surreptitious entry. In these matters, the support of the FBI's Laboratory Division was solicited by the investigative Divisions of FBI Headquarters. Officials currently assigned within the Laboratory Division have advised there are no written instructions in that Division in support of any type of investigative activity relating to surreptitious entry. Standing oral instructions with regard to approval of surreptitious entry have been that personnel of the Laboratory will provide such support as is requested (manpower, technical guidance, and/or equipment) in those operations approved by the Headquarters investigative Division. These oral instructions apply equally to operations with or without a warrant, including feasibility surveys and any other circumstance wherein surreptitious entry is concerned.

Item 21 asks for a list of instances since 1970 when Attorney General permission for the installation of listening devices was denied, and whether entries were made in those instances.

Since 1970, there were no instances in the above matters where surreptitious entry or break-in was effected for surveys or installation prior or subsequent to the Attorney General's denial of permission for installation of the electronic surveillance.

With respect to general criminal and organized crime matters, all requests since 1970 to the Attorney General for the installation of electronic devices have been in the form of Title III applications. These applications are reviewed for sufficiency of probable cause and are either authorized or returned for further development of probable cause. We do not have an accurate record of instances since 1970 when the Attorney General denied permission for installation of listening devices in criminal investigations. On numerous occasions, Title III applications sent to the Department have remained for many weeks with no action being taken, thereby negating the recency of the probable cause and requiring the submission of a new affidavit updating the previous information, or targeting new individuals and locations. No entries into premises are made, however, prior to the decision of the Attorney General and the obtaining of an appropriate court order.

Item 22 asks for a list of all surveys made since 1970 which did not result in the Bureau's requesting permission of the Attorney General to install or activate a microphone or other electronic listening device.

There is no central index or document listing feasibility surveys conducted involving physical entry or trespass which did not result in the Bureau's requesting permission of the Attorney General to install or activate a warrantless microphone or other warrantless electronic device. This statistic can be developed only by review of individual cases in those matters most likely to have been targets of electronic surveillance. This would entail review of literally hundreds of case files at FBI Headquarters. In many cases, this Headquarter's file review would not indicate whether entry or trespass was effected in the conduct of a survey. It would be necessary in a number of cases, therefore, to review field office files (and in some cases to interview personnel) to learn which cases fit into the above category.

With respect to Title III surveillances, no pre-court order surveys have been conducted in relation to microphone installations. Where microphones have been installed, the initial entries were not conducted until issuance of a court order. If the microphone installation was subsequently determined to be not feasible, the installation was not made.

TECHNICAL COVERAGE

Allegations made by defense attorneys relative to technical coverage in this Bureau in current prosecutions of Communist functionaries under the Smith Act of 1940 make it advisable, I believe, to review carefully our policies in that field with a view to insuring that sound practices are adhered to.

Use of wire tapping by this Bureau, as you know, has been carefully restricted to major crimes such as kidnapping, where the life and safety of a victim may be at stake, and to investigations essential to the national security involving such crimes as espionage and sabotage. Prior to utilizing this medium, specific approval has been secured in each instance from the Attorney General. It has been employed solely as an investigative technique and not for the purpose of procuring evidence to be used in prosecutions. Extensive precautions have been exercised to prevent public divulgence of material so obtained.

Since the decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in the case of the United States v. Coplon, it is rapidly becoming the practice of defense attorneys in security-type cases to argue that the prosecution is predicated in part upon evidence obtained as a result of wire tapping. Such claims are accompanied by demands that all communications referring to relevant wire taps be made available for inspection. Manifestly, this Bureau cannot comply with these requests without disclosing a great mass of data, frequently relating to highly confidential matters, with the likelihood of compromising cases of vital importance to the protection of the United States.

Without legislation nullifying the effect of Section 605 of the Communications Act of 1934, as interpreted by the courts, continued use of wire tapping in any form, however limited, evinces these issues. This is true notwithstanding the fact that they are predicated upon Presidential authority and have the approval of responsible Government officials. Allegations will be made that this Bureau is engaging in illegal practices.

The Attorney General

Officials authorizing wire tapping will be condemned for condoning these practices. FBI representatives may incur citations for contempt of court by declining to produce wire tap information and prosecutions may be dismissed if such information is not produced.

The FBI today has the gravest responsibility for protection of the national security of our country. To execute these responsibilities properly requires the employment of the entire resources of the FBI. Experience has demonstrated clearly that the use of wire tapping is a valuable and highly productive technique in intelligence coverage of matters relating to espionage, sabotage and related security fields. Wire tapping produces information which normally cannot be obtained through other channels.

In view of the issues continually arising from the use of wire tapping, even on the highly restrictive basis employed by this Bureau, I desire to be advised whether you consider that we should continue to employ this technique as at present, or discontinue it entirely.

As you are aware, this Bureau has also employed the use of ~~microphone~~ microphone installations on a highly restrictive basis, chiefly to obtain intelligence information. The information obtained from microphones, as in the case of wire taps, is not admissible in evidence. In certain instances it has been possible to install microphones without trespass, as reflected by opinions rendered in the past by the Department on this subject matter. In these instances the information obtained, of course, is treated as evidence and therefore is not regarded as purely intelligence information.

As you know, in a number of instances it has not been possible to install microphones without trespass. In such instances the information received therefrom is of an intelligence nature only. Here again, as in the use of wire taps, experience has shown us that intelligence information highly pertinent to the defense and welfare of this nation is derived through the use of microphones.

The Attorney General

The issue, therefore, is the same as to the advisability of their continued use. I would like to have a definite opinion from you as to whether, in view of the highly productive intelligence information gathered from these sources, we should continue to utilize this technique on the present highly restricted basis, or whether we should cease the use of microphone coverage entirely in view of the issues currently being raised.

RE: TECHNICAL AND MICROPHONE
SURVEILLANCES

Effective immediately authorization will not be granted to install any microphone surveillance involving a trespass, and if any such type of installation is now being utilized, it should be discontinued at once and the Bureau advised.

In addition, when submitting a summary report in any type of case which contains information received from a telephone, microphone or other technical surveillance utilized by the Bureau or any other Federal Agency (when known), it must be accompanied by a cover letter pointing out to the Bureau that such information is contained in the report.

I want it thoroughly understood that the handling of these surveillances must be personally supervised by you and Bureau requirements closely followed at all times.

Very truly yours,

John Edgar Hoover

| Miss Gandy   | _____ |

On June 6, 1952, I saw the Attorney General and during my discussion with him, I briefed him as to the procedure which the Bureau follows with reference to the installation of technical surveillances, pointing out to him that there were no surveillances of this type established without obtaining approval from him for the same and that we endeavored to confine the requests for such authority to cases involving espionage, sabotage, kidnapping and a few major criminal cases, such as in the Civil Rights Cases in Florida, and the Brink's robbery case in Boston. The Attorney General stated that he approved of the procedure followed.

I then called his attention to the fact that the Department had, a few months ago, ruled that it could not approve the installation of any microphones where trespass was involved. I told the Attorney General that such installations had been utilized on a very limited basis by the FBI and only in cases which directly affected the internal security of the United States, wherein information could be obtained which would enable the FBI to take the necessary precautionary measures for internal security. I told the Attorney General that following this ruling by the Department, we discontinued some of the microphone installations which had been established, where it had been necessary to commit technical trespass. The Attorney General stated that he thought that it was entirely proper for installations of microphones to be made in any case where elements were at work against the security of the United States and he told me that in such instances where I felt that there was need to install microphones, even though trespass might be committed, that he would leave it to my judgment as to the steps to take. I told the Attorney General that this authority would only be used in extreme cases and only in cases involving the internal security of the United States.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

With reference to the proper controls over wiretapping and the installation of microphones, you will recall that I advised you that back under the administration of Attorney General Clark I recommended that all Government agencies refrain from wiretapping unless there was specific approval in each instance by the Attorney General who is the chief law officer of the Government. I repeated the same recommendation to each successive Attorney General following the administration of Attorney General Clark.

I have always felt that there was a very lax control in the handling of wiretapping by Government agencies. I am the only head of a Government investigative agency who does not have the authority to authorize a wiretap, but under the system which I personally set up. Therefore, requests for wiretaps are sent by me to the Attorney General for his approval or disapproval. I know that no such system is followed in other branches of the Government and, in fact, in many instances subordinates quite far down the line of authority tap telephones without the specific approval of the head of the agency and certainly without specific approval of the cabinet officer in charge of the department.

I still feel quite strongly that no Government agency should tap a telephone unless it is specifically approved in each instance by the Attorney General. This would certainly circumscribe promiscuous wiretapping on the part of Government agencies and would centralize in one place, the Attorney General's office, a record of any phone taps which have been placed by a Government agency.

As you are aware, in the case of the FBI we do not request phone taps except in cases involving kidnaping and espionage. This has been predicated upon my theory that when the life of an individual or the life of the Nation is in peril a phone tap is justified for intelligence purposes as any information obtained over a phone tap cannot be used in the trial of a criminal case.

Memorandum for the Attorney General

In line with your suggestion this morning, I have already set up the procedure similar to requesting of authority for phone taps to be utilized in requesting authority for the placement of microphones. In other words, I shall forward to you from time to time request for authority to install microphones where deemed imperative for your consideration and approval or disapproval. Furthermore, I have instructed that, where you have approved either a phone tap or the installation of a microphone, you be advised when such is discontinued if in less than six months and, if not discontinued in less than six months, that a new request be submitted by me to you for extension of the telephone tap or microphone installation.

Respectfully,

John Edgar Hoover
Director

The following is being set out to advise you of Bureau policy both current and past with respect to the installation of microphone surveillances.

Prior to 3/30/65 microphones were installed and activated on FBIHQ authority. Between 3/30/65 and 9/74, it was Bureau policy to approve a survey for the feasibility of installation of a microphone surveillance at FBIHQ level. This approval included authority for the necessary trespass, provided security of the operation could be assured. In certain instances FBIHQ also authorized the installation, but not the activation, of listening devices during the initial survey. This was done in order to limit the trespass as well as to minimize the risk involved in placing the microphone. Under this procedure, a request from the field was evaluated at various supervisory levels at FBIHQ and authority was given provided security was assured. In the event the field was authorized to place a microphone during the initial survey, no authority was given for the activation of the device. The field was instructed to await subsequent approval by the Attorney General.

RE: HSC REQUEST DATED OCTOBER 15, 1975, CONCERNING WARRANTLESS ELECTRONIC SURVEILLANCES AND SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

The HSC, in a letter dated October 15, 1975, to Michael E. Shaheen, Jr., Special Counsel for Intelligence Coordination, U. S. Department of Justice, Washington, D. C., requested, among other things, the following:

1. A list of all warrantless wiretaps against domestic targets conducted between 1970 and 1975.
2. A list of all other warrantless electronic surveillances conducted against domestic targets between 1970 and 1975.
3. A list of all break-ins conducted by the FBI between 1970 and 1975.
4. A list of all other trespasses conducted by the FBI between 1970 and 1975.

Pursuant to instructions received from Mr. Steven Blackhurst, Assistant Special Counsel for Intelligence Coordination, Department of Justice, these questions are being answered in the form of lists which identify targets in generic terms. The lists, which are believed responsive to these queries, are attached hereto.

1. Telephone Surveillances on Domestic Targets January 1, 1970, through June 30, 1975.

To advise of a 1/19/76 conversation of [redacted] Intelligence Division (INTD), and Mr. William L. Gardner, Departmental Attorney, Civil Rights Division, concerning Mr. Gardner's pending review of files in the New York Office (NYO).

Mr. Gardner was advised that his contemplated review of files at NYO was the subject of some concern on the part of Special Agents (SAs) connected with the investigation. Although the Department had indicated their purpose was to determine if any of the entries constitute a violation of Title 18, U.S.C., Sections 241 and 242, concern remained as to the purpose of reviewing the field office files.

Mr. Gardner advised that the Attorney General, at the outset of Departmental inquiries into electronic surveillance, surreptitious entries, etc., had expressed his wish to have the Civil Rights Division conduct necessary inquiries. Mr. J. Stanley Pottinger, Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Civil Rights Division, instructed Mr. Gardner to examine in as much depth as possible the files and records relating to the entries. At the conclusion of the file review, if further investigation is warranted, such a determination will be made and presented to Mr. Pottinger.

At the present time, said Mr. Gardner, his inquiry is "purely a file review," and he has no intention of conducting interviews or discussing the specific case with case Agent or others involved in the matter.

Mr. Gardner said he felt review of the field office files is necessary to give him a more complete picture of entry activity. He feels that only by this review will he be able to provide a complete assessment as requested by the Attorney General.

Memorandum to Mr. W. R. Wannall
Re: Surreptitious Entries

Mr. Gardner advised he had absolutely no objection to advising those Agents who are connected with the file in question that the file is being reviewed by him and telling them the purpose of the review. In fact, Mr. Gardner said he would prefer that the Agents be made aware in order to avoid undue apprehension on their part.

RECOMMENDATION:

None. For information.

Mr. Gardner recently reviewed the above Pittsburgh file at FBIHQ with the guidance of Supervisor [REDACTED]. In view of [REDACTED] familiarity with the file, and his previous coordination with Mr. Gardner, it is being suggested that he travel to the Pittsburgh Office on January 28, 1976, one day in advance of Gardner's visit there, to conduct a review of the field file [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] review will serve to insure against possible disclosure of the identities of sensitive sources mentioned in the file [REDACTED] and will additionally assist in resolving any questions which might arise during the review. Further [REDACTED] presence should aid in relieving whatever anxieties or concerns which might surface on the part of field office personnel.

Mr. Gardner has expressed no objection to our contemplated prior review of the Pittsburgh file by Supervisor [REDACTED]. Mr. Gardner has been advised that he will be made aware during his review of the nature and reason for any deletions or excisions.

Finally, since Mr. Gardner has expressed his intention not to conduct personnel interviews at this time, or to discuss the case with either case Agent or others involved in the investigation, it is believed Supervisor [REDACTED] presence at Pittsburgh would assist in the Department's review.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That Supervisor [REDACTED] CI-1 Section, INTD, be authorized to travel to the Pittsburgh Office on January 28, 1976, in connection with review of Pittsburgh file 105-7733 by the Civil Rights Division, and further, that [REDACTED] remain with the Department's representative during the interview.

2. If approved, the attached airtel, advising Pittsburgh of the review, be sent.

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

JUNE

Reference is made to your memorandum dated January 20, 1976, your reference JSP:WLG:vap, captioned as above.

The following concerns Item 1 of your memorandum; Items 2 - 14 will be answered by separate communication.

You requested that I inquire of all present Bureau personnel at the level of Special Agent in Charge (SAC) or higher in the field and Section Chief or higher at FBI Headquarters concerning "their complete and thorough knowledge of any and all break-ins or surreptitious entries performed by Bureau Agents or by others with prior or subsequent knowledge by your Agents since January 1, 1966." You also requested that these Bureau officials respond to this inquiry with personal communications rather than by letterhead memoranda.

Before initiating this inquiry, I would appreciate having your advice on exactly what information should be provided to each Bureau official contacted concerning the purpose of the Department's investigation and the possible consequences arising from the responses of these officials to this inquiry.

In your memorandum dated January 20, 1976, you stated that the inquiry was made in order to fully respond to the Attorney General regarding the scope of the Bureau's use of break-ins or surreptitious entries. Your memorandum dated August 19, 1975, indicates that the Department was conducting inquiry to determine whether any of the surreptitious entries conducted under the authority of the FBI constitute violations of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 241 and 242. If the Department is currently contemplating possible criminal prosecution of FBI personnel involved in surreptitious entries, I believe, in the interest of fairness, we should advise our officials that this is the purpose of the Department's current inquiry.

It also appears that disclosure of the identities of FBI personnel involved in surreptitious entries could result in civil litigations in which our personnel would be defendants. If you agree that such civil litigation is a significant possibility, then I believe that we should so advise the FBI officials to whom we direct this inquiry. In that connection, I would appreciate a statement from you regarding the position of the Department of Justice on providing representation for FBI personnel in civil litigations arising out of surreptitious entries made in the scope of FBI employment in order that this information may also be furnished to personnel concerned.

With due regard for the effect of this inquiry on morale in the FBI, I would, of course, like to advise our personnel as fully and as appropriately as possible, and your advice is solicited in furtherance of that objective.

To advise the Legal Counsel Division (LCD) of the attached request of the Civil Rights Division for information relating to captioned activities, and to solicit LCD observations with respect to the Department's request in paragraph 3, page 1, of that request. Cassidy

The Department's request asks for "personal communications" from Bureau personnel of SAC level or higher in the field, and Section Chief level or higher at Headquarters, concerning "their complete and full knowledge of any and all break-ins or surreptitious entries performed by Bureau agents or by others with prior or subsequent knowledge by...agents, since January 1, 1966."

62-117166-876

Since the outset of the Civil Rights Division's inquiry into matters involving surreptitious entry, we have furnished information developed at FBIHQ (and in the New York Office as a result of the General Accounting Office audit there) about those instances of entry activity of which Intelligence Division (INTD) supervisory personnel are aware. Our knowledge of entries conducted by the FBI stems from a survey conducted of INTD personnel in approximately June, 1975. Since then, we have discovered additional entries as a result of file reviews at FBIHQ in connection with unrelated matters. We have advised the Civil Rights Division of each instance of newly-discovered entry activity.

The attached request of the Department recognizes our efforts in furnishing whatever new information has come to our attention; however, we are now being requested to conduct a Headquarters- and field-wide survey of higher level, Bureau supervisory personnel. It is being recommended that

To advise of the 1/20/76 request (copy attached) of the Civil Rights Division for information and access for review of certain files concerning surreptitious entries; to identify case files requested for review; and to offer observations regarding the requests.

The Civil Rights Division has conducted a number of file reviews at FBI Headquarters (FBIHQ) concerning matters wherein surreptitious entries were conducted. The Department has advised the purpose of the review is to determine if any of the entries constitute a violation of Title 18, U.S. Code, Sections 241 and 242. In addition to FBIHQ files, Mr. William L. Gardner, Departmental Attorney, has recently begun to review files in the New York Office (NYO). Mr. Gardner is expected to conduct reviews in several other field offices, including Pittsburgh, San Antonio, San Francisco, and Washington Field.

The 1/20/76 request seeks to review a number of files, both at FBIHQ and in the field. The pertinent files, corresponding to the item number noted on the Departmental request, are identified as follows:

PURPOSE: To obtain approval for memorandum to the Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, requesting his advice on information to be furnished to those Bureau officials who will be asked to state their knowledge of any surreptitious entries conducted since 1-1-66.

BACKGROUND: By memorandum dated 1-21-76 from F. J. Cassidy to Mr. W. R. Wannall, the Intelligence Division (INTD) asked that the Legal Counsel Division furnish its observations regarding a request from the Department that the Bureau contact its personnel at the level of SAC or higher in the field or Section Chief or higher at FBIHQ for their complete and full knowledge of any surreptitious entries since 1-1-66. That memorandum noted that we have previously furnished information to the Civil Rights Division of the Department regarding surreptitious entries. Information previously furnished derived from a survey conducted of INTD personnel in June, 1975, and from subsequent file reviews in connection with unrelated matters. Legal Counsel Division was requested to comment with respect to what direction we should take in soliciting information from our personnel and what counsel, if any, should be afforded them in connection with their responses.

OBSERVATIONS: In view of the nature of the proposed inquiry, it is believed that fairness requires that we fully inform personnel concerned of the purpose of the inquiry and of the possible consequences of their response. Concerning the purpose of the inquiry, the Department's memorandum dated 1-20-76 states that the information was needed "in order fully to respond to the Attorney General regarding the scope of the Bureau's use of break-ins or surreptitious entries."

Memorandum to Mr. J. B. Adams
Re: Surreptitious Entries

By memorandum dated 8-19-75, however, the Department made it clear that it was attempting to determine whether the surreptitious entries involved violations of Title 18, U. S. Code, Sections 241 and 242. Section 241 concerns conspiracy against the rights of citizens and carries criminal penalties of a fine of not more than $10,000 or imprisonment of not more than 10 years, or both. If death results, the penalty is imprisonment for any term of years or for life. Section 242 concerns deprivation of rights under color of law and carries criminal penalties of a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment of not more than 1 year, or both. If death results, imprisonment for any term of years or life.

The attached memorandum to the Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, requests clarification of the purpose of the inquiry and requests that if the Department is currently contemplating possible criminal prosecution of FBI personnel involved in surreptitious entries, then appropriate personnel should be so advised. Attached memorandum also states our belief that personnel to whom we address this inquiry should be advised of the possibility of civil litigation growing out of disclosure of participation in surreptitious entries. In that regard, the Assistant Attorney General is requested to provide a statement regarding the Department's position on providing representation for FBI personnel in civil litigations arising out of surreptitious entries in order that appropriate personnel may be informed.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the attached memorandum to Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, be approved and sent.

To advise of a 2/10/76 conversation between [REDACTED] Intelligence Division (INTD), and Departmental Attorney William L. Gardner, Civil Rights Division, concerning surreptitious entries. CAG

Since June, 1975, the Civil Rights Division has been conducting inquiries into investigative matters of the FBI wherein surreptitious entries were conducted. On the basis of surveys at FBIHQ, we have located and furnished to the Department information relating to entries conducted by the FBI to collect information, or in connection with installation of electronic surveillance. Subsequent to our submission of memoranda to the Civil Rights Division reporting these instances of surreptitious entry, we have discovered several instances of entry not previously reported to the Department. Our discoveries have been made in connection with file reviews in Freedom of Information and Privacy Act matters, as well as during normal record reviews. 4/2/76

On 12/1/75, we furnished the Department a memorandum outlining details of an entry into the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC) headquarters in New York City. The entry took place on 10/27/63, prior to the Department's cutoff date of 1/1/66; however, it was felt we should advise them of our discovery.

On 2/10/76, Mr. Gardner reiterated the Department's interest in our reporting of entries occurring subsequent to 1/1/66. He noted the likelihood of our discovering during file reviews additional instances of surreptitious entry prior to 1/1/66; however, he advised it was not necessary to bring these instances to the attention of the Department. 62-117166-X80

JUNE

As you are aware, the Civil Rights Division, Department of Justice, has been conducting inquiries into investigative matters of the FBI where surreptitious entries were effected to collect information, or install electronic surveillances.

In connection with a matter unrelated to the Departmental inquiry above, the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC) file (FBIHQ 97-4196; New York 97-1792) was reviewed at Headquarters, and it was determined that a surreptitious entry was conducted on 10/27/63.

The Headquarters' file shows that samples of FPCC stationery, an envelope, a membership card, and a foreign mailing list were obtained as a result of the entry (New York letter and letterhead memorandum, 11/27/63, "FPCC, RA-CUBA, IS-CUBA, IS-C, IS-SWP").

New York airtel 10/28/63, captioned as the 11/27/63 letter, disclosed that in addition to the stationery and mailing list, the entry resulted in the obtaining of approximately 100 photographs of data pertaining to the current finances and general activities of the FPCC.

In a memorandum of 1/20/76, the Civil Rights Division has asked for "a written inventory of the precise information obtained as a result of this entry (10/27/63), and (a statement as to whether or not) any or all of such information was forwarded to the Warren Commission."

6/10
New York should review their file pertaining to the FPCC entry of 10/27/63 and furnish to the Bureau, in a form suitable for dissemination, information requested by the Department as it relates to the [REDACTED] and whether any or all of the information obtained was forwarded to the Warren Commission. FBIHQ will furnish to the Department New York's letterhead memorandum of 11/27/63 which describes the mailing list and stationery obtained from the entry.

NOTE:

6/10
Attached to yellow is copy of the Department's 1/20/76 request pertaining to the FPCC (Item 3). By memorandum of 12/1/75 we furnished to the Department details of the 10/27/63 entry, however, at that time we had no detailed inventory of information obtained. We are instructing New York to obtain this information in response to the Department's request. Supervisor [REDACTED] New York Office, was advised recently of this request and he is taking steps to collect the information sought.

Intelligence Division

INFORMATIVE NOTE

Date 2/24/76

In a memorandum of 1/20/76 (copy attached), AAG, Civil Rights Division asked that FBIHQ inquire of Bureau officials on the level of SAC or higher in field, and Section Chief and higher at FBIHQ, as to their full and complete knowledge of surreptitious entries conducted by the FBI since 1/1/66.

In a memorandum of 2/5/76, prepared by Legal Counsel Division, we asked the AAG, Civil Rights Division, what information should be provided each Bureau official contacted concerning the purpose of the inquiry, and the possible consequences to those officials, including the possibility of civil litigation, and advice of rights.

Attached is response of AAG, Civil Rights Division, to our 2/5/76 memorandum.

Intelligence Division and Legal Counsel Division will coordinate preparation of necessary survey of field and FBIHQ officials.

ReBuairtel, 2/18/76, wherein the Bureau at the behest of the Civil Rights Division, Department of Justice, requested certain information concerning a surreptitious entry made in connection with the investigation of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC) on 10/27/63.

Comprehensive review of NY file 97-1792 (FPCC main case file) failed to reveal any information concerning a request from the Warren Commission for information concerning this entry, nor was there any indication that information secured at that time was furnished to the Warren Commission. The Bureau is cognizant of the fact that requests of this kind normally would have been channeled through FBIHQ and it would seem if any requests had been received, these records would be most likely to be found in the FBIHQ files.

Concerning the surreptitious entry of 10/27/63, a review of this file reflects that 14 photos of FPCC telephone directory were taken, 16 photos of FPCC foreign mailing list were taken, and 14 photos bearing on FPCC finances were taken. In addition, numerous photos of correspondence to and from persons seeking literature, information, and the like re FPCC were secured. One of these inquiries concerned correspondence re LEE HARVEY OSWALD

PURPOSE:

To advise of the January 20, 1976, request of the Civil Rights Division for information concerning surreptitious entries conducted by the FBI; to summarize exchanges of memoranda between Legal Counsel Division and the Civil Rights Division; to obtain approval to send attached airtel to all field offices.

SYNOPSIS:

The Civil Rights Division has requested that Headquarters inquire of Bureau personnel at certain levels in the field and at Headquarters for their knowledge of entries by the FBI or others with FBI knowledge since January 1, 1966. In an exchange of memoranda, our Legal Counsel Division and the Civil Rights Division examined questions of the rights of Bureau personnel vis-a-vis the Departmental inquiry, the issue of criminal and civil litigation which might arise out of the inquiry, and Department's position with respect to representation of Bureau personnel in the event of litigation. Memorandum and attached airtel are to survey FBIHQ and field offices pursuant to Departmental request.

Memorandum to Mr. J. B. Adams
Re: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES
66-8160

DETAILS:

In a memorandum of January 20, 1976, the Department's Civil Rights Division, which has at the instruction of the Attorney General been conducting an inquiry into investigative matters of the FBI which involved surreptitious entry, requested that Headquarters inquire of SAC level and higher in the field, and Section Chief and higher at Headquarters, for their knowledge of surreptitious entries made by the FBI, or others with FBI knowledge, since January 1, 1966. (Copy of request attached).

In a memorandum of February 5, our Legal Counsel Division solicited the Department's position with respect to what information our personnel might be given as to the purpose of the Civil Rights Division's inquiry; whether our personnel should be advised as to the possibilities of civil litigation arising from the inquiry; and what the Department's position is with respect to representation of Bureau personnel should they become defendants in civil litigation. (Copy of memorandum attached).

In their response of February 24, the Civil Rights Division advised they were not currently contemplating criminal prosecution of Bureau personnel and that their present posture was investigative only. It was their opinion that no Miranda situation existed, therefore, Bureau personnel required no advice of rights. Further, the Civil Rights Division indicated it would expect Bureau personnel to furnish whatever information they might have with respect to surreptitious entries; however, the Department assumed our officials would have the right not to furnish information if they felt it would tend to implicate them criminally. In addition, the Department felt there was no significant possibility of civil litigation, and that no official in the Department would be in a position to make a judgment on representation of Bureau personnel until all facts were available in a particular case. (Copy of memorandum attached).

Memorandum to Mr. J. B. Adams
66-8160

Civil Rights Division has asked that personnel submit "personal communications" in response to their inquiry. The field is being asked to submit nitels, and Headquarters personnel are being asked to submit memoranda. At Headquarters, for instance, a memorandum from Section Chief to Assistant Director, or higher as appropriate, would satisfy the "personal communications" requirement. All responses are to be phrased in the first person.

Attached for recipients are copies of two memoranda: Bulet to Assistant Attorney General (AAG), Civil Rights Division, February 5, 1976, and the AAG, Civil Rights Division, response thereto dated February 24, 1976, both captioned as above.

For several months, the AAG, Civil Rights Division, Department of Justice, has been conducting an inquiry at the instruction of the Attorney General into FBI investigative matters which involved surreptitious entries. The Civil Rights Division has advised that the purpose of the inquiry is to determine if any of the entries conducted under authority of the FBI constitute a violation of Title 18, U.S. Code, Sections 241 and 242. Section 241 concerns conspiracy against the rights of citizens and carries criminal penalties of a fine of not more than $10,000 or imprisonment of not more than 10 years, or both. If death results, the penalty is imprisonment for any term of years or for life. Section 242 concerns deprivation of rights under color of law and carries criminal penalties of a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment of not more than 1 year, or both. If death results, imprisonment for any term of years or life.

In a request of January 20, 1976, the Civil Rights Division asked that FBIHQ inquire "of all present Bureau personnel at the level of SAC or higher in the field and Section Chief or higher in Headquarters, their complete and full knowledge of any and all break-ins or surreptitious entries performed by Bureau agents or by others with prior or subsequent knowledge by your agents, since January 1, 1966." The officials cited are asked in this request to provide "personal communications" in response to the inquiry. The "personal communications" will be forwarded to the Department as received.

Field personnel at the level of SAC and higher should promptly sunitel their response under the caption "Request of the Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, For Information Concerning Surreptitious Entries." Response should be based on your knowledge of entry activity, including entries in connection with installation of electronic surveillance, feasibility surveys, and entries to collect information, i.e. "bag jobs." You should respond with your recollections, however incomplete.

You should use the following in responding to this inquiry, and responses should be in the first person:

1. If no knowledge, or no knowledge independent of that gained as a result of your office's recent responses to FBIHQ requests for information about certain surreptitious entries, so state.
2. If you have knowledge and believe your response would tend to implicate you criminally, you appear to have the right not to provide such information (see paragraph 2, page 2, AAG memorandum of February 24, 1976). If you choose to exercise this alternative, you should so advise.
3. If you have pertinent information you should submit whatever details are recalled, including pertinent dates, targets, and file number(s) where information might be located. For instance, if you recall an entry, the date and place of that entry, and the case Agent or Field Supervisor handling the case,

Airtel to Albany
Re: Surreptitious Entries

but not the subject of the entry, you should make an effort to identify the case through the case Agent or Supervisor. If those sources are unavailable, you should report what information you do have. As another example, if you have a vague recollection of an entry, but do not recall a date or target of entry, you should provide what information you do have. As a final example, if you recall an office handling a case where a surreptitious entry was made, but you do not recall the case, case Agent, Supervisor, or pertinent dates, furnish what information you do recall.

You should make a reasonable effort to obtain information about entry activity which you might recall; however, you are not expected to initiate a wide-ranging inquiry. Where an extensive effort appears necessary, you should furnish what information you do have together with observations as to the extent of research needed to identify additional facts about the entry.

Where information about surreptitious entries has been furnished previously in connection with recent requests of FBIHQ, it need not be repeated in response to this request.

New York and Los Angeles personnel should respond with individual nitels showing the title of the official responding.

Reference is made to our memorandum of December 1, 1975, regarding the October 27, 1963, entry into New York offices of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC), and to your memorandum of January 20, 1976, in which you request a written inventory of the information obtained from the entry and a statement as to whether or not any or all of that information was forwarded to the Warren Commission.

We have enclosed for your information one copy each of two communications from our New York Office which show what information was obtained as a result of the October 27, 1963, entry. These documents are New York memorandum of November 27, 1963, and New York airtel of March 2, 1976.

In addition, we have enclosed one copy each of two memoranda: memorandum of W. R. Wannall to W. C. Sullivan, dated November 25, 1963, and an FBI memorandum to the Attorney General, dated November 11, 1963.

The Wannall to Sullivan memorandum of November 25 shows that, following disclosure of Lee Harvey Oswald's connection with the assassination of President Kennedy, our New York Office conducted a review of material obtained as a result of the October 27, 1963, entry into New York FPCC offices and located an undated letter from Oswald to Vincent Lee, then director of the FPCC.

In our memorandum to the Attorney General on November 26, we furnished a summary of background information concerning the FPCC, and on page 3 described the undated letter of Oswald to Vincent Lee which was obtained as a result of the October 27, 1963, surreptitious entry. The Attorney General was not advised in this memorandum as to the source of the Oswald letter, and there is no indication in the FPCC file at FBI Headquarters that the Department disseminated this information to the Warren Commission. (XU)

In connection with the investigation concerning the assassination of President Kennedy, Agents of our New York Office contacted Vincent T. Lee for any information he might provide relating to Oswald's contacts with the FPCC. On December 6, 1963, Mr. Lee furnished miscellaneous items of correspondence sent to the FPCC by Oswald, including six handwritten letters signed by Oswald. These letters concerned Oswald's efforts to establish an FPCC unit in New Orleans.

On April 14, 1964, Mr. Wesley J. Liebeler of the President's Commission asked the FBI to furnish to the Commission the original material given the Bureau by Vincent T. Lee. Liebeler indicated that he expected to subpoena Lee and would want him to initial the material sent by Oswald to the FPCC. This material was to be made a permanent exhibit of the Commission's inquiry.

Material made available to the Bureau by Vincent T. Lee on December 6, 1963, including the undated Oswald to Lee letter which came to our attention as a result of the October 27, 1963, surreptitious entry, was furnished to the President's Commission as enclosures to an FBI memorandum of April 15, 1964.

APPENDIX

FAIR PLAY FOR CUBA COMMITTEE

The April 6, 1960, edition of "The New York Times" newspaper contained a full-page advertisement captioned "What Is Really Happening In Cuba," placed by the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC). This advertisement announced the formation of the FPCC in New York City and declared the FPCC intended to promulgate "the truth about revolutionary Cuba" to neutralize the distorted American press.

"The New York Times" edition of January 11, 1961, reported that at a hearing conducted before the United States Senate Internal Security Subcommittee on January 10, 1961, Dr. CHARLES A. SANTOS-BUCH identified himself and ROBERT TABER as organizers of the FPCC. He also testified he and TABER obtained funds from the Cuban Government which were applied toward the cost of the afore-mentioned advertisement.

On May 16, 1963, a source advised that during the first two years of the FPCC's existence there was a struggle between Communist Party (CP) and Socialist Workers Party (SWP) elements to exert their power within the FPCC and thereby influence FPCC policy. However, during the past year this source observed there has been a successful effort by FPCC leadership to minimize the role of these and other organizations in the FPCC so that today their influence is negligible.

On May 20, 1963, a second source advised that the National Headquarters of the FPCC is located in Room 329 at 799 Broadway, New York City. According to this source, the position of National Office Director was created in the Fall of 1962 and was filled by VINCENT "TED" LEE, who now formulates FPCC policy. This source observed LEE has followed a course of entertaining and accepting the cooperation of many other organizations including the CP and the SWP when he has felt it would be to his personal benefit as well as the FPCC's. However, LEE has indicated to this source he has no intention of permitting FPCC policy to be determined by any other organization. LEE feels the FPCC should advocate resumption of diplomatic relations between Cuba and the United States and support the right of Cubans to manage their revolution without interference from other nations, but not support the Cuban revolution per se.

The CP and the SWP have been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

Reference my memo 11/23/63 summarizing results of our investigation concerning Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC). Director has inquired whether following items relating to connection of Lee Harvey Oswald with FPCC have been brought to the attention of the Department:

(1) Information concerning Oswald's arrest for distribution of FPCC literature by New Orleans Police Department at New Orleans and subsequent FBI interview of him;

(2) Information developed by New York Office concerning a letter sent by Oswald to leader of FPCC at New York City.

The information regarding Oswald's arrest by the New Orleans Police Department and our interview of him was sent to the Department on 11/8/63 in a report under the "Fair Play for Cuba Committee" caption. This report set forth results of investigation by New Orleans Office concerning possible FPCC activities there, which inquiries proved negative.

MEMBER OF SUBJECT ORGANIZATION

With regard to letter sent by Oswald to FPCC leader at New York City (Vincent Lee), following is noted: On 10/27/63 New York Office through an anonymous source contact developed voluminous data regarding files of FPCC headquarters. Review of this material has as yet not been completed; however, immediately upon disclosure of Oswald's reported connection with the assassination of the President, New York Office undertook to review this material specifically to ascertain if Oswald's name may have been mentioned therein. On evening of 11/22/63 (date of President's assassination) New York Office advised that its review had located the letter from Oswald to Lee.

in a public session of the Subcommittee on January 10, 1931, and his testimony regarding the IPCC and the involvement of Taber was widely publicized in the press. The Registration Section of the Department solicited Euck's registration under the provisions of the Foreign Agents Registration Act of 1938, as amended, and on January 11, 1931, he filed a Registration Statement and listed his foreign principal as the "Revolutionary Provisional Government of Cuba, Habana, Cuba."

In addition to Euck's registration, the registration of the IPCC, with headquarters at New York City, was also solicited by the Registration Section. In a letter dated February 18, 1931, addressed to this Bureau by the Internal Security Division, we were advised that Stanley Saulkner, an attorney representing the IPCC, advised the Registration Section by letter dated February 8, 1931, that the IPCC would not register. At that time, the Internal Security Division advised this Bureau that it considered the unsupported testimony of Euck insufficient to warrant prosecution.

revealed that CP, USA, and SWP influence and control of various local chapters of the FPCC were most pronounced; however, there has been no clear-cut evidence to show CP, USA, and SWP influence and control with respect to the national headquarters of the FPCC. S

The FPCC received a great deal of support at the outset and in April, 1961, it claimed to have a membership of 6,000 with 21 chapters in United States cities as well as "Student Councils" at more than 40 university campuses in the United States and Canada. As the true tenor of the Castro regime became apparent, the FPCC lost some of its support.

OK

[REDACTED]

Our New York City Office received information that sometime prior to October 27, 1963, Lee M. Oswald wrote a letter to Vincent Lee in New York City. At the time he wrote the letter, Oswald apparently was in New Orleans, Louisiana. From the contents of the letter, it was apparent that Oswald had received some previous advice from Lee concerning efforts on Oswald's part to start a New Orleans chapter of the FPCC. In his letter, Oswald mentioned opening an office; running off 2,000 circulars (apparently in connection with the FPCC); issuing membership cards; and collecting dues. Oswald ended his letter by stating, "Please feel free to give advice and any other help."

Our investigation of the FPCC has been most extensive and has spanned more than three and one-half years. The results have been set forth in over 300 communications, copies of which have been furnished to the Department in order that appropriate action might be taken to curtail the activities of this group. Our investigation is continuing and, as in the past, we will bring significant developments to your attention.

PURPOSE:

To obtain approval to furnish to Departmental Attorney William L. Gardner a copy of C. D. Brennan to Mr. W. C. Sullivan memorandum of June 23, 1969, captioned "Electronic Surveillances." Copy of memorandum attached.

SYNOPSIS:

In connection with the Civil Rights Division's inquiry into investigative matters involving surreptitious entry, Departmental Attorney Gardner is currently reviewing FBIHQ file 66-8160, "Technical Surveillances - General." Brennan to Sullivan memorandum of June 23, 1969, summarizes Bureau policy on wiretaps and microphone surveillances under Attorneys General Kennedy, Katzenbach, and Clark. Due to the length of this document, Gardner has requested he be furnished a copy thereof.

Memorandum to Mr. T. W. Leavitt
Re: Surreptitious Entries
66-8160

DETAILS:

For some months the Civil Rights Division of the Department has been conducting an inquiry into investigative matters of the FBI where surreptitious entries were conducted. Included in this inquiry is a review of certain files at FBIHQ, one of which is the "Technical Surveillances-General" file.

The "Technical Surveillances-General" file consists of memoranda and other documents relating to the policy and procedures concerning the Bureau's use of electronic surveillances. The C. D. Brennan to Mr. W. C. Sullivan memorandum of June 23, 1969, is a summary of the Bureau's policy on wiretaps and microphone surveillances under Attorneys General Kennedy, Katzenbach, and Clark.

Mr. Gardner has indicated that this Brennan to Sullivan memorandum is significant to his inquiry and, because it is rather lengthy, he would appreciate being furnished a copy thereof.

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES.

IN CONNECTION WITH RECENT RECORDS REVIEW IN THE NEW YORK OFFICE IN RESPONSE TO A CIVIL SUIT FILED BY THE SOCIALIST WORKERS PARTY (SWP), CERTAIN DOCUMENTS WERE LOCATED WHICH RELATE TO SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY ACTIVITY OF THE NEW YORK OFFICE OVER A PERIOD OF YEARS, BEGINNING IN THE 1940'S AND CONTINUING THROUGH 1975. THESE DOCUMENTS ARE SAID TO SHOW SUCH INFORMATION AS REQUESTS FOR AUTHORITY TO CONDUCT ENTRIES, NEW YORK OFFICE AND HEADQUARTERS' APPROVALS, TARGETS OF ENTRY, AND PERSONNEL INVOLVED IN ENTRIES.

AS YOU ARE AWARE, THE DEPARTMENT'S CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION IS CURRENTLY MAKING AN INQUIRY INTO INVESTIGATIVE MATTERS OF THE FBI WHICH INVOLVED SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY. THIS INQUIRY IS CONCERNED WITH ENTRIES WHICH OCCURRED SUBSEQUENT TO JANUARY 1, 1966. IN THIS REGARD, NEW YORK HAS ALREADY FURNISHED CONSIDERABLE INFORMATION IN RESPONSE TO HEADQUARTERS' REQUESTS, SOME OF WHICH IT IS UNDERSTOOD, CAME FROM THE

INFORMATION RELATING TO THE SOCIALIST WORKERS PARTY SUIT HAS BEEN EXTRACTED FROM THESE DOCUMENTS, AS HAS INFORMATION CONCERNING SWP/YOUNG SOCIALIST ALLIANCE ENTRIES OCCURRING SUBSEQUENT TO JANUARY 1, 1966. THE LATTER INFORMATION WAS FURNISHED TO HEADQUARTERS IN RESPONSE TO BUREAU TELETYPES OF SEPTEMBER 11 AND 16, 1975, ENTITLED "REQUEST OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL FOR INFORMATION CONCERNING SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES."

ALTHOUGH MANY OF THE ENTRY ACTIONS NOTED IN THE DOCUMENTS IN QUESTION MAY HAVE ALREADY BEEN BROUGHT TO THE ATTENTION OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION, IT IS NECESSARY THAT THIS MATERIAL BE REVIEWED TO INSURE OUR FULL COMPLIANCE WITH THE DEPARTMENT'S INQUIRY.

ACCORDINGLY, NEW YORK IS INSTRUCTED TO REVIEW THOSE DOCUMENTS WHICH RELATE TO SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES PERFORMED SINCE JANUARY 1, 1966. YOU SHOULD FURNISH INFORMATION TO IDENTIFY THE ACTIVITY: TARGET, PURPOSE OF ENTRY, DATE OF ENTRY, BRIEF SUMMARY OF INFORMATION OBTAINED (SUBSCRIBERS' LISTS, ORGANIZATIONAL OR FINANCIAL DATA, MONTHLY REPORTS, ETC.), IDENTITIES OF AUTHORITIES APPROVING THE ENTRY AND FILE NUMBER OF TARGETS CASE.

NOTE:

In connection with the SWP/YSA civil suit, the New York Office caused a search of their records and located a number of volumes of material relating to surreptitious entries conducted by the office. These records date from the 1940's through 1975 and therefore fall within the period of time of interest to the Civil Rights Division.

The New York Office has reviewed portions of the above material which deal with matters relating to the civil suit. We do not know what additional information concerning entries remains to be reviewed in this material, and what information since January 1, 1966, should be furnished to the Department in connection with their inquiry.

We are asking New York to review the material in question to extract information falling within the perimeters of the Departmental inquiry.

PURPOSE:

To advise of requests of Departmental Attorney William L. Gardner for material in connection with the Civil Rights Division's inquiry into surreptitious entry matters; for approval to furnish this material to Mr. Gardner.

SYNOPSIS:

Departmental Attorney William L. Gardner, Civil Rights Division, continues his review of files at Headquarters and in the field regarding matters involving surreptitious entry. Mr. Gardner has recently requested to review current sections of two additional Headquarters files: "Microphone Surveillances," and "Special and Unusual Investigative Techniques." The former file appears to have documents pertinent to the Civil Rights Division's inquiry, while the latter seems to have only one memorandum relative to that inquiry. Notwithstanding, Mr. Gardner indicates he wishes to review the latter file. In addition, he has asked that a copy of five documents, three of which are exchanges of communications between Bureau and Department in connection with this inquiry but are not available to Mr. Gardner, be furnished to him. Finally, Mr. Gardner has indicated he would like to have limited access review of the "Official and Confidential" (O & C) files, perhaps the index only.

Memorandum to Mr. T. W. Leavitt
66-8160

On 3/25/76, Mr. Gardner advised that in addition to files he has recently reviewed at FBIHQ, he would like to review current sections of two files: JUNE 66-5815, "Microphone Surveillances," and 66-16339, "Special and Unusual Investigative Techniques." The former file deals with equipment and equipment specifications, administration of microphone surveillances, subjects of microphone surveillances, and policy briefs concerning microphone surveillances. The latter file concerns the use of various investigative techniques such as use of helicopters and other aircraft, police investigative techniques, raid and arrest techniques, and miscellaneous methods of automobile, facial and baggage identification methods.

File 66-5815 JUNE, in dealing with microphone surveillance matters, examines in several documents the question of trespass in connection with installation of electronic surveillances. This is pertinent to the Civil Rights Division's inquiry as it reflects past Bureau policy on this question.

With the exception of one document (Serial 400) file 105-16339 appears to have no bearing on the subject of the Civil Rights Division's inquiry. The exception is a "yellow" of the January, 1967, Hoover to Messrs. Tolson and DeLoach memorandum where Mr. Hoover stated that requests were continuing to come to him for the use of "black bag techniques," and that he would no longer approve such activity. A copy of this memorandum has been furnished to the Civil Rights Division in an earlier memorandum concerning surreptitious entries. Mr. Gardner was advised of the existence of this document; however, he indicated he wished to review the file himself.

In addition to the above files, Mr. Gardner has requested that he be furnished a copy of the following documents (copies attached), which are located in JUNE sections of 66-8160:

1. FBI memorandum to The Attorney General, "Surreptitious Entries," dated 9/11/75. (Memorandum furnished previously.)

2. Memorandum Mr. W. R. Wannall to Mr. J. B. Adams, "Unconsented Warrantless Physical Entries Conducted by the FBI," dated 8/26/75.

3. Enclosure to memorandum #2, above, entitled "Presidential Authority to Authorize Unusual Investigative Techniques in Foreign Intelligence Investigations," date unknown. (This enclosure, according to records in 66-8160, was furnished on 6/30/75 to the Attorney General, and on 8/26/75 to Jack Fuller, Special Assistant to the Attorney General.)

4. Memorandum of the Attorney General to Director, FBI, "Surreptitious Entries," dated 10/24/75.

5. FBI memorandum to The Attorney General, "Surreptitious Entries," dated 10/31/75. (Memorandum furnished previously.)

Items 1, 4, and 5 are exchanges of communications between the Bureau and Department in connection with the latter's inquiry into the surreptitious entry question. They are not available to Mr. Gardner and he has requested a copy of each. Item 2 has not been furnished previously; however, its enclosure, item 3, has.

Finally, Mr. Gardner has asked for access review of the O & C files. It is his intention to satisfy the Civil Rights Division's inquiry that whatever information contained in those files, pertaining to surreptitious entry, is reviewed. He was advised that to the writer's knowledge, only one document ("Black Bag Jobs," Sullivan to DeLoach memorandum of July 19, 1966) is in the O & C files which relates to entries. Mr. Gardner indicated a review of the files' index may suffice for purposes of his review.

On 4/5/76, subsequent to his oral request of 3/25/76, Mr. Gardner furnished his written request for the material outlined above (copy of request attached).

On 8/25/75 at 2:19 p.m., Mr. Jack Fuller, Special Assistant to the Attorney General, called requesting of Deputy Assistant Director Thomas W. Leavitt data depicting the Bureau's authority for surreptitious entries for purposes other than installing a microphone. He stated he needed this material no later than Tuesday, August 26, 1975, in order to assist in preparing a communication for the Attorney General.

Attached memorandum previously prepared by the Legal Counsel Division covers the matter of Mr. Fuller's request. The data was furnished to the Attorney General by letter dated 6/30/75 along with a number of other items of interest.

PRESIDENTIAL AUTHORITY TO AUTHORIZE INVESTIGATIVE TECHNIQUES
IN FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE INVESTIGATIONS

The Federal Government has a responsibility to protect the territorial and institutional integrity of the United States, and to this end, it must acquire information to exercise informed judgments in foreign affairs as well as information concerning the activities of foreign powers and their agents in the United States. In an effort to obtain this information, we should inquire whether the President, acting through the Attorney General, may authorize an agency of the Federal Government to utilize investigative techniques such as wiretaps, microphones and surreptitious entries without a court order. The resolution of this question requires consideration of the relationship between Presidential power and national security on the one hand, and the warrant requirement of the Fourth Amendment on the other.

NATIONAL SECURITY AND PRESIDENTIAL POWER

Alexander Hamilton wrote that men could differ regarding the creation of a Federal Government but that once such a Government was created and made responsible for the defense of the nation, it must be given the authority necessary to discharge that responsibility. Hamilton recognized that "the circumstances that endanger the safety of nations are infinite," and for this reason, he wrote, no limits should be placed on the Government's authority in this area.

Numerous decisions of the United States Supreme Court, moreover, have indicated that the President, as Chief Executive, possesses powers in foreign and military affairs which are not dependent on a specific legislative grant but derive from the Constitution itself. These decisions have also indicated that the Court holds great respect for these powers and that only with extreme care will it interfere with them.

In Marbury v. Madison the Court commented: "By the Constitution . . . the President is invested with certain political powers, in the exercise of which he is to use his own discretion, and is accountable only to his country in his political character, and to his own conscience." In 1863, the Supreme Court in the Prize Cases went on to uphold the President's authority to blockade insurrectionary Southern ports without Congressional authorization. In 1915, the Supreme Court in Mackenzie v. Hare explained that the Federal judiciary should be slow to curtail such powers.

In United States v. Curtiss-Wright Export Corp., decided by the Supreme Court in 1936, the Court again commented upon the President's powers in the area of foreign affairs. It explained that there is a significant difference between the conduct of domestic, as opposed to foreign affairs, and stated that the Government's powers in the area of internal affairs are limited to those specifically enumerated in the Constitution. In the area of foreign affairs, however, the powers of the Government are not limited to those set forth in the Constitution. If not expressly set forth in that document, the Court wrote, the Executive, as an attribute of sovereignty, would still have the power "to declare and wage war" and "to maintain diplomatic relations."

The Court in Curtiss-Wright, discussing the sensitive nature of foreign diplomacy and the need for secrecy, wrote that if the nation is to be successful in its foreign relations the executive branch must be afforded greater flexibility than it is permitted in the area of domestic affairs. The President, not Congress, the Court reasoned, is in a better position to be knowledgeable regarding conditions in foreign countries. "Secrecy in respect of information gathered by [Presidential sources and agents] may be highly necessary, and the premature disclosure of it productive of harmful results."

The Supreme Court in Hirabayashi v. United States went on to state that the President's "war power" is "the power to wage war successfully" and held that the power extended "to every matter and activity so related to war as substantially to affect its credit and progress." The Court went on to say that the Constitution has given to the President great latitude in determining the nature and extent of the danger to the nation and the means to resist it. Regarding the judiciary's role in this area, the Court again emphasized that it would interfere with the President's power in this area only with extreme care.

In 1948, the Supreme Court in Chicago and Southern Airlines, Inc. v. Waterman Corp.<sup>11</sup> reaffirmed and elaborated on its earlier holding in Curtiss-Wright, supra. The Court in Waterman again held that the President is empowered to act with broad freedom and secrecy in the conduct of foreign relations and that the judiciary should not interfere with Presidential power in this area. Commenting on the sensitive nature of foreign affairs and the judiciary's role in this area, the Court said:

"The President . . . has available intelligence services whose reports are not and ought not to be published to the world. It would be intolerable that courts without the relevant information should review and perhaps nullify actions of the Executive taken on information properly held secret. Nor can courts sit in camera in order to be taken into executive confidences. But even if courts could acquire full disclosure, the very nature of executive decisions as to foreign policy is political, not judicial. Such decisions are wholly confided by our Constitution to the political department . . . They are delicate, complex and involve large elements of prophecy . . . They are decisions of a kind for which the Judiciary has neither aptitude, facilities, nor responsibilities and which has long been held to belong in the domain of political power not subject to judicial intrusion or inquiry . . ."12

The Congress has also recognized that the President has certain powers in the area of foreign affairs. Title III. of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act<sup>13</sup> authorizes the use of electronic surveillance for certain crimes. Along with the surveillance provisions in the Act, there is the following proviso:

"Nothing contained in this chapter . . . shall limit the constitutional power of the President to take such measures as he deems necessary to protect the Nation against actual or potential attack or other hostile acts of a foreign power, to obtain foreign intelligence information deemed essential to the security of the United States, or to protect national security, information against foreign intelligence activities." <sup>14</sup>

THE WARRANT REQUIREMENT

But the question is raised: Does the Fourth Amendment's <sup>15</sup>
warrant requirement prohibit the President, acting without a court order, from authorizing an agency of the Federal Government to utilize physical entries directed against foreign powers and their agents?

Recent wiretap cases shed light on this issue. Prior to 1967, the Supreme Court decided the legality of electronic surveillance by determining whether or not a trespass was involved; the Fourth Amendment was violated only if at the time of the installation there was a trespass on the premises. In the Katz <sup>16</sup> case in 1967, however, the Court held that oral communications were protected from unreasonable surveillance by the Fourth Amendment and that the mandate of this Amendment required adherence to judicial process. The Fourth Amendment "governs not only the seizure of tangible items, but [also] extends . . . to the recording of oral statements overheard without" <sup>17</sup> trespass.

Intentionally left open in Katz, supra, was the question of whether safeguards other than prior authorization by a magistrate would satisfy the Fourth Amendment in a situation involving national security. The issue unresolved in Katz was partially faced by the Supreme Court in <sup>18</sup>
United States v. United States District Court. There the Supreme Court held that electronic surveillance in the domestic security area conducted solely within the discretion of the Executive violated the warrant requirement of the Fourth Amendment. The Court, however, emphasized the case involved only the domestic aspects of national security. "We have not addressed, and express no opinion as to, the issues which may be involved with respect to activities of foreign powers or their agents."<sup>19</sup>

Thus, the Supreme Court has reserved judgment relative to the question of whether a warrantless electronic surveillance directed against foreign powers violates the Fourth Amendment. Every lower Federal Court that has faced the question, however, has <sup>to C.P.</sup> stated the President may constitutionally authorize warrantless wiretaps when directed against foreign powers or their agents.<sup>20</sup>

In United States v. Brown the Court commented:

"Restrictions upon the President's power which are appropriate in cases of domestic security become artificial in the context of the international sphere . . . [A] thread . . . runs through the Federalist Papers: that the President must take care to safeguard the nation from possible foreign encroachment, whether in its existence as a nation or in its intercourse with other nations."<sup>22</sup>

In United States v. Butenko the Court commented:

"The expansive language of United States v. Curtiss - Wright Export Corp. provides support for the contention that the President is authorized to act unencumbered by the Fourth Amendment requirement of prior judicial approval and probable cause when he is dealing with national security matters."<sup>24</sup>

In United States v. Hoffman the Court found that while there is no express constitutional provision authorizing the President to conduct warrantless surveillances, such authorization impliedly exists where the search is necessary in the conduct of foreign affairs.

We may then ask whether the President has the authority to authorize a warrantless physical entry directed against foreign powers.

26

In United States v. Ehrlichman, a criminal prosecution for conspiring to violate Title 18, United States Code, Section 241, and thus injure a citizen in the enjoyment of Fourth Amendment rights, the Special Prosecutor asserted that the President, acting through the Attorney General, does not have the authority to authorize a warrantless, physical entry in the foreign area.

27

The Court agreed. It reasoned that the President does not have the authority to suspend the requirement of the Fourth Amendment and stated that the Government must comply with <sup>the warrant requirement</sup> ~~strict constitutional limitations on~~ ~~trespassory searches~~ even when known foreign agents are involved.

But these comments, while they should be given consideration, do not declare a conclusion of law reached by the court as to the legal effect of the facts revealed. They are dictum, the opinions of one judge. In fact, no court has held that the President may not authorize a surreptitious entry directed against foreign powers. Thus, it can be argued that the question is an open one.

The Fourth Amendment is concerned with searches and seizures, not trespasses per se; both the interception of oral communications and a surreptitious entry constitute significant intrusions upon interests protected by the Fourth Amendment. Thus, if the President has the authority to authorize warrantless electronic surveillance against foreign powers it would appear that he could constitutionally authorize a surreptitious entry against foreign powers. Of course, the court in United States v. Ehrlichman, supra, commenting on recent lower Federal court cases which stated the President may constitutionally authorize warrantless electronic surveillance against foreign powers, characterized wiretapping as a "relatively nonobtrusive search." <sup>29</sup>

But wiretapping is an intrusion that can last for an indefinite period and is pervasive, while the intrusion connected with a physical entry is of relatively short duration and is usually directed toward a specific objective. Thus, it would appear that where the objective of an entry is simply to create the circumstances for monitoring it is actually less intrusive than wiretapping. Where the objective of the entry is to conduct a physical search, the disparity between wiretapping and a physical entry may be narrower, and depending on the circumstances, a physical entry may approach wiretapping in intrusiveness.

On appeal in the Ehrlichman case, the Department of Justice filed a memorandum for the United States as amicus curiae [friend of the court], commenting on the legality of the different forms of warrantless surveillance involving foreign espionage or intelligence.

The document specifies:

"It is the position of the Department of Justice that such activities must be very carefully controlled. There must be solid reason to believe that foreign espionage or intelligence is involved. In addition, the intrusion into any zone of expected privacy must be kept to a minimum and there must be personal authorization by the President or the Attorney General. The United States believes that activities so controlled are lawful under the Fourth Amendment. In regard to warrantless searches related to foreign espionage or intelligence, the Department does not believe there is a constitutional difference between searches conducted by wiretapping and those involving physical entries into private premises. One form of search is no less serious than another. It is and has long been the Department's view that warrantless searches involving physical entries into private premises are justified under the proper circumstances when related to foreign espionage or intelligence . . . "30

CONCLUSION

Numerous decisions of the United States Supreme Court have recognized that the President, as Chief Executive, possesses powers in foreign and military affairs which are not dependent on a specific legislative grant but derive from the Constitution itself and that the Constitution has given the President great latitude in determining the nature and extent of the danger to the nation and the means to resist it. Concerning the judiciary's role in this area, the Court has emphasized that it would interfere with the President's powers only with extreme care. It is yet to be seen whether the Supreme Court will interpret the Constitution as imposing specific limitations on the President's powers in this area.

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

RECENT RECORDS REVIEW IN THE NEW YORK OFFICE IN RESPONSE TO A CIVIL SUIT FILED BY THE SOCIALIST WORKERS PARTY (SWP) REVEALED CERTAIN DOCUMENTS WHICH RELATE TO SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES CONDUCTED BY THE NEW YORK OFFICE OVER A PERIOD OF YEARS, BEGINNING IN THE 1940'S AND CONTINUING TO 1975. THESE DOCUMENTS SHOW SUCH INFORMATION AS REQUESTS FOR AUTHORITY TO CONDUCT ENTRIES, NEW YORK OFFICE AND HEADQUARTERS' APPROVALS, TARGETS OF ENTRY, AND PERSONNEL INVOLVED IN ENTRIES.

AS YOU ARE AWARE, THE DEPARTMENT'S CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION IS MAKING AN INQUIRY INTO INVESTIGATIVE MATTERS OF THE FBI WHICH INVOLVED SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY. THIS INQUIRY IS CONCERNED WITH ENTRIES WHICH OCCURRED SUBSEQUENT TO JANUARY 1, 1966. IN THIS REGARD, NEW YORK'S INTERNAL SECURITY DIVISION FURNISHED, BY NITEL OF APRIL 5, 1976, CONSIDERABLE INFORMATION RELATING TO SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES IN DOMESTIC SECURITY MATTERS. THE DOCUMENTS FROM WHICH THIS INFORMATION WAS TAKEN CONTAIN, IT IS UNDERSTOOD, INFORMATION RELATING TO ENTRIES IN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE MATTERS.

ALTHOUGH SOME OF THE ENTRIES CONDUCTED IN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE MATTERS MAY HAVE BEEN REPORTED ALREADY TO THE CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION, IT IS NECESSARY THAT THE DOCUMENTS IN QUESTION BE REVIEWED TO INSURE OUR FULL COMPLIANCE WITH THE DEPARTMENT'S INQUIRY.

ACCORDINGLY, NEW YORK IS INSTRUCTED TO REVIEW THOSE DOCUMENTS WHICH RELATE TO SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES, IN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE MATTERS, PERFORMED SINCE JANUARY 1, 1966. YOU SHOULD FURNISH INFORMATION TO IDENTIFY THE ACTIVITY: TARGET, PURPOSE OF ENTRY, DATE OF ENTRY, BRIEF SUMMARY OF INFORMATION OBTAINED (SUBSCRIBER'S LISTS, ORGANIZATIONAL OR FINANCIAL DATA, MONTHLY REPORTS, ETC.), IDENTITIES OF AUTHORITIES APPROVING THE ENTRY, AND FILE NUMBER OF TARGET'S CASE.

WHERE NEW YORK HAS PREVIOUSLY FURNISHED INFORMATION IN RESPONSE TO THE CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION'S INQUIRY, IT IS SUFFICIENT IN THOSE INSTANCES TO FURNISH ONLY THE IDENTITY OF THE TARGET AND DATE OF ENTRY. RESOLVE ANY QUESTION IN THIS REGARD IN FAVOR OF FURNISHING THE INFORMATION TO FBIHQ.

NOTE:

In connection with the SWP/YSA civil suit, the New York Office caused a search of their records and located a number of documents relating to surreptitious entries conducted by that office. These records dated from the 1940's through 1975 and therefore fall within the period of time of interest to the Civil Rights Division.

By teletype of April 5, 1976, New York's Internal Security Division furnished results of its review of the above documents as they relate to entries in the domestic security area.

4/7/76 We are now asking New York to review the same documents for entry activity, from January 1, 1966, to the present, in the counterintelligence area. This communication follows a telephonic conversation with New York Supervisor [redacted] who advised SAC Denz was aware of FBIHQ's oral request for entry information and had requested in confirmation a communication from Headquarters.

PURPOSE:

To highlight recent developments in connection with our response to the Department's inquiry into matters concerning surreptitious entry; to advise of the results of a recent New York Office review of certain newly discovered documents relating to surreptitious entries performed by that office from the 1940s through 1975; for approval of the attached communication to all field offices to determine whether or not similar documents are present in those offices.

SYNOPSIS:

A March 18, 1976 EX-101 communication to all field offices instructed personnel at SAC level and higher to furnish their knowledge of "any and all break-ins or surreptitious entries performed by Bureau agents or others . . . since January 1, 1976. This communication, sent in response to a request of Civil Rights Division, Department of Justice, asked for recollection of personnel, however incomplete or vague. Legal Counsel to Mr. J. B. Adams memorandum of March 19, 1976, revealed that in connection with the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) civil action against the Attorney General, et al., 25 volumes of unserialized documents relating to surreptitious entries conducted by the New York Office were discovered in the New York Office. The period covered by these documents was from the 1940s through 1975. Past policy as detailed in a W. C. Sullivan to Mr. C. D. DeLoach memorandum of July 19, 1966, was for memoranda dealing with requests and approvals to conduct entries to be destroyed following field office inspections. Since documents have been located indicating at least one instance in April 1976 this policy was not followed, we will survey all field offices to determine whether or not similar documents are present.

DETAILS:

T. W. Leavitt to Mr. J. B. Adams memorandum of March 16, 1976, approved a March 18, 1976, communication to all field offices instructing personnel at SAC level and higher to furnish their knowledge of "any and all break-ins or surreptitious entries performed by Bureau agents or others . . . since January 1, 1966." The communication set forth several examples to be followed in responding to the inquiry, and requested that response should include recollections however incomplete or vague. Recipients were asked not to initiate a wide-ranging inquiry, but were requested to make reasonable efforts to obtain information about entries.

Legal Counsel to Mr. J. B. Adams memorandum of March 19, 1976, advised of a court order filed in the SWP civil action against the Attorney General, et al. This order directed the FBI to produce additional materials relevant to the civil action's discovery motions, including materials relating to intelligence gathering burglaries conducted by the FBI against the SWP. In addition, Legal Counsel memorandum disclosed the existence, in the New York Office, of 25 volumes of unserialized documents showing surreptitious entries performed by the New York Office from the 1940s through 1975.

Memorandum to Mr. J. B. Adams
Re: Surreptitious Entries
66-8160

As detailed in W. C. Sullivan to Mr. C. D. DeLoach memorandum of July 19, 1966, (captioned "Black Bag" Jobs) the procedure followed with respect to memoranda concerning surreptitious entries was that ". . . the Special Agent in Charge prepares an informal memorandum showing that he obtained Bureau authority and this memorandum is filed in his safe until the next inspection by Bureau Inspectors, at which time it is destroyed." It is evident that the policy outlined in the Sullivan memorandum was not, in at least one instance, strictly adhered to.

In a communication of April 5, 1976, the New York Office reported results of a review of the 25 volumes mentioned above for information pertaining to domestic security matters. The review showed a total of 73 entries directed against such groups as the CPUSA, the SWP, Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), and the Weather Underground. Of the 73 entries, 31 have been reported previously to the Department.

Since documents of this nature have been located in the New York Office, it is possible that similar material exists in the field offices. To insure our full compliance with the Department's inquiry, we will survey all field offices for documents of this nature.

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

JUNE

Recently, in response to a court order in the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) civil action against the Attorney General, et al., FBI Headquarters (FBIHQ) canvassed all field offices for any materials relating to intelligence-gathering burglaries directed against the SWP. As a result of this survey, a number of documents concerning surreptitious entries directed against the SWP and other groups were located in our New York Office. Preliminary review of these documents shows this material covers a period from the 1940s through 1975, and consists of memoranda showing requests and approvals to conduct entries.

In a field office, memoranda showing requests and approvals for surreptitious entries were to be handled under a "Do Not File" procedure, which prescribed their destruction following field office inspections. This policy was outlined in a W. C. Sullivan to Mr. C. D. DeLoach memorandum of July 19, 1966. A copy of this memorandum was furnished to Mr. William L. Gardner in connection with his review at FBIHQ of matters involving surreptitious entry.

We are presently assembling information obtained as a result of a review of those documents recently revealed by our New York Office. As requested by you, material dealing with entries occurring subsequent to January 1, 1966, will be furnished to you as soon as all information is available at FBIHQ.

Inasmuch as the policy as outlined in the W. C. Sullivan memorandum was not in at least one instance adhered to, we propose to canvass all field offices to determine whether similar documents exist in our other offices. You will be advised of the results of this survey.

NOTE:

Following discovery of 25 volumes of documents dealing with surreptitious entries conducted by the New York Office from the 1940s through 1975, we instructed New York to furnish information relating to entries occurring subsequent to 1/1/66. New York responded with a total of 73 entries against domestic groups, 31 of which we have already reported to the Department. The remaining 42 entries will be furnished to the Civil Rights Division in accordance with earlier-followed procedures. New York has been instructed to review the documents in question for entries in counter-intelligence matters.

On instruction of the Office of Deputy Associate Director (Investigation), we are advising the Civil Rights Division of the discovery of these documents, as well as what action we propose to take.

Reference Bureau airtel to SAC, Albany dated 3/18/76 and captioned as above.

In response to a January 20, 1976, request of the Civil Rights Division, Department of Justice, referenced communication asked all field offices personnel at SAC level and higher to furnish their knowledge as to "any and all break-ins or surreptitious entries performed by Bureau agents or others ...since January 1, 1966."

A recent court order in the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) civil action against the Attorney General, et al asked that the FBI produce materials relating to intelligence gathering burglaries directed against the SWP. Subsequent to that order, an all-office communication instructed that materials of this nature be brought to the attention of FBIHQ. The ensuing search of field office records resulted in the discovery in a small number of offices of documents relating to surreptitious entry activity of those offices. These documents, relating not only to entries against the SWP, were in one office, in the form of unserialized, chronologically ordered "SAC Folders." Much of the activity noted therein occurred prior to January 1, 1966; however, there were materials concerning entries conducted subsequent to that date and therefore falling within the period of inquiry established by the Civil Rights Division.

Accordingly, you are instructed to take the necessary steps, including consultation with knowledgeable personnel within your office, to determine whether or not similar Reference memorandum F. J. Cassidy to Mr. T. W. Leavitt, 4/5/76, captioned as above.

PURPOSE:

To advise of a request of Departmental Attorney William L. Gardner to review material contained in five folders of the "Official and Confidential" (O&C) files.

SYNOPSIS:

F. J. Cassidy to Mr. T. W. Leavitt memorandum of 4/5/76, advised of Attorney Gardner's request to review the O&C index to determine what, if any, information was contained in the O&C files pertaining to the Civil Rights Division's inquiry into the surreptitious entry question. Mr. Gardner reviewed, on 4/20/76, the Inspection Division summary and break-down of the O&C files, and he indicated he wishes to review material in folders captioned as follows: "Bomb Summary," "Bombing at U. S. Capitol," "FBI Counterintelligence Activities, Technical Devices and Techniques," "Foreign Influence in the Black Extremist Movement," and "Intelligence Coverage Domestic and Foreign."

DETAILS:

In connection with the Civil Rights Division's inquiry into investigative matters involving surreptitious entry, Departmental Attorney William L. Gardner requested in a memorandum of 4/5/76, that the "Official and Confidential" file maintained by former Director Hoover be made available for his review at FBI Headquarters. (Copy of request attached.)

F. J. Cassidy to Mr. T. W. Leavitt memorandum of 4/5/76, advised of Mr. Gardner's request to review the O&C files, and sought approval for Mr. Gardner to review the O&C file index to determine what information therein was pertinent to the Departmental inquiry.

On 4/20/76, Mr. Gardner reviewed an Inspection Division summary document, dated 2/16/75, which categorizes and outlines generally material contained in the 164 O&C folders. Based on this review, Mr. Gardner advised he would like to review the following folders (non-derogatory) in the O&C files:

"3. PLEASE FURNISH FOR REVIEW EACH AND EVERY BUREAU FILE PERTAINING IN ANY WAY POSSIBLE TO THE SOCIALIST WORKERS PARTY AND THE WEATHER UNDERGROUND ORGANIZATION, INCLUDING JUNE FILES, INFORMANT FILES, SUB FILES, ETC. THIS INCLUDES BOTH HEAD-QUARTERS AND FIELD OFFICE FILES."

THE MEMORANDUM OF APRIL 13, REFERRED TO IN THE DEPARTMENTAL REQUEST, COMMUNICATED TO THE DEPARTMENT OUR LOCATION OF THE SAC FOLDERS IN THE NEW YORK OFFICE.

REQUEST 3 PERTAINS TO FILES AT HEADQUARTERS AND IN ALL FIELD OFFICES AND OBVIOUSLY CONCERNS LITERALLY THOUSANDS OF SECTIONS OF FILES. THE VOLUME OF INFORMATION TO BE REVIEWED HAS BEEN BROUGHT TO THE DEPARTMENT'S ATTENTION, NEVERTHELESS, THE DEPARTMENT REITERATED ITS DESIRE TO HAVE ALL OF THIS MATERIAL AVAILABLE FOR REVIEW.

BY "AVAILABLE FOR REVIEW," MR. GARDNER HAS INDICATED HE WOULD LIKE TO HAVE, IN THE CASE OF THE SAC FOLDERS, ALL MATERIAL ON HAND AND IMMEDIATELY AVAILABLE FOR HIS REVIEW. IN THE CASE OF THE SOCIALIST WORKERS PARTY (SWP) AND WEATHER UNDERGROUND ORGANIZATION (WUO) FILES, A SUFFICIENT NUMBER OF FILE SECTIONS SHOULD BE ON HAND TO INSURE A CONTINUOUS REVIEW. AS MR. GARDNER

REVIEWS THE SWP AND WUO FILES, HE EXPECTS TO BE ABLE TO HAVE WITHIN A REASONABLE AMOUNT OF TIME ADDITIONAL FILES (JUNE, INFORMANT, SUBS, ENCLOSURES, ETC.) WHICH HE IDENTIFIES FROM THE MAIN CASE FILES AS BEING PERTINENT TO THE INQUIRY.

THE METHOD BY WHICH THE FILES ARE SUPPLIED TO THE DEPARTMENTAL ATTORNEY IS LEFT TO YOUR DISCRETION; HOWEVER, IT IS EXPECTED THAT EVERY EFFORT BE MADE TO AVOID UNNECESSARY DELAY IN FURNISHING FILES TO HIM.

IN VIEW OF THE URGENCY OF THE DEPARTMENTAL REQUEST, AND THE VOLUMINOUS AMOUNT OF MATERIAL BEING SOUGHT FOR REVIEW, WE ARE LIMITED IN THE TIME AVAILABLE TO CONDUCT AN ADEQUATE REVIEW OF OUR SUBSTANTIVE FILES TO INSURE CONCEALMENT OF ASSETS' IDENTITIES; HOWEVER, IF INFORMANT FILES ARE CALLED FOR REVIEW BY MR. GARDNER, HE MAY BE FURNISHED THE INVESTIGATIVE SECTION OF THE INFORMANT'S FILE AND SUFFICIENT MATERIAL FROM THE ADMINISTRATIVE SECTION TO ESTABLISH NOT ONLY THE ASSET'S NATURE, I.E. ELECTRONIC SURVEILLANCE, HUMAN SOURCE, ETC., BUT ALSO ASSET'S BONA FIDES. IT IS SUGGESTED THAT JUSTIFICATION MEMORANDA, BEARING THE ASSET'S SYMBOL NUMBER, WOULD SUIT THIS PURPOSE. MR. GARDNER IS NOT TO BE FURNISHED THE ASSET'S NAME.

66-8160

MR. GARDNER IS NOT TO BE ADVISED OF THE SCOPE OF OPERATIONS INVOLVING USE OF UNDERCOVER SPECIAL AGENTS IN WEATHER UNDERGROUND MATTERS. SHOULD HE REQUEST AN ASSET FILE DEALING WITH THIS SUBJECT, HE SHOULD BE ADVISED THAT THE FILE OR FILES REQUESTED ARE BEING RESPECTFULLY WITHHELD ON INSTRUCTIONS OF FBI HEADQUARTERS, AND THAT REVIEW OF THOSE FILES WILL BE DISCUSSED PERSONALLY AT THE HEADQUARTERS LEVEL WITH ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL J. STANLEY POTTINGER, CHIEF OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION.

YOU SHOULD RESOLVE ANY QUESTION AS TO WHETHER OR NOT A PARTICULAR FILE SHOULD BE PROVIDED TO MR. GARDNER BY CONTACTING THE APPROPRIATE SUBSTANTIVE DESK AT FBIHQ.

YOU SHOULD INSURE THAT PERSONNEL ASSIGNED TO ASSIST MR. GARDNER IN OBTAINING MATERIAL FOR REVIEW ARE NOT CONNECTED WITH THOSE ENTRY MATTERS WHICH HE IS TO REVIEW. YOU SHOULD ALSO BE AWARE THAT MR. GARDNER HAS ADVISED HE DOES NOT WISH TO SPEAK WITH PERSONNEL INVOLVED IN ANY ASPECT OF THE MATTERS WHICH HE IS TO REVIEW.

66-8160

MR. GARDNER WILL BE ASSISTED IN HIS REVIEW BY DEPARTMENTAL ATTORNEY STEVEN HORN, ALSO OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION.

MAKE CERTAIN THAT AN ACCURATE RECORD IS KEPT OF MATERIAL PRESENTED TO MR. GARDNER FOR REVIEW. ON COMPLETION OF THE INQUIRY AT NEW YORK, FURNISH A COPY OF THIS RECORD TO INTD, ATTENTION: IS-3 SECTION.

PURPOSE:

To advise of a 4/21/76 request of the Department's Civil Rights Division for material and files relating to investigative matters which involved surreptitious entry (Copy Attached), for approval to send attached nitel to New York.

SYNOPSIS:

In connection with its ongoing investigation into investigative matters of the FBI which involved surreptitious entry, the Civil Rights Division forwarded on 4/21/76 a memorandum requesting: review of a number of Headquarters and field files relating to entry activity in Arab terrorist and black extremist matters; review of a number of files relating to Socialist Workers Party (SWP) candidates, members, organizers, and a campaign worker; review of Detroit, Michigan, records regarding certain alleged SWP burglaries or break-ins; an investigative report pertaining to one access to review "each and every Bureau file" pertaining "in any way possible" to the SWP and the Weather Underground Organization (WUO); review of the "SAC Folders" recently discovered in the New York Office, as well as a canvass of all field offices for similar materials; information as to whether or not the Bureau was conducting or contemplating conducting an investigation by the Inspection Division into the surreptitious entry question, particularly four entries recently discovered at New York which occurred two in 1972, and two in 1973; and, copies of communications between Headquarters and field offices regarding efforts made to ascertain the scope of entries against the SWP and WUO. Departmental Attorney William Gardner orally advised on 4/21/76, that he would like to begin his review at the New York Office on Monday, 4/26/76.

Memorandum to T. W. Leavitt
Re: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That, in accordance with requests in Category A, Questions 1-10, of the Civil Rights Division's request of 4/21/76, necessary steps be taken by IS-3 Section to insure appropriate material is made available, when called, at Headquarters; that field offices be notified of the Departmental request when appropriate.

2. That, as regards Category B, Questions 1-10, and Category C, Questions 4 and 6, IS-2 Section take appropriate steps to identify the subjects of these requests pertaining to the SWP and WUO, and insure that requested material is available, when needed, at Headquarters and in the field.

3. That, with respect to Category C, Questions 1-3 and 5, IS-3 Section initiate efforts to respond; that New York Office be advised immediately of the pending review.

4. That, with regard to Question 9, Category B, that the Bureau check [REDACTED] records, we attempt to clarify with Departmental Attorney Gardner the nature of this question prior to initiating action to respond.

5. That attached nitel be sent to New York.

Memorandum to T. W. Leavitt
Re: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

DETAILS:

In connection with its continuing investigation into investigative matters involving surreptitious entry, the Civil Rights Division forwarded on 4/21/76 a request for certain material and access to review a voluminous number of files.

Category A of the 4/21/76 request appears to relate almost exclusively to Arab terrorist matters. The attached copy of the request notes the subject of files we have been able to identify to date.

Category B of the request concerns the SWP, its members, candidates, and officials. The request does not specify the reason as to why the files are being requested for review. It is presumed that the Department has some indications that the individuals named were past targets of surreptitious entries.

Question 9, Category B, asks that we review Detroit, Michigan [redacted] records for information relating to alleged burglaries of the SWP in Michigan from 1970 to 1973. Fulfilling this request obviously depends on the cooperation afforded the Bureau by the [redacted]

It is not clear why this particular question has been posed, unless the Department expects to discover break-ins that may subsequently be attributed to Bureau activities. We propose to attempt to clarify this question with Mr. Gardner prior to taking the requested action.

New York, by attached nitel, is being alerted to the requests in Questions 1, 2, and 4, Category C. With respect to Question 3, we initiated a survey of all field offices in a communication of 4/13/76. When the results are assembled, we will immediately notify the Department.

DETAILS CONTINUED PAGE 4

Memorandum to T. W. Leavitt

DETAILS CONTINUED:

Question 4, Category C, asks the Bureau to furnish "each and every Bureau file pertaining in any way possible to the Socialist Workers Party and the Weather Underground Organization," including JUNE files, etc. This request includes Headquarters and field office files (all field offices). We are quite literally speaking of thousands of sections of files, and what amounts to a logistical problem of huge proportion.

Mr. Gardner indicated subsequent to his written request that he does not expect each and every file to be on hand in any one location for his immediate review, but that we should be prepared to furnish at his request and within a reasonable period of time the files he might wish to review. For example, on his visit to New York to review the SAC folders and the SWP and WUO files, he would expect to have the SAC folders immediately available for review. Should a file within those folders come to his attention that he feels necessary to review, he would expect the file to be made available at that time. The same would apply to the SWP and WUO files: that the organization files be on hand for ready review (for instance, sections 1 - 50 initially, then on request sections 51 - 100, and so forth). Where additional files are noted as being pertinent to his review, Mr. Gardner will request same and would like to have them made available.

Since Gardner's review will amount to a rather wide-ranging inquiry into our files, all offices will be instructed to record accurately what information and material is made available.

DETAILS CONTINUED:

With respect to Question 5, Category C, whether or not the Bureau was conducting or contemplating conducting an internal investigation of the surreptitious entry question, particularly two entries in 1972, and two entries in 1973, contact with Mr. Pottinger's office by our office of the Deputy Associate Director (Investigation) on 4/22/76 resulted in the determination that Mr. Pottinger's assistants would conduct first review of these matters at New York.

Mr. Gardner advised he would like to begin his review at New York on Monday, 4/26/76. He will be accompanied by Departmental Attorney Steven Horn, Civil Rights Division, who will assist in the review.

Pursuant to discussions between the Attorney General, Mr. Kelley and Mr. Pottinger, I advised Mr. Pottinger today that it would be permissible for him to personally review several closed informant files of the New York Office in connection with his inquiry concerning surreptitious entries. It was also agreed that during this review the identities would be concealed and should circumstances arise which might necessitate his requesting the identities, further discussions would have to take place. SAC Grubert of New York Office was telephonically advised of this decision.

PURPOSE:

To set forth our proposed action with respect to Question 5, page 4, of a 4/21/76 request of the Civil Rights Division (copy attached).

SYNOPSIS:

In a 4/21/76 request, the Civil Rights Division asked whether our "Inspection Division currently has any investigations underway or contemplated regarding surreptitious entries by Bureau personnel, including, but not limited to, two entries in 1972 and two entries in 1973 into residence of alleged WUO (Weather Underground Organization persons)." Information concerning these entries was recently transmitted to Headquarters from New York, and resulted from a review there of SAC folders. On learning of this material, particularly the entries within the Statute of Limitations, the Director indicated that the documents should be reviewed. On 4/22/76, Mr. James Turner, Deputy to Assistant Attorney General Pottinger, was contacted about our intention to have the Inspection Division examine this matter. We communicated our concern that our prior review of the documents might jeopardize, interfere with, or disrupt the Departmental review. Mr. Turner contacted Mr. Pottinger who indicated he would prefer that Civil Rights Division have first review of the documents in question. Mr. William L. Gardner, Departmental Attorney handling the Civil Rights Division's inquiry, was advised on 4/23/76 of our decision not to conduct a review of this material until his review is completed.

Memorandum to Mr. T. W. Leavitt
Re: Surreptitious Entries

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That Special Agent [redacted] maintain contact with Mr. Gardner to ascertain when he has concluded his review of those matters noted in Question 5, page 4, of the 4/21/76 Departmental request.

2. That on completion of the Departmental review, Inspection Division institute a review of instances of surreptitious entry as contained in New York's SAC folders, specifically those matters falling within the Statute of Limitations. In addition, Inspection Division should determine the basis for maintenance of the SAC folders at New York.

Memorandum to Mr. T. W. Leavitt
Re: Surreptitious Entries

DETAILS:

In a 4/21/76 request, the Civil Rights Division asked whether or not our Inspection Division had any investigations underway or contemplated regarding surreptitious entries performed by Bureau personnel, particularly, but not limited to, two entries performed in 1972 and two entries in 1973, all against "alleged WUO persons."

Information concerning the four specific entries mentioned by the Civil Rights Division, as well as information about numerous other entries which occurred since January 1, 1966, was furnished to Headquarters following New York's review of 25 volumes of SAC folders discovered in that office.

On learning of the discovery of this material, Director Kelley indicated that the documents in question should be reviewed, especially that material showing entries falling within the Statute of Limitations.

Prior to any action in this regard, we received on 4/21/76 a Departmental request. Since a review of this material by our Inspection Division might conceivably jeopardize, or act at cross purposes to the Civil Rights Division's inquiry, a decision was made to speak with Assistant Attorney General Pottinger for his views.

On 4/22/76, Mr. Pottinger's Deputy, Mr. James Turner, was contacted by Mr. Adams, and the areas of possible conflict as regards this review by the Bureau and Department were discussed with him. Mr. Turner communicated our views to Mr. Pottinger, who was then out of town, and Mr. Pottinger indicated he would prefer to review the pertinent materials in advance of any internal investigation by the Bureau. Mr. Pottinger advised he did not wish to tell the Bureau how or when to conduct an investigation into this area of obvious interest to us, however, he did indicate he would prefer to review the documents first.

On 4/23/76, Mr. William L. Gardner, Departmental Attorney handling the Civil Rights Division's inquiry, was advised of the discussion of Mr. Adams and Mr. Pottinger and their decision that the Civil Rights Division would have first review of the materials in question.

Mr. Pottinger agreed that on completion of the Departmental review, our Inspection Division would institute a review of instances of surreptitious entry as contained in New York's SAC folders, specifically those entries falling within the Statute of Limitations. In addition, Inspection Division will attempt to resolve the question regarding the basis for maintenance of the SAC folders.

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

Reference is made to our memorandum of April 13, 1976, in which we advised of documents discovered in our New York Office relating to surreptitious entries, and to your memorandum of April 11 in which you ask that, if not already done, all Bureau field offices be canvassed to determine whether or not other SAC folders existed in those offices.

On April 13, 1976, a communication was directed to all FBI field offices instructing that Special Agents in charge ascertain whether or not SAC folders or similar documents detailing surreptitious entries existed within their respective offices. Offices were directed to consult with knowledgeable personnel in fulfilling this request.

Our survey shows that although no further "SAC folders" pertaining to surreptitious entries were located in offices other than New York, three field offices identified several entries which had not previously been brought to your attention. These entries, by field office, are shown below:

Following discovery in New York of SAC folders which outlined surreptitious entries in that office over a period of years, the Director instructed that all offices be surveyed to determine whether or not similar documents were in existence. Field surveyed in our communication of April 13, 1976. No field offices in addition to New York uncovered SAC folders; however, certain documents were located at Washington Field, Los Angeles, and Chicago Offices showing entries not heretofore known at FBIHQ, or reported to the Civil Rights Division. This memorandum identifies these entries for the Department.

Detroit Office regarding this matter. FBIHQ may or may not have advanced information regarding any contact of the Detroit Office regarding this matter. Nevertheless, Detroit should be prepared to cooperate in the event of such contact. An accumulation of files in anticipation of such a contact is unnecessary. However, a list of files in response to this request should be prepared in order that necessary files can be readily obtained if such contact occurs.

By "available for review" Mr. Gardner has indicated he would like to have sufficient number of files on hand to insure a continuous review. As he reviews the SWP files, he expects to be able to have within a reasonable amount of time additional files (June, informant, subs, enclosures, etc.) which he identifies from the main case file as being pertinent to the inquiry.

The voluminous amount of material being sought for review will result in some limitation on the time available to conduct an adequate review of substantive files to insure concealment of informants. If informant files are called for review by the Departmental Attorney, such files are not to be made available. Immediately refer the matter to FBIHQ for consideration.

The method by which the files are supplied is left to your discretion. However, it is expected that every effort be made to avoid unnecessary delay in furnishing files to him.

You should resolve any question as to whether or not a particular file should be provided by contacting appropriate substantive desk at FBIHQ.

You should also insure that personnel assigned to assist in obtaining material for review are not connected with those entry matters which are to be reviewed. You should also be aware that Departmental Attorneys do not desire to speak with personnel involved in any aspect of the matters which they are to review.

In regard to Category B, Question 9, regarding review of records of [redacted] concerning burglaries, discussions were had with the Department concerning this matter. Inquiries at this time are to be limited to determining if any SWP member or person readily identified as a principal sympathizer, reported to the [redacted] during the period 1970-73 inclusive any break-in or burglary of offices of the SWP, its youth group, the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA), or the residence of any such person. If such report was made to the [redacted] ascertain specifically the identity of complainant, date of occurrence and location where incident occurred as well as additional facts as to the nature of the complaint and what action was taken by the [redacted] in response. This information is to be furnished to FBIHQ when obtained.

If a Departmental Attorney contacts Detroit, insure that accurate record is maintained of material presented for review. Upon completion of such review, furnish a copy of this record to the Intelligence Division, Attention, IS-3 Section.

Enclosed for SF are xerox copies of a communication received by captioned subject.

On 10/19/72, a highly sensitive anonymous source at [REDACTED] Brooklyn, NY, the temporary residence of captioned source, furnished the following information to the NYO:

[REDACTED] received a cassette and letter from an individuals who used the name [REDACTED] (SP ?). [REDACTED] apparently mailed this cassette and letter to the Pacific Counseling Service, 1232 Market Street, Suite 101, San Francisco, California 94102. The Pacific Counseling Service in turn mailed the cassette and letter to [REDACTED]

It appears, therefore, that the Pacific Counseling Service is a type of mail drop for [REDACTED] in San Francisco in that the Pacific Counseling Service has up-to-date information as to the residence of [REDACTED]. In fact [REDACTED] has only resided at [REDACTED] Brooklyn, NY, for two weeks.

It is recommended that the enclosed document entitled "Microphones; Policy Brief" and its accompanying three volumes of numbered exhibits, prepared by the Research Unit of the Research-Satellite Section in close coordination with the Special Investigative Division, be forwarded to the Director for his information and that this brief be updated as required.

The Director's views on eavesdropping by means of electronic devices have been long-standing and openly expressed. With regard to wiretapping, for example, the Director has steadfastly held his ground. In public statements, in discussions with and recommendations to various Attorneys General and in opinions solicited by other Government officials and members of Congress, the Director has continued to caution against the evil that could result through the indiscriminate use of these devices and from the lack of tight administrative controls over their operation.

It is apparent from the widespread press coverage and public discussion of the topic of electronic eavesdropping that the imprecise use of terminology has led to misunderstanding, if not confusion. Microphone surveillances are separate and distinct, although at times related to, technical or telephone surveillances. The use of microphones by the FBI has been brought into issue most recently in the civil suits in Las Vegas involving FBI personnel and in the Fred Black case. This brief attempts to examine microphone surveillances in detail and to trace definitively and authoritatively the legal problems and development of Bureau policy in this highly sensitive area. A separate policy brief on the subject of wiretapping is currently being prepared.

This brief, then, is a study in depth of the history of Bureau policy concerning microphone surveillances. It traces that policy from 1938 when Bureau authority was first required for their use through the continual dealings with the Department for legal guidance and counsel. It relates the significant court decisions in this area of the law, sets forth the Department's legal advice to the Bureau, and illustrates the Bureau's practical implementation of that guidance.

Throughout this document, the Department's knowledge and/or approval of microphone surveillances are documented. Of particular significance are the Bureau's efforts to obtain Departmental backing for the use of microphones involving trespass after Attorney General McGrath in February, 1952, ruled that he could not authorize them. Confronted with the absolute necessity of using this investigative technique to fulfill its pressing responsibilities, the Bureau began negotiations with the Department culminating in a memorandum from Attorney General Brownell on 5-20-54 which formed the basis for the Bureau's subsequent use of microphones involving trespass in both the security and criminal fields.

Of more recent interest the brief traces Bureau policy through the tenure of Attorney General Kennedy and his drive against organized crime. It documents in detail Mr. Kennedy's knowledge of and approval for microphone surveillances in investigations of organized crime. Moreover the brief sets forth factually the knowledge of Mr. Kennedy's staff that this technique was being used by the FBI. Finally, the brief brings Bureau policy up to date through the tenure of Attorney General Katzenbach.

In this brief an objective study in depth was undertaken to provide the Director with a clear picture of the development of Bureau policy involving microphone surveillances. This brief sets forth documented facts which will not only defend the Bureau against criticism but also present a positive and convincing case for the Bureau's tightly controlled and strictly limited use of microphone surveillances to achieve investigative coverage essential to the national safety and welfare.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That the enclosed policy brief be furnished to the Director for his information. (A detailed table of contents has been prepared for the Director's ready referral and use. Exhibits mentioned in the brief are keyed by numbers to the documents tabbed in the accompanying three volumes of exhibits).

SUMMARY

Extensive file reviews disclosed only that the early use of microphones by the FBI is not recorded in any detail. It appears that microphones were used by the FBI in the late 1920's and early 1930's to obtain intelligence in criminal cases. Prior Bureau authorization for microphone installations was first required in 1938 and since that time Bureau headquarters has maintained tight control over the field in the use of these devices.

Over the years, the FBI continually sought legal advice from the Department concerning microphone installations and the admissibility of evidence obtained from them. In the early 1940's the Department relied on a significant Supreme Court decision, Goldman v. United States, which held that a microphone surveillance was not equivalent to an illegal search and seizure prohibited by the Fourth Amendment. On the basis of this decision, Alexander Holtzoff, Special Assistant to the Attorney General, even advised that evidence obtained from a microphone installed by trespass would be admissible, because a microphone surveillance was not equivalent to an illegal search and seizure.

Recognizing the unsettled state of the law in this area, the Department in 1946 observed significantly, "...the operation of the FBI in detecting crime should not be disturbed merely upon a possibility..." Despite this comment by the Department, Bureau officials continued to be concerned about the admissibility of evidence obtained from microphones involving trespass.

In a review of existing policy on microphone installations by the Executive Conference on June 9, 1950, it was noted that the Department had knowledge of the FBI's use of microphones involving trespass in some cases. Nevertheless, the Bureau was installing and using microphones on its own authority--without authorization from the Department. The comment was made that the Bureau, in countenancing illegal activities by authorizing some microphones which involved trespass, was influenced by its overriding obligations to gather intelligence information in the security field and to safeguard the welfare of the country.

In this situation, the Bureau faced a dilemma. Although the Attorney General had authority by Presidential Directive to approve wire taps, he had no such authority in regard to microphone installations. The Executive Conference observed that if the FBI asked the Attorney General for authority to install microphones it would, in most instances, amount to a request for authority to engage in an illegal activity (trespass). Obviously, it was extremely doubtful that the Attorney General would grant such authority. Thus, to raise this issue with the Attorney General might result, when trespass was involved, in the loss of this investigative technique so vital to the fulfillment of the Bureau's responsibilities.

The over-all issue of the use of microphones involving trespass was presented directly to the Department in October, 1951. Attorney General McGrath replied as follows on February 26, 1952, "The records do not indicate that this question dealing with microphones has ever been presented before; therefore, please be advised that I cannot authorize the installation of a microphone involving trespass under existing law." The Director ordered that FBI microphone installations involving trespass be terminated at once. This was done except for three microphones in security cases.

Following Mr. McGrath's ruling, the Bureau began discussions with the Department because it was confronted with the problem of what actually constituted trespass in the then existing law. At this time, 1952, the Department believed that any microphone installation, except a contact device, constituted trespass unless approval were given by someone who controls the premises, such as a Bureau informant.

Faced with this situation, the Executive Conference of May 5, 1952, unanimously recommended approval of the following which became Bureau policy:

(1) that, basically, microphones be installed without trespass; (2) that, if this is not possible, and the intelligence to be gained is a necessary adjunct to the investigation in select cases, consideration be given to authorizing a microphone. After the Director conferred with Attorney General McGranery on June 6, 1952, the Attorney General authorized microphone installations in security cases even though trespass might be committed.

Bureau officials had regular discussions with Departmental Attorneys in an attempt to obtain a modification of the Department's strict interpretation of what constituted trespass in the installation of microphones. These discussions were influenced by a 1954 Supreme Court decision, Irvine v. California. Although the Court held that evidence obtained illegally by police from a microphone installed in a bedroom was admissible in a state court on a gambling charge, it described the conduct of the police as "incredible." This led the Department to conclude that the Court might decide the admissibility of evidence obtained by Federal officers from a microphone by balancing their "reprehensible" conduct against the nature of the crime and the weight of the evidence.

The negotiations with Departmental Attorneys for a modification of their interpretation of trespass culminated in a memorandum from Attorney General Brownell dated May 20, 1954. The Bureau had previously reviewed and approved his final draft of this memorandum. In that review, it was pointed out that the memorandum gave the Bureau a "green light" for the use of microphones in internal security cases. Relative to criminal cases, it was noted that the Attorney General was "not as strong but he takes cognizance of the need for microphone surveillances in cases affecting the national safety and indicates they should be used in only the more important investigations."

Following the receipt of this memorandum from Attorney General Brownell, the Director instructed that Mr. Tolson should pass on all microphone installations whether or not trespass was involved.

When the Bureau's Criminal Intelligence Program, as it exists today, was instituted in November, 1957, the field was instructed that no requests for technical coverage (wire taps) would be considered. Relying on the authority of Mr. Brownell's memorandum of May 20, 1954, the Bureau urged the field to use microphone surveillances in this Program.

The constant Bureau re-evaluation of policy concerning microphone surveillances caused the Executive Conference to again consider, on July 20, 1959, whether the Bureau should seek approval from the Attorney General before instituting microphone surveillances in specific criminal cases. The Executive Conference unanimously agreed, and the Director approved, that the Bureau should continue, as in the past, to rely upon the authority contained in Attorney General Brownell's May 20, 1954, memorandum. This policy was still being followed on January 21, 1961, when Robert Kennedy, who had already built a public image as a crusader against crime, became Attorney General and launched an intensified Federal drive against organized crime.

While Mr. Kennedy was Attorney General he had a close personal relationship with former FBI Assistant Director Courtney Evans who not only served in a liaison role between the FBI and the Attorney General, but also supervised the Bureau's drive against organized crime. Through this liaison, Mr. Kennedy had an opportunity to learn daily of the Bureau's progress in its investigation of organized crime.

Early in Mr. Kennedy's tenure as Attorney

General, his Deputy, Byron White, was furnished a memorandum dated May 4, 1961, for the Attorney General's information. This memorandum stated that the FBI policy on the use of microphone surveillances, with or without trespass, was based upon the May 20, 1954, memorandum from former Attorney General Brownell. It was also pointed out that the FBI was using microphone coverage on a restricted basis to obtain intelligence against organized crime.

When Mr. Evans told Mr. Kennedy in July, 1961, that the FBI was not using wire taps but was using microphones in its investigation of organized crime, the Attorney General stated that he was pleased that the FBI had been using microphone surveillances in organized crime matters.

(U) Mr. Kennedy's knowledge of FBI's use of microphones in its investigation of organized crime is clearly (C) evident in his written approval, on August 17, 1961 [REDACTED] another occasion, Mr. Kennedy revealed that he was aware that the FBI used microphones when he asked Mr. Evans to determine if the FBI had conducted a microphone surveillance on a former Chief Counsel for the Atomic Energy Commission.

Mr. Kennedy also listened, in March, 1963, to a tape recording in the FBI's Chicago Office. This recording was made from an FBI microphone surveillance. Again, when he was in the FBI's New York Office in November, 1963, Mr. Kennedy listened to a tape recording of a conversation between two La Cosa Nostra leaders. In both instances, the circumstances indicated that the recordings came from FBI microphone surveillances.

Moreover, members of Mr. Kennedy's staff were aware, on a continuing basis, of the FBI's use of microphones. For example, members of his staff were present in Chicago and in New York City when he listened to recordings from FBI microphone surveillances. Of significance, is a letter sent to Senator Sam J. Ervin, Jr., of North Carolina, by Assistant Attorney General Herbert J. Miller of the Criminal Division on May 25, 1961. In this letter, Mr. Miller said he had learned from the FBI that it was then using electronic listening devices to obtain intelligence regarding organized crime.

On April 9, 1964, the Director, in a memorandum to Assistant Attorney General Miller, stated, "...as the Department knows, this Bureau does utilize, on a very restricted basis, electronic investigative aids in the investigation of important matters affecting the security of the country and in the collection of important criminal intelligence information relating to organized crime..."

Mr. William Hundley, Chief of the Department's Organized Crime and Racketeering Section when Mr. Kennedy was Attorney General, stated in an interview by FBI representatives on December 30, 1965, that he had been aware, at the time, that the FBI had been using microphones in its investigation of the underworld "skimming operations" from gambling receipts at casinos in Las Vegas, and had discussed microphone coverage in Las Vegas with Assistant Attorney General Miller.

In regard to security matters, the FBI has broad authority through the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board to collect foreign intelligence in the United States. [REDACTED] Bureau policy on the use of microphone surveillances has undergone several major changes during the time Mr. Katzenbach has been Attorney General. On March 30, 1965, Mr. Katzenbach requested that, in line with similar procedures of long standing regarding technical surveillances (wire taps), requests for each microphone surveillance be submitted to him for approval.

In view of hearings being conducted by the Long Committee and the pressure it was bringing to bear on the Internal Revenue Service, the Attorney General stated, on July 12, 1965, that he wanted to be in a position to state that the FBI had no microphone coverage. The Director, in ordering the discontinuance of all microphone surveillances, noted that he realized the value of microphone installations in both security and criminal investigations, but he had to comply with the will of Congress and the desire of the Attorney General.

~~SECRET~~

Attorney General Katzenbach again authorized microphone surveillances in security cases on September 27, 1965. Although he said he recognized the need for microphone surveillances for intelligence relating to organized crime, the Attorney General stated that such coverage should be limited to security cases "in the light of the present atmosphere."

never authorized microphone surveillances in FBI investigations of organized crime. In addition, Mr. Katzenbach has stated that Mr. Kennedy told him that he was unaware of the FBI's use of microphone surveillances against organized crime. Mr. Katzenbach has, however, said "that the actions of the FBI in this area were in any event justified on the basis of understandings between the Bureau and prior (pre-1961) Attorneys General. He added, "I am prepared to stand behind those actions."

DEFINITION OF TERMS

Any clear comprehension of the problems involved in eavesdropping by means of electronic devices requires a precise definition of the terms involved. It is apparent from the widespread press coverage and public discussion of this topic that the imprecise use of terminology has led to misunderstanding, if not outright confusion. Therefore, for the purposes of this brief and in accordance with Bureau usage since May, 1943, the following definition of terms will be used:

Wire Tap (also known as Wire Tap Surveillance, Telephone Surveillance, Technical Surveillance, Tesur)

A wire tap is the monitoring of both ends of a telephone conversation. It is usually accomplished by physically attaching a device to the telephone line.

Microphone (also known as Microphone Surveillance, Misur)

A microphone is a device used to eavesdrop by means other than wire tapping. Described below are several variations of microphones some of which involve the use of telephone lines and/or equipment but do not constitute wire taps as defined above.

Combination Wire Tap and Microphone

In some instances, a microphone is concealed in a telephone instrument for the purpose of monitoring conversation in the area of the instrument as well as both ends of the telephone conversations. This is considered a combination wire tap and microphone.

EARLY POLICY

Extensive file reviews disclose only that the early use of microphones by the FBI is not recorded in any detail. It appears that microphones were used by the FBI during the 1920's. [REDACTED]

Bureau Authorization First Required in 1938

This requirement for prior Bureau authorization to install a microphone was incorporated in the Manual of Rules and Regulations on November 1, 1938, and read as follows:

Today, a substantially similar provision of the Manual of Rules and Regulations reads,

Instructions to Field, 1941, 1944

All Special Agents in Charge were advised by letter dated September 5, 1941, that all requests for the installation of microphone surveillances must be made by the Special Agent in Charge or the Acting Special Agent in Charge and must be made telephonically to Mr. Tamm or, in his absence, to Mr. Tolson. This letter also stated that Messrs. Tamm and Tolson would not authorize the installation of a microphone surveillance except upon the personal instructions of the Director. (Exhibit 5) These instructions were later modified on April 22, 1944, to permit the field to make the requests by coded teletype or by confidential letter as well as by teletype. (Exhibit 6)

LEGAL INTERPRETATIONS

Supreme Court Decision in Goldman Case, 1942

An important decision involving the use of a microphone was rendered by the United States Supreme Court on April 27, 1942. In this case, Goldman v. United States, the Court held that conversations overheard by Federal agents through the [REDACTED] (41)

(c) [REDACTED] installed on a wall adjoining the defendant's room were admissible and that the use of such an instrument was not a violation of the Fourth Amendment's provision against illegal searches and seizures. It is significant to note, however, that the installation of the instrument which produced the evidence did not involve a trespass. (316 U.S. 129)

FBI Distinction between Technical & Microphone Surveillances, 1943

All Special Agents in Charge were advised by letter dated May 15, 1943, that the term technical surveillance would be construed to mean a telephone surveillance as distinguished from a microphone surveillance. (Exhibit 7) The letter stated that it was essential that this distinction be borne in mind when requesting authorization because microphone surveillances were authorized by the Bureau but technical surveillances had to be approved by the Attorney General.

~~SECRET~~

At the time the letter of May 15, 1943, was written, the Attorney General had authority by virtue of a Presidential Directive of 1940 to approve wire tapping. (Exhibit 8) This Presidential Directive is still in effect today. On the other hand, the Attorney General had not been given similar authority to approve microphone surveillances at that time.

Legal Guidance Sought from Department, 1944

It is clearly evident that Bureau policy on microphone installations was influenced by answers to a series of hypothetical questions provided in a memorandum dated July 4, 1944, by Alexander Holtzoff, Special Assistant to the Attorney General. (Exhibit 9) The Director's inquiry which prompted Holtzoff's answers was the first in what was to become a series of requests over the years posing hypothetical situations involving the use of microphones and seeking legal advice and guidance from the Department.

~~SECRET~~

Pertinent portions of Holtzoff's reply were incorporated in a letter to all Special Agents in Charge dated August 15, 1944. (Exhibit 10) The following pertinent quotations are taken from this letter:

"1. Where a contact microphone is used upon the outer extremities of the premises and where no trespass has been made upon the premises from which the information is being obtained.'

"The evidence so obtained is clearly admissible.

"2. Where a microphone, not a contact microphone, is placed against the innermost property line of the premises of the individual in question. The type of installation had in mind is where the wall, baseboard, or other property is gone through from an adjoining room and the microphone placed against the wall, baseboard, telephone box, etc., of the premises in question.'

"The evidence so obtained is clearly admissible. It should be borne in mind in this connection... that evidence obtained by a trespass not amounting to an unlawful search and seizure is not rendered inadmissible merely because of the means by which it was secured.

"3. Where entrance is had into the premises in question with permission of the janitor, manager, or anyone else in authority and a microphone installation made within the confines of the room itself. It will be appreciated if an opinion is ventured in this regard: first, where the installation is made prior to the time that the person actually takes possession of the property; second, where the installation is made after the person is actually in possession and occupying the premises.'

"The evidence is clearly admissible if the installation is made prior to the time when the subject actually takes possession of the property. On the basis of the principles heretofore stated, it would seem also that the evidence should be admissible even if the installation is made while the subject is actually in possession and occupying the premises.

"'4. Where the existing facilities within the premises are used merely through a means of rewiring the same. It is meant by this that no actual microphone is installed and that the facilities presently on the premises are used for this purpose. It will be appreciated in this regard if you will venture an opinion: first, where the same is installed with permission of the janitor, manager, or other person of possible authority; second, where an actual trespass is committed.'

"The answer applicable to case No. 3, just discussed, also governs the situation in case No. 4. It is understood that rewiring does not involve any interception of a conversation passing over a telephone wire.

"'5. Where an actual trespass is committed and a microphone installation is made within the confines of the premises in question.'

"On the basis of the principles heretofore discussed, it would seem that evidence so obtained should be admissible, although no precise case decided by the courts involving such a situation has been found. The basic principle governing the situation is the one heretofore discussed, namely, that trespass not amounting to unlawful search and seizure does not vitiate the evidence obtained thereby and that microphone surveillance is not equivalent to an illegal search and seizure,*

Goldman v. United States, 316 U.S. 129.

"6. Where a microphone installation is made in a hall or room subject to public hire. In this regard it will be appreciated if you will offer an opinion in the event the installation is made prior to the actual hiring of the hall and after the actual hiring of the hall by the person in question, and where the installation is made with the permission of the management and/or as a result of trespass."

"In all of the situations envisaged within the foregoing question, it would seem that the evidence is admissible on the principle heretofore discussed. There is clearly no doubt as to its admissibility in the event that the installation is made prior to the actual hiring of the hall and with the permission of the management. While the question is not equally clear in the other instance, it would seem that on the general principle heretofore discussed, the evidence obtained under all of the sets of facts covered by case No. 6, should be admissible."

It should be emphasized that Mr. Holtzoff relied heavily on the decision in Goldman v. United States, particularly that portion of the decision which held that a microphone surveillance was not equivalent to an illegal search and seizure prohibited by the Fourth Amendment.

Instructions to Field, 1944, 1945

Tight Bureau supervision of technical and microphone surveillances is manifest in a letter addressed to all Special Agents in Charge on November 18, 1944. (Exhibit 11) It was stated in this letter that instructions requiring specific Bureau approval for the installation of any technical or microphone surveillance were first issued in a letter to all Special Agents in Charge on September 5, 1941, and had been brought to their attention on several occasions thereafter. These instructions were again being brought to their attention to insure that there would be no possibility of misunderstanding and to advise them that any deviation from these instructions would result in the most drastic administrative action.

Five months later, on April 18, 1945, all Special Agents in Charge were again reminded that they, or the Assistant Special Agents in Charge, must personally approve all requests sent to the Bureau for technical or microphone surveillances. (Exhibit 12)

Legal Guidance Obtained from Department, 1946, 1947

The Bureau's concern for close supervision and tight control of microphones is evident again in the early postwar period. Following the pattern of presenting hypothetical situations involving the use of microphones which had been established by the memorandum to Special Assistant to the Attorney General Holtzoff in 1944, the Director continued to make similar inquiries of the Department.

Assistant Attorney General T. Lamar Caudle responded to one such inquiry by memoranda dated December 3 and December 13, 1946. (Exhibit 13) The Department's answers to these hypothetical situations revealed a transformation in its interpretation of the law regarding the admissibility of evidence obtained from microphones.

In brief, Mr. Holtzoff had felt that the evidence might be admissible even if a trespass were committed, because a microphone did not constitute an unreasonable search and seizure under the Fourth Amendment. The Department was now of the opinion that evidence against the defendant obtained from a microphone would not be admissible even if entry into the space were made under color of authority, such as with the cooperation of a landlord or hotel manager.

A vertical strip of six small, square, black and white photographs showing various stages of a plant's growth or development, possibly a seedling or a small tree. The images are arranged vertically, with the top image showing a small, dark, rounded object (possibly a seed or a young plant) and the bottom image showing a more developed, leafy plant. The images are separated by thin white lines.

"Therefore, it would seem that where there has been a physical trespass upon the premises occupied by the defendant which directly results in affording the Federal agents with the means of listening to private conversations, the evidence obtained by that means would be inadmissible on the ground that it was obtained by an illegal search and seizure. The hypothetical situations listed by the Director of the FBI pose varying degrees of trespass. The answers to the problems presented are a matter of judgment which must be based upon the relationship between the trespass and the ability to overhear the conversation."

~~SECRET~~

In rendering its opinions on these hypothetical situations, the Department noted the unsettled state of the law in this area and, where it was not sure of its ground because there was no case in point, it observed significantly,

"...the operation of the FBI in detecting crime should not be disturbed merely upon a possibility..."

After a thorough study of this Departmental opinion, the Bureau incorporated the results into a letter to All Special Agents in Charge dated March 31, 1947. (Exhibit 14)

PROBLEM OF MICROPHONES INVOLVING TRESPASS

Review of Bureau Policy by Executive Conference, June 9, 1950

The unsettled law regarding the admissibility of evidence obtained from microphones was obviously of continuing concern to Bureau officials. That concern and a realistic effort to deal with this situation are reflected in the deliberations of the Executive Conference held on June 9, 1950. (Exhibit 15) The Conference dealt with the problems inherent in the use of three types of microphone installations: (1) [REDACTED]

(c) [REDACTED] which, in addition to monitoring conversations in a room, overhears both sides of any conversation on the telephone; (2) a microphone installed in the space either occupied by the subject or in which the subject is located at the time the conversation occurs; and (3) a microphone located outside the space occupied by a subject, such as a contact microphone on an adjoining wall which does not involve trespass.

The Executive Conference reviewed existing policy on these types of installations and noted that in none of the three installations cited did the Bureau advise the Department or seek authority for the installation of the microphone* It was noted, however, that prior to the installation of a [REDACTED] authority was obtained from the Attorney General for the installation of a technical*surveillance because the [REDACTED] is, in reality, a form of wire tap. In seeking such authority, it was also pointed out that the Attorney General was not advised that the particular technical installation was a combination [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

In discussing the various types of microphones used by the Bureau, the conferees took note of the fact that a microphone installed in the premises of a subject is, in many instances, illegal because the installation is accomplished by trespass. There was also discussion on the point that all such microphones might be considered illegal by the courts even though they were installed on the premises prior to occupation by the subject. It was agreed, therefore, that the problem of using such microphones should be approached under the presumption that they might be considered illegal.

On the other hand, it was agreed that, according to the existing state of the law as interpreted for the Bureau

*Underlining added for emphasis

by the Department, there appeared to be no necessity to seek authorization from the Attorney General for the installation of a contact microphone outside the space occupied by the subject. This was so since there was no trespass involved and, at that time, this type of installation was regarded as legal.

The Executive Conference of June 9, 1950, observed that the Department had, of course, indirect notice of the Bureau's use of the microphone technique. This indirect notice stemmed from the Bureau's requests, over the years, for Departmental opinions as to the admissibility of evidence obtained in a variety of hypothetical situations involving the use of microphones. The Department also had direct knowledge that the FBI was using microphones from the Bureau's replies to questions concerning the availability of witnesses and the admissibility of evidence in some cases being considered for prosecution. For example, a microphone was utilized in the espionage case involving Judith Coplon, an employee of the Justice Department.

Nevertheless, the Conference noted that, under existing policy, the Bureau was installing and using

~~2~~

it had not objected to their use. Thus, to raise this issue with the Attorney General might result, when trespass was involved, in the loss of this investigative technique so vital to the fulfillment of the Bureau's responsibilities.

During the Executive Conference of June 9, 1950, Mr. Tolson stated that he was opposed to the use of any technique known to be illegal. Mr. Tolson believed that the Bureau's position in using such techniques was untenable and that the Bureau would have to answer to criticism for any illegal activities. The Director commented, "I have no other alternative as this is presented but to agree with Tolson."

Under date of July 5, 1950, a memorandum to the Department raising the issue of using microphones involving trespass was prepared. (Exhibit 16) This memorandum, which was never sent to the Department, was returned to the Domestic Intelligence Division on April 23, 1951, with instructions to hold it until a more propitious time.

Department's Continuing Awareness of Microphone Surveillances

Although the Department was not informed in writing at that time of our use of microphones involving trespass, extensive discussions were held between Bureau representatives and officials of the Department concerning the use of microphones in the cases against communist leaders then being prosecuted under the Smith Act. It was agreed that, whenever the Department was giving serious consideration to the institution of criminal prosecution in any case, the Bureau would, upon request, advise the Department in detail concerning any telephone or microphone surveillance employed by the Bureau or by other Federal agencies when the latter was known. In addition it was agreed that the Bureau would furnish such information without a formal request whenever it was aware or had reason to believe that the Department was seriously considering prosecution. (Exhibit 17)

Mr. Belmont, other Bureau representatives, Deputy Attorney General A. Devitt Vanech, Mr. McInerney, and other Departmental attorneys conferred on October 2, 1951.

(Exhibit 18) During this conference, Mr. Belmont asked Mr. McInerney whether there was any doubt in his mind that microphones had been used in cases involving Smith Act subjects and that at least some of the microphones were installed by trespass. Mr. McInerney replied that the Department was aware that such microphones had been used.

Issue of Microphones Involving Trespass Presented to Department, 1951

In view of allegations made by defense attorneys in the Smith Act cases relative to FBI electronic coverage of defendants, a memorandum was sent to the Attorney General on October 6, 1951. (Exhibit 19 ) With regard to microphones, this memorandum stated:

"As you are aware, this Bureau has also employed the use of microphone installations on a highly restrictive basis, chiefly to obtain intelligence information.... In certain instances it has been possible to install microphones without trespass, as reflected by opinions rendered in the past by the Department on this subject matter. In these instances the information obtained, of course, is treated as evidence and therefore is not regarded as purely intelligence information.

"As you know, in a number of instances it has not been possible to install microphones without trespass. In such instances the information received therefrom is of an intelligence nature only."

This Bureau memorandum concluded by presenting the issue in these words:

"...I would like to have a definite opinion from you as to whether, in view of the highly productive intelligence information gathered from these sources, we should continue to utilize this technique on the present highly restricted basis, or whether we should cease the use of microphone coverage entirely in view of the issues currently being raised."

Attorney General McGrath Will Not Authorize Microphones
Involving Trespass, February 26, 1952

Attorney General McGrath responded to the Director's request by memorandum dated February 26, 1952. (Exhibit 20) He said that the use of a microphone surveillance which did not involve trespass would seem to be permissible under the present state of the law and cited United States v. Goldstein (316 U.S. 129). He observed that surveillances that "involve trespass are in the area of the Fourth Amendment, and evidence so obtained and from leads so obtained is inadmissible." Mr. McGrath went on to say, "The records do not indicate that this question dealing with microphones has ever been presented before; therefore, please be advised that I cannot authorize the installation of a microphone involving a trespass* under existing law."

On this memorandum the Director noted, "See that all such installations are terminated at once." In accordance with the Director's instructions, all Special Agents in Charge were advised by letter dated March 4, 1952, that effective immediately authorization would not be granted to install any microphone surveillance involving trespass and that any such installation presently being utilized should be discontinued at once and the Bureau so advised. (Exhibit 21)

Department Broadens Its Interpretation of Trespass, 1952

Following the receipt of the memorandum of Attorney General McGrath dated February 26, 1952, the Bureau was still confronted with the problem of what actually constituted trespass in the then existing law. Accordingly, another set of hypothetical situations involving microphone surveillances was presented to the Department in a memorandum dated February 28, 1952. (Exhibit 22) The Department's memorandum of reply, dated April 10, 1952, furnished a tentative, but much broader, conception of what constituted trespass. (Exhibit 23) For example, the penetration of a common wall was said to partake of the nature of a trespass. It was even said, in contrast to an earlier opinion, that an installation of a microphone in the air space above the ceiling of a room occupied by a subject now constituted trespass. Another opinion advanced, in contrast to earlier advice, was that a guest in a hotel had the exclusive use of his room and the absolute right of privacy.

involving trespass, the Executive Conference met on March 14, 1952, and discussed Bureau policies to implement this ruling. (Exhibit 28)

Following this Executive Conference, a letter was sent to all Special Agents in Charge on March 26, 1952.

(Exhibit 29) They were advised that their requests for authority to utilize microphone surveillances must state that no trespass of any kind would be involved either in the installation or maintenance of the microphone. For guidance in determining if trespass were involved, their attention was called to the hypothetical situations previously furnished to them.

Based on the reply from the Department, coupled with opinions previously furnished, it now appeared that it would be possible to install microphones without trespass only in the following instances:

When Agents had legal access to adjoining property and installed a contact microphone on the outer wall of the space controlled by the subject.

When a microphone was installed within the premises with the knowledge and consent of the occupant. This would apply to persons cooperating with the Bureau, such as sources and informants.

When a microphone was installed in a public hall and the party contracting for the use of the space did not stipulate that it would be a closed meeting.

In analyzing the Bureau's position at that time, the memorandum dated April 28, 1952, stated "We have now reached the point where we must decide whether we should give up microphone coverage, for that is the net result of the Department's rulings, or whether our responsibilities for internal security and espionage intelligence require the continued use of this technique on a restricted basis despite trespass." After reviewing the absolute necessity for obtaining such vital information in security cases, the memorandum concluded, "Bearing in mind the intelligence part of our responsibilities as contrasted to the prosecutive, it is questionable whether we can afford to give up microphone coverage."

~~SECRET~~

It was recommended in the memorandum that:

"1. We insist basically that microphone surveillances be installed without trespass.

"2. If it is not possible to install a microphone as above indicated, and the intelligence to be gained therefrom is a necessary adjunct to the investigation involved, consideration be given to authorizing the installation. These surveillances will be limited to an absolute minimum and will only be authorized when vitally necessary and when prosecution is not contemplated."

The Executive Conference of May 5, 1952, unanimously recommended approval of the recommendations set forth above. Mr. Tolson agreed but suggested that those installations about which there was a legal question be reviewed. The Director concurred and commented, "I am inclined to discontinue all about which there is any legal question."

(Exhibit 30)

Attorney General McGranery Authorizes Microphones Involving Trespass in Security Cases, June 6, 1952

The Director conferred with Attorney General McGranery on June 6, 1952, concerning the problem of microphone installations where trespass was involved. By way of background, a memorandum from Mr. Belmont to Mr. Ladd, dated May 23, 1952, had expressed the opinion that the value of the intelligence information gathered warranted the use of microphone surveillances even though trespass was involved. (Exhibit 31) However, it was essential that the Bureau obtain the backing of the Attorney General for the use of this technique. Mr. Tolson had commented that he believed these microphones should be removed unless the Attorney General authorized them. The Director noted that he would speak to the Attorney General.

In the conference with Attorney General McGranery on June 6, 1952, the Director referred to the fact that the prior Attorney General, McGrath, had ruled he could not approve the installation of microphones where trespass was involved. (Exhibit 32) The Director told Attorney General McGranery that such installations had been utilized on a very limited basis by the FBI and only in cases which directly affected the internal security of the United States. The Director pointed out that, after this ruling by Attorney General McGrath on February 26, 1952, the Bureau had discontinued nearly all of the microphone installations which involved trespass.

~~SECRET~~

Attorney General McGranery told the Director that he thought it was entirely proper for installations of microphones to be made in any case where elements were at work against the security of the United States and that, in such instances, where the Director felt there was a need to install microphones, even though trespass might be committed, he would leave it to the Director's judgment as to the steps to take. The Director informed Attorney General McGranery that this authority would be used only in extreme cases and only in cases involving the internal security of the United States.

Discussions to Obtain Modification of Department's Interpretation of Trespass

For almost a year following the Director's conference with Attorney General McGranery on June 6, 1952,

~~SECRET~~

Bureau officials were in regular contact with Departmental attorneys with regard to a study the Department was making to determine under what conditions microphone surveillances might properly be made. The Department's approach to this problem was outlined in conferences with Departmental attorneys William Foley and Thomas Hall of the Criminal Division.

On December 1, 1953, attorneys Foley and Hall stated that it was apparent to them that the Attorney General, as chief law enforcement officer of the country, could not be placed in the position of authorizing outright trespass. (Exhibit 33) However, bearing in mind the value of the microphone technique in cases affecting the national welfare and security, they felt that the Attorney General could, in effect, throw his weight behind the Bureau in those cases where trespass was a technical violation or where trespass was arguable. Attorneys Foley and Hall stated that they believed that the previous interpretation by the Department as to what constituted trespass was far too restrictive.

Mr. Belmont and Mr. Hennrich of the Bureau suggested to attorneys Foley and Hall at this conference on December 1, 1953, that it might be possible for the

~~SECRET~~

Attorney General to send to the Bureau a memorandum modifying the Department's interpretation of trespass and giving Departmental backing for the use of microphones in situations where there was not outright and clear trespass. Specifically, three situations were cited:

- (4/7/1E)
- (1) Where a microphone was placed within the subject's dwelling by means of [REDACTED] in other words, the microphone was [REDACTED] without actual entry into the space.
  - (2) Where the microphone was [REDACTED]
  - (3) Where a microphone was placed within the subject's room or meeting place through actual access to the space but where such access was gained through the assistance of a person having legal access to the space, such as a landlord, hotel manager, etc.

Mr. Belmont and Mr. Hennrich estimated that, if the Bureau received Departmental backing in regard to installations of the types described, it would cover more than 75 per cent of the microphones the Bureau was then using in security cases. They noted, however, that the Bureau would still be in the position, in certain other exceptional cases where prosecution was not contemplated, of needing microphone coverage despite the outright trespass involved, because it would be essential to the national welfare.

An interim memorandum concerning the Department's study, dated December 9, 1953, was received from Assistant Attorney General Warren Olney, III. (Exhibit 34) This Departmental memorandum reviewed the state of existing law regarding microphone surveillances and reached conclusions, pertinent portions of which follow:

"The evidence secured by a microphone surveillance and accompanied by the commission of a trespass may or may not be admissible, depending on the view taken by the Courts, in balancing the 'reprehensible' conduct of federal agents in securing the evidence against the nature of the crime and the weight of the evidence, of their prerogative to exclude the evidence by establishing a judicial rule of evidence, as in the McNabb decision, entirely apart from constitutional considerations.

"In conclusion, this Division is constrained to emphasize what is already manifest from the above discussion and analysis, that the legal questions posed by the hypothetical situations in your memorandum of February 28, 1952, and related memoranda, partake of a novel character and, hence, are not susceptible to precise determination on the basis of precedent or authority. Moreover, our task, in formulating and applying a theoretical yardstick, is made more difficult by the distinct and continuing conceptual conflict within the Supreme Court itself, with respect to the application of the constitutional safeguards against 'unreasonable searches and seizures' and the relative significance of an 'illegal entry' or 'trespass' in determining the admissibility or non-admissibility of the evidence involved herein.

~~SECRET~~

It is obvious, therefore, that in reconsidering this matter and restating our views, it is impossible to forecast with certainty the future trends of the Supreme Court in this area and to predict their judicial acceptability."

Supreme Court Decision in the Irvine Case, 1954

While the Department was engaged in its study of microphone surveillances, a significant case was decided by the United States Supreme Court on February 8, 1954. In this case, Irvine v. California, (347 U.S. 123) local law enforcement officers, with authorization from the district attorney, installed a microphone surveillance involving trespass on the premises of Patrick E. Irvine. The police re-entered Irvine's premises on two separate occasions to change the location of the microphone. After installing the microphone in his bedroom, they were able to obtain evidence which led to his arrest on bookmaking charges.

The United States Supreme Court, in a five to four decision, upheld the conviction on the grounds that the illegally obtained evidence could be admitted in a state court for a state crime and such admission did not violate the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. However, the Court strongly denounced the activities of the police and suggested that the court record be brought to the attention of the Attorney General of the United States to determine if there were any violations of civil rights statutes.

Of more significance to the work of the Bureau, however, was the fact that the justices, in both the majority and dissenting opinions, felt that the actions of the police were "incredible." This comment by the justices recalled the earlier opinion received from the Department in its memorandum of December 9, 1953, that the Courts might decide whether evidence obtained by microphone surveillance was or was not admissible by balancing the "reprehensible" conduct of Federal agents in securing the evidence against the nature of the crime and the weight of the evidence.

MEMORANDUM OF AUTHORIZATION FROM ATTORNEY GENERAL BROWNELL

Bureau Continues to Seek Departmental Backing, 1954

Meantime, the Bureau had not received any statement from the Attorney General giving backing for the use of microphones in situations where there was not outright and clear trespass involved. It will be recalled that such backing had been the subject of discussion between Bureau representatives and Departmental attorneys on December 1, 1953.

The Director, therefore, instructed that the Department be pressed on this matter and suggested that Mr. Nichols discuss it with Mr. Rogers of the Department and that Mr. Boardman discuss it with Mr. Olney.

When Mr. Nichols spoke to Mr. Rogers on March 29, 1954, Mr. Rogers inquired regarding the nature of the situations that would involve microphone surveillances. (Exhibit 35) Mr. Nichols explained that they would involve, essentially, espionage and other internal security matters. Mr. Rogers agreed that the Department should back the Bureau in these matters and requested that, on an informal basis, he be furnished with a draft covering the Bureau's requirements.

~~SECRET~~

Mr. Boardman spoke to Mr. Olney and other Departmental attorneys on March 30, 1954. (Exhibit 36 ) Mr. Olney referred to the case of Irvine v. California, and discussed it in some detail. He expressed the opinion that the violent reaction of the Supreme Court was due to the fact that the police had installed the microphone in the subject's bedroom and thereby exposed the private domestic life of the occupants. The fact that the police acted under the color of authority provided by the district attorney's knowledge that they had used a microphone surveillance did not, Olney pointed out, soften the Court's violent reaction. Olney added that this decision made it even more difficult for the Department to forecast the reaction of the courts where trespass was involved.

After considerable discussion, Mr. Olney agreed to the following:

- (1) that microphone coverage was necessary in security cases in the national interest
- (2) that any cases going to prosecution must be carefully evaluated if a microphone had been used
- (3) that the Department would modify its interpretation of what constituted trespass in the installation of microphones

~~SECRET~~

~~SECRET~~

(4) that the Department would back the Bureau in the use of microphones in security cases

(5) that the Attorney General should furnish a memorandum to the Bureau covering points one, three, and four above.

Mr. Olney also requested that the Bureau furnish the Department with an informal draft on these points from which the Attorney General's memorandum would be prepared.

Among the suggestions made by Mr. Olney at this conference on March 31, 1954, was one to present proposed microphone installations to the Attorney General for his specific authority, as was being done in wire taps. At the same time, Mr. Olney stated that he doubted that the Attorney General would authorize a microphone installation involving a clear trespass.

In his March 31, 1954, memorandum to the Director reporting this conference with Mr. Olney, Mr. Boardman pointed out that there were two fundamental drawbacks in Mr. Olney's suggestion. First, there would be occasions when it was imperative that a microphone be installed immediately and there could be a delay in obtaining approval from the Attorney General. Second, it was once again doubtful that the Attorney General would approve a microphone installation where there was clear trespass. Nevertheless, the Bureau's responsibilities demanded that a limited number of such installations be used. Therefore, the Bureau continued to face a dilemma. It could either install microphones on its own authority in limited situations to obtain vital information or it could risk losing coverage necessary in discharging its responsibilities if these requests for microphone coverage were presented to the Attorney General and denied.

~~SECRET~~

~~SECRET~~

Bureau Presents Draft Memorandum to the Department

In accordance with the suggestions of Mr. Rogers and Mr. Olney, the Bureau furnished the Department, on April 1, 1954, a draft of the proposed memorandum from the Attorney General backing the Bureau in the use of microphones involving a trespass. (Exhibit 37 )

Mr. Nichols discussed this proposed draft with Mr. Rogers on April 14, 1954. (Exhibit 38 ) Mr. Rogers stated that, after further reflection, he did not think much of the idea of having the Attorney General "clear microphone surveillances on the ground that time was of the essence and he thought the Attorney General would be in a much better position to defend the Bureau in the event there should be a technical trespass if he had not heretofore approved it." Mr. Tolson noted, and the Director agreed, "...we would be in a better position to submit requests to AG as we do wire taps."

Final Draft of Proposed Memorandum from Attorney General Brownell

On May 7, 1954, Mr. J. Walter Yeagley of Mr. Olney's office furnished the Bureau a copy of the final draft for the proposed memorandum from the Attorney General. This proposed memorandum would provide the Bureau with backing in the use of microphone surveillances involving a trespass. This final draft was reviewed and evaluated in a memorandum from Mr. Belmont to Mr. Boardman dated May 8, 1954.

(Exhibit 39)

The final draft was approved by the Director, and Mr. Yeagley was advised of that approval on May 10, 1954. That draft became in fact an official memorandum from Attorney General Brownell dated May 20, 1954. (Exhibit 40)

It is important to examine in some detail the Bureau's evaluation of that final draft to comprehend the intent of those who had figured in the negotiations for this official backing from the Attorney General.

C O

In his memorandum dated May 8, 1954, Mr. Belmont set forth the following analysis of the final draft for the proposed memorandum from Attorney General Brownell:

"...the Attorney General would be giving us the green light for the use of microphones in internal security* cases... (he) points out the Bureau has an intelligence function as well as a duty to develop evidence for prosecution. In the last sentence of the memorandum it is stated, 'I recognize that for the FBI to fulfill its important intelligence function, considerations of internal security and the national safety are paramount and, therefore, may compel the unrestricted use of this technique in the national interest.'

"...relative to criminal* cases, the Attorney General is not as strong but he takes cognizance of the need for microphone surveillances in cases affecting the national safety* and indicates they should be used in only the more important investigations.

"...The Attorney General points out the need for discretion and intelligent restraint in use of microphones by the FBI in all cases, including internal security matters,* and refers to the Irvine case... The Attorney General, in effect, indicates that we should not put microphones in a bedroom or some comparable intimate location but at the same time, he points out that if important intelligence or evidence relating to matters connected with the internal security can only be obtained by such an installation, it is his opinion that under such circumstances the installation is proper and is not prohibited by the U. S. Supreme Court's decision in the Irvine case.

*Underlining added for emphasis

"...relative to trespass, each case will be considered on its own merits but the Department in resolving the problems which may arise, will review the circumstances in the light of the practical necessities of investigation and of the national interest which must be protected."

Mr. Belmont observed, in his memorandum of May 8, 1954, that there was no objection to the final draft of the memorandum from Attorney General Brownell, and stated that Bureau policy would continue to stress the necessity for microphone installations without trespass, particularly in cases which might go to prosecution [REDACTED]

(4)(U) [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] (S) In addition, the Bureau would point out to the field that it should avoid installations in locations such as bedrooms. With regard to criminal cases, it was noted that the same rules would apply and care would be taken to restrict microphone installations to important cases.

Attorney General Brownell Authorizes Microphones Involving Trespass, May 20, 1954

The negotiations between Bureau officials and Departmental attorneys for a modification of the interpretation of trespass and for Departmental backing for FBI use of microphone surveillances culminated in a memorandum from Attorney General Brownell to the Director dated May 20, 1954. This memorandum was, as previously noted, identical with the final draft analyzed by Mr. Belmont and approved by the Director. Pertinent portions of this memorandum follow:

~~SECRET~~

"The recent decision of the Supreme Court entitled Irvine v. California, 347 U.S. 128, denouncing the use of microphone surveillances by city police in a gambling case makes appropriate a reappraisal of the use which may be made in the future by the Federal Bureau of Investigation of microphone surveillance in connection with matters relating to the internal security of the country.

"It is clear that in some instances the use of microphone surveillance is the only possible way of uncovering the activities of espionage agents, possible saboteurs, and subversive persons. In such instances, I am of the opinion that the national interest requires that microphone surveillance be utilized by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. This use need not be limited to the development of evidence for prosecution. The FBI has an intelligence function in connection with internal security matters equally as important as the duty of developing evidence for presentation to the courts and the national security requires that the FBI be able to use microphone surveillance for the proper discharge of both of such functions. The Department of Justice approves the use of microphone surveillance by the FBI under these circumstances and for these purposes...

After the receipt of Mr. Brownell's memorandum of May 20, 1954, immediate steps were taken to insure that Bureau policy and procedures adhered to the guidelines established by the Attorney General. It was stressed that the FBI would use microphones on a restricted basis in security and important criminal cases. The Director instructed at this time, "I want the sane standards to prevail in this project as prevail in the authorization of 'Technicals.' No installations are to be authorized unless approved specifically by Tolson personally." The Director emphasized that he wanted "Tolson to pass on all microphone installations whether with or without trespass." (Exhibit 41)

USE OF MICROPHONES IN CRIMINAL INTELLIGENCE PROGRAM

Basic Policy

The Bureau's Criminal Intelligence Program, as it exists today, began during the latter part of November, 1957, following the infamous and much publicized meeting of more than 60 racketeers at the estate of Joseph Barbara at Apalachin, New York, on November 14, 1957.

The planning for the Bureau-wide Criminal Intelligence Program took place at a two-day conference, held in Washington, D. C., and attended by Bureau officials and several Special Agents in Charge who would be expected to play major roles in the implementation of this effort.

The original instructions, which were sent to all field offices on November 27, 1957, outlined the general avenues of investigation and the goals to be achieved in establishing broad intelligence coverage of organized crime in this country. (Exhibit 42) These instructions stated, "Existing Bureau instructions must be fully complied with in the utilization of highly confidential sources or microphone surveillances. No requests for technical coverage (wire taps) will be considered."*

*Underlining added for emphasis

~~SECRET~~

~~SECRET~~

In the implementation of the Bureau's Criminal Intelligence Program, the field was urged to use microphone surveillances. For example, all Special Agents in Charge were instructed by letter dated June 11, 1959, to be alert for situations in which extraordinary and confidential investigative techniques could be employed to advantage. (Exhibit 43 ) This letter cited a microphone surveillance as a good example of a highly confidential investigative technique which had already provided extremely valuable information concerning the activities of a notorious New Jersey hoodlum. The letter specifically pointed out that it would be necessary that aggressiveness, initiative, and good judgment be exercised so these techniques would be utilized in well-selected situations.

Review of Microphone Utilization in Criminal Intelligence Program

In compliance with a request from Mr. Tolson, Mr. Belmont examined the microphone surveillances being used in the Criminal Intelligence Program and reported his findings in a memorandum to Mr. Tolson dated July 2, 1959. (Exhibit 44 ) In this regard, Mr. Belmont reviewed the developments leading to Attorney General Brownell's memorandum of May 20, 1954. Mr. Belmont pointed out that FBI authority for the use of microphones in criminal cases evolved from that portion of Mr. Brownell's memorandum in which he stated, "I recognize that for the FBI to fulfill its important intelligence function, considerations of internal security and the national safety are paramount and, therefore, may compel the unrestricted use of this technique in the national interest." By way of explanation, Mr. Belmont stated:

~~SECRET~~

"It is noted that the use of the terminology 'national safety' was interpreted by the Bureau to include criminal cases, particularly as in the AG's letter he uses terminology such as the 'need for discretion and intelligent restraint in the use of microphones by the FBI in all cases,*including internal security matters.' It appears, therefore, that the AG's letter, while primarily directed toward security matters as this was the basis on which the issue was raised with the Department, used terminology which was interpreted by the Bureau to apply to criminal cases as well."

Executive Conference Affirms Interpretation of "National Safety"

On July 20, 1959, the Executive Conference again considered the question of seeking approval from the Attorney

*Underlining added for emphasis

General before instituting microphone surveillances in specific criminal cases. As a result of this deliberation, the following summation, approved by the Director, was made:

"The Executive Conference considered whether existing policy with reference to installation of microphone surveillances should be changed at this time or whether we should re-present this matter to the AG for reaffirmation of Departmental policy as set out in the AG's memorandum of 5/20/54. It was the belief of the Executive Conference that the language of the AG's 5/20/54 memorandum covered both Security and Criminal matters; that we are adequately protected by this opinion of the AG, supported by that of Mr. Rogers in his discussion of this matter with Mr. Nichols on 4/27/54. The Executive Conference unanimously agreed that as long as Mr. Rogers continues as AG this matter not be represented but that we proceed as in the past on the strength of the 5/20/54 memorandum."
(Exhibit 45)

Reminder to Field Where Trespass Involved

By letter dated January 22, 1960, all Special Agents in Charge were reminded that whenever they requested authority to install a microphone surveillance complete details of the proposed installation must be furnished to the Bureau and they must point out specifically whether trespass would be involved and whether the microphone would be installed in the telephone or a telephone instrument would be used in any way. (Exhibit 46 ) The letter stressed that all Special Agents in Charge must continue to supervise personally all microphone surveillances.

TENURE OF ATTORNEY GENERAL ROBERT KENNEDY, 1961-1964

Overall Bureau policy on microphone surveillances which developed from the authority granted in Attorney General Herbert Brownell's memorandum of May 20, 1954, was still being followed on January 21, 1961, when Robert F. Kennedy was sworn in as Attorney General.

Crusader Against Organized Crime

For a number of years prior to January 21, 1961, Mr. Kennedy had built a public image as a staunch crusader against organized crime. He had served as counsel for the Senate Committee which investigated labor racketeering. He had also written a book, "The Enemy Within" (1960), in which he warned, "If we do not on a national scale attack organized criminals with weapons and techniques as effective as their own, they will destroy us." (Exhibit 49)

In November, 1960, Mr. Kennedy appeared on the television program, "Meet the Press." (Exhibit 50) During this program, he said that something must be done about organized crime, and mentioned the meeting of the Nation's top hoodlums at Apalachin, New York. Mr. Kennedy, in discussing what would be done with organized crime if John F. Kennedy were elected President, noted that Federal agencies did not at that time have intelligence coverage in the organized crime field as was maintained in the field of communism, and said that the situation would be changed.

~~SECRET~~

After he became Attorney General, Mr. Kennedy made the following statement, "...We are now treating organized crime as the Federal Bureau of Investigation has treated communism over the period of the last 30 years." (Exhibit 51)

Mr. Kennedy's crusading tactics against organized crime caused one newspaper to comment, "One certainty about Robert F. Kennedy, when he was named Attorney General, was that he would exert himself as a 'crime buster.'"

Mr. Kennedy did, indeed, exert himself against organized crime. Shortly after he took office he made it clear in his public utterances that he would conduct a concerted drive against organized crime in his new position. (Exhibit 52)

Early in 1961, Mr. Kennedy moved to enlist the combined forces of several Federal investigative agencies for an intensified drive against organized crime. To coordinate this concerted effort, Mr. Kennedy used the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section of the Department of Justice. The FBI had, of course, major responsibilities in this program.

Mr. Kennedy Informed Internal Revenue Service Planned Use of Electronic Aids

On February 16, 1961, Mr. Kennedy held a luncheon conference at the Treasury Department. In attendance at this conference were Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, Commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service Mortimer M. Caplin, the Director, and other officials. Mr. Kennedy outlined at this conference the program which he had in mind for making inroads into organized crime. (Exhibit 53)

~~SECRET~~

As part of the proceedings, Mr. Caplin presented for the examination of Mr. Kennedy and the Director copies of instructions he had issued to investigative personnel of the Internal Revenue Service concerning the responsibilities of that agency in the drive against organized crime.

These instructions, entitled "Special Racketeer Investigations," were enclosed in a letter from Mr. Caplin to Mr. Kennedy which Mr. Caplin delivered personally to Mr. Kennedy that day. This document made specific reference to planned use of electronic aids in investigation of leading racketeers by the Internal Revenue Service. Page two of this document stated, "In conducting such investigations, full use will be made of available electronic equipment and other technical aids, as well as such investigative techniques as surveillances, undercover work, etc."

Mr. Kennedy Advised of Bureau's Plans Against Organized Crime

In a memorandum dated April 6, 1961, the Director was informed about conferences with selected Special Agents in Charge held in connection with the intensification of the Criminal Intelligence Program. In this memorandum it was noted that the Bureau had previously furnished Attorney General Kennedy, for his information, instructions to Bureau field offices contained in letters to all Special Agents in Charge dated March 1 and March 30, 1961. (Exhibit 54 )

The letter of March 1, 1961, stated that each Bureau office had the obligation to establish "that type of coverage" on the criminal underworld which the Bureau had achieved in its investigations of the Communist Party. By way of explanation, the letter stated that the techniques which had proved so invaluable in the internal security field must be carefully considered and adapted wherever feasible to the Criminal Intelligence Program, but there must be adherence to the present policy regarding technical surveillances. (It will be recalled that Bureau policy prohibited the use of technical surveillances in the Criminal Intelligence Program.)

It was stated in the memorandum of April 6, 1961, that the Bureau had not yet advised Attorney General Kennedy in writing about the "crash program" to make cases in the immediate future against ten top hoodlums and racketeers. Concerning this, the Director noted, "I have orally advised A.G. of plans we have in mind."

Deputy Attorney General White Informed of Bureau Policy Concerning Microphones, May 4, 1961

Early in 1961, Attorney General Kennedy had agreed to testify concerning proposed wiretap legislation being considered by the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee. On April 26, 1961, a meeting between Departmental representatives and Assistant Director Courtney Evans was held in the office of Deputy Attorney General Byron White to formulate a position on this legislation for the Attorney General.

(Exhibit 55 )

During the discussion it was pointed out that the Attorney General should also be prepared to answer questions concerning other phases of "eavesdropping," including the use of microphone surveillances. To assist the Attorney General in this regard, the Bureau delivered a memorandum to Deputy Attorney General White dated May 4, 1961. (Exhibit 56)

This memorandum stated that the Bureau's views on the use of microphone surveillances in FBI cases were being furnished in connection with the Attorney General's contemplated appearance before the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights. Pertinent portions of this memorandum of May 4, 1961 follow:

"Our policy on the use of microphone surveillances is based upon a memorandum from former Attorney General Herbert Brownell dated May 20, 1954, in which he approved the use of microphone surveillances with or without trespass. In this memorandum Mr. Brownell said in part:

"I recognize that for the FBI to fulfill its important intelligence function, considerations of internal security and the national safety are paramount and, therefore, may compel the unrestricted use of this technique in the national interest."

"In light of this policy, in the internal security field, we are utilizing microphone surveillances on a restricted basis even though trespass is necessary to assist in uncovering the activities of Soviet intelligence agents and Communist Party leaders. In the interests of national safety, microphone surveillances are also utilized on a restricted basis, even though trespass is necessary, in uncovering major criminal activities. We are using such coverage in connection with our investigations of the clandestine activities of top hoodlums and organized crime. From an intelligence standpoint, this investigative technique has produced results unobtainable through other means. The information so obtained is treated in the same manner as information obtained from wire taps, that is, not from the standpoint of evidentiary value but for intelligence purposes."

"There is no Federal legislation at the present time pertaining to the use of microphone surveillances. The passage of any restrictive legislation in this field would be a definite loss to our investigative operations, both in the internal security field and in our fight against the criminal element. This is especially true in the case of organized crime where we have too few weapons at our command to give up the valuable technique of microphones."

~~SECRET~~

Since this memorandum was furnished to the Deputy Attorney General for the specific use of the Attorney General it was official notice to Mr. Kennedy and to the Department of Justice of the Bureau's policy concerning the use of microphone surveillances. Moreover, it spelled out that the Bureau had interpreted Attorney General Brownell's letter of May 20, 1954, to give it authorization for use of microphone surveillances in criminal cases. If there were disagreement with this interpretation, the Bureau should have been so advised at that time.

Mr. Kennedy Pleased About FBI Microphone Coverage

On July 6, 1961, Mr. Kennedy held a conference of attorneys in the Department's Organized Crime and Racketeering Section as the concluding phase of an inquiry he had been conducting on the activities of this Section. Assistant Director Evans, who was present at this conference, was asked by Mr. Kennedy about "electronic devices," similar to those used in espionage cases, in the investigations of organized crime. Since there were a number of people present, Mr. Evans made a general reply which conveyed the message that he would discuss this matter with the Attorney General under more appropriate circumstances. (Exhibit 57)

~~SECRET~~

In a memorandum dated July 6, 1961, Mr. Evans recorded Mr. Kennedy's remark, noted that there was serious question as to whether the Attorney General was aware of the difference between a technical and a microphone surveillance, and asked for permission to discuss this subject with the Attorney General. The Director approved, and Mr. Evans saw Mr. Kennedy in regard to this matter on July 7, 1961. Mr. Evans recorded this discussion with the Attorney General in a memorandum dated July 7, 1961. (Exhibit 58) The following pertinent quotation is taken from this memorandum:

"It was pointed out to the Attorney General that we had taken action with regard to the use of microphone surveillances in these cases (organized crime investigations) and while they represented an expensive investigative step, we were nevertheless utilizing them in all instances where this was technically feasible and where valuable information might be expected. The strong objections to the utilization of telephone taps as contrasted to microphone surveillances was stressed. The Attorney General stated he recognized the reasons why telephone taps should be restricted to national-defense-type cases and he was pleased we had been using microphone surveillances where these objections do not apply wherever possible in organized crime matters."

The very first sentence of the memorandum of August 17, 1961, which Mr. Kennedy approved, stated that it is frequently necessary to [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] in order to monitor microphone surveillances. The memorandum also stated that these situations occur when it is impossible to locate a secure monitoring point in the immediate vicinity of the premises covered by the microphone. On its face, therefore, this document informed former Attorney General Kennedy of the procedures and problems involved in microphone surveillances which were broader in scope than the specific issue presented in regard to New York City.

~~SECRET~~

By affixing his signature to this memorandum, it is clear that former Attorney General Kennedy was not only authorizing the use of microphone surveillances in the Criminal Intelligence Program in New York City but was also acknowledging that he was on notice that these microphone surveillances were used frequently and in several situations by the FBI elsewhere.

On December 24, 1965, Assistant to the Director DeLoach and Assistant Director Gale interviewed former Assistant Director Evans about what had transpired when he took this memorandum to Attorney General Kennedy on August 17, 1961. During this interview, Mr. Evans recalled that he described fully the [REDACTED]

7/1/61 [REDACTED] Mr. Kennedy Requests "Appropriate Surveillance" of [REDACTED]

During the Summer of 1961, information had come to the attention of Mr. Kennedy that Teamster President

~~SECRET~~

James Hoffa allegedly had sources inside the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice. He also learned that [REDACTED]

Mr. Hoffa, planned to be in Washington, D. C., on August 7, 1961, to meet with his "contact" in the Justice Department. Since [REDACTED] had no known official business with the Justice Department, Mr. Kennedy felt that this would be a surreptitious contact with one of Mr. Hoffa's alleged sources in the Department.

Mr. Kennedy requested the FBI, through Assistant Director Evans, to conduct an appropriate surveillance of [REDACTED] while he was in Washington in an attempt to determine the identity of any Department of Justice employee he contacted. (Exhibit 62)

In a memorandum dated March 13, 1962, Mr. Evans referred to Mr. Kennedy's request for an "appropriate surveillance" of [REDACTED]. He explained that while "appropriate surveillance" did not explicitly describe the surveillance requested by Attorney General Kennedy, there was no question but that the Attorney General's request meant both a physical surveillance and a microphone surveillance of [REDACTED] hotel room. According to Mr. Evans, it was understood that this investigation was to be discreet but that the

6/17/62
Attorney General wanted all steps possible to be taken to determine if [REDACTED] made contact with anyone in the Justice Department. Mr. Evans added that the results of the microphone surveillance were reported to Mr. Kennedy in daily memoranda as the information was received. (Exhibit 63)

Mr. Kennedy Inquires About Possible FBI Microphone Surveillances

On March 30, 1962, Mr. Kennedy summoned Mr. Evans to his office and told him that Joseph Volpe, formerly Chief Counsel for the Atomic Energy Commission, had informed the Attorney General that he had learned on the "highest authority" that Volpe's office had been covered with a microphone surveillance during 1953 and 1954. Mr. Kennedy asked Mr. Evans if this had been an FBI microphone surveillance. Mr. Evans later reported to the Attorney General that this was not an FBI microphone surveillance. It is noteworthy, however, that Mr. Kennedy's query reveals that there was little doubt in his mind that the FBI used microphone surveillances. Moreover, whatever doubt there may have been should have been removed when it was necessary for

~~SECRET~~

Mr. Evans to check on the matter before reporting to Mr. Kennedy that it was not an FBI microphone surveillance. (Exhibit 64)

Mr. Kennedy Listens to Tape Recordings of FBI Microphone Surveillances

If there were any remaining doubt in Mr. Kennedy's mind that the FBI was using microphone surveillances, it should have been dispelled during two visits he made to FBI field offices. On March 19, 1963, Mr. Kennedy was briefed on organized crime investigations in the FBI's Chicago Office. This briefing was attended by other Departmental officials, including William Hundley, Chief of the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section. After Special Agents of the FBI told them about the corruption of local law enforcement officers by Chicago hoodlums, a tape recording from an FBI microphone surveillance was played for them. This recording contained a discussion between the [REDACTED] and a lieutenant of the Chicago Police Department.

organized crime, and stated that he wanted the Chicago Office to keep up its extensive and intensive investigations in this field.

The Special Agents involved in this Chicago conference have submitted sworn statements concerning what transpired at the conference, including what Mr. Kennedy said. (Exhibit 65)

After he returned to Washington, D. C., Mr. Kennedy sent a letter to Mr. Marlin Johnson in which he said that he appreciated the fine presentation made by Mr. Johnson and his Agents during his visit to Chicago. Mr. Kennedy added that the presentation was well organized and "very informative." (Exhibit 66)

In regard to this conference in Chicago, Mr. Hundley told Assistant to the Director DeLoach and Assistant Director Gale on December 30, 1965, that it was obvious to him at the time of the conference that the recording was obtained as the result of microphone coverage. He stated that he could not, of course, say what was in Mr. Kennedy's mind at the time he listened to the recording, and there was no open discussion of the fact that the recording came from microphone coverage. He did say, however, that he felt that this was generally understood. (Exhibit 67)

On another occasion, Mr. Kennedy visited the New York Office of the FBI for a briefing on organized crime. Participants in this conference, held November 4, 1963, were Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Ed Guthman of Mr. Kennedy's Staff, Assistant Directors Courtney Evans and John F. Malone, and approximately 25 FBI Special Agents assigned to the New York Office. At this conference, a tape recording taken from an FBI microphone surveillance was played for Mr. Kennedy. The taped conversation was between [REDACTED] and [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] of notorious hoodlum [REDACTED]

A gangland murder was the subject of the conversation between these two [REDACTED]. Since the recorded conversation was, at times, difficult to understand, Mr. Kennedy was provided with a written transcript to assist him in following the conversation.

Because there was some difficulty in understanding all of the recorded conversation, Mr. Kennedy asked if this were the best equipment the Bureau had. In reply, Special Agent [REDACTED] reportedly said that these individuals do not always meet in the most desirable locations and, no matter how good the equipment is, it cannot overcome the problem of guttural voices and whispered conversations, such as were on this tape recording.

~~SECRET~~

Special Agents of the FBI who participated in this conference have submitted sworn affidavits as to what transpired, including the question asked by Mr. Kennedy. (Exhibit 68)

Evidence Mr. Kennedy's Staff Was Aware of FBI Use of Microphone Surveillances

In addition to Mr. Kennedy's personal involvement in matters relating to microphone surveillances, members of his Staff were, in specific security and criminal cases, on notice that microphone surveillances were used by the FBI. The following are typical instances:

(1) On May 25, 1961, Herbert J. Miller, Jr., Assistant Attorney General, Criminal Division, Department of Justice, sent a significant letter to Senator Sam J. Ervin, Jr., of North Carolina. The following is the complete text of this very revealing letter:

"Thank you for your letter of May 19, 1961.

"I have been advised that as of February 8, 1960, the Federal Bureau of Investigation maintained 78 wiretaps.

"You also request information 'relative to the nature and extent of the use of electronic eavesdropping apparatus by agents of the Department of Justice.' I have checked with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and, as in the case of wiretapping, the technique of electronic listening devices is used on a highly restricted basis. The Federal Bureau of Investigation has 67 of these devices in operation. The majority are in the field of internal security with a few used to obtain intelligence information with regard to organized crime.*

He was then the subject of a case involving Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering-Extortion, and was awaiting trial. (Exhibit 74)

(7) A memorandum dated April 9, 1964, entitled "Electronic Surveillance" was sent from the FBI to Assistant Attorney General Miller. Mr. Miller had forwarded a copy of a Departmental memorandum on the subject of electronic surveillances, which proposed that the Department undertake a survey of equipment being used and a legal study of this matter. Mr. Miller had asked, in his letter of transmittal, that the FBI comment on this proposal. The Director's memorandum to Mr. Miller stated that such a study was not believed desirable principally because it would disclose confidential investigative techniques. The Director's memorandum also stated:

~~SECRET~~

"...as the Department knows, this Bureau does utilize, on a very restricted basis, electronic investigative aids in the investigation of important matters affecting the security of the country and in the collection of important criminal intelligence information relating to organized crime, as well as similar investigative matters involving the safety and well-being of a victim such as in kidnapping cases.

"In such matters, the Department is aware that these electronic investigative aids have proven to be useful in the past and continue to be very helpful at present." (Exhibit 75)

Since criminal intelligence information relating to organized crime was not one of the categories for which the Attorney General could approve a technical surveillance (wire tap), the reference to "electronic investigative aids" in the Director's memorandum could only have been interpreted by the Department to have meant microphone surveillances insofar as criminal intelligence matters were concerned.

(8) Mr. William Hundley, Chief of the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section of the Department of Justice, who also served in this position during the time Mr. Kennedy was the Attorney General, discussed his knowledge of FBI microphone surveillances with Assistant to the Director DeLoach and Assistant Director Gale on December 30, 1965. Mr. Hundley stated that he had been aware that the FBI had been using microphones in its investigation of the underworld "skimming operations" pertaining to gambling receipts from casinos in Las Vegas. Mr. Hundley said, "You cannot be in this business as long as I have been and read the FBI reports concerning skimming without knowing that this type of information had to come as a result of microphone coverage." (Exhibit 76)

Mr. Hundley also stated that he had never discussed this with former Attorney General Kennedy but that he had discussed microphone coverage in Las Vegas with former Assistant Attorney General Herbert J. Miller who was head of the Criminal Division while Mr. Kennedy was the Attorney General. Hundley added that he had several discussions with Mr. Miller concerning microphone surveillances in Las Vegas after a leak of information in March, 1963, resulted in the exposure of an FBI microphone surveillance at the Fremont Hotel in Las Vegas.

~~SECRET~~

Civil Suits in Las Vegas Involving FBI Microphones

Following the discovery in March, 1963, of the FBI microphone surveillance in the office of Edward Levinson, President of the Fremont Hotel in Las Vegas, Nevada, a civil suit was brought on February 26, 1964, by Levinson and the Fremont Hotel against the telephone company in Las Vegas. Although this suit was dismissed with prejudice on May 20, 1965, another civil suit was instituted on December 10, 1965, against the telephone company and the Special Agent in Charge, the Assistant Special Agent in Charge, and two Special Agents of the Las Vegas Office of the FBI. (Exhibit 77)

The Fred Black Case

As noted previously, tracing the flow of funds from the "skimming operation" at gambling casinos in Las Vegas, Nevada, to La Cosa Nostra leaders was of prime importance in the Bureau's over-all efforts to combat organized crime.

During the time that Mr. Kennedy was Attorney General, information was developed that Washington lobbyist Fred Black, because of his known connections with individuals who served as couriers in the "skimming operation," appeared to be personally involved in this flow of funds to La Cosa Nostra. As part of this investigation, a microphone surveillance was instituted on Black at the Sheraton-Carlton Hotel, Washington, D. C., on February 8, 1963. (Exhibit 78)

During an interview with Bureau officials on June 2, 1966, former Assistant Director Evans stated that while Mr. Kennedy was Attorney General he had briefed Mr. Kennedy on the Black investigation. Mr. Evans further stated that on one occasion he furnished Mr. Kennedy information which could only have come from a microphone. He added that the Attorney General could well have inferred the usage of microphones as a result of receiving this information. (Exhibit 98)

On the basis of an investigation conducted by the Internal Revenue Service, Black was convicted in the

United States District Court, Washington, D. C., on May 5, 1964, for violation of Federal income tax laws. The conviction was upheld in the Court of Appeals and the United States Supreme Court denied certiorari.

Subsequently, on May 24, 1966, United States Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall filed a memorandum before the Supreme Court advising the Court that there was an electronic surveillance of Black and that conversations between Black and his attorney had been intercepted. As a result of Mr. Marshall's memorandum, the Supreme Court requested additional details concerning the electronic coverage of Black.

Almost two weeks before Mr. Marshall's memorandum was filed, Assistant to the Director DeLoach and Assistant Director Gale had, on May 11, 1966, brought to the Department's attention the pitfalls involved in so advising the Supreme Court. The Department was told that the results of the conversation between Black and his attorney had not been disseminated outside the Bureau. Therefore, the prosecution was not aware of the monitoring and did not, of course, use it against the defendant. Furthermore, no motion had been made by the defense to determine if the Government had microphone coverage. In addition, the monitoring occurred approximately one year before the trial and involved an attorney who did not appear as an attorney of record. Finally, the disclosure would trigger unwarranted criticism of the FBI and the Department and could come at an inappropriate time in view of the pending case against Bobby Baker and the civil suit in Las Vegas. Despite these cogent arguments, the Department filed the memorandum so it would have "clean hands." (Exhibit 93)

The Department also wanted to have "clean hands" on the matter of authorization for microphone surveillances. Attorney General Katzenbach had, in a conference on May 23, 1966, attended by Assistant Director Gale, agreed to include in the memorandum a footnote stating "there was general Departmental authorization of longstanding for the use of these devices." On the following day, the Attorney General had this footnote deleted from the memorandum. (Exhibit 94)

As of July 11, 1966, this matter was still pending before the Supreme Court.

DEPARTMENTAL POLICY ON MICROPHONES
UNDER ATTORNEY GENERAL KATZENBACH

Review of Bureau Policy, October, 1964

In the interim period from the resignation of Attorney General Kennedy on September 3, 1964, to the swearing in of Attorney General Nicholas deB. Katzenbach on February 13, 1965, existing Bureau policy concerning special investigative techniques, including microphones, was reviewed. The results of this review were set forth in a memorandum from former Assistant to the Director Belmont to Associate Director Tolson dated October 6, 1964. (Exhibit 82)

In regard to microphones, Mr. Belmont stated that they were being used in security cases and criminal intelligence matters and that each installation had to be approved by Mr. Tolson. He also said that microphone surveillances had been a primary source of information on organized crime, particularly in regard to La Cosa Nostra. He added that this information had enabled the FBI to infiltrate, penetrate, and disrupt organized crime. Moreover, it had also provided leads for the development of live informants.

~~SECRET~~

SECRET

Mr. Belmont also pointed out in his memorandum that the FBI had discontinued dissemination of information from microphone surveillances to the Department of Justice and United States Attorneys, except when an impending murder was involved. This policy had been adopted following the leak of information from the Department, which exposed the FBI microphone surveillance at the Fremont Hotel in Las Vegas in March, 1963. The Director approved the policies outlined by Mr. Belmont.

Mr. Katzenbach to Approve All Microphone Surveillances

Attorney General Katzenbach, in a conversation with the Director on March 30, 1965, stated that he would like to set up a procedure, similar to that in effect concerning technical surveillances, whereby he would be advised by the Bureau of microphone surveillance installations. (Exhibit 83) On the same day, the Director sent a memorandum to the Attorney General which contained the following:

"In line with your suggestion this morning, I have already set up the procedure similar to requesting of authority for phone taps to be utilized in requesting authority for the placement of microphones.

~~SECRET~~

In other words, I shall forward to you from time to time requests for authority to install microphones where deemed imperative for your consideration and approval or disapproval. Furthermore, I have instructed that, where you have approved either a phone tap or the installation of a microphone, you be advised when such is discontinued if in less than six months and, if not discontinued in less than six months, that a new request be submitted by me to you for extension of the telephone tap or microphone installation." (Exhibit 84)

On May 6, 1965, the Director and Mr. Belmont discussed microphone and technical surveillances with Attorney General Katzenbach. (Exhibit 85) At the outset, the Attorney General stated that he was not concerned about the use of these techniques in security cases. He stated that he agreed with the Director's position, originally presented to Attorney General Tom Clark, that all technical surveillances used throughout the Federal Government should be approved by the Attorney General. He then suggested the desirability of channeling all these Federal Government technical surveillances to the FBI for central control and handling.

The Director argued successfully against this proposal by stating that, as the FBI had learned through experience, it is necessary to hold knowledge of these surveillances to an absolute minimum. It was further stated that Departmental notification of FBI technical and microphone surveillances was confined to him and his office staff, except where prosecution was being considered in a particular case.

During this discussion, the Attorney General expressed concern that the Department and the Bureau might be embarrassed in court over the use of microphone surveillances involving trespass in hoodlum cases. In answer to a question, the Attorney General was advised that approximately 95 per cent of the microphone installations involved trespass.

The Attorney General was advised that these microphones were necessary unless he wanted to cut back on the attack against organized crime. It was pointed out that La Cosa Nostra is a powerful group which spearheads organized crime. It has immense power through corruption, graft, and influence in political and law enforcement circles. It wields power over its membership and associates through fear. It constitutes a menace to the welfare of the country because of its power and influence, and has been surrounded by an aura of invincibility.

~~SECRET~~

Mr. Katzenbach was reminded that the FBI had been waging an all-out attack on La Cosa Nostra. In this attack, microphone surveillances had been invaluable in providing intelligence information leading to identification of La Cosa Nostra members, and information concerning their areas of influence, their organization, and their activities.

Attorney General Discontinues All Microphone Surveillances

The Attorney General, on July 12, 1965, informed the Director that he would like to have all microphone surveillances suspended at that time, because of the pressure being brought to bear, particularly on the Internal Revenue Service, by the United States Senate Subcommittee on Administrative Practice and Procedure headed by Senator Long of Missouri. (Exhibit 86) The Attorney General said that he wanted to be in a position to state that the FBI had no microphone surveillance coverage.

~~SECRET~~

In his memorandum dated July 14, 1965, recording his conversation with the Attorney General on July 12, 1965, the Director enunciated Bureau policy. In so doing, he stated:

"In view of the growing delicacy in this whole field, I will be more reluctant to approve requests for technical surveillances until the atmosphere has been clarified.

"I realize the value of technical surveillances as well as of microphone installations, both in our security and in our crime investigations, but if it be the will of Congress and the desire of the Attorney General that they be completely suspended, we will, of course, have to comply with it."

Attorney General Again Authorizes Microphone Surveillances in Security Cases

In response to several requests from the Bureau for guidelines in the use of special investigative techniques, Attorney General Katzenbach, by memorandum dated September 27, 1965, made the following statements on microphone surveillances:

"There are many instances where the use of portable microphones or portable recorders are necessary and appropriate and do not involve trespass or questions of admissibility of evidence or legality. Where such questions are not raised I believe the Bureau should continue to use these techniques in cases where you believe it appropriate without further authorization from me. Again, I am aware that such techniques have been judiciously used in the past, and while they may have been abused by other agencies,

~~SECRET~~

I do not believe they have been abused by the Bureau in any instance.

"The use of wiretaps and microphones involving trespass present more difficult problems because of the inadmissibility of any evidence obtained in court cases and because of current judicial and public attitudes regarding their use. It is my understanding that such devices will not be used without my authorization, although in emergency circumstances they may be used subject to my later ratification. At this time I believe it desirable that all such techniques be confined to the gathering of intelligence in national security matters, and I will continue to approve all such requests in the future as I have in the past. I see no need to curtail any such activities in the national security field.

"It is also my belief that there are occasions outside of the strict definition of national security (for example, organized crime) when it would be appropriate to use such techniques for intelligence purposes. However, in the light of the present atmosphere I believe that efforts in the immediate future should be confined to national security. I realize that this restriction will hamper our efforts against organized crime and will require a redoubled effort on the part of the Bureau to develop intelligence through other means." (Exhibit 87)

Current Bureau Policy on Microphone Surveillances, 1966

After the Attorney General again granted the FBI authority to use microphone surveillances to gather intelligence in national security matters, the Bureau, following the procedure established by Mr. Katzenbach to obtain his authorization, reactivated microphone surveillance in selected cases.

ALL (6X1)

In an October 29, 1965, memorandum dealing with the Long Committee, the Bureau's use of wire taps and microphone surveillances was reviewed for the Director.

(Exhibit 88) On this memorandum the Director noted,

Presidential Memorandum of June 30, 1965

On July 30, 1965, FBI representatives and Departmental attorneys conferred regarding a Presidential memorandum, dated June 30, 1965, which dealt with technical and microphone surveillances. (Exhibit 90) This memorandum, addressed to all heads of executive departments and agencies, established strict guidelines for the use of technical surveillances, principally the obtaining of approval from the Attorney General. It also required the submission of a complete inventory of all mechanical and electronic equipment capable of intercepting telephone conversations.

~~SECRET~~

Because the Bureau obtained authority from the Attorney General and consulted with the Department regarding the use of these surveillance techniques, the Departmental representatives stated that the Bureau was already complying with the Presidential memorandum and that it would not be necessary to submit an inventory of equipment.

Attorney General Katzenbach Prepared to Stand Behind FBI

During December, 1965, newspaper and other sources brought to the attention of the Bureau that former Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy had allegedly stated that he never authorized the use of microphone surveillances in FBI investigations of organized crime.

By memorandum from the Director to the Attorney General, dated January 5, 1966, reference was made to statements in the press which indicated that former Attorney General Kennedy and Departmental officials had not been aware of the FBI's use of microphones in the investigation of organized crime. (Exhibit 91) The Director then set forth facts which illustrated that Mr. Kennedy and Departmental officials were on notice that the FBI was utilizing microphone surveillances in its investigation of organized crime. These facts have been incorporated into an earlier section of this brief entitled, "Tenure of Attorney General Robert Kennedy, 1961-1964."

~~SECRET~~

In a memorandum dated January 13, 1966, Attorney General Katzenbach referred to the relationship between former Attorney General Kennedy and the FBI in regard to the use of microphone surveillances in the investigation of organized crime. (Exhibit 92) Mr. Katzenbach stated that Mr. Kennedy had informed him, at the time of the original Las Vegas law suit against the telephone company, and subsequently, that he was unaware that the FBI used microphone surveillances against organized crime. Mr. Katzenbach stated, however, he believed, "that the actions of the FBI in this area were in any event justified on the basis of understandings between the Bureau and prior (pre-1961) Attorneys General. I am prepared to stand behind those actions."

THE LONG COMMITTEE

In early 1965, the United States Senate Subcommittee on Administrative Practice and Procedure, headed by Senator Edward V. Long of Missouri and popularly known as the Long Committee, began inquiries into Federal encroachments on citizens' privacy. The Committee's early inquiries centered largely on the use of electronic surveillances by the Internal Revenue Service and that agency received ("Invasion Privacy considerable adverse publicity as a result of these hearings, (Government Agencies)". Hearings before U.S. Senate Subcommittee on Administrative Practice and Procedure, Committee on the Judiciary, 89th Congress, 1st Session, Part I, Beginning in early 1966, and with the Director's 1965, p.1) approval, Assistant to the Director DeLoach and Assistant Director Gale conferred with Senator Long and with the Committee's Chief Counsel Bernard Fensterwald, Jr., to present to them a factual account of the Bureau's strictly limited use of electronic surveillances under tightly controlled administrative procedures. (Exhibit 95)

Following these conferences, the Director sent Senator Long a letter dated January 20, 1966. (Exhibit 96) In this letter, the Director expressed his appreciation for the opportunity to work with the Senator and his Committee staff and for the opportunity to submit to them for their close scrutiny the FBI's policies and procedures regarding

~~SECRET~~

On April 25, 1966, Senator Long advised Mr. DeLoach that he had no intention whatsoever of holding committee hearings regarding the FBI's use of listening devices. (Exhibit 97) The Senator repeated an earlier statement that, at the right psychological time, he intended to release to the press the Director's letter of January 20, 1966, and a statement from the Committee absolving the FBI of any wrongdoing in its use of microphones and wire taps. According to Senator Long, the time for releasing the Director's letter and the Committee's statement was not then propitious because newspapermen, such as Drew Pearson and David Kraslow, were pressuring him to hold public hearings concerning the FBI's use of electronic eavesdropping devices. Since Senator Long had not made these releases as of July 11, 1966, he apparently feels that the time is still not propitious.

Memorandum to Mr. T. W. Leavitt
Re: Surreptitious Entries
66-8160

DETAILS:

In connection with its continuing inquiry into FBI matters involving surreptitious entry, the Civil Rights Division requested on 4/21/76 to review a number of files at both FBIHQ and in the field. Among those files were ones which related to the Weather Underground.

On 5/26/76 Civil Rights Division Attorney William L. Gardner asked to review specifically the "WeathFug" and [REDACTED] cases. Mr. Gardner requested to review these files at FBIHQ on 5/27/76.

On 5/27/76 Mr. Gardner and Departmental Attorney Steven Horn (who has accompanied Mr. Gardner on a review of files at the New York Office) reviewed the "WeathFug" and [REDACTED] Headquarters files. All sections of "WeathFug" were made available for the review; all sections of the [REDACTED] file, including the one JUNE section, were made available.

ReBuairtels dated 5/4/76 and 5/12/76, captioned "Surreptitious Entries," no copies to Charlotte, which stated the Civil Rights Division, Department of Justice, requested FBIHQ and Detroit Office make available certain documents and files regarding "surreptitious entries." A copy of a letter from J. Stanley Pottinger, Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, to the Director dated 4/21/76, captioned "Surreptitious Entries" was furnished to Detroit as an enclosure to airtel dated 5/4/76.

Enclosed for the Charlotte Office is one copy of Mr. Pottinger's letter dated 4/21/76. One copy of letter of [redacted] dated 3/29/71 is also enclosed for both Charlotte and Detroit.

For the information of Charlotte, Category B-10 of Mr. Pottinger's letter requested information regarding [redacted] who was investigated as a Socialist Workers Party (SWP) member. The last sentence in this paragraph reads, "State specifically how the Bureau obtained possession of the March 29 letter."

The basis for this particular inquiry involved how the Bureau obtained a letter written by [redacted] in 1971 to the Detroit Chapter of the SWP. [redacted] had been a member of the SWP since June, 1963. On 3/20/73, a Security of Government Employees (SGE) investigation was instituted (1) regarding allegations surrounding any surreptitious entries against the SWP, its members, and in particular, the [REDACTED] matter. He was unable to resolve the [REDACTED] matter from file reviews, although no Agent personnel possibly involved in this matter was interviewed by him. Mr. Gardner has now requested that FBIHQ advise the Department in writing as to how the Bureau obtained the [REDACTED] letter.

In addition to the interest by the Civil Rights Division, AUSA William Brandt, Southern District of New York, who is handling the Government's defense in New York City in connection with the SWP civil suit, advised that Bureau personnel who can furnish information regarding the [REDACTED] matter may be required to testify at the SWP trial scheduled to begin in New York City on 7/1/76. He also stated that a representative from his office would contact SAs [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] regarding this matter. AUSA Brandt also stated that his office is concerned that SAs of the Bureau do not compromise any of their constitutional rights during conversations with any representative of his office regarding this matter. It is his recommendation that Agents be notified that although cooperation is required between the Department and the FBI, Agents should be aware of their constitutional rights, particularly the Fifth Amendment. Thus, the employee in the field office should be informed that if it is his view an answer would tend to incriminate him and that he desires not to furnish such information, he should so state to the AUSA. AUSA Brandt explained that the FBI employee in question has every right not to furnish such information and that it is far better that the Government learn that fact now rather than at the time of trial.

To insure Agents do not compromise any of their constitutional rights, the Interrogation, Advice of Rights form (FD-395) is to be executed prior to interview. In addition, insure that SAs [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] clearly understand that no administrative action will be taken against either of them for exercising their constitutional rights.

PURPOSE:

To record a 6/2/76 review of certain FBI Headquarters files by Civil Rights Division Attorneys James Dyck and Carl Feldbaum.

SYNOPSIS:

On 6/2/76 Civil Rights Division Attorney William L. Gardner telephonically advised that a four-person "committee" of Departmental attorneys had been formed to conduct further inquiries into investigative matters of the FBI involving surreptitious entries. Besides himself, Departmental Attorneys Steven Horn, Dyck, and Feldbaum will participate. Since the latter two have had no practical knowledge of the files in question (Weathfug and [REDACTED]) Mr. Gardner asked that they be allowed to review certain sections of those files at FBIHQ on 6/2/76. This was accomplished on 6/2/76.

Memo to Mr. T. W. Leavitt
Re: Surreptitious Entries

DETAILS:

ALL
6/17/76
On 6/2/76, Civil Rights Division Attorney William L. Gardner telephonically advised SA [REDACTED] that a four-person "committee" of Departmental attorneys had been formed at the Department to conduct further inquiries into investigative matters of the FBI involving surreptitious entries which have been of specific interest to the Department; namely, in the Weatherfug and [REDACTED] matters.

On the "committee" besides himself, Gardner said, were Departmental Attorneys Steven Horn (who accompanied him to New York on their recent review of files and documents there); Jim Dyck, a recently engaged Departmental employee from the Senate Select Committee (SSC) staff (who is scheduled to assume a position in the Department's Anti-trust Division; and Carl Feldbaum, who worked for Henry Ruth in the Watergate Special Prosecutor's Office (SPO).

Mr. Gardner asked that Messrs. Dyck and Feldbaum be allowed to review certain sections of the Weatherfug and [REDACTED] matters on 6/2/76, to familiarize themselves with the material which they will, it is presumed, ultimately review in our field offices.

On 6/2/76, Sections 35 through 70 of the Weatherfug file, and Sections 1 through 6 (and Section 1 JUNE) of the [REDACTED] file were made available for review by Messrs. Dyck and Feldbaum at Room 4825, JEH Building.

Reference letter of the Attorney General (AG), 4/29/76, captioned "Socialist Workers Party, et al. Attorney General, et al. (S.D.N.Y.) 73 CIV 3160"; memorandum from the Director to the AG, 5/13/76, same caption; and memorandum of Legal Counsel to Mr. J. B. Adams, 5/28/76, captioned "Socialist Workers Party, et al., v. The Attorney General, et al. (U.S.D.C., SD New York) Civil Action No. 73 Civ 3160," (copies attached).

PURPOSE:

To initiate action in response to Recommendation Number 1 of referenced Legal Counsel memorandum as it pertains to Bureau personnel.

SYNOPSIS:

In a memorandum of 4/29/76, the AG advised that the court and plaintiffs in the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) civil action may have been misled by information supplied to the Department by the Bureau with respect to allegations of break-ins made in the complaint filed by plaintiffs. Director's memorandum of 5/13/76 to the AG furnished pertinent information in response to AG's 4/29/76 memorandum. Legal Counsel memorandum of 5/28/76, in connection with request of the AG recommended that Intelligence Division (INTD) review all Departmental statements, including those by the FBI, concerning break-ins to determine whether or not statements made in public or executive session needed to be retracted and/or clarified. public speeches by the Director, AG, and other Departmental and Bureau officials as well as their testimony before congressional committees. External Affairs Division, Legal Counsel Division's Office of Congressional Affairs, IS-2 and IS-3 Sections, INTD, are being asked to review appropriate records in response to recommendation in Legal Counsel memorandum of 5/28/76. Douglas R. Marvin, Special Assistant to the AG, advised on 6/21/76 that he will handle the response to AG's request as it pertains to the Department.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That External Affairs Division review speeches made by the Director and other FBI personnel for any statements concerning surreptitious entries performed by the Bureau. Furnish results of the review to INTD.

2. That the Office of Congressional Affairs, Legal Counsel Division, review testimony by Bureau personnel before congressional committees, both public and executive session, for any statements made concerning surreptitious entries, with the exception of statements concerning the Socialist Workers Party (SWP), by Bureau personnel and furnish results to INTD.

3. That IS-2 Section, INTD, review testimony of Bureau officials before the various congressional committees with reference to any statements made concerning surreptitious entries against the SWP. BY Card 6/80

4. That IS-3 Section, INTD, on receipt of pertinent material from the Department and that requested from other Divisions and Sections of the Bureau, review same to determine whether or not, in view of recent discoveries of surreptitious entry activity, any statements need to be retracted and/or clarified.

DETAILS:

In a memorandum to the Bureau of 4/29/76, the AG indicated that as a result of certain information coming to his attention, it appeared that the plaintiffs and the court in the SWP's civil action may have been misled by information supplied to the Department by the Bureau. This information concerned our suggestions as to the Department's response to the suit relating to allegations of break-ins made in the complaint.

Memorandum to T. W. Leavitt
Re: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES
66-8160

The AG advised that although the complaint had been filed three years ago, certain "error" had not been brought to the attention of the attorneys handling the civil action, though it appeared records at FBIHQ and in the New York Office reflected the inaccuracy.

In a memorandum of 5/13/76, the Department was furnished our explanation as to how the discrepancies occurred, and what steps we were taking to remedy same in the future.

In his 4/29/76 memorandum the AG also indicated his wishes that the Bureau furnish information as to whether or not any public (or executive session) statements made by Department personnel (including Bureau personnel) concerning surreptitious entries, need to be retracted and/or clarified.

In a memorandum of 5/28/76, Legal Counsel Division recommended that INTD review all Departmental statements including those by FBI personnel, concerning break-ins, to determine whether any of such statements referred to by the AG needed to be retracted and/or clarified. These statements were to include public speeches by the Director, AG, and other Departmental and FBI officials as well as their testimony before congressional committees.

As we are not in a position to know what testimony has been given by Departmental officials or what speeches such officials may have made concerning surreptitious entries, Douglas R. Marvin, Special Assistant to the AG, was contacted on 6/21/76 by Inspector James C. Farrington, Legal Counsel Division. Mr. Marvin advised the FBI should only respond as to its own personnel in regard to paragraph three of the AG's letter of 4/29/76, and he would obtain the information as it pertains to Departmental personnel. (This should be confirmed in writing when the communication transmitting the results of our survey of speeches and testimony of Bureau personnel is sent).

Memorandum to T. W. Leavitt
RE: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES
66-8160

On receipt of the results of the review by the External Affairs Division concerning references to surreptitious entries in speeches made by any FBI officials and the review by the Office of Congressional Affairs, Legal Counsel Division, of testimony by FBI officials, both in public and executive sessions before congressional committees concerning surreptitious entries, INTD will review same to determine if there is need for retraction or clarification.

IS-2 Section of INTD which handles the SWP case will review all testimony given in connection with that case to determine if any statements made concerning the SWP need to be retracted or clarified.

PURPOSE

To recommend that the Intelligence Division review all Departmental statements concerning FBI break-ins and that the Records Management Division instruct all SACs to insure that all investigative documents in their offices are indexed into their central filing system.

SYNOPSIS

By memorandum dated 4/29/76, the Attorney General advised that the court in captioned civil action may have been misled by information supplied by the Bureau to the Department suggesting how the Government should respond to allegations of break-ins made in the complaint. The Attorney General requested that we advise him as to how this occurred and what procedures are being implemented to insure that it will not recur. The Attorney General also wanted to know whether any statements made by Departmental personnel need to be retracted and/or clarified.

By memorandum dated 5/13/76, the Director furnished pertinent information to the Attorney General concerning this matter. Concerning the Attorney General's request to know whether any statements of Departmental personnel need to be retracted and/or clarified, the Director stated that we are reviewing such statements and we would advise the Attorney General promptly. The Note to the Director's memorandum dated 5/13/76, specified that a separate memorandum would be prepared making the recommendations set forth below.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. That the Intelligence Division review all Departmental statements including those by FBI personnel concerning FBI break-ins to determine whether any public (or executive session) statements need to be retracted and/or clarified and then advise the Attorney General. This review should include public speeches by the Director, Attorney General and other Department and FBI officials as well as their testimony before Congressional Committees.

2. That the Records Management Division instruct all SACs to insure that all investigative documents in their offices are indexed into their central filing system.

Re: Socialist Workers Party, et al., v.
The Attorney General, et al.
Civil Action No. 73 CIV 3160

DETAILS

Plaintiffs, the Socialist Workers Party (SWP), its youth group the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA), and 15 individual plaintiffs filed captioned civil action during July, 1973, alleging that defendants have denied them constitutional rights as a political party. They seek substantial damages as well as broad injunctive relief. Defendants include the Director and other Government officers as well as John F. Malone, former Assistant Director in Charge, New York Office, and Special Agents George P. Baxtrum, Jr., presently assigned to the Milwaukee Office and Arthur G. Greene, Jr., presently assigned to the New York Office. The trial in this civil action is scheduled to begin on July 1, 1976, in the Southern District of New York before the Honorable Thomas P. Griesa.

By memorandum dated April 29, 1976, copy attached, the Attorney General advised that the court in captioned civil action may have been misled by information supplied by the Bureau to the Department suggesting how the Government should respond to allegations of break-ins made in the complaint and that, relying on that advice, the Department filed what later appeared to be an erroneous answer to the complaint. The Attorney General requested that we advise him promptly on two points: (1) how did this occur; and, (2) what procedures are being implemented to insure that it will not recur. The Attorney General also wanted to know whether any statements made by Departmental personnel (including Bureau personnel) need to be retracted and/or clarified.

Legal Counsel Memorandum to Mr. J. B. Adams

Re: Socialist Workers Party, et al., v.
The Attorney General, et al.
Civil Action No. 73 CIV 3160

By memorandum dated May 13, 1976, copy attached, the Director furnished pertinent information to the Attorney General concerning this matter. In response to the Attorney General's specific questions the Director stated:

"In response to your first concern, how did this occur, our FBI Headquarters personnel did not direct an inquiry to FBI field offices concerning so-called general allegations in this complaint. Even if they had, however, the 'break-in' documents in our New York Office were not integrated into the regular filing system in the office and, if an inquiry concerning general allegations had been made, it is entirely possible that New York would have responded with negative information. Thus, concerning the question of what procedures are being implemented to insure that this type problem will not recur, we will re-emphasize to all offices our current regulations that all investigative documents maintained by them, including all 'break-in' documents in our New York Office, must be indexed into the central filing system of the office. This will mean that pertinent information in investigative documents maintained in all FBI field offices will be readily retrievable, and this action should prevent any recurrence of this problem.

"Concerning your request to know whether any statements of Departmental personnel need to be retracted and/or clarified, we are reviewing such statements and will advise you promptly."

The Note to the Director's memorandum dated 5/13/76, specified that a separate memorandum would be prepared making the recommendations set forth above.

By memorandum dated April 23, 1976, you advised that the Court in captioned civil action may have been misled by information supplied by the Bureau to the Department suggesting how we should respond to allegations of break-ins made in the complaint and that, relying on that advice, the Department filed what later appeared to be an erroneous answer to the complaint. You also indicated you were even more troubled to find that the attorneys handling this civil action were not officially advised of the error for almost three years after the complaint was filed. You then requested that we advise you promptly on two points: how did this occur and what procedures are being implemented to insure that it will not recur. You also wanted to know whether any statements made by Departmental personnel need to be retracted and/or clarified.

By way of background, plaintiffs filed the complaint in this civil action during July, 1973. The document contains numerous allegations of specific wrongdoing, including burglary, electronic surveillance, and mail openings. For example, paragraphs 68 - 70 allege that "[o]n or about 5-24-73, unidentified persons broke into the apartment of plaintiff Norman Oliver in Brooklyn, New York, . . . [and that] [o]n information and belief, the persons who . . . participated in the burglaries . . . were agents of the F.B.I., . . . ." The complaint also contains general allegations. Paragraph 33 verifies: "During or about the year 1948 and continuously thereafter, the defendant Public Officers . . . agreed . . . to cause agents of the U. S. Government to engage in a systematic campaign . . . harassment against SWP [and YSA] . . . and spy upon them by means of warrantless electronic surveillance, unauthorized opening and monitoring of mail, burglary, and other illegal means."

The Attorney General

Subsequent to the receipt of the complaint, our Headquarters staff prepared and sent a communication dated August 9, 1973, to ten FBI field offices. It specified:

"Recipient offices cover locations where specific acts of terrorism, burglaries, or harassment against SWP and Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) allegedly occurred according to complaint furnished you in referenced communication. After careful review of the complaint and of appropriate files, each office furnish Headquarters all available pertinent information concerning specific allegations relating to your division. This information should be furnished by airtel to Headquarters, with copy to New York, as soon as possible. You should be meticulous in your review in this regard, bearing in mind that at some future date, affidavits may be required concerning these matters."

The last paragraph of this communication specified:

"Concerning allegations made in the complaint regarding firststepping and general allegations regarding commission of illegal acts by defendant public officers and their agents, a separate communication will be sent at a later date to all offices for information with which to answer these allegations."

Our New York Office responded with a communication dated August 10, 1973. "[T]he only specific act occurring in the New York division is referred to in paragraphs 68 - 70 concerning the breaking and entering of the apartment of Norman Oliver . . . . The New York Office has no information regarding this matter."

Allegations concerning other specific break-ins were made in the complaint, but none of the field offices furnished any positive information regarding these alleged break-ins.

FBI personnel did not prepare a subsequent communication to obtain information concerning general allegations. In 1973, this matter was handled in our Legal Counsel Division by Special Agent [REDACTED]

ALL 6/17/68

On May 3, 1976, Special Agent [REDACTED] presently assigned to our Omaha Office, advised he does not recall why a subsequent communication was not sent to field offices asking for information concerning general allegations. He stated however, that because the field offices failed to furnish information concerning specific allegations, it was probably assumed that they would be unable to furnish information concerning general allegations. Special Agent [REDACTED] added that when the FBI recommended to the Department that the general allegations in paragraph 33 be denied he had no knowledge that the FBI had conducted break-ins against SWP or YSA. If he had, he certainly would have furnished this information to the Department. To the best of Special Agent [REDACTED] knowledge, Special Agent Hugh Vallet, now deceased, the supervisory Agent in the Intelligence Division who handled this civil action during 1973, had no knowledge the FBI conducted break-ins against SWP or YSA.

On April 13, 1976, this matter was discussed with Steven J. Glassman, Assistant U. S. Attorney, Southern District of New York, who handled this civil action for the Government until April 30, 1976, when he resigned from the U. S. Attorney's Office. Assistant U. S. Attorney Glassman advised that during January, 1974, when he prepared the Government's answer, he was unaware of the fact that the FBI had conducted break-ins against plaintiffs. To the best of his recollection he was first informed sometime subsequent to January, 1974, (exactly when, he does not recall) by FBI Headquarters personnel that there probably had been FBI break-ins against SWP but that no records existed concerning such break-ins. No request was made by Mr. Glassman, however, to officially advise the U. S. Attorney, Southern District of New York, or the Department of this information. Thus, while the existence of these break-ins was not officially drawn to Mr. Glassman's attention in writing, this knowledge was within his cognizance. Mr. Glassman added that in his opinion the Government's denial of allegations in the complaint concerning "burglaries" was proper, for the illegality of this activity was yet to be authoritatively determined.

By letter dated November 5, 1975, Thomas J. Cahill, U. S. Attorney, Southern District of New York, enclosed for us a list of twenty-six items which plaintiffs requested from the FBI in discovery in this civil action. Documents requested included those pertaining to any "intelligence gathering burglaries" directed against plaintiffs. Note that in accordance with FBI policy we at FBI Headquarters believed that documents concerning break-ins had been destroyed in field offices following review by Bureau Inspectors at each annual field office inspection. During late August, 1975, or early September, 1975, however, personnel in the Research Section of our Intelligence Division learned as a result of the General Accounting Office's inquiry of our New York Office that information concerning eight targets of break-ins were located in "SAC Folders" in the New York Office. Personnel in the Research Section handling requests of the Department's Civil Rights Division concerning FBI break-ins were unaware that requests had been made in the SWP civil action for information concerning "intelligence gathering burglaries." Subsequent to the receipt of Mr. Cahill's letter dated November 5, 1975, personnel in the Internal Security - 2 Section of our Intelligence Division assigned to work on the SWP civil action made general inquiries at FBI Headquarters to determine if any information had been developed concerning FBI break-ins. Our Research Section advised personnel working on the SWP civil action of the results of inquiries at our New York Office concerning eight specific targets of break-ins. Personnel assigned to work on the SWP civil action theorized that additional information relating to break-ins might be located in our New York Office and felt that this possibility should be explored.

Los Angeles furnished documents concerning a break-in and microphone installation directed against the residence of plaintiff [redacted] on April 30, 1960. New Haven furnished documents concerning a physical entry directed against the residence of an SWP organizer on March 10, 1960.

By letter dated March 22, 1975, documents furnished by New York, New Haven, and Los Angeles concerning break-ins directed against plaintiffs were made available to the U. S. Attorney, Southern District of New York.

" In response to your first concern, how did this occur, our FBI Headquarters personnel did not direct an inquiry to FBI field offices concerning so-called general allegations in this complaint. Even if they had, however, the "break-in" documents in our New York Office were not integrated into the regular filing system in the office and, if an inquiry concerning general allegations had been made, it is entirely possible that New York would have responded with negative information. Thus, concerning the question of what procedures are being implemented to insure that this type problem will not recur, we will re-emphasize to all offices our current regulations that all investigative documents maintained by them, including all "break-in" documents in our New York Office, must be indexed into the central filing system of the office. This will mean that pertinent information in investigative documents maintained in all FBI field offices will be readily retrievable, and this action should prevent any recurrence of this problem.

Concerning your request to know whether any statements of Departmental personnel need to be retracted and/or clarified, we are reviewing such statements and will advise you promptly."

Reference is made to memorandum, dated April 21, 1976, from J. Stanley Pottinger, Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, captioned "Surreptitious Entries".

William L. Gardner, Departmental Attorney, United States Department of Justice, requested on May 17, 1976, the residences and offices of [REDACTED] Charles Bolduc, Deborah Deegan, The Socialist Workers Party (SWP) (See Appendix), and the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) (See Appendix), be searched through the records of the Detroit, Michigan Police Department for any information regarding possible "Breaking and Enterings" (B & Es) for the period 1970 - 1973, inclusive.

Specifically Gardner requested a review of Detroit Police Department files regarding a "B & E" of SWP Headquarters, 3737 Woodward, Detroit, Michigan, October 30, 1971; an alleged "B & E" of the residence of Charles Bolduc, 4225 Commonwealth, Detroit, on or about February 1, 1972, February 22, 1972, February 1, 1973, and February 22, 1973.

On June 7, 1976 [REDACTED] Detroit Police Department (DPD) provided the results of their record search regarding "B & Es" of the SWP/YSA, Charles Edward Bolduc, Deborah Deegan [REDACTED] for the period of 1970 - 1973, inclusive.

The results of the DPD record search were negative except for a reported [REDACTED]

APPENDIX

Socialist Workers Party (SWP)

The SWP is a revolutionary, Trotskyist-communist organization, which is headquartered in New York City. Its purpose, as stated in its Declaration of Principles, is the overthrow of the U.S. Government and the institution of a dictatorship of the working class and the eventual achievement of a communist society. It was founded in 1938 and maintains close association with international Trotskyist organizations as a "sympathizing" group, but it denies formal membership in any foreign group to escape application of the Voorhis Act, which regulates certain types of organizations subject to foreign control. While the SWP does not openly advocate the use of violence at the present time to overthrow the U.S. Government, it believes that eventual violent revolution in the U.S. is inevitable. Its objection to the current use of violence is based on the ground that it believes violence is premature at this time. The SWP seeks to precipitate a revolution when conditions are ripe and to seize control of the revolution and to direct it when it occurs.

APPENDIX

APPENDIX

Young Socialist Alliance (YSA)

The YSA is the youth group of the Socialist Worker Party (SWP). It was formed in October, 1957, and is currently headquartered in New York City. It propagandizes the beliefs of the SWP among the youth and is the main source of recruitment into the SWP. The SWP is a revolutionary, Trotskyist-communist organization which has as its purpose the overthrow of the U.S. Government and the institution of a dictatorship of the working class and the eventual achievement of a communist society.

Reference is made to your memorandum dated April 21, 1976, captioned "Surreptitious Entries," which requested that certain material and files be made available for review and which requested certain other information be obtained.

Category B of this memorandum concerns the Socialist Workers Party (SWP), its members, candidates and officials. Question 9, Category B, requested that files the Detroit, Michigan, Police Department be reviewed for police reports dealing with alleged burglaries or break-ins at any SWP Office in Michigan and at any residence of SWP members or sympathizers in Michigan during the period 1970-1973, inclusive.

As you are aware, Mr. William L. Gardner of the Civil Rights Division arrived in Detroit on May 17, 1976. He personally reviewed files at the Detroit FBI Office concerning allegations surrounding surreptitious entries against the SWP and its members. While in Detroit, Mr. Gardner more specifically stated which files of the Detroit Police Department he desired to be reviewed regarding allegations of surreptitious entries. Attached are two copies of an LHM prepared at Detroit dated June 30, 1976, in response to his request.

If you wish additional investigation to be conducted concerning this matter, please advise the nature and scope of investigation you desire.

NOTE:

By memorandum dated 4/21/76 captioned "Surreptitious Entries" (copy attached), J. Stanley Pottinger, Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division, requested certain files be made available which concerned allegations of surreptitious entries. Category B of this memorandum concerns the SWP, its members, candidates and officials. Question 9, Category B, requested the Bureau to conduct a broad review of records of the Detroit, Michigan, Police Department for reported burglaries or break-ins at SWP Offices in Michigan and any residence of any members or sympathizers of SWP in Michigan for the period 1970-1973.

By airtel dated 5/4/73, the Detroit Office was instructed to ascertain requested information.

On 5/17/76, Departmental Attorney William L. Gardner personally reviewed files at Detroit Office concerning above matter and in particular, facts surrounding how the Detroit Office obtained a letter written by [REDACTED] dated 3/29/71 (See R. L. Shackelford memorandum to Mr. T. W. Leavitt, dated 7/2/76, captioned "Surreptitious Entries"). While in Detroit, Mr. Gardner limited the number of files of the Detroit Police Department to be reviewed to include the SWP, its youth group, the Young Socialist Alliance, and several known members of these organizations. File reviews of the Detroit Police Department as well as Wayne State University, were checked with negative results. Detroit LHM dated 6/30/76, setting forth results of check, being furnished in response to request. In addition, Department being advised that if any additional investigation desired to advise nature and scope of such request.

Reference memorandum F. J. Cassidy to Mr. T. W. Leavitt, 6/22/76, captioned "Surreptitious Entries," (copy attached).

PURPOSE:

To advise of results of a survey by Intelligence Division (INTD), External Affairs Division, and Office of Congressional Affairs, Legal Counsel Division, for any statements made by the Director or other FBI personnel concerning surreptitious entries which may at this time require retraction and/or clarification; for approval to send attached letter to the Department.

SYNOPSIS:

In a memorandum of 4/29/76, the Attorney General (AG) advised that the court and plaintiffs in the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) suit may have been misled by information supplied by the Bureau with respect to allegations of break-ins. In addition, AG's memorandum indicated the Bureau should review material relating to any statements concerning entries by Departmental and Bureau personnel which may now require clarification and/or retraction. Legal Counsel Division memorandum of 5/28/76 recommended that INTD determine whether or not such statements needed to be clarified or retracted. On 6/21/76, Douglas Marvin, Special Assistant to the AG, advised he would handle the response to the AG's request. Results of a review of material available to the Office of Congressional Affairs, Legal Counsel Division, and IS-2 Section, INTD, indicates no need for retraction or clarification of statements before congressional committees about entries in general, or about the SWP matter. Review of material furnished Department's Civil Rights Division by IS-3 Section, INTD, shows no material which had not been promptly clarified or corrected, where necessary, by subsequent memoranda. External Affairs Division furnished documents relating to public speeches or news conferences of the Director. A 7/14/75 news conference contains comments of Director to effect that he knew of no entries in the domestic area subsequent to 1966.

Analysis of material concerning entries, which were known at the time of the Director's comments, fails to show any need for retraction or clarification at the present time in view of recent statements to the press and to the Department. Entry information located in mid-March, 1976, not furnished to Senate and House Select Committees inasmuch as (1) the House Committee's inquiry had ended and, (2) the Senate Committee's report on surreptitious entries was in preparation, and a Departmental investigation of entries which occurred within the Statute of Limitations had been initiated.

DETAILS:

In a memorandum of 4/29/76, the AG indicated that as a result of certain information coming to his attention, it appeared that the plaintiffs and the court in the SWP's civil action may have been misled by information supplied the Department by the Bureau. This information concerned our suggestions as to the Department's response to the suit relating to allegations by the SWP of break-ins performed by the Bureau.

On 6/21/76, Douglas Marvin, Special Assistant to the AG, advised he would handle the Departmental response to the AG's request.

Memorandum to Mr. Leavitt
66-8160

Attached is material received from Office of Congressional Affairs, Legal Counsel Division, External Affairs Division, and IS-2 Section, INTD, relating to the subject of the AG's 4/29/76 request. A review of this material indicates no need for retraction or clarification of statements before congressional committees about entries in general, or about the SWP matter.

Review of material furnished the Department's Civil Rights Division by IS-3 Section, INTD, shows no material which had not been promptly clarified or corrected, where necessary, by subsequent memoranda to that Division.

With respect to the Director's comments in a 7/14/75 news conference, that there were no entries against domestic targets subsequent to 1966, an analysis of material available to INTD shows that at the time of the Director's responses INTD was not in possession of information suggesting entries did occur after 1966. The Director's comments were based on then current information - information based on recollections of INTD personnel-and the July, 1966, Sullivan to DeLoach memorandum regarding black bag jobs. Subsequent to the Director's conference statements, our inquiries of field offices surfaced information indicating entries did occur after Mr. Hoover's instructions. The Civil Rights Division has been kept fully apprised, and it is believed there is no need to retract or clarify statements at this time.

In view of recent statements to the press clarifying certain information furnished to them earlier, it is believed there is no need at this time to further clarify remarks made by Bureau officials.

Entry information located by us in mid-March, 1976, was not furnished to Senate and House Select Committees inasmuch as (1) the House Committee's inquiry had ended, and (2) the Senate Committee's report on entries was in preparation. Further, since certain of the newly discovered entries were within the Statute of Limitations, the Department initiated an investigation and it did not appear appropriate to disseminate such information at that time to the Senate Committee.

DETAILS:

SA Danny O. Coulson of the Office of Congressional Affairs, has completed a review of pertinent testimony before Senate and House Committees by Bureau officials concerning surreptitious ent<sup>ies</sup>~~ires~~ conducted by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigations. Statements made by Bureau officials concerning surreptitious entires directed against the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) are not included in this memorandum.

On Tuesday, November 18, 1975, Assistant to the Director, James B. Adams, former Assistant Director W. Raymond Wannall, Section Chief R. L. Shackelford, Special Agents David Ryan and Hugh Mallett, testified before <sup>the</sup> a Select Committee on Intelligence, U.S. House of Representatives, 94th Congress, <sup>First Session</sup> This testimony dealt with "FBI domestic intelligence programs."

Congressman James V. Stanton(Ohio) posed this question to former Assistant Director Wannall, "Mr. Wannall, has the FBI ever participated in burglaries in order to obtain information for their purposes of investigations?" Mr. Wannall responded, "I think Mr. Kelley, at a news conference in July, acknowledged that the FBI had participated in surreptitious entires to obtain information." Mr. Wannall was asked by Congressman Stanton, "Could you tell me, from 1945 until the present, how many instances there were?" Mr. Wannall responded, "We have made<sup>a</sup> very thorough study and have interviewed numerous <sup>individuals</sup> who might have been knowledgeable in that area. ~~The~~ <sup>he</sup> figures that I recalled that we have come up with <sup>is</sup> about a dozen and a half targets, however, there had been numerous <sup>ries</sup> ~~entires~~ against some of those targets. I think we have accounted for something in the neighborhood of 240 entires, none of which have taken place since April of 1968.

The text of this testimony can be found in "U. S. Intelligence Agencies and Activities; Domestic Intelligence Programs, Hearings Before the Select Committee on Intelligence, U. S. House of Representatives 94th Congress, First Session, Part 3, page 1028-1030.

On ~~Tuesday~~ <sup>Thursday</sup>, September 25, 1975, Charles Brennan, former Assistant Director, testified before the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence Activities. During this testimony, Mr. Brennan was queried concerning the number of "black bag" jobs, to which Mr. Brennan responded, "I would have to say--I would put it in a frame, possibly, of maybe 30, 40." This testimony can be found in "Intelligence Activities, Hearings before the Select Committee to Study Governmental Operations with Respect to Intelligence Activities of the U. S. Senate, 94th Congress, Volume 2, Houston Plan. On pages 112-113 of this report, Chairman Frank Church (Idaho) stated regarding "black bag" jobs, "Now let me just give these figures. These are figures that have been supplied to us by the Federal Bureau of Investigation; . . . at least 14 domestic subversive targets were the subject of at least 238 entires from 1942 to April 1968. I

In addition, at least three domestic subversive targets were the subject of numerous entires from October 1952 to June 1966."

This same document on page 278 reproduces a LHM entitled, "United States Senate Select Committee to Study Governmental Operations with Respect to Intelligence Activities by Senate Select Committee" <sup>(SSC) T.A.S. LHM Add with</sup> raised surreptitious entires in domestic targets. ~~This~~ <sup>Sets Serr</sup> LHM ~~tells~~ in part with procedures outlining a request on the part of a SAC of a field office to the appropriate Assistant Director at FBIHQ. to investigations currently being conducted by the FBI where a determination has been made within the FBI that that individual is a threat to the internal security, a current threat at the present time. It is a very small list, relatively small. It involves approximately 1,250 names at the present time.

Mr. McCLORY. What is the longest time that a name has been on that list? Do you have names that have been on there for 30 or 40 years?

Mr. ADAMS. No, sir. The administrative index did not come into play until 1971. Prior to that time, we had the security index, which was a listing which had a different purpose.

Mr. McCLORY. Does membership in the Socialist Workers Party just automatically put you on the index?

Mr. ADAMS. No, sir, it does not.

Mr. McCLORY. About how many members of that party would you have on the list?

Mr. ADAMS. I can give you that figure. I would prefer that any detailed description of targets and individuals be done in executive session.

Mr. McCLORY. Have you already furnished that information to the staff?

Mr. ADAMS. I do not know that we have had a request.

Mr. McCLORY. If not, would you furnish that? I would like to have the number. I don't have to know the names.

Mr. ADAMS. Yes, sir, I have no objection to furnishing it to them.

[The Bureau's reply is included in its November 28, 1975, memorandum, and is printed on pages 1123-1127 of the appendixes.]

Mr. McCLORY. You mentioned in your statement that you are not only interested in subversive activity which implied violence but also "undermining." What is the difference between the violent overthrow of the United States and undermining the United States? Have you got two groups that you are interested in?

Mr. ADAMS. No, sir, they are both working toward the same end. It is all inherent in the same idea of activity with the intent or design to overthrow the Government of the United States or any subdivision by force and violence.

Mr. McCLORY. My time is up. Thank you very much.

Chairman PIKE. Mr. Stanton.

Mr. STANTON. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Wannall, has the FBI ever participated in burglaries in order to obtain information for their purposes of investigation?

Mr. WANNALL. I think Mr. Kelley, at a news conference in July, acknowledged that the FBI had participated in surreptitious entries to obtain information.

Mr. STANTON. Were they illegal activities?

Mr. WANNALL. I'm not in a position to render an opinion. The whole thing, as a matter of fact, is under study by the Department of Justice at this time.

Mr. STANTON. Could you tell me, from 1945 until the present, how many instances there were?

Mr. WANNALL. We have made a very thorough study and have interviewed numerous individuals who might have been knowledgeable about a dozen and a half targets. However, there have been some entries against some of those targets. I think we have accounted for something in the neighborhood of 240 entries, none of which have taken place since April of 1968.

Mr. STANTON. Since April of 1968?

Mr. WANNALL. In our domestic area.

Mr. STANTON. Do you know what illegal entry is under the law? Are you a lawyer?

Mr. WANNALL. I think I understand what an illegal entry is; yes, sir.

Mr. STANTON. Do any of these fit that definition?

Mr. WANNALL. I think in the definition, intent to commit a crime within the premises would be included. The entries that were made—

Mr. STANTON. Do you know what breaking and entering is under the State law of Maryland or Ohio?

Mr. WANNALL. Yes, sir.

Mr. STANTON. Do you have to have the intent to commit a crime to break and enter?

Mr. WANNALL. I would say you probably do not have to have an intent to commit the crime on the premises.

Mr. STANTON. Intent is not an important element. In other words, if you had the noblest intent in the world, but if you are breaking and entering, it is still a violation of the State law; correct?

Mr. WANNALL. I would take your definition of it, Mr. Congressman.

Mr. STANTON. I would like to have your definition. I would like to know what a prominent person in the FBI thinks of breaking and entering.

Mr. WANNALL. I can assure you there are no such circumstances today.

Mr. STANTON. That is not the question. The question is, do you understand what breaking and entering is?

Mr. WANNALL. Yes.

Mr. STANTON. Has the FBI illegally entered premises to seek information?

Mr. WANNALL. The FBI has entered premises without the knowledge of the owners of the premises for the purpose of seeking information; yes, sir.

Mr. STANTON. In other words, they are guilty of breaking and entering and violating the law of the States of this Union; is that correct?

Mr. WANNALL. Again, I am not going to render an opinion. That is in the hands of the Department of Justice at this time.

Mr. STANTON. Why did they get involved in breaking and entering?

Mr. WANNALL. I think basically it had to do with the passage of the Internal Security Act of 1950, title II.

Congress directed the Justice Department to place itself in a position, in the event of a national emergency, to take off the streets individuals who might be placed in detention camps.

Mr. STANTON. Is there anything in that act that allows the FBI to break and enter a dwelling?

Mr. WANNALL. No, sir.

Mr. STANTON. Then that is not justification for those illegal entries; is it?

MR. STANTON. No the fact of the matter is that the FBI cannot use that as a basis for illegally breaking and entering an inhabited dwelling.

MR. WANNALL. I know of no law which would permit the FBI to do that.

MR. STANTON. Then the FBI has been involved in illegal activities?

MR. WANNALL. The FBI has been involved in breaking and entering.

MR. STANTON. Did they ever seek the Attorney General's permission, prior to 1972, for breaking and entering?

MR. WANNALL. Not to my knowledge.

MR. STANTON. Who was the person responsible, prior to 1972, for approving a breaking and entering?

MR. WANNALL. These were approved at the highest level of the Bureau, normally the Director of the FBI.

MR. STANTON. Then Mr. Hoover directed the activities. He did not seek approval from the Attorney General?

MR. WANNALL. To my knowledge, he did not.

MR. STANTON. In other words, Mr. Hoover felt that he had the power to violate the law of a State or of this country?

MR. WANNALL. Are you asking me what Mr. Hoover's opinion was?

MR. STANTON. Yes; I am asking you if he approved illegal activities.

MR. WANNALL. He approved the breaking and entering; yes, sir.

MR. STANTON. Do you think, in terms of the U.S. Government, that for the purposes of the Bureau and of this Government the activities of the Bureau are going to be improved by virtue of the fact that we have had exposure of some of the illegal activities of the Bureau?

In other words, do you feel that the examination of these publicly is going to be therapeutic for the Bureau?

MR. WANNALL. I think they will be; yes, sir.

MR. STANTON. Thank you.

Chairman PIKE. Mr. Murphy.

MR. MURPHY. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

MR. ADAMS. One of the problems we have, I think, with the FBI is in regard to wiretapping. It is a practice that the FBI has not admitted to but about which we have some information that leads us to believe it went on in the past and I am wondering if it has been stopped. I am also interested in the question of reliable informants.

We understand that the FBI will go into a town, say Chicago, where I am from, and they will get a local policeman or some local police force to do wiretapping for them. They pass this information on to a strike force made up of an FBI agent, Justice representative, IRS agent. Then, when they go to court and they are asked where the evidence came from, they can properly say they did not have anything to do with the wiretap.

Do you get any information that way that you classify from reliable informants?

MR. ADAMS. Not that particular situation. If the Chicago Police Department were engaged in illegal wiretaps and it came to our attention, we would open an investigation under the interception-of-communication statute.

never reported in the last 3 or 4 years any illegal wiretap they found except to the customer whose line they found it on. They said they had no duty to report it to the Federal authorities.

I am wondering what your interpretation of their position would be?

MR. ADAMS. You are talking about the telephone company?

MR. MURPHY. I am talking about the Illinois Bell Telephone Co., the only subsidiary of A.T. & T. which does not report wiretaps to Federal authorities or any authorities. The rest of the system all does.

I am of the opinion that if a citizen sees a crime or knows of a crime being committed, he has a duty to report it to the proper authorities.

MR. ADAMS. I am a little hesitant to comment on their testimony, not having read it or being familiar with the exact wording of the statement. But I do agree with you that when information comes to the attention of a citizen—we urge this of anyone—this should be reported to proper law enforcement authorities.

MR. MURPHY. Let me ask you a question, Mr. Adams.

There was an inordinate number of ex-FBI agents working for A.T. & T. and its subsidiaries throughout the country. Is there any purposeful connection there?

MR. ADAMS. No. I think you will find in any major segment of industry that former FBI officers are often employed as security officers. I think they have demonstrated their qualifications over the years. They do gravitate to good positions in private industry.

But there is no concerted effort to penetrate or to control or dominate or do anything of this sort on the part of FBI agents collectively or individually.

MR. MURPHY. When you are summoned before a congressional committee and queries are presented to you as to how many wiretaps exist today in the United States, was it a practice before the Director came down to testify, to send out a notification, "Take the wiretaps off for a week or 2 so when I go to the committee I can testify that as of this day there are only 10 or only 4 domestic wiretaps existing"?

MR. ADAMS. Absolutely not. I believe the information we furnished to this committee, and to the Senate committee staff, would clearly show by checking against appropriations testimony, information of that type. There was no such activity. Mr. Hoover frankly imposed restraints on wiretapping in the FBI—considerable restraints on wiretapping. In fact, some of the material we made available shows that he was one of the loudest voices urging some type of authority and approval in the Attorney General, not only of ours but other agencies.

MR. MURPHY. All right. I only have 5 minutes.

Did the FBI ever get information that the IRS was conducting schools on wiretapping?

MR. ADAMS. I don't recall whether we had any such specific information.

MR. MURPHY. We had a former U.S. attorney tell us that he acknowledged the IRS was conducting informal schools on wiretap. They bought the equipment and the Director of the IRS came in and told the agents, "If you get caught, you are on your own; but, if you bring in good information, we will make a strong case out of it."

Mr. BRENNAN. I'm speaking of counterespionage.
Senator BAKER. You're speaking of counterespionage in the case of a spy of a foreign country operating in this country, and you're trying to counter him? Is that the counterespionage you're speaking of?

Mr. BRENNAN. Yes sir.

Senator BAKER. And that's the only case you knew "black bag" jobs to be done?

Mr. BRENNAN. Subsequently, after I got to Bureau headquarters, I learned there were some "black bag" jobs which were directed at what I would have to term domestic subversive groups, and some domestic extremist organizations, but they were quite limited.

Senator BAKER. How many "black bag" jobs were done in the course of your tenure at the FBI?

Mr. BRENNAN. I would have no idea, sir.

Senator BAKER. Well, you've got to have some idea. Was it 1, or was it 1,000?

Mr. BRENNAN. I do not think I would be capable of commenting. I do not have that range; I did not work in that field where it was generally employed as a technique, Senator.

Senator BAKER. How many do you have knowledge of? Something in the range of what, 1, 10, 100, 1,000?

Mr. BRENNAN. I don't think I'm in a position to be able to answer that, Senator.

Senator BAKER. Do you have any knowledge on that subject?

Mr. BRENNAN. Yes; in a general range.

Senator BAKER. Then I would like to have that general range.

The CHAIRMAN. Senator Baker, we have figures. Would you like to have them? We have documentary figures.

Senator BAKER. I would like that, and I would like the witness' impression too, Mr. Chairman.

The CHAIRMAN. Very well. What was your impression?

Mr. BRENNAN. Can we get a given time frame?

Senator BAKER. No. That you have knowledge of.

Mr. BRENNAN. The overall impression on my 26 years in the FBI?

Senator BAKER. Yes.

Mr. BRENNAN. I would have to say—I would put it in a frame, possibly, of maybe 30, 40.

Senator BAKER. Did the FBI ever get caught?

Mr. BRENNAN. I don't think we did, Senator.

Senator BAKER. As a matter of fact, you didn't.

Mr. BRENNAN. I never heard of anybody getting caught, sir.

Senator BAKER. And the techniques involved—were they with the cooperation of the local police? How many men did it take? What techniques did you employ to keep from getting caught?

Mr. BRENNAN. I never engaged in one, Senator, so again, I would have to speculate on that, or speak from hearsay.

Senator BAKER. Mr. Chairman, do you have some figures?

The CHAIRMAN. Yes. I was just going to congratulate you, Senator, because you have managed to get your rebuttal and a good speech and your questions all within 10 minutes.

Senator BAKER. I think I'm being politely told to shut up.

[General laughter.]

Now, let me just give these figures. These are figures that have been supplied to us by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. They have, at our request, been declassified. And I would like to put them into the record.

At least 11 domestic subversive targets were the subject of at least 100 entries from 1942 to April 1968. In addition, at least three domestic subversive targets were the subject of numerous entries from October 1952 to June 1966. Since there exists no precise record of entries, we are unable to retrieve an accurate accounting of their number, but that is the best figure we have.

Senator BAKER. Thank you, Mr. Chairman. This final question, Mr. Brennan, since my time apparently has expired. Was your division the one involved in any surveillances of political figures at the Democratic National Convention in 1968?

Mr. BRENNAN. Yes, sir. We developed all of the intelligence information relative to the activities of the dissidents who went out to Chicago to disrupt the convention. However, I don't recall any time that any instructions were given to include surveillances of, as you say, political figures, Senator.

Senator BAKER. Yes. I'm talking about the allegations and the charges that the FBI kept surveillance on Robert Kennedy and Senator Edward Kennedy and Martin Luther King, and a number of other political figures, and that, in fact, there was a communications link—I believe a telephone—from FBI headquarters in that city to the White House—even to the Oval Office.

Mr. BRENNAN. I am not familiar with such surveillances. But basic—

Senator BAKER. You're familiar with those allegations and charges?

Mr. BRENNAN. No. As a matter of fact, I'm not.

Senator BAKER. You've never heard them before?

Mr. BRENNAN. No. Not those specific ones.

Senator BAKER. Well, generally, maybe I'm not describing it with exact accuracy.

Mr. BRENNAN. I recall that there was an Earth Day affair, which I believe Senator Muskie made a speech, or something, and I believe an FBI report dealt somehow with the Senator's appearance on that occasion. But any information of that type was purely coincidental to the investigative efforts of the FBI which were basically directed at the activists who were involved in those types of movements. And anything related to political figures was actually coincidental.

Senator BAKER. I'm told I was wrong. It was not at the 1968 convention; it was the 1964 convention that I was referring to. Does that alter your answer at all?

Mr. BRENNAN. I had little knowledge of the 1964 convention. That was not coordinated out of the Domestic Intelligence Division. It is my recollection that that was basically coordinated by Mr. DeLoach.

Senator BAKER. Are you aware, generally, of the situation that I described in reference to the 1964 Democratic National Convention?

Mr. BRENNAN. I'm aware in general, because the FBI personnel that were there at that time were phoning in reports concerning the activities of individuals and groups over which Domestic Intelligence Division had an interest.

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20535

(IS-3) 62-116395

September 23, 1975

UNITED STATES SENATE SELECT COMMITTEE
TO STUDY GOVERNMENTAL OPERATIONS
WITH RESPECT TO INTELLIGENCE ACTIVITIES (SSC)

RE: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES - DOMESTIC TARGETS

Reference is made to SSC letter dated September 22, 1975, from Mr. John T. Elliff, Director, Domestic Intelligence Task Force, to Mr. Michael E. Shaheen, Jr., Special Counsel for Intelligence Coordination, Office of the Deputy Attorney General, wherein Mr. Elliff made the following request with respect to domestic targets of surreptitious entries conducted by the FBI:

1. Statistics on the volume of such surreptitious entries in inclusive categories such as "subversive," "white hate," organized crime," or "miscellaneous." These statistics should be cleared for public disclosure.

2. Committee access at FBI Headquarters to a complete list of specific targets, represented by the statistics in Item 1, above.

3. Delivery to the Chairman and Vice Chairman of the list of specific targets requested for access in Item 2, above.

With respect to this request, from 1942 to April, 1968, surreptitious entry was utilized by the FBI on a highly selective basis in the conduct of certain investigations. Available records and recollection of Special Agents at FBI Headquarters (FBIHQ), who have knowledge of such activities, identify the targets of surreptitious entries as domestic subversive and white hate groups. Surreptitious entry was used to obtain secret and closely guarded organizational and financial information, and membership lists and monthly reports of target organizations.

When a Special Agent in Charge (SAC) of a field office considered surreptitious entry necessary to the conduct of an investigation, he would make his request to the appropriate Assistant Director at FBIHQ, justifying the need for an entry and assuring it could be accomplished safely with full security. In accordance with instructions of Director J. Edgar Hoover, a memorandum outlining the facts of the request was prepared for approval of Mr. Hoover, or Mr. Tolson, the Associate Director. Subsequently, the memorandum was filed in the Assistant Director's office under a "Do Not File" procedure, and thereafter destroyed. In the field office, the SAC maintained a record of approval as a control device in his office safe. At the next yearly field office inspection, a review of these records would be made by the Inspector to insure that the SAC was not acting without prior FBIHQ approval in conducting surreptitious entries. Upon completion of this review, these records were destroyed.

There is no central index, file, or document listing surreptitious entries conducted against domestic targets. To reconstruct these activities, it is necessary to rely upon recollections of Special Agents who have knowledge of such activities, and review of those files identified by recollection as being targets of surreptitious entries. Since policies and procedures followed in reporting of information resulting from a surreptitious entry were designed to conceal the activity from persons not having a need to know, information contained in FBI files relating to entries is in most instances incomplete and difficult to identify.

Reconstruction of instances of surreptitious entry through review of files and recollections of Special Agent personnel at FBIHQ who have knowledge of such activities, show the following categories of targets and the approximate number of entries conducted against each:

1. At least fourteen domestic subversive targets were the subject of at least 238 entries from 1942 to April, 1968. In addition, at least three domestic subversive targets were the subject of numerous entries from October, 1952, to June, 1966. Since there exists no precise record of entries, we are unable to retrieve an accurate accounting of their number.

NEWS CONFERENCE OF CLARENCE M. KELLEY
DIRECTOR, FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION
JULY 14, 1975

MR. KELLEY:

Good morning. I have very few statements to make as an opening. I just want to say that this is a further attempt on my part to be a little more available. Frankly, it is something which I hope we can continue and I have not in the past been premeditatively evasive nor reluctant to appear before you. But, frankly, I've been pretty busy with a number of other things. I want to let you know that we're continuing our efforts to try to improve the rapport between us. We will continue to do some things and hopefully, in the future we can get together more frequently on the basis of some of our past meetings which I think have been very fruitful. So now I'll throw it open for questions and these lights are a little bit strong but I'll try to be able to identify you. Do you have any questions?

QUESTION:

Do you have any evidence, sir, or any information leading you to suspect any CIA Agents have been planted in any manner or form in any executive agencies for the purpose of transmitting evidence back to the CIA about that agency?

MR. KELLEY:

I have no evidence whatsoever brought to my attention and I certainly know of none.

QUESTION:

Sir, do you have ongoing programs trying to check out that sort of thing? Do you look for it?

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED
HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED
DATE 3-16-82 BY SP4 JMD/cal

MR. KELLEY: We have no ongoing programs whatsoever and have had no reports that it has occurred and this is something new to us.

QUESTION: Sir, there have been complaints repeatedly in recent days from Congressmen and Senators on the Hill who are charged with investigating the FBI and its domestic surveillance in past years that they are not getting the information that they need. We heard from Senator Church maybe yesterday. Can you respond to that?

MR. KELLEY: The allegation has been made to the effect that the FBI is dragging its feet, so to speak, and slow to respond to the requests of the Church committee for information relative to past abuses by the FBI in the intelligence file and it's even been said from time to time that this reluctance is reflective of an effort to preserve the image of Mr. Hoover. First, I want you to know that in giving instructions in this matter, it has been consistently my policy to say that we should be completely candid and forthright. And we should respond in whatever manner we can consistent, of course, with some restrictions--those being a matter of confidentiality and right to privacy. Insofar as dragging our feet, the letter which was sent to us was dated May 14, 1975. We immediately embarked on a program to try to respond. In May, 1975, I remember it was the last half of May, we devoted 323 man days to try to respond and to date have added another over 400 hours and a total dedication of personnel--of 102 of our people. We have 102 people who are responding to this request. The reason why it has taken this much time and this great amount of manpower is that we must go through all of this material very carefully to preserve, of course, the privacy of those who may be mentioned and also to assure that matters of grave import are not so disclosed. We are trying at best we can to resolve in favor of making them available. I think this number 102 is very significant inasmuch as in the work of the Freedom of Information, there are also over 102, about 105 people, dedicated to fulfilling our obligations there. So, we have almost 210 people engaged in these two enterprises and this has a great impact upon our capabilities. Does that answer your question?

QUESTION: Can you tell us why Senator Church would be complaining?

MR. KELLEY: Why he what?

QUESTION: Why he would be complaining?

MR. KELLEY: No sir, I don't know. Some of these things, of course, may be thought to be too slow and it's thought perhaps that all you have to do is to remove the material from the file and send it on up. We have already submitted a great deal of it and intend within the next 10 days to complete the entire matter.

QUESTION: Is in any of that material now in the Justice Department awaiting approval of the Attorney General?

MR. KELLEY: Yes, some of it is in the hands of the Department ready to be transmitted. That's our first step--after we make our survey, to ship it over to them, they review it and then send it on through.

QUESTION: Well, has it been there for a while?

MR. KELLEY: I can't tell you exactly what length of time but I can say that within about 10 days, we'll have ours completed and you can gauge thereafter what type of delay is experienced through the Department.

QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, Senator Church says that you won't allow him and his staff to interview FBI Agents and that's one of the complaints he makes about the lack of cooperation. Is that true that you will not allow the Senate staff to interview FBI Agents?

MR. KELLEY: We have gone through a procedure whereby ex-FBI Agents may have available to them our people in order to consult with them as to any matter which might be thought to violative of some of the confidentiality provisions; and we have not, to my knowledge, denied the right of anyone presently employed to be interviewed with, of course again the requirements that if they want to consult with us they may do so.

QUESTION: Well, in other words, you're saying that FBI Agents can be interviewed by the Senate staff. Is that correct?

MR. KELLEY: Let me just check that. Mr. Mintz, is that correct? Have we denied any?

MR. MINTZ: We have not denied any. We've not indicated to anyone we would not let them be interviewed.

QUESTION: What was that Mr. Kelley, about ex--I didn't understand, about ex-FBI Agents?

MR. KELLEY: Ex-FBI Agents, when called, and we're advised, are informed that one of our people can be present outside the interview room for consultation by that interviewee with our people to determine whether or not a certain question is beyond the purview of his capability, and we do not say to him that he cannot answer but we do say here are the rules, the regulations, the law and you can be guided in accordance with your own dictates. But we make available to him a consultant, so to speak.

QUESTION: Is that a requirement or..?

MR. KELLEY: That's an agreement between us.

QUESTION: In other words, when an ex-Agent goes up, he has to have somebody?

MR. KELLEY: No sir, he does not have to have, but we inform him that he may have if he so desires.

QUESTION: During your confirmation hearings two years ago, you advocated or said that you would like to see more Congressional oversight of the FBI. You think now that there's too much, just about right, or not enough oversight?

MR. KELLEY: It is true that I said during my confirmation that I do not object to FBI Congressional oversight. One has been established and I have met with them on several occasions to set an oversight committee. There is also a House so-called oversight committee--it's the House Judiciary Committee--there are others who may by virtue of their jurisdiction feel that they, too, have oversight. We do not oppose House oversight. Frankly, I would like to have a joint committee of oversight so that we can know precisely to whom we should report and they, in turn, know precisely to whom any oversight problems can be referred. Basically, in other words, I do not object to oversight--I do think that it would be much better if we could have it well-structured so that it will be clearly understood by all parties concerned as to what they are going to do and how they are to do it.

QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, do you feel the oversight being conducted now between the Senate and House is probing too deeply into the FBI--do you feel that any of the operations of the FBI have been hurt by the investigations going on now?

MR. KELLEY: I do not construe the activities of the oversight groups as having delved too deeply into the work of the FBI. We on occasion feel that perhaps some matters need protection particularly those involving national security, but I have no objection in the exchange in oversight groups of any matter in which we are engaged. I think, as a matter of fact, that this is a proper balance insofar as keeping us in line and I also welcome it inasmuch as it gives us an opportunity to explain just what and how we do things. I do not object to the exchange, in other words.

QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, you said that you're not attempting to preserve the image of J. Edgar Hoover and, apparently, you know what will be in the information that is to go out of your office in 10 days. Can you tell us, when that information gets up to the Hill and assuming it's made public, are there going to be some more bomb shells about the FBI that we haven't heard about or is this all information which has generally been made public?

MR. KELLEY: I don't know of any bomb shells, so to speak. In the news media, there have been many things discussed, many reports made, and in those matters I think that just about everything that we know about has been already, at least to some extent, discussed and, to some extent, publicized. I am convinced that in these matters where there might be some criticism, there is an underlying intent to do that which is good for the Nation. I have not come across any activities which I would construe as being illegal, being directed toward personal gain or to enhance the reputation of anyone. I see nothing untoward in these activities, in other words, as they will be reviewed by the various groups

QUESTION:

Now, Mr. Kelley, Mr. Sullivan said about a week ago, that he assumed there had been some national security break-ins over the years and I'm just wondering if there have been national security break-ins, say in the last five years, roughly what number are we talking about and why aren't they illegal? What's the legal authority?

MR. KELLEY:

There have been statements made about surreptitious entries and the latest was that statement made by Mr. Sullivan who just retired as the Assistant Director in Charge of the Los Angeles Office; and there have been, of course, reports in the media that the Department of Justice has been inquiring into allegations that our people have engaged in surreptitious entries or, as they are sometimes termed, burglaries. Yes, the FBI has conducted surreptitious entries in securing information relative to the security of the Nation. However, in 1966, all such activity was terminated with the exception of a small amount of actions which were conducted in connection with foreign counterintelligence investigations which we felt had a grave impact upon the security of the Nation. And again, as I just said, I feel that the FBI personnel participating in or approving such activities acted in good faith with the belief that national security interests were paramount and their actions were reasonable. I'm always mindful of a story I heard many years ago about two neighbors who started some arguments which, obviously, were going to terminate into difficulties. One of the neighbors started a campaign to build himself up with shadowboxing, punching the bag and so forth, and it appeared very likely that he was going to be in pretty good shape in order to beat up his neighbor and so the neighbor, thereafter, concerned as to what would happen to him, started to defend himself. You don't wait until the climax which could be the putsch--you start preparing yourself and so I think that the FBI and its officials construed this as paramount again in the protection of the country.

QUESTION:

You said that in 1966, there were a small amount of burglaries. I'm just wondering how small is small and who gave the OK. Did this come from President Johnson or President Nixon or was this a decision made by Attorney General....

MR. KELLEY: This matter will be discussed in subsequent hearings and in reports, and further than what I have stated, I cannot comment.

QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, were these directed against Americans or foreign persons?

MR. KELLEY: I would prefer not at this point to make any comments further and particularly not in particularity as to who may have been the ones against whom they were directed.

QUESTION: Well, were they all conducted in this country or were some conducted overseas?

MR. KELLEY: I know of none overseas.

QUESTION: Sir, going back to prior to 1966, why was the procedure changed in 1966?

MR. KELLEY: By virtue of the feeling of Mr. Hoover that, under the then-prevailing philosophy and the feeling that possibly in the context of the times, this was not a viable procedure--they were stopped. It was Mr. Hoover's decision.

QUESTION: Sir, can we infer that there were quite a number, a large number, of burglaries prior to 1966, but fewer since then?

MR. KELLEY: You cannot infer anything because I have not told you of any number. I can only say that they were stopped in 1966. As to the number, I cannot actually tell you how many nor can I say that it's quite a number or very few.

QUESTION: Why can't you tell us the number?

ANSWER: Because we're going to make reports to our Congressional groups and to the Department of Justice and, frankly, I can't tell you the number myself. We don't have any....

QUESTION: They did not entirely stop in 1966? There were some that did get, you say, a small number after 1966?

ANSWER: There may have been some after 1966 which were, of course, in the field of foreign counterintelligence, and such that it would make a grave impact on our....

QUESTION: Before that, they were not with the field of foreign counterintelligence?

ANSWER: Oh, yes, there were some in that field also.

QUESTION: There were others that were not in the field of foreign counterintelligence before 1966?

ANSWER: You recall that I said in the context of the time, it may well have been that prior to that time national security or counterintelligence or whatever terminology you might want to use could have included other areas. But, then you began to compartmentize various types of activities and then it became evident that the area of foreign counterintelligence national security certainly should be differentiated from domestic security.

QUESTION: But, Mr. Kelley, what policy have you followed in the time that you have been Director? Is this type of activity, has it been permitted? Is it policy now to conduct this kind of activity?

ANSWER: I have not had a single request to conduct such activity since I have been made Director. If ever anything of this type comes up, and I can't foresee this need, but, if it ever did come up and it became a matter of grave concern, a matter which is to be solved only through such activity, I would present it to the Attorney General and would be guided by his opinion as to such activity. Frankly, I have not had any such request since I have come aboard.

QUESTION: Is that in the foreign field, Mr. Kelley. Is that limited to the foreign field when you say such activity?

ANSWER: Yes, sir. Foreign intelligence, counterintelligence, national security, whatever terminology you want to use.

QUESTION: Back prior to 1966, were any of those in say organized crime investigations?

ANSWER: I know of none.

QUESTION: Would you characterize, Mr. Kelley, what areas they were in, please. What areas the pre-1966 burglaries took place? Characterize the kinds of investigations they concern?

ANSWER: I can not at this point characterize them because I just don't know how they were to be characterized. But, it could be that, I would guess, that the great majority of them are what we now term counter-foreign, counterintelligence, or national security. I would say that in all probability the great majority of them were in that area. That's where the grave concern is.

QUESTION: * Have you reviewed them from a legal point of view to determine whether any of them at all were conducted without proper legal authority?

ANSWER: We have discussed them with the Department, and will place them in their hands and they will make such a review.

QUESTION: I wanted to ask you if this goes back to World War II, the Korean War, the Vietnam War, the Cold War or all of them?

ANSWER: They will go back to World War II, I'm confident.

QUESTION: Is it possible to get court authorization by warrant or whatever means for surreptitious entry as distinguished from an ordinary search warrant?

ANSWER: Inherent in the request for a microphone installation there is a matter of surreptitious entry. So, therein you have a natural concomitant. You do have that permission. There is some dictum to indicate, at present, that this may be brought up later. But, I know of no authorization which can be obtained per se for a surreptitious entry. And, at this point, of course, the feeling is that these confined as they are to foreign counterintelligence it flows from presidential authority as it applies also to the warrantless wiretaps.

QUESTION:

Weren't the civil rights groups, Mr. Kelley, among some of the organizations who were burglarized?

ANSWER:

I'm not going to say anything about where they were, or against which organizations they were directed, only to say that they were, Mr. Nelson, and I hope that will satisfy you, and I hope that if there is any revelation to be made later that they can be as complete as possible because, again, we feel that the intent was a very good one and there was no illegality concerned. And the impact of it was to protect the country.

QUESTION:

Sir, how can you say that there was no illegality concerned if the Constitution says that you have to have a search warrant to make an entry and without, as I understand it, even checking this with the Attorney General, these Agents burglarized private premises?

ANSWER:

The resolution of the problem which you now present is up to the Department and the courts, and I, of course, will not engage in anything except to say that in the defense of the men who authorized and participated, that they had this intent and within every criminal violation there is a necessity that there be the ingredient of intent and there was none here as far as I can determine.

QUESTION:

Mr. Kelley, would you say, sir, that most of these requests for surreptitious entry flowed from presidential authority? Is that what you said, sir?

ANSWER:

No, I did not say that. I did not give a complete outline as to what the authorization was. And, this again will be a matter which will be discussed in the reviews of the Department and the various Congressional committees.

QUESTION: Sir, would you say that the Cubans who burglarized Daniel Elzberg's psychiatrist's office should not have been convicted then since they thought that they were on a national security mission? They didn't intend to violate any laws. That was their testimony.

ANSWER: I have no judgment insofar as that because my province is in presenting the facts and for the review and determination by the courts and if such an inference was made it was not intended by me to give them any sanctuary. I'm trying to keep in the area of our facts and that particular thing as to whether or not they had any intent or whether or not it is a viable defense is up to the courts.

QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, did you twice mention that you expect some resolution to this question in the courts? How is it going to get into the courts?

ANSWER: I don't know. It possibly will be some sort of a defense, rather some sort of a presentation to the courts by the Attorney General. He has indicated that perhaps this being a Constitutional question--it being a matter of the executive privilege of the presidential power--that it might well be necessary to have such a review to determine.

QUESTION: * Were all of these break-ins conducted with the permission of either the Attorney General or the President at the time? Or, were there any that were conducted without such approval?

ANSWER: I cannot, at this point, give you any particulars about the program. I just say, as I did before, and this....

QUESTION: Because you don't know or because you're withholding comment?

ANSWER: I'm withholding comment.

QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, I'm still unclear about distinction between break-ins before 1966 and afterward. Is the reduction in number the only change that was made or was there change in the limitations on the targets that were used?

ANSWER: There was a change insofar as the targets just being in the subsequent area confined to those matters which were concerned in foreign counterintelligence.

QUESTION: You imply then that the others concern domestic security or did it go beyond that?

ANSWER: This implication is yours, Mr. Rogers, but....

QUESTION: I'm trying to recall what you said initially.

ANSWER: I said that..., the question was asked me whether I included domestic intelligence, and I said I was confident that the great majority was in the area of foreign intelligence or foreign counter-intelligence, whatever you want to call it. And there may have been. I don't know.

QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, you said that you have not received a request for any type of activities such as this since you have been in office. When did the last one take place?

ANSWER: I do not know. I do not know.

QUESTION: Will the material you turn over to the Church Committee include full details of everyone of the break-ins?

ANSWER: It will be a matter which will be completely presented to the Attorney General, and, insofar as full disclosure by him, that's a question which only he can answer. We will report those about which we know.

QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, you said it was also for the good of the country that Agents send letters to school boards and principals and others to damage the reputation of people working who have had connections with groups the FBI had infiltrated. Was that also for the good of the country?

ANSWER: Your statement, was that also for the good of the country to do that, to damage the reputation, was not the issue. As you pose your question, you answered substantially my response that would be made. Yes, I think that the purpose here was to do something that would ultimately end to the benefit of the Nation. In other words, I think in the so-called COINTEL Program, which you mentioned, that the intent there was one which had adequate basis. As to the programs, now, individually activities within those programs may be suspect. I have said and repeated that some of those activities I would not feel are proper today. I wasn't there during the time that all of these programs were developed, nor certainly the approval of the various activities within those programs. Were I to have been there, there is some that perhaps I might have said, "No I don't think this is proper." I have the benefit of hindsight. I have the benefit of experience in local law enforcement which, I think, prepares me to better understand perhaps the impact of some of these types of things. They are not at all unknown in the field of law enforcement. In some degree or another almost all the law enforcement has engaged in some similar types of activities. Not perhaps to the sophistication as the COINTEL Program, but the context of the time is felt necessary in the present day. We realize that different standards should be applied and they are and we do not engage in those activities now. Since April, 1971, we cut them off.

(NOTE TO CORRESPONDENTS AND EDITORS: The preceding comment by Mr. Kelley concerning local police use of efforts similar to COINTELPRO may be open to misinterpretation. At his direction the FBI later issued his clarifying statement: "I had in mind that law enforcement agencies have used methods designed to create disunity among the criminal element, particularly in organized crime and hoodlum gangs. Probably most common was labeling a crime figure as a police informant to discredit and destroy his criminal influence. These activities to pit one crime figure against another have achieved success in neutralizing the criminal element.")

QUESTION:

You said that you disagreed with some of the activities, that they were not proper programs. Alright, does that mean that there are variations of COINTEL Programs still going on?

ANSWER:

In the first place, we delineate certain programs. That's the overall structure of the full system. Within each of these programs there were some activities, individual activities. I feel that the setup of the programs certainly was directed properly, that is, with the intent to preserve the Nation. Insofar as some individual activities, yes, I feel that some were, in today's context particularly, imprudent and that they were not, again in the present context, the type of thing that certainly I would approve. Be that as it may, we stopped them in 1971 and we have no intention to continue them.

QUESTION: Mr. Kelley?

ANSWER: Yes, sir, Joe?

QUESTION: When you were an Agent did you engage in any break-ins or were you aware of any break-ins?

ANSWER: Insofar as the matter which you are now discussing, I think that we can give substantially the same answer to this. This is a matter which is being investigated by the Department and is being investigated by the various committees, particularly the Select Committee of Congress and, I'm not saying that Clarence Kelley engaged in such activities, or did not engage in these activities. I'm merely saying that these have been presented for review and they will, thereafter, be discussed at some length and any publicity that might be given them will be that which will be given by those more knowledgeable than I.

QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, to your knowledge have any members of the FBI been involved in the planning or execution of assassinations?

ANSWER: No, sir. I know of none.

QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, how about the break-in of embassies here in Washington. Have any members of the FBI gained surreptitious entry into any embassies in Washington?

ANSWER: Without naming or designating victims or institutions, I can only say that there were a few concerned with counterintelligence--foreign in nature--subsequent to 1966. Further than that I cannot say.

QUESTION: A few is 10, 20, 100? When you say few, I'm sure that I'm lost as to how few is a few.

ANSWER: Not many.

QUESTION: Was a lot of this done in Washington as opposed to other cities in the country?

ANSWER: There were not a lot, I'm confident of that. And, frankly, I don't think that all of the few were confined to Washington, D. C., but I can't tell you absolutely that that is true.

QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, were any of these done in conjunction with the CIA? With their knowledge?

ANSWER: I know of none. Now, subsequently, perhaps there may have been information which did go to them but, not insofar as the origin of the information, I'm confident of that. We were not in partnership with CIA.

QUESTION: How about the NSA? Were there any of these break-ins done to help benefit the NSA in its code-breaking programs?

ANSWER: That is a matter which will be developed and will be presented and, it's better for them to comment than I.

QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, the Rockefeller Commission report said that, in discussing the CIA's mail cover operations, said the FBI only learned about this about five years after it was in the works. In 1958, I believe. Mr. Colby's report to the President said the FBI knew about it from its conception. Which is correct?

ANSWER: It is my understanding it was 1968.

QUESTION: 1958?

ANSWER: 1968. Wait a minute, 1958, 1958. That's right, 1958.

QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, in the last 50 years, as I understand it from FBI officials, there has never been an FBI Agent prosecuted for any kind of corruption or crime in connection with his official duties. Is there any agreement with the Justice Department either in writing or any other kind of agreement not to prosecute people who may stray from or commit crimes but, rather to handle it with internal discipline?

ANSWER: Mr. Kelly, spelled K-E-L-L-Y, there is no such agreement. I would not abide by such an agreement. I vehemently oppose any such arrangement and would not operate under such arrangement. No, there is none. Yes, anyone that, within the FBI, will be prosecuted if there is evidence leading to that conclusion. I can assure you absolutely that this is my policy, is the policy of the Bureau, and that we will pursue them as vigorously as we possibly can. There's nothing worse in my estimation than the betrayal of trust and that's what we have when one of your own people defects and gives sanctuary and assistance to the criminal world.

QUESTION:

How do you account than for the fact that there has been no one who has strayed across the line in all these years? It's almost unhuman.

ANSWER:

Well, I appreciate your compliment, Mr. Kelly, which I agree with, there has been none. There have been, of course, some allegations made from time to time, all of which have been pursued and found to be groundless. I think that it's inherent in an organization which is closely scrutinized, an organization which has a strong inspection system but, more than anything else, is the choice of people who are not susceptible to this type of thing. Unquestionably, in such a screening process some might get through. But, than, within the FBI is a built-in system which further prevents this possibility and that is a tremendous pride in this very matter. That is, that there has been no corruption. And, I am confident that Agents working with one another, although, will, of course, on occasion be sympathetic to an Agent who possibly may be drinking too much or may possibly, for other reasons in the area the morals might digress to some extent, they absolutely will not countenance corruption or defection to the criminal element or otherwise contaminate that splendid reputation of the Bureau. It's a unique situation. It's difficult for some to understand. But, it's a built-in barrier to an extension of this type of activity and, something of which we will have tremendous pride and I personally would not hesitate one second to pursue any allegations such as this, feeling that although it may get wide publicity, although it may, to some extent, harm the credibility of the FBI, it must be done. And, I assure you, will be done. Unusual perhaps, but nonetheless, it is present and we will persist with this type of activity. We don't ask our Agents to squeel on one another, we point out the splendid reputation that is inherent within our tradition and is one of the finest traditions you can possibly build.

QUESTION:

Mr. Kelley, earlier you spoke of the advantages and limitations of hindsight. After having examined the records of the break-ins and other surreptitious activity, you observed that you thought it was well intentioned, I believe, in most cases. Did you also observe that there was any gross misuse of authority in the process of that?

MR. KELLEY:

I do not note in these activities any gross misuse of authority. I see a consistent thread of well-intentioned activities. Perhaps now in the present society, and in the context of now and in those times. I do not feel that it was a corruption of the trust that has been placed in us. As now we have determined a valuation that perhaps could be wrong, but in those days there was no intention to engage in activities which were prohibited, illegal, or otherwise wrong.

QUESTION:

Mr. Kelley, why wouldn't an act like the bugging of Martin Luther King's hotel room have been a betrayal of trust? These Agents took an oath under the Constitution and that was prohibited by Federal law at that time.

MR. KELLEY:

There have been a number of articles written about this situation. In reviewing this situation, I feel that the authority stemmed from the proper source. It was a matter which was construed in those times as of considerable concern to the country, and the FBI acted in accordance with the request which was made that it be installed.

You say that it was a matter which was then a violation of the law. Within the warrantless wiretaps under ordinary circumstances they could conceivably be construed as a violation, but under the umbrella of the protection of the country they have been authorized, so I don't subscribe to the feeling that they knowingly, in such an installation, violated the law with the intent to violate the law.

QUESTION:

Mr. Kelley, do you still--does the FBI still--compile personal information on the personal behavior of Members of Congress, members of the press, and other people?

MR. KELLEY:

The FBI receives a great deal of information from time to time. We are charged when we have a complaint to write up that complaint. We feel that not only are we following the archival rules that such must be recorded, but also we feel in discharge of our duties we should record it because such information might well dovetail with some investigation that we are conducting. People come to us to tell about these things for reasons--not just to spill out gossip and rumor and to possibly put someone on the spot. We inform them, for example, at the time they submit this information a record will be made of this but if it is outside the jurisdiction of the FBI we so state. They know before they leave, for example, that nothing will be done about it other than to record it.

QUESTION: But it is put in the files?

MR. KELLEY: Yes, it is put in the files. Yes sir.

QUESTION: Whether it has to do with sex activities, or drinking too much, or what have you?

MR. KELLEY: The allegations within the complaint are put into the complaint and are put into the file no matter what they might be. Yes.

QUESTION: Government officials, Members of Congress and the press, and what have you?

MR. KELLEY: Yes sir. The Department of Justice and the Bureau are now engaged in a mutual venture to set up guidelines as to our activity in this regard. We will abide by those guidelines. We do want it known, however, that some of this information might very well be helpful to us in later investigations. The abuse is the publication of this information, and I know of no abuse, Jack, which we can point to.

QUESTION: Has it been used at times to try to get a person's job?

MR. KELLEY: I know of none.

QUESTION: You know of none?

MR. KELLEY: Now you say to try to get a person's job? Now I don't know of all of the activities that we're involved in--and I say to you, Jack, that yes there have been some accounts as to this effect. I feel that actually were there any such activity it was on the basis of a feeling that these things were true and that they were of such importance that they should be passed on. Some of these, of course, are in the COINTEL Program. I was not privy to some of these allegations. I assure you that this will not continue to the present time. I have been asked what about your own feeling about such information. Since I have arrived I have not had a bit of gossip or a bit of rumor sent to me and this is over two years. I have not reviewed files to find out about reporters, Congressmen or other public figures. I do not subscribe to that type of thing. I have a file on me. It is a quite lengthy file. It includes the investigation conducted about me at the time I was being considered. I understand it is quite voluminous. I assure you that I have not read that file. I do not know who made complimentary statements about me. I don't know who made derogatory statements. Perhaps, maybe, some of you may have made such statements. I don't want to be colored in my opinion about you by some statements which you may have made in good faith, and I think this substantially is what it is all about. The confidentiality and the privacy of individuals. If you, Joe Lastelic, want to make a statement about me, you should. I think you should be given that right, and I think that the proper forum is in one of confidentiality. I have not read those so-called gossip, rumor, or other objectionable types of materials. I am not going to read them, and I certainly do not sponsor any move to revive anything such as may have once existed.

QUESTION: Those files will remain? Rumors, gossips--gossip, whatever is in it?

MR. KELLEY: Yes sir.

QUESTION: You said that you don't question the motives of people who come in to give you information. Do you ever check out the information that was given to you about the people?

MR. KELLEY: If it is within our jurisdiction and makes allegations which may mount into a violation, yes, we check them out. But a mere allegation that so and so is a sex deviate or that he is going around conducting himself other than in a gentlemanly manner and so forth, no, we do not just on the bare gossip stage check that out.

QUESTION: But, nevertheless, that remains in file. You don't check that out, that remains in the person's file unevaluated and raw. Is that correct?

MR. KELLEY: That's right. Now the implication is that you should possibly clear the man. In so doing you would, of course, be violating your charter which is that you do not investigate matters of this type. You might also by virtue of this give it some degree of statute by investigating it. But more than anything else if we have no business in it we shouldn't be checking it out and we do not.

QUESTION: If you have no business in it, why are you in it at all?

MR. KELLEY: We did not enter into it.

QUESTION: Is this a file that is a part of the FBI records?

MR. KELLEY: Yes sir.

QUESTION: You won't always be the FBI Director?

MR. KELLEY: That's right. I am confident of that. I am with you a thousand percent.

QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, can you tell us when you first learned of the files that Mr. Hoover kept that were called his confidential or OC files and whether or not anyone within the Bureau knew about those files and failed to tell you about them?

MR. KELLEY: Jack, that's a long answer, but I will try to brief it. I first learned of the possibility that these files existed in January, 1974. I then was presented a list of some of the files and called in one of the Assistant Directors and said what is this all about. Should they be integrated into the general file system, and I mean by that that we have a general file system. We have a section of our files which are kept in a separate room because we don't want everyone to have the capability of going into them. The man who was charged with the responsibility of looking into this then within a few months retired. The next stimulation of this situation arose after a statement appeared in the paper mentioning these files and we immediately talked about this. Still I did not look at the files. I then instructed that our Inspection Division go over them and make a listing of them, categorizing them. Some of them, of course, were purely administrative, some included information as outlined by Mr. Levi. Such a listing was made and was turned over to the Department. Thereafter Mr. Silberman looked them over and thereafter Mr. Levi looked them over and I made a rather cursory check of them myself. Why did I not look these files over in the first place? I did not construe them as being within the realm of the so-called dossiers that had been mentioned before and during, certainly, my confirmation. I said I did not subscribe to the preparation or retention of dossiers on Congressmen nor members of the Senate. I still persist in that and we have not. My references were about those which were declared improper during Mr. Gray's administration and they were at that time stopped. These were dossiers that were prepared on candidates for Members of Congress and those who failed in their venture were destroyed. Those which were successful were put into the general files. We no longer do that and frankly, in my opinion, this is what was referred to. I feel that these files should be maintained confidential. I still have not given them a close review. I have not done so for the very reason as I mentioned about my own file. I don't think it will benefit me to go over them. Under archival rules they must be preserved. In the guidelines which are to be established, I will welcome any reasonable guideline which says we either do or do not preserve them. I am anxious for us to do our work the way it should be done. More than that, I cannot say.

QUESTION:

Mr. Kelley, there have been suggestions that your absences from Washington for family reasons have prevented you from getting the kind of control of the Bureau that you would have if you were here all the time. I am wondering how you respond to that kind of suggestion?

MR. KELLEY:

My response is that I feel that I have been able to maintain control. I am certainly in constant touch. I have telephone calls that are relayed to me when I have made such trips. I am confident that the executive staff of this Bureau is solidly behind me. I say this inasmuch as I have somewhat a feeling such as may be implied in your question. I must as a result of conditions that you know about make these trips. If I feel that in so doing it will endanger my administrative control and my capability of doing that which I think should be done, I will leave.

There is no question whatsoever because that which I say applies to others should also apply to me. But, I do feel that I have control of the organization. I have known of no disruptive tactics that might have been launched to unseat me and again were there any evidence of that and found, in my opinion, to be one which is well grounded, I would immediately leave.

QUESTION:

Mr. Kelley, if I can return for the moment to the subject of break-ins. You said that conditions of national security and foreign intelligence--there may have been other areas. I wonder if you can be a little clearer on whether there were any break-ins that were not related to foreign intelligence or national security?

MR. KELLEY: I know of none.

Thank you Mr. Kelley.

Mr. JOHNSON. I suppose there is an Assistant Attorney General involved?

Mr. WANNALL. There is an Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Criminal Division.

Mr. JOHNSON. Is that an appointed office? Is that one of those offices where people serve for a while and then they go out and another person is appointed and he goes out? It looks to me as though this is probably what happened—that they started the investigation 30 years ago and nobody ever challenged it or stopped it.

Mr. WANNALL. It is an appointed office, but I'm sure the reports are not personally reviewed by him. They are probably reviewed by someone under him, who would certainly have some degree of continuity in his position.

Mr. JOHNSON. What kind of oversight in the Congress do we have to check these things?

Mr. WANNALL. Oversight by Congress?

Mr. JOHNSON. Yes. Has anybody in the Congress ever said, "Why are you doing this and why have you continued for 30 years when you have not found there is any danger?"

Mr. WANNALL. I don't know whether it would be termed oversight as such, but I think during the entire period of time the Director of the FBI testified in connection with the appropriations of the FBI.

Mr. JOHNSON. We have had testimony about what that kind of testimony involved. If that is what it was, it is understandable how it went on so long.

Chairman PIKE. Mr. Dellums.

Mr. DELLUMS. Before getting into questions, I would like to say I appreciate your going into statistics with respect to minorities employed by the FBI. But in appropriate terms, your employment of blacks is 1.2 percent, and in a Nation where 51.2 percent of the population is women, you have 0.4 percent women agents.

Now, with respect to your statement about the Fourth International, as I understand it, the Socialist Workers Party was affiliated with the Fourth International back in the late 1930's. That was not illegal. As a result of the passage of the Voorhis Act, the Socialist Workers Party discontinued any affiliation from that day to the Fourth International which in my opinion flies in the face of your justification for 30 years of intimidation, burglarizing, warrantless wiretaps, and other programs you have used to justify under the absurd nomenclature of counterintelligence program. With respect to the Socialist Workers Party specifically, as I understand it this morning, you testified that the FBI has not engaged in surreptitious entry or burglary since 1965.

In the fall of 1971, the office of the Michigan Socialist Party was burglarized, and file materials were taken. In April 1973, the Civil Service Commission confronted a former SWP member with a copy of a letter of resignation from SWP. The letter had been in the burglarized file.

My questions are twofold. Has the FBI burglarized SWP offices in general, and specifically have you burglarized Michigan offices of the SWP?

[An affidavit signed by Norma Jean Lodico attesting to the burglary referred to by Mr. Dellums and to other matters is printed on pages 1195-1196 of the appendixes.]

Mr. WANNALL. Congressman Dellums, this morning the date I mentioned was 1968 as opposed to 1965. I have no knowledge that the FBI has burglarized the Socialist Workers Party in that or other instances you are talking about since then.

Mr. DELLUMS. You say you have no knowledge. Let me put it this way: I would like to suggest that you check the files, and if there is any material leading to any facts that you burglarized the SWP or its Michigan office, would you supply that in writing to this committee?

Mr. WANNALL. The files have been checked, and I assure you there is nothing in the files to indicate that in 1971 the Michigan office was burglarized.

Mr. DELLUMS. Thank you.

FBI manual section 122, entitled "Extremist Matters and Civil Unrest," says in part:

In addition to the three principal statutes outlined above, the following statute would pertain to investigations of Klan and other white hate groups.

(4) Civil Rights Act of 1968 (T18, USC, Sec. 241)

In summary, this statute makes it unlawful for two or more persons to conspire to injure, oppress, threaten, or intimidate any citizen in the free exercise or enjoyment of any right or privilege secured to him by the Constitution or laws of the United States. Additionally, it prohibits two or more persons going in disguise on the highway or on the premises of another with intent to prevent or hinder his free exercise or enjoyment of any rights secured by the Constitution or the laws of the United States.

Doesn't this in fact describe the major part of the FBI's intelligence activities against so-called dissent groups in this country?

Mr. WANNALL. The entire matter relating to the so-called Cointelpro has been reviewed and is under consideration in the Civil Rights Division of the Department of Justice. We took our entire file on the Cointelpro and made it available to the Assistant Attorney General and two of his deputies to review the matter. While it was not possible for him to look at every serial, he did look at most of the serials, and in fact Mr. Ryan, who is at the table with me, tried to direct his attention to specific items that might be troublesome.

Following the review, he said based on his review there was no indication of a violation of the statute. He did say that if any information is called to his attention in the future, he certainly would consider it.

Mr. DELLUMS. You indicated in testimony this morning that you no longer have a security index file. You have an ADEX file. Does the FBI still maintain at some location cards which have names of 13,000 persons who were on this security index?

My point is: You say you don't have it, but don't you in fact still have those names, and you can call them forward at any time?

Mr. WANNALL. We have cards on 13,000. I will accept that figure. I think it is probably in that neighborhood. When the security index was discontinued by legislation of this Congress in September of 1971, we had a program of regularly destroying cards. They were maintained for a certain period of time and then destroyed. However, Senator Mansfield issued instructions in January of this year that no records should be destroyed pending the outcome of the investigations by the Senate committee. We have made no destruction of any records since that time.

Chairman PIKE. The time of the gentleman has expired.
Mr. Milford.

Mr. MILFORD. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

First, I would like to clear up for the record the colloquy you had with the chairman concerning this Lori Paton statement. According to her written statement the appropriate words were: "I was shocked when FBI Director LaPrade wrote back denying I had been the subject of an investigation." Now the record is clear on it.

Mr. WANNALL. Thank you. I picked up "FBI Director." I did not pick up "LaPrade." In that instance, I have read the letter signed by Mr. LaPrade. He was not the Director. He was special agent in charge of our Newark office.

Mr. MILFORD. Mr. Wannall, on the surface it would seem that several witnesses have appeared before this committee and have given some very disturbing testimony against the FBI. Some of these accusations and allegations are very serious.

Under our system of justice, whether in our courts or before our juries or even in congressional investigations, there exists the right of rebuttal by the accused or maligned. Without a doubt the FBI has been accused of some serious aberrations and violations of our laws. There are actually two hearings going on here today.

One is the official hearing being conducted by this committee on behalf of the House of Representatives. The other is a public hearing that in effect is a form of trial by television and notoriety by newspapers.

With little doubt tonight's television and tomorrow's newspapers will detail the sensational statements made by the witnesses that appeared before this committee today.

Unlike our legal system of justice, the press is not required to plod through painstaking investigations to assure that all legitimate facts are known and presented to the jury or to the public.

They are legally free to print or broadcast any item of information as long as someone will simply say it—particularly if it conveniently fits a 1-minute TV blurb or 300-word newspaper item, and particularly if the quotes are sensational, controversial or scandalous.

While the FBI is probably going to flunk out as a TV star in tonight's news or as a celebrity in tomorrow's newspaper, I think it is extremely important for this committee's record to have the complete and detailed information concerning the allegations and accusations that have been made by witnesses before us today.

You have rebutted portions of that testimony, Mr. Wannall. I realize that you may not be able to fully comment on each and every allegation that has been made today. The time remaining for this committee to finish its investigation will probably not allow us to call you or other FBI officials back before the committee in formal hearings.

Therefore, I will ask you, as an official of the FBI, to take the statements of each and every witness that have appeared here today in each case where the FBI has been charged with the commission of an illegal act or where allegations of improper actions have been made, and I would ask you to supply for the committee's record the following information:

(1) All evidentiary information contained in FBI files that will either substantiate or rebut each allegation.

STAFF INTERVIEW

Wednesday, November 5, 1975

House of Representatives

Select Committee on Intelligence

Washington, D. C.

The staff interview began at 2:00 o'clock p.m., in Room
B-316, Rayburn House Office Building,

Present: James Oliphant, John Atkisson, and Richard Vermeire, Committee Counsel.

1 said the technique should be discontinued.

2 Mr. Vermeire. Which one was that?

3 Mr. Wannall. I would have to refresh my memory. It
4 involved, as I recall, the Communist Party, USA. It was 5 probably in about 1967 or 1968. There was no record of it
6 in our headquarters, but our New York office did have a 7 notation on a serial in the file that a telephone call had 8 been placed to headquarters and approval granted to make 9 the entry for the purpose not of taking something away 10 but for the purpose of photographing material on the 11 premises.

12 Mr. Oliphant. Were there any surreptitious entries against 13 the Socialist Workers Party?

14 Mr. Wannall. There have been, yes.

15 Mr. Oliphant. Up until what date?

16 Mr. Wannall. I don't know the date. Do you?

17 Mr. Shackelford. I cannot speak factually but I 18 would generally say up to the '66 date. They could have 19 terminated before that. I have no first hand knowledge.

20 Mr. Oliphant. After that date, Mr. Shackelford, were 21 there any surreptitious entries performed, not by Bureau
22 personnel, but at the behest of the Bureau; in other words,
23 through the use of informants or through the use of people
24 who were friendly to the Bureau?

25 Mr. Wannall. After 1966?

1 Mr. Oliphant. That is right.

2 Mr. Wannall. Our study has revealed none.

3 Mr. Oliphant. What is the policy of the Bureau,
4 if the Bureau is conducting an investigation regarding, let's
5 say, a subversive organization and let's say not a foreign
6 organization, not a Soviet organization, and the Bureau
7 is presented with information which would appear to be 8 the result of something which was taken from an organization.
9 I refer specifically, let's say, to internal documents and 10 that sort of thing, which are not for public consumption, 11 not pamphlets and things like that, and the Bureau is in 12 receipt of that.

13 What is the position of the Bureau with that?

14 Mr. Wannall. I think if the documents clearly 15 indicated they came from such a source, our policy would be 16 not to accept them.

17 I cannot say, with some 8,000 men out in the field,
18 that they would not be accepted. But I can tell you this,
19 if they were accepted and we learned about it, the agent 20 would be subjected to severe disciplinary action. He would 21 put himself in a position of having something he could not 22 use because he would know good and well he was in possession
23 of something that would do him no good and he dare not report 24 to headquarters.

25 Mr. Vermeire. Do you have any estimation of the total

1 number of break-ins conducted by the FBI prior to 1966?

2 Mr. Wannall. Prior to 1966 there has been a figure of 3 248. I think that is the precise figure. I do not know
4 where that figure came from. I would have to go back to 5 the man that I have assigned to this particular area to 6 verify if we in fact can say we made 248. (239)

7 Mr. Vermeire. Out of those 248, how many of those break-
8 ins were conducted on American citizens?

9 Mr. Wannall. I don't know. I do know that we had either
10 14 or 17 targets of domestic organizations. ("at least 14")

11 There were numerous surreptitious entries in the 12 case of some of those organizations which runs the figure 13 up much higher than the total number of targets.

14 Records were not maintained. The system was devised.
15 I think perhaps we had talked about this before, that if 16 the recommendation was made it was made a record in our 17 field office file after authorization. It was maintained 18 for a year because we have an inspection of each of our 19 offices each year and the inspector has access to everything.

20 If he found in the files information that was unaccounted 21 for, the special agent in charge could say "Here is my 22 authorization." After that process, the record was 23 destroyed.

24 Mr. Ryan. If I could add to Mr. Wannall's comment, 25 you mentioned domestic break-ins on U. S. citizens.

1 In the overwhelming majority, in my estimation of so-
2 called surreptitious entries of U. S. citizens or 3 domestic groups there was evidence of foreign influence
4 or control.

5 Mr. Atkisson. What in any of your views were the attributes
6 an individual citizen had to have to qualify for ADEX
7 in the course of its existence?

8 Mr. Wannall. ~~ADEX~~ AEX exists today.

9 Mr. Atkisson. I am asking if it has changed. Let's 10 ask today. What attributes would I have to have to be 11 listed on ADEX?

12 Mr. Wannall. You would have to represent what we 13 considered to be a current threat to the security of the 14 country.

15 Mr. Atkisson. Is association alone with any group, 16 no matter how dangerous, association alone enough to 17 qualify me for that elite group of people?

18 Mr. Wannall. No.

19 Mr. Atkisson. Has that been the case throughout the 20 existence of ADEX?

21 Mr. Wannall. Throughout the existence of ADEX.

22 Mr. Atkisson. I know the difference between the 23 security list and the other.

24 Mr. Wannall. There was the custodial list and the 25 security list and ADEX. The ADEX was established on the Director Kelley. Ladies and gentlemen. It's a pleasure to just be able to say a word about the Police Foundation. We're delighted that Director Kelley has invited us to work with the FBI in this important program of management training. I'm personally very pleased that I'm one of the instructors in the program and that we've been able to assist in providing some of the faculty dealing with such acts as organization and management and organizational change. The Police Foundation is a private foundation created in 1970 by the Ford Foundation with a grant of thirty million dollars. We fund a small number of experimental programs; the three largest programs are in Dallas, Cincinnati, and Kansas City. Director Kelley, when he was Chief of Police in Kansas City, invited the Police Foundation to work with the Kansas City Police Department in the Patrol Experiment which is one of the unique things occurring in police administration in the becoming (inaudible).

R. KELLEY:

I have of course been very interested in the problem of organized crime here as well as elsewhere. I would be unable to access and evaluate the status of the organized crime situation, but I can assure you this, that it will get all of the attention that it can possibly be given. And, I might inform you that even before I had become comfortably seated in the automobile, which brought me here, Mr. Held asked for some additional Agents. And I'm confident that that would be a group who would work on this problem. Yes, we are aware of it insofar as again, saying how many and what, all I can say is that we're attending to it and we'll try to do our best insofar as lowering it's impact.

R. ROONEY:

QUESTIONER: ✓

Thank you.

Mr. Held, or rather Mr. Kelley, what, if any, role would the FBI play in tracing the whereabouts or the credence of the two missing White House tapes?

R. KELLEY:

We have no role to date whatsoever, I do not anticipate that we will have one. I know nothing about the tapes, I have never seen them. As a matter of fact I was asked a question, what do they look like and I have been informed by a not too reliable source, that they're round. And actually, that's all I know about them.

QUESTIONER: ✓

In light of the missing tapes, in light of the polls that indicate that vast numbers of Americans have some problem of trustworthiness of the Administration, do you receive any similar feelings within the ranks of the FBI? Could you describe generally how morale was in light of the switches of Attorney Generals and how it is?

R. KELLEY:

Morale, as I first assessed it when I came in, was not at all as it had been described in the media and generally as thought to be by people with whom I talked who were outside the organization. I have, since I came with the Bureau, asked literally hundreds of people, what do you think about morale within the FBI. Not once have I had any statement made to me to indicate that morale is low. I do feel however, that there must be some sagging of morale on occasion when we are put in the same category as some of the people who have been involved in some of the problems, and it's been generally a disenchantment I think with the Federal Government, and we, by virtue of just being an agency of the Federal Government, are touched to some extent by this. Some people wonder why are you, Kelley, going around and why are you making speeches and why is it necessary to talk about the FBI on such a wide front. I think it's necessary because there's widespread misunderstanding about what the Bureau does. I think also that it's, it's a need that we reassure the people that the FBI still is the staunch professional organization that it always was. I want the people to know, as I have known for many years, that there is no difficulty within the organization which time and restoration or confidence in the organization will not cure. I'm not going to continue stamping throughout the country for an interminable period of time. I recognize that you come to the point where you can talk no more and then you have to perform. I assure you that we're performing right along but I'm not going to continue this for again, a great length of time. But I do think that it's necessary to acquaint people with what's going on. For example, I understand it's a widespread feeling that the FBI worked separately on the Watergate from Mr. Cox's committee. Well as a matter of fact we conducted a great majority of the investigations for the Cox Committee. They would send us over requests and usually the requests were very definite as to what should be done, but then a sort of a catchall that as we uncover various avenues of furtherance of the information we should take those and so we had some latitude. We worked very closely with the whole committee and I know of no beefs that have been registered about our work, but on the other hand I have heard many, many statements that the Bureau was doing a good job in this regard. So, when you speak of the Watergate investigation by Mr. Cox and his committee, this is actually to a considerable extent a continuation of the FBI investigation.

QUESTION: ✓

QUESTIONER: ✓

Director Kelley, is the FBI making a thorough, honest check into the Vice President designate, Gerald Ford's background or they just going over it? Are they making a thorough check into his background?

MR. KELLEY:

I assure you that they are making it thorough and also I assure you a very honest investigation. The second batch of reports have been delivered now. They're weighty which is not necessarily indication of the professional type of an approach, but nonetheless shows that we certainly went into it in a very probative manner. You must rely on me when I say that it is honest and the instructions were that we were to pursue every avenue which seems to have any possibility of anything which might be construed as derogatory or to indicate activity which should receive special attention. Everything that's come to our attention has been delved into, probed and all that we might ring out of it has been rung.

QUESTIONER: ✓

Mr. Kelley, if there was any information that his background preclude his being of becoming the Vice President, would this information be suppressed for political purposes?

KELLEY:

First, I must reiterate a statement I made during confirmation and several times thereafter. I can't say what the entire life of the FBI has been, nor can I say what it will be. But I can tell you this. Without interference of any contradiction from anyone, while I'm here, there's not going to be any political pressure exerted successfully. Now that's a rather broad statement perhaps and might be construed as self-serving, but I've been in this business for thirty three years. I've weathered it so far and I'm going to weather it the remainder of the time that I be here, whether it be here one more day or several years. So there has been no pressure which has been given to any of the people within the organization and the report will be free of anything that could be considered as a tape of this type. But again, this is not the only type of investigation where we will stand by this standard. It will be all the investigations of the FBI which will be similarly handled.

QUESTIONER: ✓

Thank you sir.

QUESTIONER: ✓

Mr. Kelley, Mr. Saxbe has been quoted as saying that President Nixon should destroy the Watergate tapes, if something incriminating were found on them. Isn't this (inaudible) found out to be true that you did say that you think (inaudible) be confirmed (inaudible).

MR. KELLEY:

Well, of course now you're asking that I engage in some political maneuvering. And therefore say to you that where there is illegal activity certainly I will be very strong in pursuing it but when there is an opinion to be voiced, and a particularly one where it has political overtones, I feel that I should remain aloof from this type of a thing. But again, that which comes into the area of illegal activity will get prompt and vigorous attention from us. Director Kelley, do you have any general concerns about tension between achieving statistical efficiency, cooperation of police departments throughout the United States at the same time maintaining records which are not later used against persons who are truly innocent. That is having a lot of records of charges against persons who admitted going into a vast company file, without the notation later that there was a finding of not guilty, eliminated from these records?

R. KELLEY:

There has been, of course, quite a bit of thought concerning the use of the information which goes into what is known as a National Crime Information Center and its criminal history file. And much of the criticism is on the matter of dispositions of arrests. First it must be understood that the NCIC or the Identification Division of the FBI, is a repository so designed many years ago, for criminal records. We try to get dispositions. We try thru many ways asking our Agents to stop by police departments and we also send out letters asking for dispositions. Many do not send them in. They remain on the records. There are bits of legislation now which would cure that. One that I've heard about, that if in a certain period of time, and I think one of them is seven years, there is no disposition, it would be construed as not being guilty. There're other things that are now in the hopper to cure this type of thing. I am not opposed to a fair appraisal of this situation so that such records would not harm applicants or citizens who do not want this type of record in our possession. More than anything else, however, I would say that the criticism is directed toward the computer operation when in actuality there have been for many years, the same type of record on so-called hard copy, it's been in our records bureau, in the Identification Records. The fact that it's on the computer is to me rather insignificant inasmuch as the computerization is a facility which aides the officer on the street, aides the people who have need for a quick response. But be that as it may, yes I admit that this works a hardship on occasion and we are on many, many occasions talking and negotiating and considering possibilities of making this a less repressive practice. Now we have with us Mr. Murphy who has considerable experience in this and I know has by virtue of his work come in contact with this problem. Would you care to talk about this Pat?

JOHN MURPHY:

Yes, I, I'm aware that not only at the Federal level, but in a number of local and state police departments, there is a growing concern about first of all security on record systems, and development of criteria that would provide for fairness in protecting of persons arrested who are never convicted of any crime, while at the same time attempting to maintain adequate record systems for the performance of the important of law enforcement agencies at every level. a very complex problem, while I was commissioner in New York early this year, we adopted a new policy of purging our intelligence files of a great deal of information that had been in them for many years, including some information concerning arrest that never resulted in conviction. So although we don't have all of the answers yet I think our citizens can be satisfied that the law enforcement community is sensitive to this important problem and determined to develop a new criteria that would provide for a fair system.

QUESTIONER: ✓

Mr. Kelley, would you kindly give us your opinion of James M. Rochford who's been designated Acting Deputy, or Acting Superintendent of Police here in Chicago?

MR. KELLEY:

I know Mr. Rockford and for the benefit of those who do not know him, he is an Assistant Superintendent of the Chicago Police Department. I have served on panels with him and this is the entire extent of my acquaintanceship with him.

I understand he's been on the department many years and I can speak only, however, of that which was my fortunate capacity as a fellow panelist. And I found that he did a very fine job. These discussions were on crowd control and he seems to have a very fine outlook on that and spoke in a very articulate manner. As far as I know, Mr. Rockford is a fine officer.

QUESTIONER: ✓

Mr. Kelley do you think that a new Superintendent of the Chicago Police Department should come from within the ranks or do you think that the city should go outside to look for one?

MR. KELLEY:

I, of course, do not know anything about the local situation. I knew Mr. Wilson very well, and he was a fine administrator. I also knew Jim Conlisk. My feeling about police officials is that it is well to have one come from within the department, thereby having a great background that affords him better acquaintance with the problems and with the men who will work under

I was one, however, who came from the outside joined a Department which had some problems at the time I came. And, it depends on the situation it depends on the needs. I do say that it would be very advantageous for a department if they could take a man from within.

QUESTIONER:

But in light of the corruption, the scandals are plaguing the Chicago Police Department right now, do you think that the new superintendent should come from within the ranks?

MR. KELLEY:

I would not. I don't know enough about the situation. You say that there is a scandal and there are prosecutions and, of course, the FBI has joined in these and I don't by any means, that we have done a wonderful job, but I think that we have been helpful insofar as clearing this situation. Presumably, in a situation like this, it certainly stifles that type of action and if it continues, there will be more cases uncovered. I again say to you that it depends to a considerable extent, on the depth of the problem and I'm not that well aware of what the problems are here.

QUESTIONER: ✓

Mr. Kelley, my question is rather two-fold. First of all, I was wondering how closely allied are the Central Intelligence Agency and the FBI, mainly because of the fact that, if I'm correct, they were the engineers responsible for the supervision of the White House tapes, if so, then if the FBI's an investigatory body, and if the two don't confer and relay information, how is it that the FBI investigating the case achieved the proper information? What was the Central Intelligence Agency if they are two diverse groups?

KELLEY:

The Central Intelligence Agency was set up to handle foreign intelligence primarily in the foreign field. The FBI is a counter intelligence agency with its primary jurisdiction right within the Continental United States. We during the years have conducted many, many investigations along with CIA. We, however, are the senior of the two organizations and in our work have found that there are many things which are very helpful and these are in the development of sources and the development of information here in the United States. CIA has grown to the point where they are, themselves very proficient.

Insofar as their engineering of the so-called tape situation, I know no more about that than what I read in the paper and presumably what you know. I do know, however, that our two organizations work very closely together. I had a meeting not long ago with the Director of CIA and we reached a complete agreement as to our separate jurisdictions, there are no conflicts whatsoever. We work well together, and I assure you that there being a continuant of our cooperative spirits between us, that we will work well together in the future.

QUESTIONER:

Mr. Director, how widespread, how serious is the problem of Communist subversion in the United States today?

A. NELLEY:

I'm frequently asked this question, and naturally there have been many who say that the Communist threat is no longer one which we should be frightened about nor one which should concern us particularly. I am confident that there is some measure of lessening of importance of the Communist threat, but we must always remember that the Communist Party has as its goal, principle, or objective, of trying to change our form of government and to do this on occasion by force and hopefully, however, just by taking us over. We haven't weakened to that point. My feeling about this is that we should never completely relax our vigilance. Right now we're spending a great deal of time on the terrorist activities. That certainly consumes a major portion of the time of any government which is assailed by this type of a threat. But we have not completely ignored the possibility of a revival of the Communist threat. Now again I don't say that it is as strong as it once was. I don't say that it consumes a major portion of our intelligence investigative activity, but we are not ignoring the possibility that it might have a resurgence.

QUESTIONER:

Do you see any connection between the terrorist activity and Communist subversion?

R. KELLEY:

Well, we don't actually have direct evidence. There could be and that's what we're always alert to. The terrorist activities are not typical of the Communist activities in the past. We're in a sort of a new ball game insofar as the terrorists are concerned. It is something that we are going to be tuned to and will try to follow in the event it does spring into our recognition. We, in other words, are watching things and trying to keep alert because after all we're here on the domestic scene charged with the responsibility of prevention of these difficulties. And we're not going to overlook any possibility.

QUESTIONER:

Why wasn't there an investigation of Mr. Jaworski?

MR. KELLEY:

Why was there not an investigation of Mr.

Jaworski? He was appointed by the Attorney General and presumably it was an appointment made in furtherance of the traditions of the establishment of this committee, and I frankly, was not there when Mr. Cox was appointed. Was he investigated?

MR. HELD:

Right. So was Mr. Jaworski.

MR. KELLEY:

Mr. Jaworski, after having been appointed was investigated and the investigation is still going on.

MR. HELD:

Right, right.

MR. KELLEY:

It's going on right now. But he was appointed with the thought in mind that it's following the tradition of the Attorney General making the appointment.

QUESTIONER: ✓

(Inaudible)

Chicago (inaudible) the so-called radical factor, are most of them (inaudible) proven innocent. Many have had FBI Agents (inaudible) classified (inaudible). Is that at all (inaudible) the FBI?

R. KELLEY:

I don't know what cases you're speaking of. I would say that to an Agent who is investigating a case, losing a case, it would have somewhat of a feeling of morale. It would damage his morale to some extent, but we try constantly to imbue our people with the idea that we're not the judge and jury. We're the investigator. In the event a person is found not guilty, that is the decision of the court, this is the justice of the land, and forget this business about having pride in what you think is a job well done. You did your best, forget about it, and go on to the next one. And, frankly, I think that this, as a morale-damaging factor, is very minimal.

QUESTIONER:

Mr. Kelley, if I may go back to Mr. Calloway's questions for a recall. It is my understanding that the raw files on individuals such as myself or others, are not being erased, are not being eradicated. Is that correct?

MR. KELLEY:

That's correct.

QUESTIONER:

Thank you.

QUESTIONER:

Mr. Director, I can imagine that one of the great sources of material for any American historian would be the files of J. Edgar Hoover for historical purposes if not for immediate political purposes. Are there any things in those files that you had an opportunity to look into that will be of great interest to historians of the future or headline seekers of today? Is that something that you've had to get into or will they be held in abeyance for several years? What's happening to his extensive file?

MR. KELLEY:

Mr. Franck is the Assistant Director in charge of the Internal Affairs Unit. Mr. Franck, would you explain this matter of the disclosure of files?

FRANCK:

I know of no file of J. Edgar Hoover. All the files that belong to the FBI (inaudible). I don't have them.

QUESTIONER:

I meant those files that he made of personal memos, memos of conversations of Attorney Generals, Presidents, that sort of thing. I meant those files which he would've kept, which then would (inaudible) possession of the FBI. His memorandums.

FRANCK:

Unless Mr. Kelley corrects me, I know of no files, of his personal files. Now, he may have personal correspondence, but anything pertaining to investigation, any pertaining to our jurisdiction, would be in a case file at FBI Headquarters.

QUESTIONER:

Is anyone currently doing research for a biography on Mr. Hoover?

KELLEY:

I can answer that.
(Inaudible)

KELLEY:

None, not coming to us.

QUESTIONER:

No secret file. Not coming to you.

KELLEY:

That's right.

QUESTIONER:

Not coming to you.

KELLEY:

Not coming to us, that's right.

QUESTIONER:

Mr. Director, do you feel that the burglary of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office was a legitimate exercise of executive power? If, in similar circumstances, you were directed to conduct such an operation, does this fall within the legitimate exercises reported by the FBI? Could you comment on this?

KELLEY:

Well, I refer you to the statement made by Mr. Nixon himself, that this was something that should not have been done and certainly I would not have joined in anything such as this. The fact that it happened was a most unfortunate thing, because some people have thought that the FBI was involved in this. No, I do not subscribe to that type of activity and will not permit it to be done. It was something which was most unfortunate.

QUESTIONER:

If in what instance is surreptitious entry justified?

KELLEY:

The question is one which is very broad in its scope. When can you make a surreptitious entry? There are occasions, of course, when by virtue of a Title III, Omnibus Crime Bill, there can be a surreptitious entry in order to install an authorized make, for example. And presumably the past; but not now, there have been some cases where there have been some, at least the news media has reported many such things. It depends in the field of criminal investigations, whether or not you have proper judicial process, that being the application under Title Three, the Omnibus Crime Bill, and, in national security, whether or not you have a situation which is of sufficient magnitude and importance to warrant some unusual things. I cannot give you a direct answer insofar as the latter. I just haven't had any occasion to have any of that done and in my understanding that it's been several years since it's been done. We just haven't had the situation brought to our attention recently, so I'm just speaking about speculative things.

Insofar as the Omnibus Crime Bill, yes.

R. REID:

Mr. Kelley, as you know we have a little captive audience here. I wonder if any of the wives or any of the Agents in the class might have a question.

QUESTIONER:

What's the purpose of this class? Could you explain to the people here?

R. KELLEY:

This class is one consisting of Assistant Directors, Agents in Charge, and Assistant Agents in Charge, who have been brought here to be in sort of symposium atmosphere for five days, during which time they'll hear people who come from all over the country who are authorities on management. These are people supplied to us, and under agreement with us, by the Police Foundation. I suppose were I to summarize, the thing that I feel hopefully will occur would be that our people will become closer to and recognize the matter of change. I'm a new Director and I have a different idea about management, as you already know. There's a different type of treatment to be given to the news media people. I hope that we can always avoid, for example, that very repugnant phrase "no comment". You might on occasion say, well maybe he didn't say no comment but he said the same damn thing in a lot of words. Well, that may be true, but I hope that we can be better acquainted and we can work better together. A part of this symposium is the matter of dealing with the news media. All and all it's just a general unraveling of matters which will place our people in a more receptive mood to the things which will come to pass. And these will be as a result of a review of our entire operation. I can't say that we're going to make many changes but the possibility exists that we will.

QUESTIONER:

Mr. Kelley, how well are the minorities represented in this group? In the FBI.

MR. KELLEY:

There are none I'm sure. Is that right?

MR. HELED:

I didn't hear the question.

QUESTIONER:

What kind of minorities are represented?

MR. HELED:

In this group here?

QUESTIONER:

In this symposium and in the FBI.

MR. HELED:

This is just a portion of what's being held all over the country.

QUESTIONER:

Are they Agents in Charge?

MR. HELED:

That's right, Agents in Charge, Assistants, Assistant Directors, as he said.

QUESTIONER:

From all the top ranking FBI?

MR. HELED:

In the field?

MR. KELLEY:

Yes.

QUESTIONER:

Are minorities represented?

MR. KELLEY:

No, they are not.

QUESTIONER:

Why not?

MR. KELLEY:

Well we do not have any minorities who are Agents in Charge or Assistants. We have some

We have about eighty-eight black Agents at this point and at least one female Agent. We have several who have certainly risen rapidly within the organization. There is nothing to preclude them from coming into and going up in the FBI, but they just haven't. The first black Agent, I recall, was a man who worked in Mr. Hoover's Office many years ago and for many years. But very frankly, we have only had black Agents in the field in the recent past. And I cannot say that there was any excuse for this. All I can say is that we're very happy with those we have now, and, hopefully in the years to come maybe next year, maybe the year after, we'll have a representative here.

And that's the extent of it?

Indeed.

If I could add, Mr. Kelley, we have two minor group Agents in supervisory positions in the Chicago Office.

(Inaudible)

They are in charge of and are supervising a group of Agents who in this instance are investigating criminal activities.

QUESTIONER: ✓

MR. KELLEY:

MR. HELD:

QUESTIONER: ✓

MR. HELD:

QUESTIONER: ✓

Mr. Kelley, you spoke of changes in relations with the press. Mr. Hoover took it upon himself not only to administer the FBI in terms of its technical legal responsibilities, its investigative responsibilities, but also created a sort of a high type (inaudible) of, what I think he called, moral leadership. (Inaudible) called the people that you have a higher moral fiber, stronger moral fiber, that sort of thing. That type of (inaudible). Some people thought it was great, some people thought it was the worst (inaudible). Do you see your responsibilities in terms of speaking, writing magazine pieces, speeches, that sort of thing, to create a call for higher moral fiber, that sort of thing.

KELLEY:

I see my role as almost exclusively in the field of law enforcement. I do feel that this on occasion might indicate a need to talk about some morale problem. I do not have the wide experience nor do I have the standing of Mr. Hoover. I've been here only a few months. I do not feel that I have at this point any position which would warrant this type of an approach. It does appear to be something which would be helpful, I assure you I would not hesitate to embark upon this type of thing.

May I say something? If I may comment on that, because of the way law enforcement is organized in the United States, I think Mr. Hoover had been a spokesman for law enforcement. I think I speak for the police community and law enforcement community in the nation, especially those with backgrounds in local policing, that we're very proud that Clarence Kelley as the new Director of the FBI will be our spokesman and can speak from a background of both Federal and local law enforcement which is encouraging. We do need a spokesman in law enforcement. I know I speak for many others in law enforcement. We are delighted that he will be a spokesman for us. I hope he will be.

HELD:

I'd like to add, you know there's an old adage about behind every good man there's a better woman. And we're very fortunate to have Mrs. Kelley with us today. Would you stand up? (Applause).

If there will be no more questions gentlemen, we're going to conclude it as I have to rush Mr. Kelley to an airplane.

THE FBI'S ROLE IN PROTECTING AMERICA

AN ADDRESS BY

CLARENCE M. KELLEY

DIRECTOR

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

AT THE

UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS

LAWRENCE, KANSAS

MARCH 29, 1974

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED
HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED
DATE 3-16-82 BY SP4JRM

I appreciate the opportunity of returning to my old alma mater here at the University of Kansas. I've always been proud of my Jayhawker degree of 1936. Why shouldn't I? I can think of no better school throughout this Nation for a young man or woman to attend. I am proud to be an alumnus of this great institution...and I'm proud of its students and faculty members.

1936 is a long time ago...and thinking back to my student days here in Lawrence brings back nostalgic memories.

I recently read an interesting article by Dick Russell about myself in the Kansas Alumni - and I discovered some of the things I did in those days: that I "rodded" around campus in a blue convertible called "Bluebird" (we probably had all the gasoline we wanted then); that I downed near-beer and hard-boiled eggs with the best of them at Hillside Pharmacy at 9th and Indiana; that I was called "Chief" because my jutting jaw looked so much like the Indian on Big Chief school tablets.

And maybe there are a few other things Dick Russell didn't print.

For a few minutes today I want to talk to you - very seriously - about a topic of deep concern to us in the FBI, to you as citizens of Lawrence, to all patriotic Americans - and this is our Nation's internal security.

Perhaps you have seen recent mention in the press about the FBI and its policies on internal security - and by internal security we mean our efforts to protect you and other Americans from the foreign spy, the saboteur, the urban guerrilla, the terrorist. The media has recently carried stories utilizing the term "cointelpro" - which is an FBI term relating to certain aspects of internal security.

When we talk about internal security, the FBI's position - and my position personally - is that we must never allow any subversive group of terrorists or individuals advocating violence to bring this great Nation to its knees. I am confident that you too agree with me. America must be ready, able, and willing, at all times, as a democratic nation, to protect its own integrity, independence and freedoms. No terrorist group, or organization threatening violence, should ever be allowed to subvert our historic principles of free government.

The FBI's position is to forthrightly, honestly, and within the bounds of our laws, protect our country from the predatory attacks of those who are not bound by legal scruples or by loyalty to our country. This has always been the FBI's position. It is the FBI's position today. It will be the FBI's position as long as I remain as Director.

In considering the FBI's actions in protecting our society, we must recall the 1960's, when this Nation experienced a period of extreme social unrest and physical violence. We well remember the riots both on the streets and on the campuses. Academic buildings were seized, administrative personnel kidnaped, entire universities brought to a halt. From coast to coast this violence became a threat to the integrity of our institutions.

These were the days of the planting of bombs in military installations, in office buildings, even on campuses. Manuals setting forth instructions for the making and planting of bombs circulated.

In this atmosphere of unrest, extremist groups of various types were active. They hated our government and our democratic liberties. They were interested in destruction and injuring this country. Nothing could have pleased them more than to have rendered this Nation incapable of resolute and effective action for its own defense.

Into FBI headquarters and field offices day after day poured reports of extremism. The question arose: What can be done to meet this extremist challenge? What steps should be taken to protect the rights, lives and property of law-abiding citizens?

There was a vital need for action. The Government had to protect our society. If the extremist groups, and their mentality of terrorism, were allowed to gain even a temporary ascendancy, great damage might be done to the freedoms which form the lifeblood of our democratic society.

As a result of this crisis in the 1960's and early 1970's, the FBI instituted a program called "cointelpro" which is an abbreviation which simply means "counterintelligence program." This program was a positive effort to reduce and lessen the extremist danger. It was designed to bring under control and weaken extremist groups, such as the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), the Weatherman and other revolutionary organizations, and to protect the rights of innocent citizens. The gospel of violent revolution and insurrection had to be halted. If permitted to proliferate, it could seriously jeopardize our constitutional system of government.

Now, I was not in the FBI at the time this counterintelligence program was operating. However, I can well understand the feelings of the FBI and the Government. I am convinced that the motivation behind "cointelpro" stemmed from a sincere and patriotic desire to protect our government and our democratic principles.

The main point is that the FBI, the governmental agency responsible for protecting our internal security, at a moment of crisis did not stand idly by and allow our freedoms to be jeopardized. It took positive action. It could be justifiably criticized if it had not moved aggressively to counter this revolutionary threat.

I agree with a statement by Chief Justice Vinson in a 1951 Supreme Court ruling. Justice Vinson wrote:

"Obviously, the words cannot mean that before the Government may act, it must wait until the putsch is about to be executed, the plans have been laid and the signal is awaited."

In intelligence work you must be anticipatory in your judgment. The FBI simply cannot wait until the terrorist or the extremist - the individual whose allegiance is to violence - strikes before we act. Counterintelligence means staying abreast of these hostile groups which want to destroy our free institutions.

This means that the FBI must, if it is to fulfill its responsibilities, be cognizant of critical areas where violence and lawlessness may occur.

The terrorist should never be given a sanctuary from which to attack society. He must never feel that he is immune from detection and apprehension. He must never be allowed to believe that there are laws in this country which govern our citizens, but that he is above, beyond and not subject to these laws.

Some of these revolutionaries attempt to justify their actions by claiming they are acting on a "higher law" - which, when translated, really means they desire a license to do what they want and that society, in turn, has no right to protect itself.

Such a revolutionary philosophy can only mean a disintegration of our freedoms.

Individual freedom does not mean the freedom to plot and carry out crime or overthrow our government by force and violence.

I feel strongly that the FBI's "cointelpro" or counterintelligence program contributed substantially to neutralizing these extremist elements in this period of revolutionary strain and tension in the 1960's and early 1970's.

Today, civil disorder has greatly subsided. As we all know, the fancy on campuses today is streaking...not burning buildings. We no longer have riots which burn up large areas of our cities. Major civil disturbances have not recently occurred.

The threat which was viewed with such alarm at the time does not now exist.

However, we would be foolish to state that terrorism and extremism have evaporated and that society has wiped out this malignant cancer. This is simply not true.

The urban guerrilla is today part of modern-day society, including our own. "Guerrilla war is becoming the phenomenon of our time," says an author. "The battlefield is everywhere and anywhere."

These guerrilla-type groups have openly declared war on our society. They have shown a willingness to use the most vicious and insidious means to achieve their goals.

These groups vary in size, the quality of leadership, modes of operation - but they all have the common objective of terror and violence.

Their tactics include political-type kidnaping, such as the unfortunate kidnaping in San Francisco, hijackings, murders, the planting of bombs, letter bombs, armed robberies. There have been "expropriations," that is, crimes specifically carried out by terrorists for the specific aim of securing money to finance revolutionary activity.

The police officer - who mans our first lines of defense - is a primary guerrilla target. Police stations have been bombed. Police cruisers have been the objects of violence. Policemen have found themselves under sniper fire and attacks from ambush. "We have to try something new, like armed revolutionary violence," says one terrorist group.

Last year 131 local, state and municipal law enforcement officers were killed by criminal action. Of this number, 13, or ten percent were slain through probable guerrilla activity. This shows the magnitude of the problem.

The FBI is today counterattacking these guerrilla-style groups under existing laws. Cointelpro was discontinued in 1971. It has not been reinstituted. I do not intend to reinstitute it..

The FBI treasures the posture of a legally conformist law enforcement agency. The FBI is acting within the law...and it will continue to act within the law. We stand on our tradition of protecting the rights and liberties of the individual.

We are abiding by existing legal constraints. We today have laws on our statute books and they are being enforced. The FBI does not condone illegal or unethical tactics in the handling of investigations. Our responsibilities must be met in a constitutional manner. This is the very essence of democratic law enforcement.

You - and other Americans - can rest assured that the FBI will be alert to the need for any further legislation to meet our obligations. If the situation develops where we feel additional legal steps are needed to meet an emergency or crisis, we will promptly bring this matter to the attention of the Attorney General, the President and the Congress.

We will not stand idly by. We will not put our face in our hands and say, "It's too bad, but there's nothing that we can do." This would be a betrayal of our sacred trust.

I have frequently expressed my belief in what can be called a delicate balance in American life - that is, a balance between safeguarding the rights and security of society as a whole; yet, at the same time, meticulously protecting the rights of every single individual.

To my mind, there is no alternative. We must strive, the best we humanly can, to achieve this balance.

Just where is this balance?

The answer: it is difficult to determine. This is the genius of our American system that we can protect both our internal security and our common welfare, yet at the same time allow freedom for the private citizen, in whatever field he chooses, to develop his own unique personality as a child of God.

Today we find conflicting voices. Some people think primarily in terms of protecting society...and say that individual rights must be chipped, cut back, reduced. Others say there is too much emphasis on protecting community rights to the detriment of individual liberties.

Each of these arguments, in my opinion, possesses merit...yet neither contains the full and final truth.

Somewhere in the middle - in the happy medium - there must be a blending of the two viewpoints.

The whole history of America ever since the days of the Constitutional Convention of 1787 has been this give-and-take, this dialogue between these two essential viewpoints.

Can we ever arrive at a final, permanent position... where we can say, "here we are, this much protection for our society, this much protection for the individual?"

I think not. Times change. The needs of today may be different from the needs of tomorrow.

As I pursue my stewardship of the FBI, I intend to keep one thought paramount - that whatever is good for the Nation is good for the FBI. Never should we for one moment construe the needs of the FBI as paramount.

We must listen and thereby learn. We must view the world of today as a prologue of our activities in tomorrow's investigatory field. We must not become piqued about the possible loss of some investigative techniques, but view them in the light of the rights of many, including the underprivileged, the downtrodden, and the minorities.

We must never carelessly cast aside the considerations voiced by a few solely because they are a few. Progress in society often comes from long and deliberate thinking, not as a sudden avalanche. Sometimes, however, when an avalanche comes, though we cannot always stem the full force, we can at least detect faults and perhaps weaken any destructive impact.

Often law enforcement is considered as isolated, antiquated, and not possessing an insight into cultural, philosophical, or political influences. In this regard, we have established within the FBI task forces for the purpose of creating a better understanding, and through this understanding, a more facile and adaptive policy decision mechanism.

We want our efforts in law enforcement construed neither as obstructing progress nor as abrasive in the area of the recognition of individual rights.

Frankly, some of the changes in society have had a traumatic effect on our field. Our receptiveness to change, however, has not been diminished, nor our intention to meet the challenges arising from these changes.

The "cointel" program, as I have said, was terminated in 1971. I do not intend to authorize its revival. I will seek instead legislation which may possibly meet such difficulties if they are encountered again. Admittedly, such legislation will be difficult and possibly even too difficult to enact into viable laws.

If this be so, we will continue to operate within the framework of the law. I consider this matter of achieving a proper balance as the single most important matter which we face in the FBI today. What has gone on before is past. What goes on in the future, I am confident, will not arise from a defensive posture - supporting measures already proved inadequate, but will be a constant probing of the ways we can best promote the good of the Nation.

Although difficult, I feel our endeavor is not impossible. My belief is fortified by an assessment of our superb personnel. They are anxious to do the job the way it should be done. With receptive and inquisitive minds, we will not sequester ourselves in the sanctuary of seclusion, but constantly view each problem as important and solvable within the framework of the spirit of Constitutional guarantees. I make these statements with confidence because I know the FBI and its devotion to supporting our liberties.

I, therefore, ask for your support. I ask that you have confidence in the capabilities of this splendid group of men and women - people who are neither mossbacks nor wild liberals. They are people as desirous as you and I of welding ourselves into a great Nation, powerful as a result of our unification but at the same time happy in the recognition of our individual courtesies and rights.

Our hope is that we fulfill the pledge of one Nation under God and help make this a Nation responsive to the Divine will.

ANNOUNCER: Clarence M. Kelley, successor to the legendary J. Edgar Hoover as Director of the FBI. Tonight on "Washington Straight Talk," Clarence M. Kelley, charged with reviving a demoralized post-Watergate FBI and now confronting, besides the traditional brands of domestic criminality, a possible new era of political terrorism.

FBI Director Clarence Kelley answers questions from NPACT correspondent Jim Lehrer.

JIM LEHRER: Mr. Kelley, since the Patty Hearst case, we've had a rash of kidnappings in this country. And the obvious question is, when and how does it all stop?

FBI DIRECTOR CLARENCE M. KELLEY: Of course, when you speak of the Hearst kidnapping case, you must keep in your comparisons the fact that this is a so-called political type of kidnapping. And the others which have followed are more of the traditional type of kidnapping. Whether you go that way or go the way of just a plain kidnapping, of course it's a very ominous thing that we're experiencing.

We do, however, have a good record insofar as solutions. And we feel that this will be somewhat of a deterrent. Easy money, of course, attracts many people. And we may have a continuation of them. But I have said many times that I think that this is not a real wave of kidnappings that we're going to have, just a ripple, so to speak, in comparison with some of those that we've experienced in the past.

I'm optimistic about this not being a real problem.

LEHRER: But you will concede, will you not, sir, that there has been more than usual? Do you think...

KELLEY: Yes.

LEHRER: ...they've all grown out of the Hearst case? I mean the Murphy case in Atlanta, another case in Atlanta over the weekend, the case of the boy in New York, one in Akron -- a threat of one in Akron, Ohio. I mean these have grown out of the Hearst case, do you not agree...?

and, particularly ominous, revolutionary and violent in their actions. The administration of the Bureau at that time looked upon this with great fear as to what would happen if they were to continue. And it appears that without proper legislation, without proper guards from a continuation, that it would.

So these efforts were instituted. They were, I think, to some degree, at least, successful. At any rate, they were terminate in 1971, and they have not been re-instituted, and I have no plans, no no intention to re-institute them now.

LEHRER: Well above and beyond the particular groups that may be involved, whether it's the New Left or the old right, or whatever politically, do you feel that this is a basic technique, that that is a legitimate technique to be employed by the FBI?

KELLEY: Well, of course, you posed a question which has a lot of ramifications. No, I don't think it is a basic technique which needs to be employed. I think that you should have legislation which enables you to properly control. With such legislation, you don't have to go into this type of thing.

The field of law enforcement is growing insofar as its capability. Where in years gone by about all you did in most cases was to interview and try to get a statement, now you do a great deal more. And with the complexity of the society today, there's a need for additional legislation. I'm asked on occasion, what kind of legislation would you need in order to do this type of thing? I don't know that we would ever need legislation to do this type of thing. We need legislation that'll enable us to do less and still accomplish the job.

We don't want to go into this type of thing. In that era when there was so much alarm, it was felt something had to be done. All right, it was done. And I don't think that there was any great harm wrought as a result of it. But the thing about it is they didn't stand by. And one of the greater faults would be inactivity, not doing something about it. They did do something about it. And certainly I am not myself saying that I would do the same thing. But I'll tell you that when you feel, such as the threat was, that the nation was being brought to its knees, you'd better be doing something about it or you're going to be on your knees. And that's not a posture that any American wants to assume.

LEHRER: What about the general question that this raises and also Watergate raises to a certain degree? Let me just ask you the question. Do you feel that FBI agents should be permitted to commit illegal acts, such as burglary, illegal wiretaps, if it is in the interest of national security, or if it is in the interest of the kind of thing you're talking about, on somebody's opinion we're on the verge of revolution, or something like that? I know it's a fine line. I know it's a tough question. But where do you see your parameters? Where would you draw the parameters?

KELLEY: I do not feel that they should be permitted to engage in illegal activities. There probably, in the years gone by throughout law enforcement, were, for example, some illegal wiretaps and that illegality gave rise to some criticism of the legal wiretaps of today.

No, I do not feel that we should be engaged at any time in any illegal activity.

LEHRER: All right, sir, moving on to this area of crime information, crime data, you and some members of Congress and others seem to be at odds over this on this national crime information computer system. The key to the controversy, it seems to me, hinges on access and accuracy. I'll ask you, first of all, is that correct? But the business of a person's past criminal record, who should be able to see it, whether the record should be kept updated, et cetera. What, first of all, is your position on this, basically?

KELLEY: Well, in the first place, there are certain things that you have to establish in a system such as this. It is a computer system. You have to establish security. There can't be any possibility that some outside organization or some outside facility can get in on it without difficulty. And I say "without difficulty": I don't actually think you can get in on it...

LEHRER: "Outside" meaning outside law enforcement?

KELLEY: No, not outside law enforcement. Some concern which might be trying to get criminal records in order to sell them, or something of that type.

Then you have to have reliability, an organization which gives good information for storage in the data bank. Then you have to have accountability so that there can be an assurance given that all along the trail of information in, information out, there has to be an inspection system, something to assure accountability.

So I feel that those things must be established. And the FBI, in my estimation, has proved itself as a proper, so-called chaperone of the system. We're not the leader of it. We're merely the one who is held for the accountability, for example. And this seems to be one of the major problems.

Another problem is the matter of sealing records, which is within this law. We do not feel that the sealing should apply to law enforcement.

LEHRER: You're talking about sealing past criminal records, right?

KELLEY: Seven years, or five years, whatever the law might provide for. We feel that there should be no sealing off

...st criminal information, which could well supply us with some
... or some capabilities toward solving a very bad crime.

LEHRER: Where do you personally draw the line between -- in this particular case, between the needs of law enforcement versus the possible infringement of privacy on the individual, on the other and? There are chances for abuses here; there are legitimate needs, as you say, over here. Where do you draw the line?

KELLEY: Well, of course, I spoke not long ago in this composition about the balance. And there has to be a balance so that you recognize the individual rights and needs and the rights of the very large group, the victim and the people of the nation who may possibly become victims. And I think there can be a balance achieved.

Most of the problems which occur in this area is the possibility that a past record adversely would affect a person applying for a job. And I do feel that this should be protected in the sense that only convictions should be released regarding him. There is a feeling on the part of some that you take this out of the data bank and not make it available. Well, it's available in other manners.
For example, you get it from the court, or there are a lot of organizat which maintain such information. And were we to not make this available that type of business would probably proliferate, and you'd have quite a number of them who would be compiling the information.

LEHRER: Mr. Kelley, we have just a couple of minutes left. Let me ask you some general questions here. When you first took over as head of the FBI and after you'd been there a while, what emerged in your opinion as the number one problem that you had to face internally, within the FBI, and the number one thing that you wanted to accomplish?

KELLEY: To try to get the FBI personnel receptive to the idea of change. We are in a different era. We've lost a man who, for almost half a century, stood head and shoulders above everyone in the field, a man who could just by saying yes or no change the whole structure. And we now have accountability that we never had before. We're going to have, therefore, in order to have that accountability, in order to revise, do some changing.
It was my feeling that this was one of the greater needs, and this is what I've dedicated a great deal of time to.

Another is to publicize the FBI and make a more open stance a reality rather than just an idea. And right here today, we're engaging in one of my efforts to do that. I think we can be better publicized; I think we can be better explained. I think that the people want to know how we do our work, want an explanation of why we're doing it this way. They're entitled to it; we're going to give it to them.

And in these, why, there are some problems, but I think that we're meeting them.

LEHRER: You say you wanted the Bureau to understand that there had to be changes. What kind of changes, like other than, say, public openness? Internally, what kind of changes...?

KELLEY: One of them is a more participatory type of a management whereby there's an exchange between the members of the staff there at Washington, for example, and me; there's more input from them to me; that there is, generally, a feeling that this is an organization where we're powerful, we have splendid persons and all of them can contribute to the continuation of the progress of the organization. Generally speaking, it's known as participatory management. And that's one of the things that I want to engender in them as a good, viable system.

LEHRER: Mr. Kelley, you mentioned J. Edgar Hoover. He was, as you say, an institution, you know, a national symbol to many Americans, particularly young people, for generations now, at least forty years. How would you like for the young people of today and tomorrow to think of Clarence Kelley when everything -- when all is said and done?

KELLEY: I really haven't given this any thought. I enter the job of Director much later in life. And therefore since I must leave at seventy, I would hardly be able to build much of a record in that time. All I would like to leave is the legacy that this is an organization where you can call upon the vast well of ideas and help from the personnel, that I played it the way it should be played. And that I will do, indeed, if I possibly can.

LEHRER: Mr. Kelley, thank you very much.

ANNOUNCER: "Washington Straight Talk." From Washington, MPACT has brought you Director of the FBI, Clarence M. Kelley, with MPACT correspondent Jim Lehrer.

Next week on "Washington Straight Talk," special consultant to the President Patrick Buchanan with Bill Moyers, former press secretary to President Johnson and host of the PBS program "Bill Moyers' Journal."

O'Brien Symposium
11/9/23

MR. KELLEY: Thank you very much. I want to first welcome all of you. and particularly welcome a group that is rather new to the FBI as an organization and that is the wives who have for many years been so very supportive to all of us. And ladies, I want to assure you that if you want to ask any questions of me, don't hesitate just because we have an array of news media people here, I'm sure that they would appreciate any question that you also may have. I don't have any long introductory statement, only want to say that I feel it is most advisable to, from time to time, through you, the members of the media, to speak to the citizens of the United States -- tell what we're doing, how we're doing it, and if there are plans that might be of interest that we tell you about them. Insofar as the procedure that we're going to have following, I have no bars about getting questions. Of course, the obvious barriers come up that if it be a pending investigation, I can't respond to it. I'm going to try and avoid a terse "No comment" because I know how very objectionable this is, but you might well say, "Well will you say it in different language?" All right, but I'm going to try and be as open as I can, an openness which, I hope, pervades the Bureau, and will be our hallmark in the future, rather than the accusation of the past that were very restrictive. On occasion, I may feel that a question could better be computed by someone else. And I may refer one to Mr. Murphy, Mr. Newpher, and we have with us today also the Assistant Director of our Computer operation, Mr. Campbell. We have a representative of our External Affairs, which used to be under another name in the Bureau, Mr. Quinn. And to them I may refer one such question. So without further adieu, I'm going to start the questioning, and I'm going to ask that Mr. Hoover handle the matter of designating what person is to be pointed out for the giving of a question.

X QUESTION: Director Kelley, has the FBI morale recovered from Watergate?

MR. KELLEY: I'm asked this question frequently, and I'm always told before I got there, there was really no problem insofar as the morale of the Bureau. Since arriving, I have, on many occasions, inquired about this and am without exception informed that morale is at its highest level for quite some time. I do not take this as something that has been brought about due to my attributes. I just think that possibly by virtue of the establishment of a permanent Director, it has had a stabilizing effect. I do feel that though in the minds possibly of some citizens there has been a tarnishment. It really hasn't affected the personnel of the Bureau themselves so I don't think it is a problem.

X QUESTION: (Nearly inaudible, but to the effect, were there any bounds around specific areas that might or might not be investigated by the FBI?)

MR. KELLEY: There were no boundaries placed by Mr. Nixon. There was only the general statement that he wanted the laws of the land under which the Bureau operates be enforced. He wanted to assure me that I would be supported by him in this and that there would be no political pressure nor should I bend to any. He indicated that he had a high regard for Mr. Hoover, and always felt that he had done a good job. This was the gist of his remarks then, and I have no information or any interviews with him subsequently which change that one bit.

X QUESTION: Inaudible

MR. KELLEY: Yes, I think that right here we have typical one of the issues possibly enabling us to restore the full regard that we held before. We have a Gallup Poll indicating that 55 or so per cent of the people held us in very high regard and an additional about 30 per cent who held us in so-called generally regard. We feel that in times past we probably could have gone 85 to 90 per cent of the people who said high regard. I'm in this type of an atmosphere trying to restore the faith of the public. I'm making a number of speeches. Our people throughout the country are making more speeches. I'm trying to get them to open up more and it could to some extent be described as a public relations drive in order to bring us back to this very desirable situation of high regard. This we need because this matter of enforcement is not a unilateral type of situation. It must be joined by everyone and we're not just trying to be the darlings of the public, but we're trying to establish a situation where we do get the help we so desperately need. I plan to make speeches in the future which are directed toward particular problems, and greater explanations given about those problems. I'm going to make one tomorrow night to go into the matter of some of the security investigations. I plan in the future to go into the matter of civil rights, and in a series try to go out and expose for public consumption those matters about which there might be some apprehension. It has been said about me that I must be trying to sell the FBI. There's no question about that. I am trying to sell the FBI, but I do so because again of that need of complete support if we're going to do our job properly, and also because I have an extremely high regard for the people of the FBI and their capabilities. I'm proud of those associations, I'm proud of those capabilities. I think that the Nation should know about that. Therefore, if I'm construed as a salesman, a salesman of good will in this case, I will persist in doing this.

X QUESTION:

Mr. Kelley, Governor Sargeant of Massachusetts has been quite critical of the integrity of the National Criminal Data Bank so much so that he doesn't allow Massachusetts to take part in that contributive ... (Inaudible). Is he justified in that criticism, and what steps has he taken to...so that he will feel free to contribute to it?

MR. KELLEY:

I, as I've said, have an associate here who is capable and moreso than I to answer a question such as this. First I'll give you my answer to that, and ask that he elaborate on it. I think that we do have a fine system of control but Wason would you come forward and give us your evaluation of this? This is Wason Campbell, Assistant Director in charge of our Computer operations.

MR. CAMP-
BELL

The National Crime Information Center, commonly referred to as NCIC, does operate under safeguards that are provided by the NCIC Advisory Policy Board. Those safeguards are quite restrictive. For example, they provide that no inquiries can be made into the Data Bank except by criminal justice agencies. They provide that the information disseminated can be made only to criminal justice agencies for criminal justice purposes unless a Federal or state law provides for further use such as in employment checks. I am pleased to tell you that the NCIC is serving all 50 states, including Computerized History Activities. For example the Massachusetts State Police traffic in October was more than 2,000 messages per day. The Boston Police Department traffic in October was almost 300 messages per day and we're pleased to render this service to the State of Massachusetts.

QUESTION: But still Governor Sargeant is highly critical of it. Are you aware of his criticism? Could it become nationwide?

MR. CAMP- Yes, we're very much aware of it, sir.

BELL

QUESTION: Has he joined up yet then?

MR. CAMP- He has joined in participating...well, his organizations, the Massachusetts State Police and other agencies in Massachusetts are participating in that they're using records that are in there as I indicated.

QUESTION: What about contributing Massachusetts organizations?

MR. CAMP- Massachusetts has not put in yet its criminal history

BELL: records.

QUESTION: Do you see the likelihood that they will or any reason why they won't?

MR. CAMP- We hope they will. We would like to see full participation

BELL: on the part of all states.

X QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, you're in the Bureau. What do you consider the biggest danger there is?

MR. KELLEY: I would have difficulty answering that. I think one of the dangers is the spread of some disenchantment with government, and I'm not going to elaborate on that because we all know some of the things that have come up. I think that there might be some spill-over of this into the field of law enforcement inasmuch as we're put into the general category of a governmental organization. I haven't asked from time to time do you see any inroads into our security by virtue of the activities of certain groups. I do see we are on this trend, the seemingly proliferation of terrorist groups... groups who on occasion attack and kill officers. This is an alarming thing inasmuch as it affects the lives of officers, not only those who lose their lives, but those who are subsequently looking over their shoulder fearful that they will have an attack. Fear also goes into the families and apprehensive as you wives and children and other loved ones are, they want to speak of this from time to time and it might well be that we will lose our people because of this and we have a reluctance on the part of young people to come into the field of law enforcement. We do so desperately need dedicated, fine young people to come into the ranks of law enforcement with the enthusiasm and dedication that makes law enforcement so meaningful. We've come a long, long way insofar as developing a good spirit in law enforcement. A spirit which has brought about a complete recognition of the rights of people. I don't say with complete compliance with those needs because on occasion we all have a fault in the observance of these by some officers, but we have come a long way. In fact, we've come a long way in educational level; we've come a long way insofar as developing new expertise pathologies, we've done very well but we stand in a position of decision now where that is endangered to some extent. That is generally on the matters which just off the top of my head I construe as some of the things of which we should be wary.

X QUESTION:

Mr. Kelley, can you give us an approximate number of wiretaps that exist in the United States and what is their use in national security?

MR. KELLEY:

There are relocations made in the report of the FBI about the total, and I do not respond to such a thing for at this time frankly because I don't know what the total is and would be reluctant until the final tally is made to give reports. Now insofar as categories, we have two categories, one of which is the so-called "criminal installations." That is one placed as the result of the provisions of Title 3 of the Omnibus Crime Bill, and the second that is concerned with foreign intelligence.

X QUESTION:

Mr. Kelley, when you arrived at the FBI, did you find the Agency involved in any areas that you were concerned about that perhaps the Agency should not have been involved in before? Have you finally phased out these operations?

MR. KELLEY:

One that has been publicized widely was an enemy list. There may have been some people we thought that we'd best not contact because they have already declared themselves as not wanting to talk with any of our people. We have some who have been openly extremely critical and apparently without basis and [apparently ones with obtained lists of people retaining them.] I know it was advisable that the Agent know about them in order that he might be careful. Reportedly there was another list of just people disliked. There is no such list now. There was an allegation about a list of so-called dossiers of members of Congress and the Senate. None equally exist. I was informed that none existed when I came, and I assure you that I will not permit such a listing to be divulged. I understand that there were allegations of some promiscuous placing of some installations. I assure you that there will be none of that. I have no substantiation for this but I say a blanket statement all installations will be done within the framework of regular procedures and will be placed into effect only if there is good and substantial cause. In the case of the Title 3 by virtue of an affidavit properly secured and placed before the court. In the case of foreign intelligence that it be a substantial reason for doing it. And in all cases, both going through the Attorney General.

QUESTION:

Can you tell me, what changes have you made in the FBI and (inaudible).

MR. KELLEY:

One of the first things that I did was to restore the External Affairs Division, which was formerly known as the Crime Records Division. I spoke briefly about that in saying that Mr. Quinn was here. I, through Headquarters at Washington, D. C., developed a rapport to explain my general philosophy of law enforcement. You know, I succeeded Mr. Hoover, I don't say by any means that I replaced him. I have some different things in my background. I have had some experiences, particularly in twelve years of local law enforcement, which has given me a different insight than perhaps has had before. I'm a man who I suppose has some definite ideas about enforcement. I've had quite a history of investigation and I plan to through that type of philosophy let it be known through the country just who and what is this new Director. I have already instituted a review of some operations of our New York Office, the largest office throughout the land. Through this review, using a task force of working Agents we're going into some of the operations. We're later going to go into these problems in other areas and probably we'll address ourselves to the whole, big operation from the Chief Clerk's office which is the top of our Records Section locally through to the assignment of automobiles. We're going to go into the location of our offices. We're going to look over the whole thing in other words. I'm also of the opinion that our so-called managers (they being the Agents in charge, the assistant Agents in charge, and the officials at the seat of Government) should be given the ideas that have been indulged in Management, as related to industry, the professions, and business; and for that reason set up the symposiums, one which is being held here during this week. These things I have done, I have plans of others which are not as yet completely formulated but I assure you that are being stirred around and that between speeches, conferences, and press conferences, am hopeful that we can get it on the road to do these things only after due consideration, but that we do them.

X QUESTION:

Mr. Kelley, with gas rationing a possibility, the Mafia here in New York has already reported to have its own pump site. Would you care to comment on that?

MR. KELLEY:

I, frankly, do not know what will be the framework of enforcement. I have not heard, as yet, that it will be the FBI. If we get information of such fraudulent activities, if we do not handle them, but get the information, I assure you that that information will be disseminated to the proper Agency. If we handle them, if we are the Agency designated, we will certainly proceed with the investigation leading hopefully to prosecution.

X QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, at any during the Watergate affair, do you feel the Administration used the FBI improperly?

MR. KELLEY: I would say that this would be improper for me to at this point to comment about. Yes, there have been many allegations about this--none of which has been brought (inaudible) and absolutely that is given whole revelation to me. This will in all probability be brought out as the further developments of the Watergate hearings progress. But I frankly at this point, although I have heard some things, just cannot give you a substantial and accurate response as to that.

X QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, do you have any Blacks or other minorities on your staff at the FBI right now? (Inaudible)

MR. KELLEY: We have approximately 8,500 Agents, 12,000 clerical personnel, 88 Black Agents, 1,700 and I believe 87 Black clerical employees. You asked, a question which of course is asked police departments and other agencies and is rightfully asked. There should be more and there are efforts made to have more now. I cannot explain why it was not done before. I do agree that we should have more. I cannot set any particular percentage because I'd say that I consider the members of the Black community of substantial value, of equal capability, and I don't care how many Black employees come into the FBI. I do want to maintain the standards of the FBI, and if a white man doesn't meet this standard, he will not get on. And there will be that type of an application throughout, no matter what the government.

X QUESTION: (Inaudible)

MR. KELLEY: Oh, indeed. There are many efforts made and we have had a substantial increase over the past few years.

X QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, there's been a sensational communique in this area in which a white woman was put to death by torch by black youths. The FBI most enrapidly saying that a Federal law has been violated. There were several other instances in housing projects in which blacks were armed have been criticized...the Bureau has been criticized for not acting in those cases. Would you comment?

MR. KELLEY: I, frankly, know only a little about this although I could perhaps answer, but I'd rather have Mr. Newpher, the Agent in Charge of the Boston Office to respond to that.

MR. NEWPHER: You were referring to the Miss Wagner case, the one instance in which we were instructed to get into that, by the Department of Justice and we went into it legally. Due to the supposed statement that was made to her the night before she had been torched to the effect that she should get out of that neighborhood

This was a basis for discrimination in housing. In that particular case we conducted an extensive investigation and I want to say we worked very closely the Boston Police Department. We worked hand in hand throughout that investigation. I can't say any more about that particular case at this time because it is still pending. I wouldn't want to go into any of the details of course.

X QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, Vice President Agnew resigned his office because of things that came to light about his career when he was Governor. Should not the FBI have started those things in screening him for the post in the first place, or did they and nothing came of it?

MR. KELLEY: Elected officials are not investigated by the FBI. Mr. Ford is an appointed Vice President and that's the reason why he was investigated. But Mr. Agnew was not investigated prior to the time that he was nominated and elected.

X QUESTION: But at that time was he not screened or whatever one does as a candidate?

MR. KELLEY: No screenings that I know of, No.

X QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, is organized crime any more or less of a problem that it was five years ago?

MR. KELLEY: Organized crime is still a problem. As to whether or not we made sufficient head roads into the ranks to make it less of a problem, I would find it difficult to answer. I think that certainly by virtue of our prosecutions and the sentencing of some of the leaders and some of the lower echelon, we surely must have made them more apprehensive, so I'm inclined to believe that it is less of a problem now than five years ago. This, however, does not mean that we are going to relax, but on the other hand, I would say as more time becomes available for us to throw additional personnel into this field, we will do so because there is an extremely important need.

QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, do you have any specific recommendations as far as gun control.

MR. KELLEY: I will answer that. However, I would also like to have some comments from Mr. Murphy who has a very definite policy regarding that and I think the both of us can comment on that. Mr. Murphy.

MR. MURPHY: Thank you, Mr. Director; it is my strong feeling that we should have Federal control of handguns especially, and of course there are some Federal controls of other weapons. Handguns are responsible for a great deal of the crime in the country today including the killing of police officers, not only assassination-type cases, but the ordinary robbery and day-to-day crime. Also the increasing incidents of homicide in the country at a time when we see other crime statistics leveling off. And I believe it can be attributed to the ready availability of handguns, and I do not believe that the solution to the gun problem is to be found in different laws in each of the 50 states. I strongly believe that we need Federal gun enforcement because it's next to impossible to have effective enforcement with different laws applying in different states. So my view and I think and I hope increasingly the view of people of state and local law enforcement is that the safety of police officers as well as the safety of our citizens dictates that we do what every other developed country of the world has done, and that is to impose reasonably strict controls on handguns.

MR. KELLEY: I subscribe to gun control and have repeatedly felt that our most pressing problem today is to get rid of the Saturday Night Special so-called because it is a throw-away gun which is many times thrown away after the commission of a crime, costs from $5 to $15, is not the type of weapon which the holder feels he should retain, and it has brought about a substantial number of killings of our officers. And my feeling is let's first attack this due to the opposition of handguns by many, but the great, great lobby of some of the others who oppose any restriction. And I don't think that they can maintain this position if it applies to the Saturday Night Special. I want to do it by degrees and want to, in other words, attack the greatest danger right now. It might be that we go into other fields thereafter, but let's get the Saturday Night Special first.

X QUESTION: Do you have any idea of how this problem can be attacked?

MR. KELLEY: Yes, it can be attacked by proper Federal legislation which makes it illegal to sell or distribute these weapons throughout the United States. There can be also some legislation regarding the holding of a gun. Yes, restrictive legislation can be a way to handle it.

X QUESTION: Will the FBI back such legislation?

MR. KELLEY: They will.

X QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, is this public relations drive really imply that you're having recruitment problems getting new Agents?

MR. KELLEY: No, sir, we are now at the point where budgetary limitations will not permit us to hire any more Agents until next Spring. We have a group of people who have applied in the past few years, and been generally described as "good material" totalling about 3,000. No, there has been no diminishing of the applications for the position of Agent.

X QUESTION:

How can the public be assured that in the future the FBI will be fully insulated during any kind of improper political approaches or influence?

MR. KELLEY:

I was asked that question yesterday when I talked with the editorial staff of one of our newspapers. I think that the best way is for the Senate Judiciary Committee in reviewing candidates for confirmation to make sure that they have chosen the proper person. And one of the main faults of any organization is the man on top. And I think that they should be extremely careful to make sure that he does not bow to political pressures; that he does not do things which would tend to diminish the effectiveness of the organization. You can set up rules, regulations; you can pass laws, but basically, it rests on the character of the man who was chosen to head it, particularly does that apply to the FBI where perhaps such an authoritarian figure for so many years, and it is such a well-disciplined organization, and although the Agent personnel would not just blindly follow, there is a general tendency to at least go along. Therefore, the post of Director must be one which is carefully chosen, insofar as the man himself.

X QUESTION:

Mr. Kelley, I'd like to go back to NCIC for a second.

(Inaudible)

MR. KELLEY: Mr. Campbell, again.

MR. CAMPBELL: I think I caught most of that question. The FBI endorses formalizing the safeguards that now exist through the passage of Federal legislation. Such legislation is presently being drafted by the U. S. Department of Justice. Does that answer your question?

QUESTION: (Inaudible)

MR. CAMPBELL: Well, I'm not at liberty to detail the legislation at this point. I believe one of the facets of your question involved dispositions of arrests? Yes, I can say that it's very possible, though the legislation is still in draft stage, that it may contain provisions that perhaps along that line. I have requested an appointment with Governor Sargeant to discuss NCIC, hopefully to remove some of the misunderstandings that apparently exist, some of which are based on misinformation.

X QUESTION: Mr. Kelley, is the FBI still involved in the Watergate investigation?

MR. KELLEY: Yes, sir, we are receiving requests from the Committee. I can't tell you how many because I don't know. I would guess that I will get, and they all come to me, I would guess that I'll get two or three communications a week requesting certain investigations, and tagged at the end is the statement that if any other leads are developed you should feel free to go ahead. We are not conducting investigations independently. If, on occasion, we have something reported to us regarding this investigation, we do immediately flip over to the Committee for two reasons. One being that they themselves conduct some investigation independently on occasion, very little, but they do, and it might be duplicative. Secondly, we have reached an agreement with them that we will do this in order that they might govern the scope of the investigation. Over, much over half of the investigation they conducted in this area are conducted by the FBI.

QUESTION:

Mr. Kelley, the White House established what we've come to know as the Plumbers' Organization. Would you, as the Director of the FBI, permit the FBI to do that type of thing if asked to do so, and secondly, do you favor that type of an operation as the Plumbers' Organization has been identified as?

MR. KELLEY:

I do not favor an organization such as that, and I would not permit our people to engage in a similar operation.

Shed of its former image and under attack, the Bureau is working to sharpen its performance as a way to regain public confidence. Clarence M. Kelley came to the magazine's conference room to spell out the plan.

FBI 10-13

Q. Mr. Kelley, in recent months there has been one series of allegations after another involving FBI operations. In your judgment, has public confidence in the Bureau been destroyed?

A. I don't think it's been destroyed. I have to say that it's been seriously assailed, and it's very necessary that we so conduct ourselves and develop programs to bring about greater credibility.

We actually feel that there has been much done in the past couple of three years which will put us on a new path. We know that there has been some loss of credibility, but, as I see it, we're now at the turn of the road and we're coming back.

Q. Are there any more disclosures to come?

A. Frankly, I know of none.

But I can also say as frankly that some which have come up have been a surprise to me, so it is a possibility that there will be more, but I know of none that's lurking in the background—none which could make us quiver and shake at this point.

Q. How do you restore public confidence?

A. The best way I know is through performance. Performance, I think, has been achieved in the sense that we have a record number of convictions and removals. There are, of course, the traditional standards whereby you judge performance of an organization such as ours.

It also is very important that we are going into a different type of case. About 2½ years ago we set on what is known as "quality versus quantity." And our surprise, although we expected a decline in cases, got an increase. And we have made a great impact estimation, on white-collar crime and organized crime which are the two very tragic conditions that exist in our country.

The second thrust is a very close association with enforcement organizations throughout the country to bring about a reduction in crime. This is done through training and, most recently, by a system or procedure we call "crime resistance."

The third thing that we're trying to do is, frankly, I've been described as the salesman for the FBI. At that any time, I think that the organization warrants a salesmanship, and I think it's necessary in order for us to do the job.

If you're going to reduce crime, you have to have involvement; law enforcement can't do it by itself. We have engaged, very frankly, in a salesmanship type of the selling of the FBI as a viable, productive, dynamic organization that is attempting to bring about change in this nation.

Q. Is it possible that the FBI was oversold in the past, so that people expected perfection?

A. I think that there was too much emphasis on cases, like the Union Station massacre [in June, 1968, in Kansas City, Mo.], "Pretty Boy" Floyd, the Dallas case. Those were not at all typical.

The broad-based type of case, the one which sustained the organization and kept it in the field of law enforcement, was much less spectacular.

I think this attention on the spectacular gave an air of mystery and mystique to the FBI, when there was in fact a hard, laborious type of activity knocking on doors through the investigative process. The area was, to a great extent, by the movies and the press.

Q. Mr. Kelley, the public has been surprised by the FBI about the FBI investigating itself. Are you concerned about the possibility of corruption within the Bureau?

A. It has never been a problem. I don't anticipate ever will be, and I say this emphatically. This is an area where there is great pride in the stature of the case and there's a great pride in the association of FBI. Within the FBI there has just never been even a suggestion that I've ever heard about the possibility of corruption might go so far.

Now, do we have any factors against that problem? We have a strong inspection system. We have internal supervisory staff that is much more rigorous than level of performance. We have some pretty high standards insofar as general ideas and concepts are concerned.

Sometimes we've been called "brown shirts" or "green shirts." I don't wear white, but I do wear blue shirts, green shirts, but not red shirts. I don't think which is coming up to this type of thing is a liberal is not being afraid of it, but it is a standard which brings about a uniform and a uniform of performance and I think that is a standard which is very important in our organization.

Q. Are you of the role of the press?

A. The press is a vital part of our organization. It cannot work under the same conditions as we can. It is a small number of people who are not being paid to do the work without being paid for it.

Then there is the role of the press in the future.

KEY POINTS MADE BY MR. KELLEY

Public confidence in FBI: "It's been seriously assailed, and it's very necessary that we so conduct ourselves and develop programs to bring about greater credibility."

FBI corruption: "It has never been a problem. I don't anticipate that it ever will be."

Foreign spies: "We're getting an increasing number of complaints" from members of Congress about spy activity on Capitol Hill.

Fighting terrorists: "I can't say that we have been eminently successful, because we haven't."

"Plants" within the Bureau: "Exhaustive investigation has never revealed that a hostile foreign intelligence service has ever successfully recruited or operated an employee of the FBI."

Organized crime rings: "We've infiltrated them and fed them to the point where they're much less trusting of their fellow members."

Unfettered power: "There are no areas where we just have some broad mandate to go out and violate the law."

CLEANING UP THE FBI

one criticism that we choose people who are, to a considerable extent, like us. Our agents in charge, for example, approve the candidates who are coming into the FBI. They are what's required, and they look for that in the man or woman whom they interview. So it's a sort of self-perpetuating thing, and I don't know of any loss of this standard and mode of behavior whatsoever.

Q Last July you disclosed that the FBI had carried out hundreds of "black bag" jobs—in effect, burglaries. Do you expect any former or present officials or agents of the bureau to be prosecuted for their part in such burglaries?

A That's still under review by the [Justice] Department for as any possibly criminal action is concerned. I think it's safe to say that, from our review of it thus far, we have not seen where any FBI employee acted in other than a faith belief that the actions he took were properly authorized by the Bureau.

Q But prosecution hasn't been ruled out—

A Prosecution has not been ruled out.

Q Are there things that an FBI agent should be allowed to do that would be illegal if they were done by an ordinary citizen, or even a member of a local police force?

A There are no areas where we just have some broad mandate to go out and violate the law. Anything we do is in conformity with the law. Our authority to carry a gun is statutory. We get a court-approved warrant in the criminal cases, and that with it the authority to install a microphone.

Q Would you view it as a useful tool to have the legal authority to commit what would otherwise be a burglary in the course of your law-enforcement activities?

A In the first place, if we're granted permission from the Attorney General or the President, we would not term it a burglary. It would be a "surreptitious entry conducted under lawful authority," which is not a violation. If there should be a great need, I'm sure this would be considered. But we have not done any such thing since 1968 in the domestic-security field, and we do not presently contemplate doing it.

Q Do you personally think it would be a good idea? Would you like to have that power?

A Not in the domestic field. We would never ask for that power or consider it.

Q What changes in the day-to-day operations of the Bureau will have to be made to conform with the guidelines which have just been laid down by the Attorney General?

A In the first place, these guidelines refer, to the greatest extent, to domestic intelligence, which comprises from 10 to 12 per cent of our work. Others will be concerned with foreign intelligence—8 to 10 per cent of our work—and a wide range of matters relating to the investigative responsibilities of the FBI. They will delineate pretty carefully how we go about our duties in these areas—how far we go.

For example, in the present situation we're pretty well free to determine where we go in these domestic-intelligence and security cases and when we stop. Now there will be three categories: the preliminary, the limited and the full investigation. That will cause some new structuring and some new procedures.

There will be some revisions, but I don't think they will be crippling, by any means. At least it gives us some well-defined guidelines, and we'll be able to work under them.

Q What sort of domestic organizations will still be subject to FBI investigation under these guidelines?

A Those which advocate the overthrow of the Government by force and violence. That's one of the categories by which we judge whether an organization will be investigated.

Q Have we got any like that today?

A Most of them are the terrorist groups—for example, the Weather Underground and the various "liberation army" groups and the Puerto Rican nationalist groups and those of that type which have more than amply demonstrated their violence-prone propensities through bombings and some of their other activities.

Q Is the thrust of these guidelines quite the opposite of what you thought should have been done when you took over?

A I still cling to the idea that we should have broader capabilities in domestic-intelligence matters. I still feel that we should have electronic surveillance. But this is another matter which would be subject to legislation.

Q Are you going to fight for these things that you think should be done?

A I'm going to take them as the time comes to try to get them. I don't know that I'll fight for them. I certainly have expressed myself as desiring them. With the guidelines firmly entrenched, with us showing that we can certainly work within the structure, then perhaps we can go ahead and ask for and get consideration for electronic surveillance in domestic-intelligence cases.

For example, in the terrorist activities, while they're thumping us, I think that we should do everything we can, but we obviously can't get such legislation now. Perhaps later on we can.

Q Do you feel hampered in your efforts to deal with Ford ordered an end to the controls that have kept the price of domestic "oil" generally from wells in operation before 1973 at an artificially low $5.25 per barrel. Instead of the immediate and total decontrol he had once envisioned, however, Ford proposed a gradual phasing out of price controls over the next two and a half years. Eventually, all old oil—about 60 per cent of domestic production—would join "new oil" in following the world market price. But Ford conceded that there should be some limit; he proposed a domestic ceiling of $13.50 per barrel.

Ripples: Ford's concessions on the question of a ceiling and on the need for gradual decontrol hinted plainly at compromise and thus were probably the most significant parts of his order, but critics preferred to focus initially on the plan's specific economic impact. The President said only that his proposal would add 1 cent to the price of each gallon of gasoline during the first year and a total of 7 cents in 30 months. But consumer advocate Ralph Nader warned of a far-reaching "ripple effect" inflating the economy. Some experts in Congress cited a computer projection warning that 800,000 more Americans would be unemployed, the gross national product would be cut by $40 billion and consumer prices would be raised by 3.2 per cent.

Despite last-minute maneuvering, Ford apparently couldn't raise enough support to keep Congress from killing his decontrol plan this week. But he did have the votes to sustain his veto of a bill passed last week that would tighten controls on old oil and roll back new-oil prices to $11.28 per barrel. Ford also pledged to veto a backup plan for simply extending current controls to March 1. To avoid the instant skyrocketing of prices, however, both sides may well agree to a briefer extension.

That would provide time for a more comprehensive compromise, and some of its features already seemed plain. One key House committee was considering a phased decontrol of oil, similar to Ford's plan but with a lower ceiling price. A consensus was also building on some sort of windfall-profits tax for oil companies, mandatory mileage standards for new automobiles, the creation of a strategic oil reserve—and a multimillion-dollar trust fund to help fund new ways of keeping up with the nation's need for energy.

The FBI's 'Black-Bag Boys'

Every foreign intelligence agent had suspected it and every major mafioso had known for sure, but last week director Clarence Kelley made it official: the FBI, he reported, has in the past made "sur-reptitious entries" into various places, foreign embassies included, to obtain what it felt was important information. Kelley said the break-ins began during World War II and were largely discontinued by J. Edgar Hoover in 1966, and he implied they were legal because the agents "acted in good faith." But the disclosure touched off a major furor: Attorney General Edward Levi promised a criminal investigation, several foreign former agent who said he had taken in many break-ins. "You were told you got caught, you're on your own. They were known as 'black-bag boys' or 'black-bag boys' and they usually consisted—at a minimum—of a smith, a lookout and a couple of men to do the ransacking. Depending on the purpose of the break-in, one of them would know how to use a camera to install a bug. Sometimes a 'slugger' sent along to intercept unexpected visitors. 'We had guys who, if they were caught, would be the best second-story men in the world,' boasted one former agent.

Over the years, a Justice Department official told NEWSWEEK, Stephan Leshner, the FBI conducted about 100 break-ins of foreign embassies and missions, mob headquarters and the headquarters of such extremist groups as the Ku Klux Klan and the American Communist Party. The most bawdy break-ins, averaging one a month by one estimate, were usually staged to obtain information that could be used by the National Security Agency to break foreign codes.

Bugs: One top source told NEWSWEEK last week that he never saw a case in which the FBI planted a bug in an embassy, but if the code were cracked, a bug would be needed to get in that way and, besides, a computer bug was almost sure to be found. But break-ins against organized-crime figures and U.S. Communist agents were almost always to get bugs. "They had bugs in their apartments all over New York," said one government investigator.

A break-in at a mob headquarters in Brooklyn, for example, might employ only a lookout and a driver for a getaway car and a couple of agents. For a break-in at a major embassy or mission would require only a skilled team, but the city and watch all of the 50 persons known to have keys to the building. The agents who entered would take in sensitive cameras (a file of taking pictures without a flash), small copying machines that could be folded into a suitcase. "They would read anything," said one FBI source. "They'd just copy everything in sight." The agents would photograph the copying machine from every possible angle, copy messages and replace the originals. The idea was that the National Security Agency would have intercepted incoming coded messages and the FBI would have decoded copies. That, plus ambassadors called the White House to learn whether they had been targets, and Presidential counsel Philip Buchen berated Levi for not keeping Kelley "on a shorter leash." Most intriguingly, the director's disclosure also set other tongues wagging. NEWSWEEK's Anthony Marro pieced together this story of the FBI's after-hours adventures:

The FBI agents usually went in clean: no badge, no guns, no credentials. Almost always they wore the standard uniform of suit and tie, but with labels and cleaners' markings removed. "It was your ass if you got caught," recalled a photographs, might enable the NSA to break the code.

Two sources said that the FBI actually smuggled out an entire coding machine about fifteen years ago. Borrowing a truck and uniforms from a garbage-collection company, agents drove into the yard of the Czech Embassy in Washington and waited near an open window, through which a Czech defector passed not only the machine but nearly a truckload of files. "They were so excited that they forgot to pick up the garbage," said one source. The next morning, the FBI filmed the results from a hide-out. "One of the funniest things you'd ever see," the source said, "was the film of the Czech deputy chief of security going to the Soviet Embassy with his hat in his hand. The Czechs couldn't even wire Prague to tell them what had happened. They had to go to the Soviet Embassy and use the Soviet machines."

Salute: This same source and another agreed that in the late 1950s and early 1960s the FBI also broke into the Polish and Yugoslav embassies in Washington. At least three separate bureau sources agreed that there was "no way" for agents to penetrate the Soviet Embassy, so instead they targeted Soviet satellite countries. Even allies, such as France or Japan, were occasional targets, as were the Arab states. "All the Arab embassies were easy," said one bureau source. "The only problem was tripping over the Israelis already inside." He said that in at least one case FBI agents breaking into an Arab mission found themselves face to face with Israeli agents. What happens in such cases? "You salute each other and walk away," the source said. "Nobody wants any trouble."

There were enough problems as it was. Once, in a mob headquarters in the Midwest, an agent planting a microphone slipped on a joist in the attic and thrust his foot through the ceiling of the room below. The agents had to wake up the owner of a hardware store and get plaster to repair the ceiling before dawn. During the late 1950s, two sources said, an agent had a heart attack and died while helping with a bag job in one of the Eastern European embassies. And sometimes local police stumbled onto an FBI break-in. When that happened, "You hit the cop and you ran," said one former agent. Said another: "There were some nasty confrontations in back alleys."

Two sources recalled a case ten years ago in which FBI agents had earlier planted a bug in the office of a mob attorney and had "gone back in to juice it up." One agent dropped something that he shouldn't have been carrying anyway—either his credentials or a report with his name on it—and when the lawyer came in next morning, it was clear the FBI had been there. As the sources recalled it, the agent was fired.

There were cases in which local police concealed the FBI's tracks. More than a decade ago, a former New York City policeman recalled, the FBI broke into the apartment of a Soviet diplomat assigned to the United Nations. As usual, there was an agent on watch in the lobby of the apartment, but the Russian—who had forgotten some theater tickets—somehow returned without being spotted. When he discovered the agents, their only recourse was to pretend that they really were burglars. They hit him, knocked him down and hurriedly ransacked the room. The Russians called the cops, who came to investigate, but later that night the FBI told the detectives not to probe too hard. The detectives were unhappy about it because they had to fill out monthly status reports on the "unsolved" case.

On one occasion, however, the FBI unwittingly helped the New York police. An FBI agent was breaking into the apartment of a mobster while a lookout and a getaway man waited in separate cars. The plan was for the "burglar" to come out and signal to the lookout, who would honk twice; the getaway car would drive up and speed the "burglar" away. "Off they went at 90 miles per hour," said a former agent. "About six blocks away, the driver looks at the passenger and says, 'Who the f--- are you?' The passenger looks at the driver and answers, 'Who the f--- are you?' The passenger, it seemed, was a police "burglar" whose target was another apartment in the same building—and whose getaway signal was also two honks of a horn.

NEW YORK:

MAC the Knife

Two crises ago—as New York reckons time these days—Gov. Carey and the New York State Legislature created the Municipal Assistance Corporation to help the Big Apple avert bankruptcy. That was back in June 1975, as it was immediately and quickly prepared to take on part of the city's staggering $6 billion burden of short-term debts. The MAC was to issue long-term bonds of its own—backed by specially earmarked city sales tax while watching over the traditional gimmick-ridden City Hall budget-making process. Politicians, union chiefs and financial leaders heaved sighs of relief—but that proved premature. The city resumed its gimmickry, Big Mac a tepid welcome in the bond market, and New York was faced last week with the most distasteful dose of fiscal medicine it has yet had to swallow.

Image: With its first $1 billion bond issue not completely sold and another billion still to offer, Big Mac had Mayor Abe Beame to the City Hall. Only weeks before, Beame had ordered massive layoffs of city workers, so 19,000 of which were still supposed to effect despite additional taxing power authorized for the city to help ease the crisis (NEWSWEEK, July 14). But a painful experience—including a 10-day garbage strike—had done more harm than good to the city's image with potential investors. Beame was told by chairman Thomas D. Flynn and board directors. "The Big Mac drove us back from their road show show and discouraged about the city's image around the country," one city official said. "They couldn't believe the hostility to the city and its life-style—from tuition at City University to years of capitulation to city unions."

PURPOSE:

To record for information a 7/8/76 meeting of Intelligence Division (INTD) and Civil Rights Division Attorney William L. Gardner.

SYNOPSIS:

On 4/13/76, INTD canvassed all field offices for documents similar to the SAC Folders discovered in the New York Office. On 7/8/76, Deputy Associate Director (Investigation) James B. Adams noted that in connection with the INTD inquiry into matters concerning surreptitious entry, all field offices had not been canvassed with instructions to review informant symbol number indexes for evidence of entry activity. Mr. Adams instructed that Departmental Attorney Gardner be advised of this and our proposal to conduct such a survey. Gardner was advised on 7/8/76 and he said he would give consideration to the proposal and advise at a later date whether or not the canvass should be conducted.

Re: Surreptitious Entries
66-8160

DETAILS:

On 4/13/76, INTD canvassed each field office for documents similar to the SAC Folders dealing with entries located in the New York Office. The SAC Folders contained a number of memoranda showing requests and approvals to conduct entries. The 4/13/76 survey, however, did not specifically include a review of symbol number indexes as part of the instruction to locate documents relating to entries.

On 7/8/76, Deputy Associate Director (Investigation) James B. Adams noted that in connection with INTD inquiries into matters concerning surreptitious entries performed by Bureau personnel, all field offices had not been canvassed with instructions to review informant symbol number indexes for evidence of entry activity.

As in the case of technical, microphone and live sources, symbol numbers were assigned to surreptitious entries. Symbol number indexes are maintained at the field office level in a confidential informant files unit or similar section. The indexes are not a part of the general office indices.

Mr. Adams pointed out on 7/8/76 that by not checking the symbol number indexes in all field offices we may have created a gap in our efforts to locate material pertaining to entries, and that we should consult with the Department on this problem.

A check of indexes presently located in INTD - indexes dealing with technical, microphone, trash and mail coverage, and certain "anonymous source" contacts - fails to suggest field offices will have symbol number index cards in addition to those sent by them for indexing to Headquarters.

Nevertheless, Mr. Gardner was advised of the above on 7/8/76. He said he would consider our proposal to go to the field offices, and advise of his decision at a later date.

PURPOSE:

To record Intelligence Division (INTD) response to requests of the Department, and Senate and House Select Committees (SSC and HSC) for information concerning surreptitious entries.

SYNOPSIS:

In late June, 1975, a survey of INTD personnel obtained recollections as to surreptitious entries performed by Bureau personnel. Survey showed Mr. Hoover's July, 1966, instruction that all such activity should cease, and that documents pertaining to entries were destroyed following annual field office inspections. Mr. Kelley's July 14, 1975, press conference disclosed that no entries took place in the domestic area after 1966, and that he had authorized no such activity since becoming Director in July, 1973. Director's statements based on knowledge available to INTD personnel, through their recollections, and on July, 1966, Sullivan to DeLoach memorandum pertaining to black bag jobs. Civil Rights Division began its inquiry into entries on August 19, 1975. SSC and HSC, from August, 1975, to end of year, made numerous requests for information about entries in connection with information collection and electronic surveillances. We advised SSC in September, 1975, of entries against domestic targets. SSC staffer John Elliff provided access review to list of specific targets. On December 1, 1975, we advised the Civil Rights Division of domestic entry discovered during a review of material by Deputy Associate Director Adams. On January 8, 1976, in connection with the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) suit, a communication went to all offices. New York Office located 93 entries not previously brought to the attention of the SWP plaintiffs or the Department. Entries fell within the period 1960-29 1978 1966. No indication at that time that New York had information in addition to the SWP entries. On March 17, 1976, Legal Counsel Division representative in New York Office learned of "SAC Folders" with information about entries from the 1940s through 1975, however, subsequent review showed no entries after April, 1973. Departmental Attorney William Gardner telephonically advised on the evening of March 17, 1976, of the discovery of additional information. New York Office instructed to review material. On March 18, 1976, a survey was made of all personnel at SAC level and higher in field and Section Chief and higher at FBIHQ for their knowledge of surreptitious entries. Legal Counsel Division memorandum of March 19, 1976, recommended canvass of all field offices for similar documents. Memorandum to Civil Rights Division on April 13, 1976, advised of discovery. List of entries resulting from this review furnished to Departmental Attorney Gardner on April 20, 1976. List of entries emanating from positive responses to an April 13, 1976, all-office communication for documents similar to those in New York Office, furnished to Department on April 30, 1976.

DETAILS:

In late June, 1975, a survey was made of Headquarters INTD personnel to obtain recollections and documents relating to surreptitious entries performed by Bureau personnel. Entries in both the domestic and foreign counterintelligence areas were located through recollection; however, only two documents dealing specifically with "black bag jobs" were found. One, a Sullivan to C. D. DeLoach memorandum of July 19, 1966, captioned "'Black Bag' Jobs," outlined the policies and procedures respecting recording of information pertaining to the entry activity, and set forth the value of the technique through several examples of surreptitious entries against foreign and domestic targets. At the end of this memorandum, Mr. Hoover noted that he wanted no more such techniques used. The second memorandum, dated January, 1967, from Mr. Hoover to Messrs. Tolson and DeLoach, reaffirmed Mr. Hoover's instructions that no "black bag jobs" would be approved by him.

Memorandum to Mr. J. B. Adams
Re: Surreptitious Entries
66-8160

The July 19, 1966, memorandum of Sullivan to DeLoach indicated that memoranda dealing with black bag jobs were to be kept in field offices for one year, until the time of the annual office inspection. Following review by the Inspector, the documents were to be destroyed.

The INTD survey failed to show any entries in the domestic area subsequent to Mr. Hoover's July, 1966, instruction.

On July 14, 1975, Director Kelley stated in a press conference that in the domestic area no entries occurred subsequent to 1966 - that he knew of no such entries. Director Kelley further indicated that since becoming Director in July, 1973, he had authorized no such entries. The Director's statement was based on (1) the July, 1966, Sullivan to DeLoach memorandum and, (2) recollections of INTD personnel as reported in the June, 1975, survey mentioned above. (Copy of press conference attached)

On July 25, 1975, in response to articles appearing in The New York Times and Newsweek concerning surreptitious entries conducted by the FBI, several memoranda were prepared and furnished to the Department. These memoranda were based on the June, 1975, INTD survey and outlined INTD knowledge of surreptitious entries as recalled by current personnel. (Copy of memorandum attached)

On August 19, 1975, the Civil Rights Division of the Department requested that the FBI furnish information about all entries performed by Bureau personnel subsequent to January 1, 1966. The Departmental request asked for such data as name of target, date of entry, purpose of entry, etc. INTD promptly began canvassing appropriate offices and Headquarters Sections for information responsive to the Civil Rights Division's request. The canvass was based on entry information contained in the June, 1975, survey of INTD personnel.

At approximately the same time as the Civil Rights Division inquiry was going on, the SSC and the HSC began making requests of the FBI for material dealing with entries in connection with electronic surveillances and entries to collect information, i.e. black bag jobs.

Memorandum to Mr. J. B. Adams
Re: Surreptitious Entries
66-8160

On September 22, 1975, the SSC requested information concerning entries against domestic targets.

On September 23, 1975, we furnished a memorandum to the SSC in response to its request of September 22. The memorandum set forth the number of targets known to us at the time and the number of entries made against those targets. We advised we were unable to provide an accurate accounting of entries or targets because procedures followed in reporting entry information were so couched that it was difficult to identify. We advised we had no central document, file or index listing all entries. (Memorandum attached)

On September 25, 1975, SSC staff member John Elliff was allowed access review of a list of specific targets which had been mentioned generally in the September 23 memorandum. At the time of the review, it was pointed out to Mr. Elliff that we were unable to say that the list was all-inclusive, that we could not locate documents pertaining to entries because of the "Do Not File" destruction procedures, and that we could not say definitively that we had located all entries.

Included in our September 23 memorandum was mention of an April, 1968, entry against a domestic group in New York City. This entry was not known to Headquarters at the time of Director Kelley's July 14 press statement, but came to our attention sometime in mid-August as a result of a contact between the New York Office and Assistant Director W. Raymond Wannall.

The Department was advised in early September, 1975, of the April, 1968, entry, and at the same time we furnished information about certain entries in the foreign counterintelligence area.

From August, 1975, through the end of the year, we responded to numerous Departmental, SSC and HSC requests for information pertaining to surreptitious entries. Except for the one April, 1968, entry previously mentioned, we learned of no further entries occurring in the domestic area subsequent to July, 1966. Our belief that no documents existed in this respect was reinforced by this failure to locate such material.

Memorandum to Mr. J. B. Adams
Re: Surreptitious Entries
66-8160

On December 1, 1975, we advised the Civil Rights Division of an October, 1963, entry against a domestic group in New York City. The entry, against the Fair Play for Cuba Committee, was outside the scope of the Department's inquiry (i.e., entries subsequent to January 1, 1966); however, on instruction of Deputy Associate Director Adams, who discovered the entry information during a review of material dealing with the Oswald investigation, we furnished information to the Civil Rights Division. (Memorandum attached)

Subsequent to preparation of our September 23, 1975, memorandum dealing with domestic targets, we learned of an October, 1963, entry against a domestic target in New York City. Although this target did not fall within the scope of the Department's inquiry, we, nevertheless, furnished details to the Department, and amended our memoranda to the SSC. In addition, we amended a memorandum forwarded to the HSC on November 5, 1975, to include this newly discovered entry.

On January 8, 1976, in connection with the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) suit against the Bureau, a communication was directed to our New York Office (as well as all other offices) to determine if any documents existed pertaining to entries against the SWP. (Communication attached)

On January 22, 1976, the New York Office advised of a number of entries against the SWP (93) which had not previously been brought to the attention of either the SWP plaintiffs, or the Department. These entries occurred during the time frame 1960-1966. (Communication attached)

There was no indication in the January 22 communication from New York that documents or information about entries, other than the SWP entries, existed at New York. More particularly, no indication was given that entry information existed after Mr. Hoover's July, 1966, instruction.

The discovery of entries against the SWP during the period 1960 - 1966 was brought to the attention of the SWP plaintiffs; however, as those entries occurred prior to Mr. Hoover's termination of such activity and outside the Statute of Limitations, there was at that time no concern over amending our previously furnished statistics to the SSC and the HSC. The Department, in connection with its handling of the SWP suit, was advised.

Memorandum to Mr. J. B. Adams
Re: Surreptitious Entries
66-8160

On March 17, 1976, a representative of the Legal Counsel Division was in the New York Office. From the SWP case Agent there, it was learned that in addition to information about 93 entries against the SWP, certain "SAC Folders" contained information about entries of the New York Office from the "1940s through 1975." Subsequent review of these "folders," which were documents maintained outside normal record channels, failed to reflect any entry activity after April, 1973. The period initially stated, i.e., "1940s through 1975," was based on New York's first review of the material, and reflected an assumption that material extended through 1975. Our later review proved this false.

On return to Headquarters, the Legal Counsel Division representative immediately reported this discovery to INTD.

17/c On learning of this discovery at the New York Office, SA [redacted] INTD telephonically contacted Departmental Attorney William L. Gardner on the same date, March 17, 1976. Mr. Gardner, who was at his residence when contact was made, was advised that in the New York Office a number of documents had been discovered showing entries over an extended period, from the 1940s to 1975. Mr. Gardner was told that at that time the exact material located had not been reviewed and analyzed to determine what, if any, activity fell within the scope of the Department's inquiry (entries since January 1, 1966); however, this would be done and he would be advised as soon as the review was completed.

On March 18, 1976, in response to an earlier Civil Rights Division request, a communication was directed to all personnel at the level of SAC and higher in the field, and Section Chief and higher at FBIHQ, asking for their knowledge, however incomplete, concerning entries. Results of the survey were furnished to the Department on May 14, 1976. (Memoranda attached)

On March 19, 1976, Legal Counsel Division advised INTD in a memorandum of the discovery of material relating to entries of the New York Office. It was recommended that New York Office be instructed to review the material and report results to FBIHQ. In addition, it was recommended that other field offices be queried as to whether or not similar documents existed there. The Director reviewed this memorandum. (Memorandum attached)

Memorandum to Mr. J. B. Adams
Re: Surreptitious Entries
66-8160

On March 26, 1976, a communication was directed to the New York Office instructing a review of material located during the March 17, 1976, discovery, especially as it pertained to entries subsequent to January 1, 1966.

The New York Office responded on April 5, 1976, with a communication showing, among other entries, several entries occurring within the Statute of Limitations (1972 - 1973). All of the entries mentioned in this April 5 communication pertained to domestic targets. The communication was immediately brought to the attention of Deputy Associate Director James B. Adams.

On April 7, 1976, the New York Office was instructed to review the above material for entry information relating to counterintelligence (foreign) investigations. New York responded on April 9.

On April 13, 1976, the Civil Rights Division was advised of the discovery in New York Office of information relating to entry activity. (Memorandum attached)

Theorizing that documents similar to those found at New York on March 17, 1976, might exist in other offices, an all-office communication was sent on April 13, 1976. (Communication attached)

By April 20, 1976, the results of the April 13 survey were in. To insure rapid transmission of the results to the Department, SA [REDACTED] INTD, furnished Departmental Attorney William L. Gardner a rough draft paper showing material discovered not only at New York on March 17, but material from 3 other offices which responded positively to the April 13 survey. (List attached)

On April 30, 1976, a memorandum was directed to the Civil Rights Division showing the results of our field-wide, April 13, survey. (Memorandum attached)

Review of the testimony of Deputy Associate Director (Investigation) James B. Adams before the SSC on November 19, 1975, failed to reflect material relating to surreptitious entries. (Testimony attached)

Memorandum to Mr. J. B. Adams
Re: Surreptitious Entries
66-8160

In summary, at the time of Mr. Kelley's July 14, 1975, press conference, the best available information at INTD was that there were no surreptitious entries performed by Bureau personnel in the domestic area, subsequent to Mr. Hoover's July, 1966, instruction. Subsequent to the July, 1975, conference, in approximately mid-August, 1975, we learned of an April, 1968, entry against a domestic target. This was brought to the attention of the Department, and the SSC and HSC, in memoranda submitted to those groups. It was not until March 17, 1976, that information came to the attention of INTD that documents existed in a field office relating to entries subsequent to 1966, and within the Statute of Limitations. The Department was promptly advised of these discoveries.

UNITED STATES SENATE SELECT COMMITTEE
TO STUDY GOVERNMENTAL OPERATIONS
WITH RESPECT TO INTELLIGENCE ACTIVITIES (SSC)

RE: SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES - DOMESTIC TARGETS

Reference is made to SSC letter dated September 22, 1975, from Mr. John T. Elliff, Director, Domestic Intelligence Task Force, to Mr. Michael E. Shaheen, Jr., Special Counsel for Intelligence Coordination, Office of the Deputy Attorney General, wherein Mr. Elliff made the following request with respect to domestic targets of surreptitious entries conducted by the FBI:

1. Statistics on the volume of such surreptitious entries in inclusive categories such as "subversive," "white hate," organized crime," or "miscellaneous." These statistics should be cleared for public disclosure.
2. Committee access at FBI Headquarters to a complete list of specific targets, represented by the statistics in Item 1, above.
3. Delivery to the Chairman and Vice Chairman of the list of specific targets requested for access in Item 2, above.

With respect to this request, from 1942 to April, 1968, surreptitious entry was utilized by the FBI on a highly selective basis in the conduct of certain investigations. Available records and recollection of Special Agents at FBI Headquarters (FBIHQ), who have knowledge of such activities, identify the targets of surreptitious entries as domestic subversive and white hate groups. Surreptitious entry was used to obtain secret and closely guarded organizational and financial information, and membership lists and monthly reports of target organizations.

Re: Surreptitious Entries - Domestic Targets

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

When a Special Agent in Charge (SAC) of a field office considered surreptitious entry necessary to the conduct of an investigation, he would make his request to the appropriate Assistant Director at FBIHQ, justifying the need for an entry and assuring it could be accomplished safely with full security. In accordance with instructions of Director J. Edgar Hoover, a memorandum outlining the facts of the request was prepared for approval of Mr. Hoover, or Mr. Tolson, the Associate Director. Subsequently, the memorandum was filed in the Assistant Director's office under a "Do Not File" procedure, and thereafter destroyed. In the field office, the SAC maintained a record of approval as a control device in his office safe. At the next yearly field office inspection, a review of these records would be made by the Inspector to insure that the SAC was not acting without prior FBIHQ approval in conducting surreptitious entries. Upon completion of this review, these records were destroyed.

There is no central index, file, or document listing surreptitious entries conducted against domestic targets. To reconstruct these activities, it is necessary to rely upon recollections of Special Agents who have knowledge of such activities, and review of those files identified by recollection as being targets of surreptitious entries. Since policies and procedures followed in reporting of information resulting from a surreptitious entry were designed to conceal the activity from persons not having a need to know, information contained in FBI files relating to entries is in most instances incomplete and difficult to identify.

Reconstruction of instances of surreptitious entry through review of files and recollections of Special Agent personnel at FBIHQ who have knowledge of such activities, show the following targets and the approximate number of entries conducted against each:
